THIRTEEN OF VON ARNIM'S DIVISIONS SMASHED; MORE LOSSES IN MONDAY'S NIGHT FIGHTING; FRANCO-BRITISH FORCES ADVANCE THEIR LINES

RECORD DAY FOR LIBERTY LOAN IN GREAT DRIVE

Monday's Subscriptions Were $174,443,000, Bringing Grand Total Up to $2,457,744,900.

WORKERS' HOPES REVIVED

Encouraged to Anticipate a Large Oversubscription in the Final Drive.

PERCENTAGES SHAKEN UP

Dallas, Cleveland, and Richmond Advance, While New York Sinks to Eleventh Place.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The total subscriptions to the Third Liberty Loan up to the close of business last night, as officially reported, amounted to $2,457,744,900, which means that with the total of today the campaign is on the homestretch of the final half billion necessary to attain the minimum of $3,000,000,000.

The daily record of subscriptions in this campaign was broken yesterday when $174,443,000 of bonds were officially reported sold. When today's selling began there was needed $542,285,100 to raise the minimum amount sought. Reports from committees throughout the country tonight were that strenuous efforts were being put forward to roll up a large oversubscription, and that the results of Monday had encouraged them.

On the suggestion of the War Loan Organization, committees in all districts today began the most intensive "gleaning" ever attempted in a Liberty Loan campaign. All ground covered is being gone over a second time for additional subscriptions, every pledge is being followed up; wealthy men who have failed to subscribe are being solicited.

The Standing by Districts.

Subscriptions by districts and percentages of quotas obtained follow:

District.	Subscription.	P.C.
Minneapolis	$181,883,300	125
St. Louis	155,306,050	117
Kansas City	144,290,900	110
Chicago	280,337,750	91
San Francisco	186,117,050	88
Dallas	60,178,150	86
Boston	209,067,450	83
Cleveland	242,247,700	80
Philadelphia	197,486,450	78
Richmond	80,760,750	69
New York	592,622,700	65
Atlanta	32,702,450	58
Total	$2,457,744,900	Average 81

The percentage column suffered a shakeup, Dallas displacing Boston in sixth place; Cleveland edging Philadelphia out of eighth place, and Richmond moving out of eleventh place into tenth and putting New York next to the bottom. The most remarkable change in the entire table came in the Atlanta percentage, which jumped from thirty-seven to fifty-eight and showed a money gain of almost $20,000,000. Atlanta has maintained for several days that the official returns to the Treasury Department from the Federal Reserve Bank did not show the true state of affairs.

Although the San Francisco district still is in fifth place and has a percentage of only 88, a report from the committee tonight declared that the district had gone over its quota, with a total subscription of $211,000,000. Its quota is $210,000,000. If this report is true, the Chicago district, which has been engaged in a neck and neck race with San Francisco, has been beaten out by a narrow margin. Conceding that San Francisco has gone over the top, the race for fifth place in the national district contest finds Chicago, Dallas, Boston, and Cleveland separated by fractions of only 11 points.

The St. Louis district still is striving valiantly to attain honors in the population quota contest. A report from there tonight said that the district had attained a percentage of 92 on the face of returns at hand, and that twenty-nine counties in Arkansas with large money subscriptions had failed to make any report. Only sixteen counties in the entire district have failed to reach their money quota. Ten of them are in Missouri, five in Arkansas, and one in Tennessee.

Change Wrought by the War.

Reports of large sales in sections of the Kansas City district populated by persons of German parentage continue to pour in. Some indication of the feeling toward the war is shown in a telegram received tonight in relation to conditions in Hillsboro, Kan.:

"The town of Hillsboro, Kan., in the heart of a big German-born territory, recently held the first patriotic meeting in its history," the message said. "Two months previously a German-speaking

Advance Resumed in Mesopotamia; British, Heading for Mosul, Take Kifra

LONDON, April 30.—A British official communication dealing with the operations in Mesopotamia says:

Our forces in several columns, the organization of which necessitated a long and careful preparation, have advanced to the north of Bagdad along the main road leading to Mosul by way of Kifra and Kirfuk.

On April 27 Kifra was captured and forty prisoners taken. The Turks avoided attack and retreated to Kirfuk. Our cavalry overtook one enemy column and charged it, killing more than a hundred men and capturing 538 prisoners and much war material.

On April 28 our cavalry forced a passage of the Aqsu at a point southwest of Tuzhurmatli, and our main force reached the banks of the Aqsu.

Early on the 29th our cavalry got astride the enemy's communications toward Taug, and shortly afterward our infantry advanced against Tuzhurmatli, which town was soon captured, with 1,300 prisoners, five guns, and some transports. The pursuit of the enemy continues along the main road to the north.

APRIL SHIP OUTPUT WAS 240,000 TONS

Total for the Month Was 50 Per Cent. More Than the March Figures.

32 VESSELS LAUNCHED

Rapidity of Increase Shown by Fact That Two-thirds Was Built in Last Half of Month.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—American shipyards turned out 240,000 tons deadweight in shipping during April, or an increase of approximately 50 per cent. over the March launchings, according to the records of the Bureau of Navigation. The estimate was based upon reports received up to 2 o'clock this afternoon. It shows an average of 9,000 tons for each workday in the month. The Shipping Board will make public its figures within a few days, and it is expected that they will show that April construction exceeded 240,000 tons.

The April launchings bring the grand total of construction for the first four months of the year to 621,340 deadweight tons. In all eighty vessels have been launched, as follows:

January, 11 vessels, aggregating 91,541 tons.

February, 16 vessels, aggregating 123,100 tons.

March, 21 vessels, aggregating 166,700 tons.

April, 32 vessels, aggregating 240,000 tons.

The annual rate of construction, based upon the average for the first four months, without taking into consideration the rapid increase which is sure to be obtained during the Summer and Fall months as work at the new yards gets under a full head of steam, would thus be 2,485,360 tons deadweight.

At Least 4,000,000 Tons This Year.

Estimates by officials who are in close touch with the situation place the probable production of shipping by Jan. 1, 1919, at not less than 4,000,000 tons. In arriving at this forecast it was pointed out that production in April was nearly three times that of January, when transportation congestion and unfavorable weather tied up the shipyards for days at a time.

While the April launchings did not represent the maximum hoped for during the month, the progress made was accepted as a hopeful sign and a forecast of the further increases which would be shown month by month from now on. When the big Government-owned fabricating shipyards get their ship construction work under way the situation will be considered in a reasonably favorable condition.

The output for April established a new record in American shipbuilding, and Chairman Hurley of the Shipping Board and Charles M. Schwab, Director General of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, are calling upon yard owners and employes to put forth every effort to establish still another record during May. The best previous record was made in June, 1917, when 228,154 deadweight tons of shipping were produced.

In announcing the figures compiled by the Bureau of Navigation for April, the Shipping Board made this statement:

"To the lay mind unaccustomed to shipbuilding figures this total of 240,000 tons for the month of April may not seem very impressive. But it means that during the twenty-six working days of the month there were turned out on an average of a fraction over 9,000 tons of ship construction; in other words, that each working day of April saw the completion of a 9,000-ton vessel. A steamship of 9,000 tons will average 450 feet in length. If laid end to end this April output would extend 11,700 feet, or a little over two miles.

"The White Star liner Olympic is now the largest merchant steamship in service. Her gross toonage is 46,359. This April output of American shipyards is equivalent to three Olympics and two such steamships as the American liners St. Louis and St. Paul."

Two-thirds of the tonnage constructed in April was completed during the last

BAKER PLANS ARMY OF OVER 3,000,000

Announces After Cabinet Meeting That He Will Submit Proposals to Congress at Once.

TOTAL INCREASE IN DOUBT

Number of Men to be Called For Depends on Transportation and Equipment.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Plans for increasing the war army to keep pace with the accelerated movement of American soldiers to the battlefront in France will be laid before the House Military Committee by Secretary Baker within a day or two. Mr. Baker said today after a prolonged session of the Cabinet that he would be ready to submit his estimates in that time.

What increase is to be asked has not been disclosed, but the report most widely circulated is that an additional million men will be provided for in the appropriation bills submitted, bringing the army up to more than 3,000,000 men.

It is known that a very careful survey of the equipment and transportation situations was completed by the War Department recently as a basis for formulating plans to increase the army. The Provost Marshal General's office has taken steps to ascertain in definite figures the exact number of fighting men available in Class 1 of the selective service forces, and recommendations for authority to organize additional divisions and estimates for appropriations have been held up pending the completion of these studies.

Previous plans contemplated the mobilization of an additional 800,000 men during the present year. This project represented the filling up to full strength of all existing divisions and the erection in France before the end of the year of a full field army under General Pershing, with an ample reserve to keep the fighting ranks full at all times.

Plans for the equipment of troops were based on this project. It is understood, and in considering proposals to enlarge the program extensively the prospect of shortage of uniforms and other equipment, as well as of transportation, must be considered. There is little disposition to call men to the colors and further derange industrial life in the country unless there is good prospect that they can be sent abroad within a reasonable time.

The accelerated movement of troops to Europe is proceeding smoothly, and officials are much encouraged by the showing of the transportation service. Secretary Baker has been in frequent conference lately with Lord Reading, British Ambassador, and the aid in transporting soldiers Great Britain can furnish probably will play a part in determining the size of the enlarged army.

Senators Move for Bigger Army.

While the Cabinet was discussing the War Department plans today, legislation looking to a large increase in the military forces was proposed in the Senate by Senators Smith of Georgia, Reed of Missouri, and Poindexter of Washington. The proposals reflected a growing restiveness among Senators over the delay of the Administration in revealing its plans.

Senator Smith offered a resolution calling upon the Military Affairs Committee to prepare a bill for 3,000,000 more men for the national army. Senator Reed put in a bill to draft an additional 3,000,000 men, while Senator Poindexter offered a bill to add 1,500,000 men to the draft.

The move for action by the Senate was impelled, it was stated in the Senate lobby, by the failure of Secretary Baker, in his recent appearance before the Senate Military Affairs Committee, to disclose any plan regarding an increase in the national army.

Senator Smith only a short time ago announced in the Senate that he believed the National Army ought to be doubled in size. The turn of events since the German drive started has convinced

WAR CORRESPONDENTS' HEADQUARTERS, Tuesday, April 30.—Good news travels as fast as bad out here, and yesterday evening as well as this morning in Flanders there were general expressions of gladness behind the lines because the enemy's fierce attacks had been utterly crushed.

"The enemy took the knock yesterday," said a staff officer who had been working all that day and most of the night, but was in high spirits this morning. "Some of his best divisions," said another, "have got badly chipped against a hard wall." And then he said with a queer laugh, "The dirty dogs!"

Good words were said about our own divisions, who bore the brunt of this fighting—the 21st, 49th, 25th—all of whom have had much hard work of late and have been sticking it out in one style after another.

There are Northumberland and other troops in the 21st Division and the 49th Division contains mostly Yorkshire troops, who have done some stubborn fighting since April 9. They helped retake Neuve Eglise no fewer than four times in the bitter struggle for that place. On the east side of Bailleul, the 25th Division, are men who fought grim rearguard actions when the enemy broke through the Portuguese, and with our 50th Division and others held on to the last possible hour at Lys and by Neuf Berquin, and up by Steenwerk, when the enemy came driving ahead in the first bull rush for Armentières and Bailleul.

Many civilians as well as soldiers had heard the news last night. It meant much to them—the difference between quick flight from places menaced by any new German advance and the chance of staying in their homes; the difference between a long trek to an unknown country, leaving all their little property behind them, and the hope at least of clinging on to their farms and homesteads on the edge of war.

Watching the Battle Draw Near.

I walked out last evening to a place from which one can see the long sweep of our Flemish battlefields, round Ypres to Bailleul. There below me were outspread all along the straight roads with avenues of poplars which I have been traveling these three and a half years past, and the fields of Flanders with red-walled cottages and church spires and orchards white with blossom, and old windmills whose sails have turned to the wind of many centuries. This countryside was designed for peace and the sowing and reaping of grain, but since the war began the horizon has been on fire beyond it, and last night this shell fire was bursting close in fields untouched before by any steel unkinder than the plow, and along roads which until a week or two ago were safe highways.

This side of Poperinghe and Ypres a Flemish woman stood by her cottage wall staring out upon the scene as though searching for any sign which might give her hope. Her eyes were sombre and had such a tragic look that she seemed to me a typical figure of Flemish womanhood, looking out toward the battle-line which had drawn closer to their lives so that many of them have been caught up in it or have fled from its engulfing terror.

Down below her a few hundred yards away was the ruin of a small house, smashed to matchwood the night before. German shells were bursting with heavy clumping noises in hamlets nearby and our guns in the field below were flashing and winking through the evening mists and all the sky caught up the thunderous rumblings of the great drumfire away beyond Mont des Cats and Scherpenberg.

"Have the Germans still possession of Mont Kemmel?" asked the peasant woman, and I said "Yes, but they have been defeated today."

"It is good news," she said. "Perhaps we shall be able to stay here after all. They tell me the French have driven them out of Locre again."

In England this news will seem good. People say, "We seem to have done well yesterday," but out here it means more than that to the people whose lives and homes are threatened by any German advance. To them every act in this frightful drama is enormously significant, every place which strangers puzzle out on the map is to them a village where they lived as children, where their sisters or children dwell, or where they left all their properties. I write these things because they humanize the map names and show how the valor of our men is the safeguard of the folk on the edge of the fighting fields.

It was the valor of Frenchmen as well as Englishmen which yesterday inflicted defeat upon many German divisions, and the Allies fought side by side, and their batteries fired from the same fields and their wounded came back along the same roads, and the khaki and blue lay out upon the same brown earth.

I have already given an outline of yesterday's battle; how after a colossal bombardment the German attack began early in the morning from north of Ypres to south of Vormezeele, where English battalions held the lines, and from La Clytte past the three hills of Scherpenberg, Mont Rouge, and Mont Noir, which French troops held to the north of Meteren, where the English joined them; again, how the English Tommies held firm against desperate assaults until late in the evening; how the enemy made a great thrust against the French, driving in for a time between Scherpenberg and Mont Noir until they were flung back by a French counterattack.

The French Advance in the Night.

In the night the French, who had now regained all the ground that had been temporarily in the enemy's hands, made a general counterattack and succeeded in advancing their line to a depth of about fifteen hundred yards beyond the line of the three hills, which thereby was made more secure against future assaults.

Meanwhile throughout the day the English battalions had been sustaining heavy assaults, breaking the enemy against their front. The Leicesters, especially, had fierce fighting about Voormezeele, where, as I told yesterday, the enemy was in the centre of the village. German storm troops advanced against our men here and along other parts of the

German Press Now Admits American Army Is a Menace

GENEVA, Switzerland, April 30.—German newspapers which last year ridiculed American intervention in the war now have begun gradually to inform the German public concerning the danger of present and future American intervention on the western front. For instance, the Zeitung of Constance says:

"We must hurry to obtain a solid victory by arms before the full American forces arrive."

The Vienna newspapers are taking the same line as those in Germany.

American Doctors With British Forces Suffer Severe Losses at Battle Front

PARIS, April 30.—It is not generally known how many American medical men are serving with the British in Flanders and Picardy. They have been true to the highest standard of bravery and initiative, carrying on under the heaviest fire, attending the wounded, and often going into No Man's Land.

Reports from around Ypres tell of their great gallantry, and I understand the losses were particularly heavy among American doctors. British officers speak in the best terms of the skill, efficiency, and coolness of the American medical men, but these heroes disappear unhonored and unsung. Being only attached and not regular officers, their names do not appear in the British casualty lists, and the American Army has no record of their fate.

It would appear fitting for Washington to make some special arrangement with the British for publication of the names of these medical men, so that they may be remembered for their work and sacrifice.

From a Staff Correspondent.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES, April 30.—"It is the battle of Verdun on a bigger scale," said a French staff officer to THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent today. "You have an exact parallel. In February, 1916, the Germans delivered a massed attack which, after an initial success, was checked before Douaumont. After a period of waiting to reorganize shock divisions and bring up artillery there followed a series of heavy drives, now on the right, now on the left, such as we are at present experiencing.

"But in both cases, once the line had been stabilized, the German objectives were tactical rather than strategic; that is, their aim was to secure a local advantage which might serve as a jumping-off place for a subsequent operation. Instead of definitely attempting to break our line as at the beginning.

"In such fighting it is a regular principle that any advantage gained is pushed to its full limit, as has been the case on the Flanders front, but that where the attack fails or the ground taken is recovered by a counterattack, as at Villers-Bretonneux, no new divisions are thrown in, as would happen in a battle with strategic objectives. In the present struggle these secondary attacks are launched in very heavy force—nearly 100,000 men were engaged by the enemy in the recent fighting in Flanders and fully 75,000 south of the Somme—but that makes no difference to the real facts of the case.

"The German advance at Kemmel may be compared to the gains in the Bois des Corbeaux or at Mort Homme during the battle of Verdun, which were really preparatory for the second great drive in June, when the enemy pushed forward in the centre right to the outskirts of Souville.

"To continue the analogy: It is probable that the Germans are already gathering forces for a second great shock whose locality will be determined by the degree of success that attends their intermediate efforts. Unless this success is remarkable, it is probable that the centre will be the point chosen, as a broken centre always upsets an army more thoroughly than a defeat on either flank. That is why Amiens still remains one of the keystones of the battle, opposite which the great mass of German divisions are concentrated.

"But, owing to the much wider extent of front than at Verdun, proportionately greater numbers are required, and the wear and tear is much more rapid. It is therefore to be expected that the denouement will also come more quickly, especially as we know that the Germans have two vital reasons for wishing to reach a speedy decision—their internal difficulties, and, still more, the fear of the Americans, whose arrival in far larger num-

WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES, April 30.—Men will classify things, though life proceeds mostly by imperceptible modifications. We are in neither a war of movement nor a war of positions, but an intermediate state which has many of the inconveniences of both.

There are intrenched lines on both sides, enough to cover masses of artillery such as could not otherwise be concentrated, but except where the Allies have been able to resume their positions of a year ago there are none of the deep, broad trenches strengthened with sandbags, floored with duckboards, supported by frequent dugouts, fronted with fields of wire and approached by skilfully aligned communication trenches constituting the old fortified fronts.

The guns are in full force—a horrid compromise which cannot last very long. Either great battles will proceed to relatively rapid conclusions or we shall fall again into a complete defensive system. Whatever the armchair strategists inspired by memories of days forever gone may wish, this is the rule of modern warfare. When the big guns speak with all their power, you must either get a quick decision or go to earth.

The lot of the immediate rear is sometimes as bad as that of the front line when it becomes stationary, but has not had time to establish proper camps and communications. Happily this interval is passing every day. New roads are being built, or old ones improved.

Surgical Stations Under Fire.

Every day an advance is made in sheltering and provisioning the armies under the new conditions. What they have had to endure in this crisis of adventures and expedients must be imagined.

I take from my notes an illustration relating to one of the branches not sufficiently honored—the French Army medical service. When the Germans attacked from the Avre, between Moreuil and Montdidier toward the present front, they drenched the rear of the French lines, and particularly the villages, with gas and high explosives. One village lying on the height of a plateau, midway between Avre and Noye, was subjected to a particularly heavy and continuous bombardment.

The more advanced dressing stations were smashed in one after another, and streams of wounded men were directed from various points to the village. Here the regimental poste de secours was struck by a shell at the moment when its evacuation was being completed. The last stretcher had just been carried into a neighboring cellar. Amid flying fragments of shell and stone many wounded men were

UNABLE TO RENEW ATTACK

FOE EXPELLED FROM LOCRE

French, in Brilliant Counterattack, Make Gain of Nearly a Mile.

ALLIES TAKE MANY CAPTIVES

Monday's Fighting Cost Germans Enormous Losses—Lull in Infantry Actions Yesterday.

LONDON, April 30.—Reports from the fighting area of the Lys-Ypres salient indicate that the Germans have suffered very serious reverses, with great loss of man-power, in the terrific engagements of the last two days, and that the Franco-British forces have considerably improved their positions.

Except for local fighting at different points, there was no infantry action today.

According to the day statement from the War Office the French are in full possession of the village of Locre, (west of Mont Kemmel,) where yesterday afternoon they expelled the Germans from positions which the latter had gained in the morning.

Unofficial dispatches say that last night the French in a brilliant counterattack recovered ground on the slope of Scherpenberg (northeast of Locre) and advanced their line 1,500 yards astride the Dranoutre road, and that the positions of the allied forces have been pushed forward between La Clytte and Kemmel, (to the northeast and east of Locre.)

The possession of Mont Kemmel, according to these dispatches, avails the Germans little, since the allied artillery smothers its summit with shell fire, making it impossible to maintain any considerable force on it.

In the Amiens sector the British slightly advanced their line east of Villers-Bretonneux.

Following is the text of the day bulletin:

Successful counterattacks carried out by French troops yesterday afternoon and evening drove the enemy from the remainder of the ground gained by him during the morning in the neighborhood of Locre and captured a number of prisoners. The whole of the village is in the hands of our allies.

After the heavy repulse inflicted on the enemy yesterday the night passed comparatively quietly on the northern battlefront.

On the remainder of the British front there is nothing to report beyond artillery activity on both sides in certain sectors.

Field Marshal Haig telegraphs tonight:

In a successful counterattack last night at Locre the French troops captured ninety-four prisoners.

Further reports confirm the fact that the enemy's losses were very heavy in his unsuccessful attack yesterday.

South of the Somme our patrols brought in a few prisoners. Beyond the usual artillery activity on both sides there is nothing further to report.

An official report on aerial operations issued tonight says:

East of Locre the enemy's troops on Monday offered good targets to our pilots, who dropped 275 bombs on them and engaged them with machine gun fire.

Seven hostile machines were brought down in air fighting and one was shot down by our infantry. Two of our machines are missing.

Brilliant French Counterattack.

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, April 30, (via Ottawa.)—The allied line southwest of Ypres has been advanced between La Clytte and Kemmel. The Franco-British forces also have made some progress south of that region.

The French counterattack of last night on the southern slope of Scherpenberg was brilliantly and successfully carried out. It resulted in the French not alone recovering ground on the slope, but in advancing their line to a depth of 1,500 yards astride the Dranoutre road.

French forces this morning held the whole of the town of Locre, west of Kemmel, including the hotly contested hospice. The allied line also made some progress, slightly improving the position around Villers-Bretonneux.

Yesterday's attack was the biggest effort the Germans have yet made in the Flanders offensive, the enemy employing about thirty fresh battalions of reserves, in addition to the large number of divisions in position at the beginning of the battle.

A satisfactory feature of the struggle is that the British and French employed relatively small forces to defeat the enemy. At one point the French were forced to yield a little ground, but supports promptly arrived and drove back the Germans.

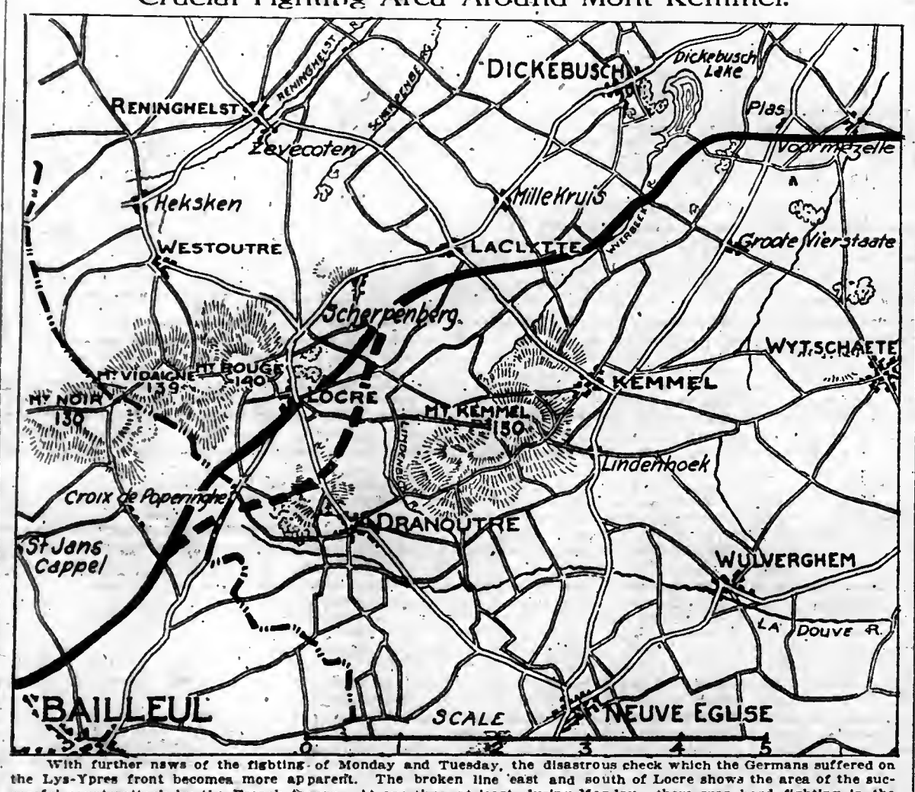
By 11:30 o'clock in the morning the Germans had forced their way through near Locre as far as Hyde Park Corner, between Scherpenberg and Mont Rouge. This was one of the critical moments of the day, but the French counterattacked fiercly and an hour later had pressed back the enemy on the flank and held him in the centre.

By 3 o'clock the French were holding the ground east of Kenderhet Farm and Locre Château and also part of Locre village on the southern slope of Scherpenberg. Thenceforth the position became steadily more satisfactory, and by 5:30 the French had retaken all the lost ground except a narrow strip at Hyde Park Corner.

Allies Took Many Prisoners.

The Franco-British troops took a large number of prisoners during yesterday's fighting, but owing to the desperate hand-to-hand encounters engaged in, they were fewer than the magnitude of the struggle would lead one to expect. The prisoners show considerable dejection at the failure of von Arnim's heavy thrust and admit that the task ahead of the German Army threatens to bleed the Fatherland of its manhood.

Crucial Fighting Area Around Mont Kemmel.



With further news of the fighting of Monday and Tuesday, the disastrous check which the Germans suffered on the Lys-Ypres front becomes more apparent. The broken line east and south of Locre shows the area of the successful counterattack by the French troops. At one time at least during Monday there was hard fighting in the neighborhood of the crossroads southwest of Scherpenberg, which has been dubbed by the Tommies "Hyde Park Corner."

The War Situation

BY THE MILITARY EXPERT OF THE NEW YORK TIMES

The great German losses of the last few days again bring to the foreground the question of numbers and the necessity for Germany to find new men with which to plug up the gaps torn in her ranks by the allied defense, as well as new strength with which to continue her attacks.

It must be remembered that these attacks must continue. Germany cannot now stop and dig in for a year or two, as she did on the Aisne in 1914. At that time the German people were thrilled with the lust of battle. It made no difference what moral values were involved. They wanted victory. Their souls and their hearts had been fed on military rations for years. The army was their only god, victory, no matter how obtained, their only measure of success.

Their appetite has grown with the advance of time. They have seen Rumania, Serbia, and Russia put under the heel, all since 1914, and they hold the most important areas of France. Therefore they are satisfied. But to hold what they have they have to fight for more; they have to continue to battle to hold the result of their robberies. They are ready for peace now, they want peace. Why should they not? The war has been so far a most profitable enterprise, judged by the only standard they have—the standard of conquest. And Germany judges only by profit. Having acquired the profit, Germany is ready for peace.

But her leaders promised more, much more, to be purchased with a certain number of German lives. And they weighed the two in the balance—lives against money—and the latter prevailed. And so this attack was launched. But having undertaken the great venture, the German leaders who promised victory cannot stop. They have paid the price, expended the lives, but the victory has not been achieved. They cannot halt now in the face of defeat, with the assurance that for every new man they can put in the field the Allies can put two. They must go on and they must have more men.

Germany recognizes the necessity and has acted accordingly. She has notified Russia that she must return to Germany at once, under pain of the seizure of Petrograd, all German prisoners who are in good health, retaining only those who are ill or otherwise unfit. Russia, on the other hand, is to receive back only those of her own in Germany's hands who are physically unfit, the remainder to continue to slave in Germany.

The reasons for this are of course simple. These Russian prisoners are the backbone of Germany's military machine. It is their labor which is making it possible for Germany to continue the fight. They cannot be used to bear arms, but they can and do release hundreds of thousands who do bear arms. If Russia consents to this audacious proposal, the net result will be that Russia has practically given to Germany over a million and a quarter men to be used against her former allies, and, however we may wish to regard such an act from the standpoint of sentiment or expediency, it constitutes an act of war.

Again we turn to those downtrodden German people who are not supposed to be in the slightest degree in sympathy with the policies of their war lords, and who only continue to fight because they have been deceived into believing that the war is a war of self-defense, to see what their action in such open, unscrupulous perfidy will be. But Germany is desperate; the German people equally so, and such minor matters as personal or national honor have always been yielded to German necessity. There is no reason to anticipate a change of heart.

The battle of Flanders appears to be over for the immediate present. It is the end of what may be termed the third phase of this offensive. The first was the attempt to break through, which formed the great salient between Messines and Armentières. The second was the rather wild attempts to break out of this self-made trap by attacks at all points. The third was the fight for limited and specific objectives. The German object in all three has failed.

Kemmel Hill and the Messines Ridge have gone. But in order that these may mean anything but two isolated points, in order that these initial successes may be translated into a hope of future victory, the hills west of Kemmel must follow suit. They must be occupied before the Flanders plain west of Ypres may be occupied. And it was here that the Germans went down to at least a temporary defeat. Since Sunday morning, the entire front from north of Bailleul to the Ypres-Comines Canal has been under heavy fire, with frequent excursions of infantry against the allied lines. At Locre, at La Clytte, and at Voormezeele the fighting has been terrific. But the net result has been absolutely nothing.

But the measure of the German success is not after all the position on the map. If this were the true gauge the war would have been over long ago, and Germany would have won it. The entire question is one of relative loss. The allied losses have most certainly been heavy. What they have been in numbers there is not the slightest clue. But whatever they have been, we may be most positively assured they are greatly inferior to those of the Germans, and this is what counts. For if it be true that at the outset the numbers of the opposing forces were about equal, they are not so now. And it is the number that is left to deliver the final blow which is going to decide the outcome.

ALLIES REGAIN MUCH GROUND AROUND LOCRE

French Retake the Village—British Recover Positions North of Kemmel.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE, April 30, (Associated Press.)—Up to noon today the badly punished German troops along the Flanders front had made no further attacks against the allied lines, which held so brilliantly throughout yesterday's intense fighting.

The German General von Arnim was busy reforming his broken divisions and, presumably, bringing up reserves to replace the great numbers of men who gave their lives in fruitless assaults all through yesterday and into the night, by which they had hoped to capture more of the high ground and thereby gain a dominating position, with the idea of forcing the Allies to pull back their lines to the north.

Yesterday was a great day for the Allies, and today those divisions which were engaged in the sanguinary struggle received a message commending them for the magnificent defense they had made.

Not only was the allied line practically intact at all points today, but the latest reports show that the British during the counterattack yesterday afternoon north of Kemmel reclaimed considerable ground, which the Germans had held since Kemmel was taken.

At the crossroads between Scherpenberg and Mont Rouge and about Locre the fighting was particularly fierce. Locre changed hands several times in the course of the day, and at nightfall the Germans had a hold on the place. In their counterattack last night, however, the French cleared the Germans from their positions between the two hills and thrust them back from Locre, thereby regaining ground to a depth of 1,500 yards.

The French yesterday repulsed many attacks on the initiative of officers commanding the smaller units. Time and again French Captains organized counterthrusts with their companies and drove the enemy back after the Germans had gained a footing in advanced positions.

The German attack against the British was from the southeast, toward Ridge Wood, between Dickebusch Lake and Voormezeele. At Ridge Wood, where the fighting was very fierce, the Germans at the outset advanced with fixed bayonets, but they came under such an intense machine gun fire that they were never able to employ their steel.

The work of the British troops all along the front was magnificent, and especially noteworthy because of the fact that some of the men had been fighting steadily since April 9. They still had a hold on the northern ridge of Voormezeele today, as they had at the beginning of yesterday's assault. Their line also was maintained at Ridge Wood.

21 British Captured 58 Germans.

The spirit of the British troops is shown by an incident that occurred Sunday near Voormezeele. Three German machine gun companies which held posts near this place were causing the British much trouble. Three parties of British, each composed of six Tommies and a Lance Corporal, were assigned the task of clearing up these posts. The Corporals laid their heads together and planned the campaign, which they carried out so successfully that the Germans were surrounded, and fifty-eight of them captured by twenty-one men. The machine gun posts were cleared.

Thus far the capture of Kemmel has done the Germans little good, for the allied artillery has kept the crest of the hill so smothered with shell fire that it has been impossible for the enemy to occupy it in force.

The allied lines in Flanders this morning were to all intents the same as when the Germans surged forward yesterday. And in front of the defending positions gray-uniformed men lay in great numbers, representing the awful price paid by the Germans.

BERLIN ADMITS LOSS OF GROUND TO FRENCH

But Says That the Allies Were Unable to Advance Beyond the Village.

BERLIN, April 30, (via London.)—The official statement from General Headquarters today says:

Infantry engagements developed on isolated sectors on the Flanders battlefield. North of Voormezeele and Vierstraat we captured several English trenches.

Storming detachments, which were penetrating the enemy's lines near Locre, came in contact with French counterattacks. During the course of the fighting the enemy succeeded in establishing himself in Locre. His attempts to advance beyond the village failed.

Strong artillery activity, which lasted throughout the day, extended over the whole Kemmel territory and continued until darkness fell.

DIFFER AS TO GERMAN LOSS.

Washington Puts It at 500,000, Paris Paper as Low as 200,000.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The opinion is held by some military officers in Washington that the losses sustained by the German army in the Picardy and Flanders campaigns will be found to run close to 500,000 men in killed, injured, and captured or missing. This would mean an average loss of about 2,000 men to the division. German divisions are credited with having a strength of 12,500 men, although some authorities think this estimate is too high.

According to the best information obtainable here, the Germans had 186 divisions on the entire western front when the offensive began, and have brought this number to 210 divisions by sending forward reinforcements from Russia and other fronts. Forty of these 210 divisions have been utilized on the fronts away from the main battlefronts of Picardy and Flanders, and the other 170 divisions have been used in the great battles which have been in various stages of progress since March 21.

On the other band a telegram received from Paris today credits the Matin with the statement that a very conservative estimate of the losses sustained by Germany in the "recent victory" puts them at 200,000. It is not clear whether the estimate given by the Matin is intended to cover both the Picardy and Flanders campaigns or only the more recent fighting in Flanders. This is the cabled extract from the Matin:

"If one calculates, according to a very conservative estimate, that each one of the divisions engaged by them (the Germans) lost an average of 1,500 men, a loss of 200,000 men is the price which the enemy has paid for their recent victory. Moreover, this victory has not yielded so far any of the essential objectives which they had in view, nor has it allowed them to reach any of their strategic aims."

GERMANS WIN AND LOSE TRENCHES NEAR NOYON

French Counterattack Re-establishes Lines—Heavy Bombardment in Hangard Region.

PARIS, April 30.—In the sector of Noyon the Germans in attacks today made gains in advanced French trench elements, but later they were driven out, and the French re-established their lines, according to the official communication issued by the War Office tonight.

In the region of Hangard there has been a violent bombardment today. The day communiqué reports that heavy artillery fighting was in progress last night north and south of the Avre, in the Noyon sector and along the Oise.

The night statement reads:

The region of Hangard was violently bombarded during the course of the day.

In the Noyon sector a German attack resulted in a spirited engagement. Our troops drove the enemy from advanced elements where he had gained a foothold in the first assault and re-established their line. Patrol encounters occurred on the left bank of the Oise.

Following is the afternoon report:

The artillery battle was waged with considerable violence north and south of the Avre, in the sector of Noyon and on the south bank of the Oise. French patrols were active along all this front and brought back fifteen prisoners.

On the right bank of the Meuse (Verdun front) and in Upper Alsace German detachments were repulsed by our fire, leaving prisoners in our hands without obtaining any result.

There is nothing to report on the remainder of the front.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY, April 29, (Associated Press.)—The Germans again turned their attention to the southern flank of their front of attack Sunday night and early Monday morning, assaulting the Hangard Wood a number of times unsuccessfully. At the same time they bombarded with poison gas shells the northern flank, where there are strong indications of an approaching renewal of their infantry operations around Ypres.

It appears certain that the Germans soon must disclose their intentions, showing whether they have decided to confine their operations to the present battlefront or to extend the actual fighting line on one end or the other in the hope of finding a weak spot.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY, April 29. (Associated Press.)—Up to the present the enemy has made but little progress on either end of the line of his big offensive, but his menace has not been effaced. It is known that the Germans, in spite of their losses, are very powerful and that total fresh divisions are available for further big efforts, notwithstanding the fact that they already have thrown approximately 2,000,000 men into the line. Several of these divisions which have not been used are composed of excellent material, but the others heretofore have occupied quiet sectors, where they may have lost some of their offensive spirit.

Many divisions which have participated in the battles have been severely punished. Some estimates of their losses mount to as high as a half million men. Conservative calculations, however, do not place the losses beyond 350,000 men.

The Germans have enough men in their depôts in the interior to fill all gaps for some time, although reconstituted divisions never will be able to equal in fighting quality the original formation, since large numbers of the men have been wounded and after recuperation again thrown into the line. Prisoners taken recently do not display the old-time feeling of certainty that the great blow, which has been so long prepared for, will yield immediate and full success.

From a Staff Correspondent.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES, Tuesday, April 30.—When the story of the great 1918 battle comes to be written, it is more than probable that the historians will agree that the principal reason for the German success at the outset was the factor of surprise. In military science surprise—that is an unexpected display of force at a selected point—has always been the key to victory. It is already established beyond doubt that the Germans surprised the Allies on March 21, not in the locality chosen for the attack, which Premier Lloyd George has admitted was indicated two months beforehand by the Versailles staff, but in the numbers with which that attack was launched.

It is now known that the Germans attacked the left and right wings of the British armies—approximately 150,000 strong, on a front of about forty-five miles—with fully a half million men—at least one-third more than the Allies had believed possibly could be concentrated without their knowledge.

To appreciate what this means it is necessary to review previous events in this war. After the front established in the Autumn of 1914 there had been only three instances of a "surprise" on the western front. The first was in May, 1915, when Pétain's army startled the Germans on the Artois front by breaking through trench lines which their experience had led them to believe impregnable.

Another occurred when the British innovation of tanks threw the enemy into panic at the battle of the Somme, but here, too, the profit was wasted owing to the number of tanks employed being insufficient to produce confusion on a wide enough area.

In both these cases, however—as in the third instance, which was the German utilization of poison gas in Flanders—the true element of surprise according to military canons was lacking; namely, superiority of numbers unforeseen by the adversary. In fact, it had come to be an axiom that owing to the development of aviation it was impossible for either side to effect concentrations of troops on a large scale without its opponent being able to make corresponding arrangements to meet the threatening shock. Yet in the present battle the Germans managed to do so with effects that only the superhuman heroism of the French Army saved from being disastrous.

Von Hutier's Tryout.

The question as to how they managed it is answered in one phrase—von Hutier's offensive at Riga. The Riga battle was the prototype on a small scale of the gigantic drive against the British on March 21. In theatrical parlance, it was a "tryout," just as New York managers used to try out new pieces on suburban audiences. The cost involved in case of success was comparatively small, and the experience gained might well be invaluable for use in a wider field.

Von Hutier's plan was simple—accumulation of artillery in unexpected quantity and short but terrible "preparation," followed by an assault of overwhelming numbers whose preeence in the sphere of action was unforeseen for the simple reason that they were only brought up at the last minute, in some cases even during the preparation itself. At Riga his "tryout" succeeded to perfection. It was only natural that he should be entrusted with a far more important operation on the western front.

His tactics were identical. Batteries were placed in position during the night, and thoroughly camouflaged to escape observation by the allied airmen. To "register" on positions opposite, they fired a minimum of shots at carefully lengthened intervals, so that they were able to know the exact range without awakening Entente suspicion.

Even greater precautions were taken regarding the infantry. For months before the battle German shock divisions received a course of long march training. Five days before the offensive broke, their principal mass was concentrated far behind the front in the Hirson-Mezières region. Then at a given signal they were moved up by forced night marches—mechanical transport would have been observed—resting during the daytime to escape the notice of airmen.

The French army authorities know that some units marched fully sixty miles in three nights preceding the battle, and one division actually covered twenty on the night of March 20, arrived in the trenches at 4 o'clock the next morning, and attacked some five hours later. For von Hutier followed the Riga proceedings exactly.

A preliminary bombardment of the British lines began at 4:40 A. M. and terminated at 9:40, when the infantry advanced to the assault. Both in weight of guns—Colonel Repington has stated that von Hutier had 3,500—and in the number of troops the surprise had been complete.

The Germans exploited it to the utmost, but had reckoned without two factors, the unconquerable tenacity of the British, who even in defeat fought to the death rather than yield, and the superb courage of the French infantry, who flung headlong into battle as they left their auto-camions, without artillery or even horses to draw heavy mitrailleuses on strange ground, often in darkness and without an adequate supply of munitions.

They nevertheless succeeded in delaying the advance until the arrival of reserves and guns enabled the Allies once more to present a solid front to the enemy.

INCREASE IN BRITISH LOSSES

52,475 Casualties in April, Against 14,090 for March.

LONDON, April 30.—British casualties reported in April reached a total of 52,475, divided as follows:

Killed or died of wounds: Officers, 1,621; men, 7,725.

Wounded or missing: Officers, 7,447; men, 35,684.

Although the complete reports of casualties sustained in the recent heavy fighting in France and Belgium apparently have not yet been made, a marked increase is shown in the April figures. The total in March was 14,090, the smallest in several months.

searching for cover, and there was no means of conveying them further to the rear.

Braving the German barrage, which seemed to have been designed to isolate the place, one of the chief surgeon's assistants made his way to a village two miles away and returned with several motor ambulances. Two of these were filled with patients and got away. A third—one of the American cars that have done such splendid service for France for a couple of years past—was struck by a shell, its driver being seriously wounded.

Soon afterward another car came up. While it was waiting a shell hit it, smashing the radiator and grievously wounding its two conductors.

Wounded Men Moved in Carts.

The cellars of the village were now full of injured men. They were not very good cellars, and the boche fire did not slacken. Thanks to the gallantry of the divisional padre, a number of small carts were obtained and under the cover of night nearly all the wounded were carried away into safety, but the battle continued and with it the bombardment of the villages behind the front.

The next day similar scenes were enacted in another village. A French automobile was cut in two by a shell while it was being loaded before a dressing station. Again the wounded had to be hidden in cellars until night made it possible to evacuate them.

During these days the stretcher bearers of the regiment had shown the utmost bravery in bringing men in from the field. A number were killed and many wounded. Surgeon Major Dunac and his assistant, Dr. Arthaud, particularly distinguished themselves, the former being killed while seeking a wounded man whose cry he had heard.

Austrian Slovenes and Croats Agitating for a Revolution

LONDON, April 30.—A dispatch sent out today by Reuter's Agency says that it has been learned from Serbian sources that signs of an approaching revolution in Austria-Hungary are becoming daily more evident.

A plebiscite is being held among the Serbs, Croats, and Slovenes in favor of union with Serbia and Montenegro in one independent State under King Peter of Serbia. The Prince Archbishop of Carniola is at the head of this movement.

"Demonstrations of a very serious character are taking place in the Jugoslav provinces," says the dispatch. "Now comes the news that at the request of the Austrian Government, and with the sanction of the Pope, the Nuncio at Vienna has opened a disciplinary inquiry against the Archbishop of Carniola for placing himself at the head of this revolutionary movement. Great developments are expected."

big little States

"Is Massachusetts as large as Texas?" recently asked SYSTEM, the Magazine of Business. It answered its own question by a map showing "how the United States would look if the size of each state corresponded to its population." Massachusetts on that basis was indeed about the size of Texas. Rhode Island—"Little Rhody"—was as big as the unpeopled principalities, Wyoming and Idaho, put together. The business importance of folks as against acres could be understood better by one glimpse at this map than through pages of words. The article was a fair example of SYSTEM'S fascinating treatment of business questions.

ASSERTS RUSSIA VIOLATES TREATY

Berlin Protests Against Allies in Murmansk—Black Sea Fleet Reported Seized.

TROTZKY PLANS BIG ARMY

Compulsory Training to be Decreed —Women May Volunteer—Cossack General Taken.

MOSCOW, April 23, (Associated Press.)—Germany has protested to the Bolshevist Foreign Minister, M. Tchitcherin, against the landing of 6,000 allied troops at Murmansk, declaring that permission for such landing was a violation of the Brest-Litovsk treaty, which stipulated peace with Finland and noninterference in its internal life. It was denied in the protest that Germans had participated in the raid of the Finnish White Guards upon Kem, and the presence of Russian troops between Petrograd and Finland was objected to on the ground that they threatened to cross the frontier. Mediation of the Russo-Finnish conflict was promised if the Government prevented violations of the treaty.

The German advance in Russia continues uninterruptedly. The German forces have captured several cities and are nearing Kursk, capital of the Government of the same name, with a population of more than 50,000. This city is being evacuated. Leon Trotzky, in reply to a question, said that the advance would probably continue until peace with Ukraina has been effected.

There has been a report here that the entire Black Sea fleet has been captured by the Germans.

Leon Trotzky the Bolshevist Minister of War and Marine, speaking at a meeting of the Central Executives last night, urged the issuance of a decree for compulsory military service.

"Fearing destruction, Russia must have an army," he said. "We do not know the hour when we will be openly challenged by the imperialistic enemy threatening us in the east."

The Central Executives adopted a resolution to this effect. The measure provides for the training of workmen, peasants, and unemployed from 18 to 40 years of age for eight consecutive weeks, for at least twelve hours weekly. Schoolboys from 16 to 18 will be trained in similar manner, while other children at school will be trained in accordance with the rules of the Department of Education.

Women may volunteer. The enlistment will be for a minimum of six months, and desertion will be punishable by imprisonment and loss of citizenship.

Word has been received of the arrival at Berlin of Adolph Joffe, the Russian Ambassador to Germany.

General Count von Mirbach, the German Ambassador to Russia, arrived today with a staff of more than seventy persons, including various commissions and also a Turkish commission. In connection with his arrival, a prominent Bolshevist leader expressed surprise to the correspondent regarding the attitude of the Allies toward the present Russian Government, particularly the Americans, who are the most sympathetic and the most trusted, saying that Germany will control Russia economically if permitted undisputed away. He insisted on the necessity of American co-operation, which he declared would be advantageous to both sides. The press is also discussing recognition and allied economic support, and expresses the belief that this is probable.

M. Tchitcherin has addressed to Ambassador Francis and the Government of Northern China a request that the embargo be lifted on the export of tea and food supplies from China and Manchuria, which was placed on these commodities last January.

The nationalization of foreign trade has been decreed by a special board created, representing several departments, to organize, regulate, and fix the prices of all exports and imports. The decree is effective immediately.

DOUBT PETROGRAD REVOLT.

French Press Skeptical of Report Sent Out from Berlin.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Recent reports coming from Finland, through Copenhagen, that a revolt in Petrograd had resulted in the restoration of the monarchy, emanated from Berlin, in the opinion of French newspapers as given in an official dispatch today from France. The French public is advised to accept the news with great caution, since it has not been substantiated by late reports either from Finland or Moscow, or by the allied Ministers in Sweden.

"The French papers," said the dispatch, "receive with great reserve the report sent out by German propaganda that serious troubles appear to have broken out in Petrograd, and that a monarchical restoration is likely to follow in favor of the former Czarevitch Alexis Nicolaievitch. The Petit Journal writes:

"'Prudence should all the more be followed in this matter, because it is to the greatest interest of the Germans that troubles should arise in Petrograd to justify an intervention, for which they are ready. Their divisions which are fighting with the Finns are already at Viborg, situated on the north bank of the gulf, a hundred or so kilometers from the Russian capital. Finally it must be remembered that the German Minister at Stockholm has been for a long time conducting a campaign in favor of a monarchist restoration in Russia. All that would explain, if explanations were needed, the eagerness of the Berlin Government to spread these sensational reports which serve its designs with intrigues.

"'The representatives of the Allies at Stockholm whisper not a word of it. The Moscow radios of the 20th are equally silent. News from Helsingfors was received yesterday which makes no allusion to the serious event in Petrograd.'

"The Matin says: 'The news that a monarchist movement has broken out in Petrograd should be received with great caution. What matters is that this news, although ascribed to telegrams coming from Stockholm and Finland, in short reaches us from Berlin, and, more accurately, from Wilhelmstrasse.'"

KORNILOFF VERY MUCH ALIVE.

Cossack General Now Reported to be Marching on Orenburg.

AMSTERDAM, April 30.—Newspapers in Frankfort, Germany, have printed despatches from Kiev which deny that General Korniloff, former Commander in Chief of the Russian Army and a leader in the anti-Bolshevist movement, has been killed, as was recently reported.

The messages say that General Korniloff is marching on Orenburg, in the Ural region, at present. His object, they say, is not the restoration of the monarchy in Russia, but the convocation of a parliamentary body.

58 More Casualties in Our Army Overseas; Erroneous Reports of 2 Deaths Corrected

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Major Gen. Pershing has reported 58 casualties, which were made public by the War Department today. It was also announced that Lieutenant Thomas J. Mooney, previously reported as having died from accident, was alive, and that an error in cabling was made. Private Jesse M. King, previously reported died of gunshot wounds, is now reported as having been only slightly wounded. Lieutenant John W. Morris, previously reported as wounded severely, is now reported a prisoner unwounded.

Adding the new casualties made public today, and making the adjustment in totals caused by the cable error and other changes indicated, bring the casualties in our overseas army forces to a grand total of 4,418. The new casualties reported today included 2 killed in action, 2 died of accident, 6 died of disease, 5 severely wounded, 42 slightly wounded, and 1 missing in action. Five commissioned officers were in the list. Captain Charles A. Chambers died of pneumonia. Captain Richard Laurence Jett was killed in action. Lieutenants Robert D. Coye, Rufus B. Crain, and Francis Worthington Hine were slightly wounded.

line with fixed bayonets, but in most places, except Voormezeele, where there was close fighting, they were mowed down by Lewis-gun fire before they could get near. Line after line of them came on, but lost heavily and fell back.

Over the ground east of Dickebusch Lake some Yorkshire troops saw these groups of field gray men advancing upon them, and the glint of their bayonets, wet in the morning mist, and swept them with bullets from Lewis guns and rifles until heaps of bodies were lying out there on the mud flats in the old Ypres salient. The most determined assaults were concentrated upon the Twenty-fifth Division, but it held firm and would not budge, though the men had been under fearful fire in the night bombardment, and their machine gunners kept their triggers pressed, and bullets played upon the advancing Germans like a garden hose.

The troops in the whole division yielded no yard of ground and they hold that they killed as many Germans as any battalion in this battle. It was a black day for Germany. More than ten German divisions, probably thirteen, seem to have been engaged in this attempt to smash our lines and encircle the three hills. They included some of the enemy's finest divisions, so they lost quality as well as quantity in this futile sacrifice of man-power—man-power which seems to mean nothing in flesh and blood and heart and soul to men like Ludendorff, but is treated as a material force like guns and ammunition and used as cannon fodder.

Some of the British brigades saw the German Red Cross at work during the day, coming close behind the lines with wagons flying the burning emblem of love—a frightful irony on the field of battle except for the devotion of the men who labor under this sign of trust, and with crowds of stretcher bearers, who went a-gleaning on those muddy fields.

They had a great harvest of wounded, and to the British watching them from a distance they looked like gray ants carrying their eggs away across the wet, shell-broken, barren earth, which for the three years of the war until a week or two ago was behind the battlelines.

Allies Admire Each Other.

This combined action between the French and British soldiers which led to the severe check of the enemy will do much to cement the comradeship and admiration between the men in khaki and blue.

Today again I have been among the thousands of French soldiers. It is splendid to see them because of their fine bearing. They are men in the prime of life, not so young as some of the British and with a graver look than one sees on British faces, when they have not yet reached the zone of fire. They are men who have seen all that war means during these years of agony and hope and boredom and death. They have no illusions. They stare into the face of death unflinchingly and shrug their shoulders at its worst menace and still have faith in victory.

So I read them, if any man may read the thoughts that lie behind those bronzed faces with the dark eyes and upturned mustaches under the blue painted helmets or the black Tam o' Shanters.

They are not gay or boisterous in their humor, and they do not sing like the British as they march, but they seem to have been born to this war, and its life is their life, and they are professionals.

The Tricolor passes along the roads of France and Flanders, and French trumpets ring out across the flat fields below Scherpenberg, and all the spirit of the French fighting men who have proved themselves great soldiers in this war, as for thousands of years of history, is mingled with our own battalions. Together yesterday they gave the German Army a hard knock.

LAST SEARCH FOR CYCLOPS.

Warships' Boat Crews Questioning Fishermen of West Indies.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—As the final phase in the search for the naval collier Cyclops, the Navy Department announced today, numerous boat crews are being landed by warships to question fishermen along the coasts of the West Indian Islands near the route taken by the collier when she sailed from Barbados nearly two months ago.

Not one of the many vessels engaged in the search has reported the finding of wreckage or of any other clew that would aid in solving the mystery. Navy officials admit that the time is drawing near when they must formally give up for lost the big collier with nearly 300 persons on board.

Delay War Aims Statement.

LONDON, April 30.—The American labor delegates held a further meeting today with the British official labor committees to discuss their views on war aims. After considering the view officially expressed by the American Federation of Labor and that enunciated by British labor it was agreed to postpone action until a further joint meeting, to be held on the return of the Americans from France.

VIBORG CAPTURED; 6,000 REDS KILLED

Finnish White Guards Foil Attempt of Revolutionaries to Break Through.

LONDON, April 30.—The White Guards, or Finnish Government forces, have captured Viborg, seventy-five miles northwest of Petrograd, after killing nearly the entire force of 6,000 Red Guards, according to an official announcement issued at Vasa and transmitted from Copenhagen by the Exchange Telegraph Company.

The rebels made a last desperate attempt to break through in the direction of Frederiksham.

MOSCOW, April 23, (Associated Press.)—A fierce battle between the Finnish White Guards, supported by Germans and much artillery, and Red Guards near Terioki, Finland, is reported. Trainloads of wounded are arriving at Petrograd from Byeloostrov, a frontier station captured by White Guards. In view of the proximity of Petrograd, defensive measures have been taken and orders have been issued for the disarmament of combatants invading Russian territory.

The Finnish Bolchevist Government has protested to the American Ambassador, David R. Francis, and the allied representatives against the German support of the White Guards, declaring that Finnish Laborites will continue to fight for the cause of freedom, feeling a profound hatred and disdain for the executioners of nations and of the labor movement.

APRIL SHIP OUTPUT WAS 240,000 TONS

half of the month, furnishing another indication of the rapid increase which may be expected from this time as a result of the additional army of workers sent to the shipyards, the more rapid transportation of essential materials, and the favorable weather conditions.

Move for Transport Efficiency.

The appointment of a commission on port, terminal and harbor improvement which will put into effect immediately plans to add to the efficiency of the available fleet and rush troops and supplies to France, also was announced by Chairman Hurley of the Shipping Board.

On this commission will be Edward F. Carry, now Director of Operations of the Shipping Board, who will act as Chairman; Benjamin E. Winchell of the Railroad Administration; S. M. Felton, representing the War Department; Captain A. Hodgson, the Navy Department; George S. Dearborn of the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company; J. H. Rossiter, Pacific Mail Steamship Company, and Edwin F. Gay, Director of Planning and Statistics of the Shipping Board.

It will be the duty of these men not only to map out a comprehensive program for the rapid bunkering and loading of ships, but also to co-operate with various municipal and State bodies in carrying out their plans. In this connection it was pointed out that the State of New York recently appropriated $200,000 to be spent in connection with the New York and New Jersey Port Commissions' work.

The commission was in Washington a few days ago to confer with the Shipping Board officials, and arranged to work with the Government representatives. An announcement by the Shipping Board today in regard to the work to be done by its new commission, said:

"The appointment is one of the results of transportation and shipping congestion of last Winter. The port facilities were found to be inadequate, this condition being responsible for some of the railroad delays. Secretary McAdoo and Chairman Hurley of the Shipping Board have been co-operating to equalize shipping conditions, utilize all port facilities in the most economic manner, and correlate rail transportation with overseas traffic.

"As Director of Operations of the Shipping Board, Mr. Carry was the logical choice for Chairman of the Port Commission. He has had ample opportunity to study the present conditions under which ships frequently go to a port and unload there, then go to another port to get coal and stores, and then to still another port to get a cargo to carry on their outgoing voyage. This is one of the conditions that will receive primary consideration from the commission.

"Not only the Shipping Board, but the army and navy and the Railroad Administration, have a direct interest in the working out of a co-ordinated port and terminal program. The army's interest is to see to it that embarkation ports are so arranged that there will be adequate railroad, warehouse, and other facilities. The commission will deal with bunkerage facilities, which is of interest to the navy. The Railroad Administration is working to avoid any wasteful journeys of freight. When the proper ports are designated for certain shipments the distance covered by such shipments will be shortened. The program that will be considered by the commission is designed to eliminate waste motion."

As another step in the effort to obtain the maximum of efficiency out of the shipbuilding and operating resources of the nation, Robert P. Bass of New Hampshire, labor expert of the Shipping Board, called upon ship owners, ship operators, and seamen's representatives, in conference here today, to put aside all past differences and co-operate on the common ground of Americanism to keep ships fuly manned.

All of those at the conference, through their spokesmen, pledged themselves and their organizations to carry out agreements with and instructions from the Shipping Board.

"Underlying our common work," said Mr. Bass, "is the strong development of a real spirit of getting together and a recognition and respect for the point of view of every one in the service that rests on all of us in this emergency. The Shipping Board does not propose to set aside agreements, but in view of the policy it has adopted and acted upon so far it is not inclined to stand on technicalities, either legal or otherwise. It proposes to consider conditions as they actually are, in the interest of all parties, and particularly in the light of the great emergency that we must meet."

It is believed that a complete agreement well be reached at further meetings to be held this week.

Following out recommendations adopted by the United States Chamber of Commerce at its meeting in Chicago, representatives of the United States Shipping Board and the National Chamber will visit New York City on May 7 to assist the Government's efforts to speed up shipbuilding.

It will be pointed out that the private interests of business men and the normal interests of business organizations should be made secondary to the business of aiding ship production during the present critical months. Local organizations in shipbuilding centres, and in industrial centres where ship accessories are being manufactured will be urged to organize themselves to give definite assistance to shipbuilders and manufacturers in the solution of housing, local transportation, education, amusements, and other related problems.

FRUITS OF CONQUEST HELD UP TO TROOPS

Domination of Flanders Coast Among War Aims Outlined in Pamphlet to Germans at Front.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Domination of the coast of Flanders, colonization of Courland, Lithuania and a large part of Poland and possession of the coal and iron mines in France and Russia would be the fruits of "the true German peace," as outlined in a political catechism which has been delivered to the German soldiers on the western front.

An official dispatch today from France said that when the catechism was read before the Reichstag by Deputy Noske, the Minister of War said he was ignorant of it, whereupon Deputy Erzeberger replied that he had delivered a copy of the pamphlet to the Minister several weeks before.

"The catechism, which was distributed with the approbation of the military authorities," the dispatch said, "contains such sentences as these:

"'Democracy is the worst of all régimes. The democratic parties of the Reichstag wanted to force us by means of strikes and seditions to sign a shameful peace. Money is the mainspring of democratic régime. The motto, "Liberty, equality, fraternity" cloaks an association of international brigands. Parliament is a shop for gossips. The true German peace will give us for colonization the lands of Courland, Lithuania, and a large part of Poland, as well as the coal and iron mines in the west and in the east. This peace will assure us the domination of the coast of Flanders.'"

REPORTS NEW PEACE OFFER.

Emperor Charles Said to be Making an Appeal to Italy.

STOCKHOLM, April 30.—The Catholic International Press Agency announces, a dispatch from Basle says, that Emperor Charles of Austria is making a fresh pence offer, appealing to Italy to consider it in her own interests.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Officials here regard the report that Emperor Charles is about to offer a separate peace to Italy with the same sentiments which they have repeatedly expressed toward other peace offers. Although without any information other than that contained in the Stockholm dispatch, they freely expressed the opinion that the chief purpose of such an offer was to create discord among the Italians in order to weaken their resistance and at the same time attempt to quiet unrest among the Austrian people.

Although it has been predicted frequently that if the present German campaign should fail a "peace offensive" would be inaugurated by the Central Powers, there has been no previous intimation that a new move of this nature was being made. Ordinarily news originating in Switzerland is forwarded to this country by way of Paris.

Italian and British Patrols Inflict Losses and Take Prisoners.

ROME, April 30.—The official statement issued by the War Office today reads:

On the Asiago Plateau Italian assault troops routed a stronger enemy detachment, which suffered heavy losses, in the village of Stoccaredo.

Italian and British parties west of Canove and in the Ornic Valley captured prisoners, while an enemy patrol was driven back at Malga Costalunga.

The usual artillery firing has taken place along the whole front.

FOOD RIOTS IN CRACOW.

Galician Capital Has Been Without Supplies for Several Weeks.

LONDON, April 30.—Serious food riots have broken out in Cracow, Galicia, the Berlin Vorwärts reports, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen.

No new shipments of food have arrived in Cracow in several weeks.

DELAY HOME RULE BILL.

Drafting Committee Has Not Yet Completed Work Upon It.

LONDON, April 30.—The introduction of the Home Rule bill in the House of Commons, which had been announced for Thursday, has been postponed, the drafting committee not having completed its task.

DUBLIN, April 30, (Associated Press.)—The National Directorate of the United Irish League today elected John Dillon Chairman to succeed the late John Redmond. A resolution was unanimously adopted protesting against the application of conscription to Ireland, declaring that such an attempt under present circumstances would be certain to end in failure and disaster, and calling on the members of the league throughout the country to "strengthen and extend its organization, with a view to co-operating effectually with the Mansion House conference in resisting the application of conscription to Ireland."

QUIZZED ON BONNET ROUGE.

Duval Admits Subventions to Weekly Papers Also.

PARIS, April 30.—The Bonnet Rouge trial was resumed today with a continuation of the examination of M. Duval, director of the paper, who attempted to explain the circumstances under which nearly 1,000,000f. was received from, the German banker, Marx, of Mannheim, being withdrawn from Switzerland in the form of ten checks, five brought by M. Duval and the others by M. Vercasson, who is also involved in the case.

Duval admitted putting 200,000 francs into the Bonnet Rouge, but denied that his connection with that paper coincided with its becoming pacifist.

Colonel Voyer, who presided at the hearing, pointed out that Duval had not always obeyed the censorship, as he had printed 310 articles out of 1,076 which he had been told to suppress.

Duval admitted that he sent to subscribers of the Bonnet Rouge by mail full proofs of articles censored, but he argued that M. Clemenceau, the Premier, had done the same with articles suppressed by his paper, L'Homme Enchaine. Duval admitted having subventioned three weekly newspapers, one for 30,000 francs and the others at 10,000 francs each.

RETURNS LAND TO TURKEY.

Bulgaria Cedes Territory Presented at Beginning of War.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Bulgaria has agreed to let Turkey have the Adrianople station on the Karagatsch Railroad, as well as the left bank of the Maritza River up to Kuichi Buzeas, according to a dispatch today from France. These territories were claimed by Turkey in compensation for the Dobrudja. French comment is as follows:

"The Bulgarians are then giving back to the Turks the territorial present which the latter had given them late in the Summer of 1915 in order to drag them into the war and thus make their communications with the Central Empires safe at a time when the Franco-English forces were threatening them in the Dardanelles."

SOCIALISTS DEFER TO WAR.

French Will Hold No Demonstration on First of May.

PARIS, April 30.—The Permanent Committee of the French Socialist Party has issued a manifesto announcing that conjointly with the General Labor Federation it has been decided that no First of May demonstration shall be held this year, in view of the war situation.

Adherents of the two organizations, however, are invited wherever possible to attend meetings organized by the Labor Federation when the declarations adopted at the Inter-Allied Socialist and Labor Conference in London last February will be explained and commented upon.

WAR COUNCIL MEETS TODAY.

Premier Orlando of Italy in Paris for the Conference.

PARIS, April 30.—The Interallied War Council will meet in Versailles tomorrow and Thursday. France, Great Britain, Italy, and the United States will be represented. Professor Orlando, the Italian Premier, has arrived in Paris for the meeting.

ARMY DESERTER TELLS OF WORKING AS SPY

Wilhelm von Linder Admits Photographing Norfolk Naval Works for Germany.

KANSAS CITY, April 30.—Fred Robertson, Federal District Attorney for Kansas, announced tonight that Wilhelm von Linder, held in the military prison at Fort Leavenworth as a deserter from the American Army, had confessed that, while working as a German spy prior to America's entrance into the war, he obtained valuable military secrets in the vicinity of Norfolk, Va., where he photographed the naval works.

The confession, Mr. Robertson announced, stated that von Linder served in the German Army, before coming to the United States, where he met Captain von Ehlsruhuc, a member of the naval staff of the German Embassy at Washington, in Philadelphia in 1914. From that time until shortly before his arrest as a deserter at Laredo, Texas, March 29, 1917, von Linder worked under von Ehlsruhue, spreading propaganda in German communities, and his activities were reported to the German Government through Captain Boy-Ed, according to the alleged confession.

Von Linder will be interned at Fort Douglas, Utah, for the period of the war.

PALESTINE JEWS DECREASE

Large Proportion of Population Has Perished Since War Began.

When peace returns to the world, Palestine will have a well-organized framework upon which to rear the structure of a future nation, according to a cablegram received here yesterday by the American Alliance for Labor and Democracy from the Zionist Commission in Palestine. The message also said:

"Palestine has lost a large proportion of its Jewish people since the war began. Some are in Egypt, some are in Turkish prisons, some are exiles, and many are dead. Jerusalem lost two-thirds of its Jewish population by exile, typhus, and starvation during the days when the city was awaiting deliverance at the hands of the British under General Allenby.

"In the rural sections of the country the conditions are better, but the people there did not escape the terrible policy of depopulation pursued by the Turks."

bers than was originally contemplated they now realize that the U-boats are unable to prevent.

"We accordingly see the enemy sparing no effort or sacrifice to attain a position that may permit him to make a final blow with an appreciable chance of success.

"Against such tactics the duty of the defense is clear. First and foremost, the Allies must retain a large force of reserves intact for the ultimate shock, and at the same time use up the enemy as far as possible, so that his situation may be correspondingly weaker. In view of the tactical situation, strong positions must be held on retaken when it can be done not too expensively, as at Villers-Bretonneux, but abandoned where the cost is not judged worth while, as at Kemmel. The thought of the coming gigantic struggle must dominate the whole strategy of the defenders, and behind it is the project of the counterstroke that may be delivered against the enemy when that last effort has been repulsed. Toward this double purpose Foch's plans are working. Over the commanders at Verdun and in the subsequnt counter on the Somme he possesses the inestimable advantage of undivided control."

$10,000,000 Taken by J. P. Morgan & Co. Raises Hopes of More Big Subscriptions.

NEW SALES $28,693,850

End of First 20 Days of Drive Leaves $308,000,000 to be Raised This Week to Complete Quota.

The latest figures compiled by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York show that subscriptions to the Third Liberty Loan filed in this district up to the close of business Monday night amounted to $592,022,700. This total represents applications filed during the first twenty days of the campaign, and indicates that in the remaining five days at least $308,000,000 will have to be added if New York is to fulfill its quota of $900,000,000.

"The returns for Monday, tabulated by the Reserve Bank yesterday, amounted to only $28,693,850, which compares very unfavorably with the figures for the corresponding day in the October loan drive, when the total exceeded $161,000,000. At the end of the twentieth day of the Second Liberty Loan campaign this district passed the $900,000,000 mark, the exact total being $914,030,500. Subscriptions have been disappointing, but it is believed that considerable improvement will be noticed in the daily figures for the remainder of the campaign, which closes on Saturday.

The most encouraging event yesterday was the announcement of a $10,000,000 subscription by the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., which it is hoped will be followed by similarly large subscriptions from other sources. For the First Liberty Loan the Morgan firm subscribed to $40,000,000, and its Philadelphia house, Drexel & Co., applied for $10,000,000; while for the Second Liberty Loan, the Morgan house subscribed to $25,000,000, and Drexel & Co. for $5,000,000.

Results Reported by Subdivisions.

Governor Strong of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York received yesterday the following cable message from General Foch, Generalissimo of the Allied Armies:

With magnificent ardor America has thrown herself into the war. Her soldiers are fighting valiantly on our front, but above all money is the sinew of war. I am convinced that American thrift will respond to the call of the country and will contribute to her the help so important in this combat. GENERAL FOCH.

Treasury Urges More Speed.

Benjamin Strong, Governor of the Federal Reserve Bank and Chairman of the Liberty Loan Committee, received yesterday a message from Lewis B. Franklin, Director of the War Loan Organization of the Treasury Department, urging more "speed" in the campaign, and offering the following suggestions:

First—Inaugurate a "buy another bond" campaign with the idea of getting those who have subscribed a little to subscribe a little more.

Second—See that the employes of every industrial plant have been canvassed, creating, if possible, committees of employes to complete the work; find out if any plants need recanvassing.

Third—See if all stores and office buildings have been completely canvassed.

Fourth—Call attention publicly to the fact that the desired 20,000,000 subscribers means one bond buyer to every five people or practically one to a family. Has your community responded to this extent?

Fifth—Many wealthy men and large institutions are holding off on account of paying large income taxes, hoping that their subscriptions will not be needed; impress upon them that every possible subscription is needed and remind them again that the schedule of Government payments on Liberty bonds calls for no payments in the month of June.

Sixth—Follow up all pledges and see that all of these pledges materialize into actual subscriptions.

Seventh—Check up to see that each individual and community has done its share.

Eighth—Ascertain if those communities where quotas have been reached are alive to the necessity of continuing the battle for large oversubscription and wide distribution.

Ninth—Take advantage of the fact that May 1 is pay day and a good day for thousands to make initial payments.

Tenth—See that individuals and firms which benefit from war business increase their subscriptions in adequate proportions.

Eleventh—Many women whose husbands have already subscribed can buy bonds on their own account; make an appeal to them.

Twelfth—Appeal to your newspapers to publish these suggestions in the hope that they will serve as reminders of new opportunities for subscriptions.

Miscellaneous Subscriptions.

Total	337,493	$34,348,800

More than $100,000 has been obtained by the pupils of each of fifty-one elementary schools, while eleven schools have each brought in subscriptions in excess of $200,000. Public School 39 in the Bronx, of which Miss Anna V. McCarthy is Principal, still leads with 3,845 subscriptions, totaling $459,000. Public School 24, in Manhattan, J. O'Reilly, Principal, is second, with 2,584 subscriptions for a total of $373,150, and Public School 165, Manhattan, A. A. Boylan, Principal, is third, with 2,470 subscriptions, totaling $368,700. In Brooklyn P. S. 3, of which L. Estin H. White is Principal, has beaten all other schools in that borough with 1,095 subscribers for a total of $215,250.

John D. Rockefeller, in compliance with a request from the Publicity Department of the Liberty Loan Committee, prepared the following statement:

In this hour of our nation's peril every loyal American should aid to the extent of his ability, whatever sacrifice is involved. But participation in the Liberty Loan does not involve sacrifice, for it is not a gift, but an investment. The rate of interest would in normal times be considered a satisfactory return, while as to the safety of the principal there can be no question.

Pershing's "Veterans" in Wall Street.

Fourteen of General Pershing's "veterans," including Corporal Plant, Private McCormick, and Sergeant McNiff of the old "fighting 69th," appeared yesterday on the steps of the Sub-Treasury with their full equipment and their "tin" hats, and received a boisterous welcome. The three soldiers made brief speeches, and then Joseph Hartigan, who was master of ceremonies, called for subscriptions. An old Liberty bond, dated Sept. 25, 1777, and engraved by Paul Revere, was offered as a prize to the largest subscriber. The winner was a representative of Brown Brothers & Co., who later returned the document.

Police Commissioner Enright has issued a general order setting today as the day for a big drive on the part of the police force.

The entire chorus of the Metropolitan Opera Company will sing tonight at an Italian Liberty Loan rally to be held in Washington Square. Giulio Setti, director, rehearsed the chorus of 125 voices last night, and will lead the singers. The 15th Coast Artillery Band will play, and Mimi Aguglia, an Italian actress, will recite.

Honor flags have thus far been awarded to 710 communities in the New York district. Eighty-four awards were made yesterday.

Has 100% Record in Honor Flags.

Queens County has a 100 per cent. record in honor flags. Every one of its twenty-four towns or campaign districts has oversubscribed its quota. The county quota of $4,363,000 has been exceeded by nearly 50 per cent. Subscriptions to date total $6,357,000. There are 24,000 subscribers. Far Rockaway and Maspeth have each quadrupled their quotas and won honor flags with three stars. Forest Hills, Rockaway Park and Hollis have each won two stars. College Point, Elmhurst, Hammels, Corona, Woodside, Winfield, and Springfield have each one star.

The following additional counties have reached their quotas since the publication of the Honor List in Sunday's Times:

County.	Quota.	Subscription.
Yates, N. Y.	$320,300	$321,350
Chenango, N. Y.	970,000	1,004,700

HUGHES SEES VICTORY IN AMERICAN HANDS

Ex-Justice Says United States "Will Clean Up This Fight for Mankind."

Charles E. Hughes, speaking yesterday afternoon at a Liberty Loan rally on the floor of the New York Produce Exchange, declared that America's relation to the European war was the relation of those who have the casting of the die. He was loudly cheered when he said the United States was not in this war to show affection for hard-pressed Allies or to voice pleasing rhetorical display of interest in ideals, but to crush the Prussian ideal by which all that man has known or gained is perverted to serve the most brutal instincts.

"We cannot," began Mr. Hughes, "recount too often the reasons why we are in this struggle. Germany put upon us intolerable insults. Germany destroyed our ships ruthlessly, interrupted our lawful commerce. Germany murdered our men, women, and children. Germany flouted our protests, and threatened the integrity of our country. What is more, in the effort to accomplish this insane purpose of dominating the world, it was America's turn next. If the protection afforded by French armies, by British armies, by Italian armies should fail, we know that we would remain to confront a relentless and victorious foe, which would seek to impose upon us the alternative of submission to Prussian autocracy or to share the fate of Belgium and Northern France.

"Coming in very late and ill-prepared, we have crowded our efforts in order that we should arrive in time. We are getting there in full force with all the men that are needed. Germany is making her last great offensive, and from now on she will be on the defensive and America will be on the offensive until the end. This mad dash and reckless desperate effort to get through before we arrive in sufficient force to make that impossible, even in the Teutonic conception, cannot succeed.

"The very effort, however, spells opportunity for the United States. The victory is in our hands. If there were ever any doubt about it, there is no doubt now. We can go over there in sufficient force and clean up this fight for mankind, for decency and honor, and make a thorough job of it for the sake of our children and children's children. We want immediately the requisite plant to place an army of not less than 5,000,000 men on the other side as fast as we can get them there. We want immediately comprehensive industrial plants which will enable us to meet the economic conditions which will inevitably follow the raising of that great force which we believe to be essential to a complete victory.

"There is only one way to keep America out of the necessity of maintaining a great military establishment and entering at no very remote day into a future war for her life, and that is to convince the German people that they must give up this idea of dominating the world, and they must rest content with the simple opportunity which we and Belgium and France and Italy and England are entitled to enjoy and propose to enjoy.

"Bills are never paid with mere talking. Bills are paid with work and the surplus gains of effort. The Government calls us to invest in the only security in the United States that is perfectly sure against anything that the future may portend. This war cannot be lost, because we propose every one of us to do our bit. We pay, we invest, we encourage, we write, we speak, we acclaim ideals, and, what is best of all, we are brought by this war together in a splendid co-operation. We want no exploitation of labor by capital. We want no exploitation of capital by labor. The word of this great crisis is co-operation, every one reduced to the ranks as a plain American citizen."

Besides Mr. Hughes, the meeting was addressed by Benjamin Strong, Governor of the Federal Reserve Bank, and Harry Lauder. It was announced that subscriptions filed yesterday amounted to $2,356,000, bringing the total for the Produce Exchange up to $8,000,000.

HYLAN GREETS "BLUE DEVILS."

Alpine Chasseurs Received at City Hall After Broadway Ovation.

"Chaque homme a deux pays—son meme, et la Franch." Perhaps the crowd that lined lower Broadway yesterday was not unanimously familiar with that famous old saying—which means that every man has two countries, his own and France—but they made perfectly plain their comprehension of the sentiment yesterday afternoon when 100 of France's darlings, the famous Alpinn Chasseurs, camn swinging up the street from the Battery to City Hall; escorted by a company of doughboys of the 22d United States Infantry, a company of the 69th Regiment, New York Guard, and by fourteen of General Pershing's contingent of fifty, who are still in New York.

The Frenchmen were brought in omnibuses to Battery Park, where they met the fourteen American soldiers who had returned with them from France, the Americans having been the guests of Joseph P. Hartigan of the Liberty Loan Committee at luncheon at Fraunces's Tavern. Their escorting company of the 22d Infantry arrived next, followed by the company of the 69th New York and band. The band arrived playing "The Marseillaise," which it followed with "The Wearing of the Green," and on the way up Broadway, as a special compliment to the city's guests, played the famous French marching song, "The Regiment of the Sambre and the Meuse." From the Battery to the City Hall was one continuous ovation for the marching men.

At the City Hall Mayor Hylan and the leading members of the City Administration were grouped on the steps, and as the Chasseurs deployed across the open space in front, halted, presented arms, and came to rest, General Claudin, head of the French Military Mission to the United States, who had been standing beside the Mayor, stepped forward to present them to him. General Claudin said in part:

"Mr. Mayor: Representing the High Commissioner of the French Republic, I have the honor and the pleasure to introduce to the Mayor and the people of New York this detachment from the French Army. The Federal Government and the French Government have thought it advisable that, at the very time when America increases her efforts in order to take her full share, which will be a decisive one, in the battle for right and liberty, that at this very time our army, which has been successfully keeping our common enemy in check for forty-five months, should be represented here by this small body of comrades of the soldiers with whom your soldiers are fighting now side by side."

Mayor Hylan said in response:

"Citizens of the City of New York: Today we are met to greet three hundred French officers and soldiers—all honor men—sent here by the French Government to aid in our Liberty Loan campaign. All honor to these men who have fought so gallantly that democracy and liberty shall survive throughout the world. Their country—France—which is beloved by every American, has been the battleground of this frightful war. French soil has been consecrated by the blood of a million or more of her loyal, noble, and brave sons.

"I salute you men of the French Army in the name of the people of the City of New York, and I ask you to carry back to our gallant allies in the trenches the message that the people of the United States are with them in this fight, body and soul, and to the limit of their financial resources.

"Tell them when you go back that your efforts in behalf of the Third Liberty Loan met with great success. Tell them that we who are compelled to stay at home give them every other kind of support possible, moral, financial, and otherwise. The purpose of your visit to assist in the success of the Third Liberty Loan will be crowned with the reward that it so justly deserves."

EAST SIDE CHILDREN PARADE.

Arouse Great Enthusiasm for Loan Among Those of Foreign Birth.

More than 12,000 children of the east side, with little flags over their shoulders and the gleam of patriotism in their eyes marched through the east side yesterday in one of the most enthusiastic demonstrations for the Liberty Loan that has been seen in this city since the present campaign began.

Jewish children, Italian children, Hungarian children, Rumanian children, Irish children, and Chinese children passed before the grand stand in front of the Bank of the United States in Delancey Street like the products of many races, surging forward to some common goal, from which they were destined to emerge one great race, bearing the trade mark of 100 per cent. Americanism. That common goal manifested itself in the little Stars and Stripes that fluttered over their shoulders as they marched, and in the big banners proclaiming their loyalty, which were carried for them by the more stalwart marshals of the procession.

The parade started shortly after 1 o'clock, marshaled by their Principals and teachers; the pupils of the 7A, 7B, 8A, and 8B grades of all the east side schools assembled before their schools and proceeded by different routes to Rivington and Pitt Streets from which point the column swung into Delancey Street, headed by the Sinrine Band of the land ship U. S. S. Recruit and a detachment of the junior police reserves under Captain O'Connor of the Clinton Street Police Station.

In the column were hundreds of Jewish mothers who had given one or more sons to the army. They marched past the grand stand to the strains of martial music and received cheer after cheer from the crowds who watched them from the sidewalks.

In the reviewing stand were Municipal Court Justice Aaron J. Levy, Chairman of the Parade Committee; Mrs. William Randolph Hearst, Sophie Irene Loeb, Bernard W. Marcus, Vice President of the United States Bank; Samuel Lampert, Chairman of the East Side Liberty Loan Committee, and A. B. Leach. Several of the reviewing party made patriotic addresses to the crowds before the parade started, and after it was over Mr. Lampert announced that he would give a $100 cup to the east side school selling the largest amount of Liberty bonds in proportion to the number of its pupils.

Dr. Charles Lyons, Superintendent of Public School 4, at Rivington and Pitt Streets, was in charge of the parade. The schools taking part were District No. 4—Nos. 12, 31, 97, 110 and 147—and District No. 5—Nos. 4, 13, and 160. The Grand Marshals were Principal William Kottman of Public School 147, and Louis Brodle of Public School 62.

It was east side night at Liberty Land last night, and the crowd that turned out to show that that part of New York City was not to be counted slacker either in bonds or enthusiasm completely blocked the entrance to the 69th Regiment Armory on Lexington Avenue, making it necessary for the police to be called in to assist the national guardsmen on duty.

Inside the armory Louis Marshall, Judge Aaron Levy, Collector of Internal Revenue Mark Eisner, Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, William Edlin, and others told the crowd reasons why every American man, woman, and child should invest in Liberty bonds. Anna Fitziu of the Metropolitan Opera Company sang the "Marseillaise" and "The Star-Spangled Banner."

VANDERBILT SELLS HIS HAT.

Son of Colonel Aids Liberty Loan at Movie Show.

After the United States Navy octette, from the Brooklyn Navy Yard, had finished singing for the Liberty Loan at the Astor Theatre last night, Earle Foxe, a movie star called for subscriptions for the Liberty Loan. A soldier, dressed in the uniform of a private in the American Army stood up in the orchestra and holding up his service campaign hat said he would give it to any one who would take a $5,000 bond. A man in the audience offered $5,000 for it. The hat was passed to the subscriber amid loud applause, but when it was remarked that the soldier would have to leave the theatre bareheaded the purchaser of the hat returned it to its former owner.

The soldier thanked the man and then to the surprise of the audience the uniformed man said he would take a $1,000 bond. The house reverberated with applause as the soldier filled out the subscription blank. When the bluejacket of the navy detail collected it, however he read as follows:

Private Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr.,
Special Dispatch Driver, 27th Divn.,
U. S. A.
American Expeditionary Forces.
Home address, 640 Fifth Av.,
New York City.

Private Vanderbilt has been stationed at Camp Wadeworth, Spartanburg, South Carolina, where his father, Cornelius Vanderbilt, is Colonel of the 102d Engineers, U. S. A. More than $92,000 was collected last night at this rally.

LAD SOLD BOND TO MORGAN.

His Questions Made the Buttonless Banker Stop at a Booth.

The next time J. P. Morgan goes to Liberty Land he will wear his Liberty Loan button or carry some document to prove he owns a Liberty Bond. Mr. Morgan didn't wear his button yesterday afternoon when an eight-year-old bond seller, Raymond Francis Rowe Kennedy, saw him.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan paid the exhibit a visit in the afternoon, the banker, as has been said, minus button and book. The first person the former encountered as he strolled over to look at a captured German Fokker airplane was Master Kennedy.

"Want to buy a bond, Mister?" asked the youngster.

"No, son," said Mr. Morgan kindly, moving to avoid the crowd which was gathering around them. "I have bought about all the bonds I can afford."

"Where's your button, then?" queried Raymond, moving so as to stay directly in front of Mr. Morgan.

"I guess I left it at home."

"Well, then, where's your book?" persisted the young inquisitor.

"Why, I don't think I have a book with me either. In fact, I am sure I haven't."

"That's funny," said the seller of bonds suspiciously. "You ain't got a button and you ain't got a book, and yet you say you got bonds at home."

"I can assure you, my little man," pleaded Mr. Morgan, "I have bought bonds and that I have bonds in my office. In fact, I am selling them just as you are, but I don't happen to have a button with me."

"All right," said the disappointed lad, moving aside but eyeing Mr. Morgan with incredulity. On his way out the banker stopped at the booth where the women of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the British Empire were selling bonds. It is probable that Mrs. F. W. Gerrard, who presides at the booth, will never be as astonished again as she was when she read the name on the subscription blank of the man who bought a bond from her, but to Raymond Francis Rowe Kennedy goes the credit of selling Mr. Morgan that bond.

RECORD DAY FOR LIBERTY LOAN

American merchant put an American flag in his window, and two committees of citizens waited on him, urging him to take the flag down, and declaring that if he did not comply with their suggestion his business would be ruined. Today a flag pole, erected in the town square, carries Old Glory, and the residents are buying bonds."

The New York district moved along at about an average pace today, showing an increase of $28,000,000. The twelve northern counties of New Jersey show the best record of any section in the district, having a money percentage of 92 per cent. of their quota. Fairfield County, Conn., has rolled up 86 per cent. of its quota. New York State has returned 63 per cent. and the City of New York 60 per cent.

Chicago continues to lead in honor flag awards with a total of 3,243. Other districts reported tonight that they had awarded flags as follows: Cleveland, 1,180; San Francisco, 885; New York, 710, and Philadelphia, 250.

Maine was added to the honor States today, making three in the New England district, Vermont, and New Hampshire being the other two. The Connecticut section of the district is within 6 per cent. of its quota, but Massachusetts and Rhode Island have only 80 per cent.

Reports from the Philadelphia district show the following results: Pennsylvania, outside of Philadelphia, $78,318,500; Philadelphia proper, $101,928,850; New Jersey, $13,315,450; Delaware, $6,022,900.

Dallas telegraphed tonight that the City of Dallas was causing more concern than any other place in the district. The situation there was complicated somewhat by an erroneous report published early in the campaign that the city had subscribed its quota. Every effort is being made now, however, to remedy the damage done.

Liberty Bonds Will Work for You While You Sleep

Money is a curious article. Have you ever thought that invested money is the only thing outside our Army and Navy that will work for you while you sleep?

Everything else knocks off or takes a holiday or goes to bed, but our money sits up all night working to bring in the interest that our country gives on every dollar it borrows from us.

MUSICIANS RAISE $2,200,000 FOR LOAN

Crowd at Carnegie Hall Greets Pershing's Men and "Blue Devils."

THOUSANDS TURNED AWAY

James M. Beck Shows Close Relation of Music and Patriotism—Caruso and Farrar Sing.

Music paid tributes to patriotism last night in Carnegie Hall, where a crowd that filled the auditorium to overflowing was gathered by the Allied Music Trades and Associations of New York to boom the Third Liberty Loan. At the close of the meeting it was announced that $2,200,000 had been subscribed.

It was a woldly enthusiastic crowd, and at 8:45 o'clock, when the doors of the hall had to be closed, there were many thousand persons massed in Fifty-seventh Street, all intent upon trying to get in. The climax of the meeting came when the fifty fighting men sent from the trenches in France by General Pershing arrived and marched to the platform through lines of standing, cheering, shouting men and women. The same feeling was expressed again when the "Blue Devils" of the French Army came swing down the aisle, with their bayonets gleaming in the electric lights.

Cheers Drown Out National Anthem.

The first thrill came when the colors were brought in. Soldiers and sailors carried the flag to the platform, and for a few minutes the sound of the band crashing out "The Star-Spangled Banner" was entirely drowned by the shouts of the audience. This cheering did not entirely die down while the soldiers went through a short drill. The applause broke out again when the Tricolor of France were carried to the front, and once more when the British flag was displayed.

Standing at attention through the demonstration and looking down in salute were many officers who occupied the boxes that run the entire semicircle of the house. Directly in front of the stage was Governor Benjamin Strong of the Second Federal Reserve District, and beside him was Lieutenant Le Moal of the 11th Chasseurs, commanding the "Blue Devils." Beside them were other officers in the uniform of France. In the boxes also were Lieutenant Cansi of the 23d Colonial Infantry, Lieutenant Cluzan of the Fort Zouaves, Lieutenant Bodewin of the 3d Zouaves, General Tozzi, Major Sterling Wendeburg, Captain Francisco Gardebassi, Captain Resmiti, and Captain D'Annunzio.

In a lull following the presentation of the colors Geraldine Farrar appeared, and as the orchestra played the opening bars of "My Country 'Tis of Thee" there was a shuffling of feet as a detail of soldiers and sailors moved forward and formed three sides of a hollow square about the singer.

Geraldine Farrar Sings "America."

The cheering suddenly ceased as the singer took up the song. It was broken as the vast audience without prompting sang the chorus. Then came the Marseillaise. Miss Farrar sang in English, and as she sang a sailor stepped forward and waved the flag of France. There was a mighty hurst of cheering, repested again as Miss Farrar sang "Annie Laurie."

James M. Beck, who presided, told of the close alliance there has always been between music and patriotism.

"The time will come," Mr. Beck said, "when the Hymn of France will be sung again in the City of Strassburg. Let us hope that its strains will go down the Unter den Linden in Berlin."

Dr. A. N. Travis, who served with the Canadian forces, had begun to speak when it was announced that the "Blue Devils" had arrived. In an instant all were on their feet, and as the doors were thrown back the cheering began. They came with swinging stride to the platform, and every gun came to attention as the band struck up the French national air. The fighters were briefly introduced, and their departure from the hall was the occasion for another demonstration.

Pershing's Men Introduced.

The audience was still on its feet when it was announced that the American boys from the front were outside and as they came into view it was as though all the cheering of the previous minutes had been compressed into one great sound of welcome and approval. As the men in their trench helmets came down the aisle it was impossible to hear even the music. Joseph Hartigan, former Commissioner of Weights and Measures, introduced each man in the group, and as each name was called the soldier stepped to the front, took off his "tin" hat and bowed. Three of the men have received the Croix de Guerre. Sergeant Eugene MacNeff, of the 69th, was called upon to speak. He wore his decoration.

He was asked to tell how he won the Cross, and he did so with all the embarrassment of a soldier. He spoke, however, without hesitation.

"I hope you all can hear me," he said. "I have a cold. We were to go for leave for a period of twenty days, to go back for rest. The night before we were ordered out to go back for rest I was asked would I volunteer to go on a raiding party, and I volunteered. About everybody else in my battalion volunteered. Fifty of us were picked out; we were lucky; and the next morning we thought we were going to have a rest—the next morning we marched ten miles. That was the rest we had. We were rehearsing for a period of three weeks this attack which we were to make. The 'blue devils' who are here tonight were there with us. It came the night of March 20; the hour was 4:40. It happened they started two minutes too early.

Three Men Lost in Attack.

"We got over on the German lines and gained our objective, but the Prussian guard started in before their own lines—the front-line trench—while we were in there, and we had to come out, and come back the best way we could, every man for himself. When we got back we found eight of our comrades were missing. Then came the call for volunteers to go out again. The first man to volunteer was Corporal Milo Plant. He and I had worked together, and we got 'sigged back.' We tried to get our other two comrades, but we lost three men the second time. On the third time out three more of the men were wounded and we had to go back for them. We got them all back with the exception of one man. One man died; we had to pick him up in a bag the next morning and bury him. That is all I can say at present, ladies and gentlemen. I was decorated the next morning."

Dr. Travis told the story of his experience as a fighting man. He described how he, as an American, had told his companions that the United States was going to send over hundreds of airplanes as had been promised, and there was almost a silence as he stood at the front of the platform and, lifting up his hands, said impressively: "We were under shell fire for four months, and by God we never saw an 'American airplane."

He was followed by Guy Empey, after which Enrico Caruso sang. Signor Caruso was as warmly welcomed as had been the others who took part, and he sang twice. One selection was "Liberty Forever," which he composed. There was singing also by the Edison double quartet.

The subscriptions to the bonds came with a rush after Sergeant Empey had spoken. He auctioned a poster painting, "Victory," by Agnes E. Mayer. It was knocked down for $100,000 to H. L. Wilson of the Columbia Graphophone Company, who returned it. Empey then produced a German helmet and those who subscribed were allowed to kick it off the platform. He did quite a business. The privilege of kicking the helmet fell to Miss Rose Schill of 141 West Twenty-fourth Street, Bayonne, N. J. The sister of Sergeant Empey, Mrs. Alvan Platt of Brooklyn, took a second kick at it, and the helmet landed in the middle of the audience.

The soldiers on the platform subscribed $6,500, each taking a bond.

CREEL DEMANDS INQUIRY BY PRESS

Takes Up Charges Made Against Him by Hopewell Rogers of Newspaper Association.

APPEALS TO FRANK P. GLASS

Public Information Chairman Resents Assertion That He Is Incompetent and Disloyal.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—George Creel, Chairman of the Committee on Public Information, has demanded an investigation of his work based on charges made by Hopewell Rogers, business manager of The Chicago Daily News and retiring President of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association.

The Chairman of the Committee on Public Information has made his demand for an investigation in a letter to Frank P. Glass, the newly elected President of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association.

The letter sent to Mr. Glass was as follows:

Mr. Frank P. Glass, The Birmingham News, Birmingham, Ala.:

My dear Mr. Glass: The following telegram was sent by me on the evening of April 25:

"Hopewell Rogers, American Newspaper Publishers' Association, Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, New York City:

"Have just read report of your speech criticising publicity policy of Government. I assume your absolute sincerity, but feel that no criticism can be constructive when based only upon hearsay and personal opinion. In the interest of larger effectiveness I respectfully urge you to come to Washington, either with a committee or your entire membership, for a full and frank discussion of these mutual problems. I pledge full information as to every activity of the Committee on Public Information, and will welcome advice, suggestion and co-operation. In view of your criticism given publicly as the head of a great organization, I feel strongly that your acceptance is compelled by fairness as well as the national interests."

It does not appear that this telegram was communicated either to the directors of the association or the delegates, nor have I had any reply from Mr. Rogers himself. I am writing to you as the newly elected President of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, for the matters involved are of too great importance to be dismissed as a mere convention incident.

When Mr. Rogers accuses me of disloyalty I am not greatly disturbed, for I feel that the devotion of a lifetime will weigh against any single, reckless, unsupported statement made in prejudice and partisanship. When Mr. Rogers attacks my competency, however, the personal element disappears, for not only does he assail the entire educational work that the Committee on Public Information is doing in the United States, and in every other country in the world, but he impugns the motives and merits of thousands of patriotic men and women who have given themselves wholeheartedly and unselfishly to this branch of the national service.

Three thousand historians are at our call in the preparation of pamphlet matter; virtually every writer of prominence is giving time to the work of the committee; the division of advertising enlists the energies of every great advertising expert in the United States; there are close to 50,000 speakers in the Four Minute Men; the war conferences of the State are under our supervision; men and women of all nationalities go from coast to coast at our bidding; the famous artists of the United States are banded together for the production of our posters; the motion picture industry has been mobilized and is giving us ungrudging support without thought of financial return; and in every capital in the world there are men and women serving with courage and intelligence.

I can readily understand how the Germans might insist that our effort was worthless and that these thousands were laboring vainly and even disloyally, but it is amazing, indeed, that one who calls himself an American should level such a charge, especially when he never has taken the trouble to call upon me and knows absolutely nothing of the work of the committee, its aims, and its plans.

I insist that the American Newspaper Publishers' Association is compelled by every dictate of patriotism to prove or disprove the charges that Mr. Rogers made as its President. As stated in my telegram, I shall be glad to receive any committee, no matter what its size, welcoming the fullest possible investigation, and so confident am I that I permit you, and even urge you, to compose it of men who have the idea that my work could be done more effectively.

I have long felt the need of an advisory committee made up of those truly representative of the press of the United States, but I think you will agree with me that such a selection is attended with many difficulties. The American Newspaper Publishers' Association is the one great body in the field, and yet even this does not express the views and desires of the editorial room, with which the Government is concerned, but represents the business control. That body of the press which deals with the news itself is without national organization, and any attempt to select from its vast personnel would involve an unfair discrimination at the very outset.

I beg you to believe that it is not only an injustice that I am seeking to have remedied. It is a great and necessary work that I am trying to protect. If the American Newspaper Publishers' Association can help me in any manner or point out to me what larger efficiency can be secured it is its duty. I shall be glad to receive this committee at any time. Sincerely,

GEORGE CREEL, Chairman.

Mr. Glass declined tonight to make any comment on Mr. Creel's letter. He said he did not receive the letter until noon today. Mr. Glass will head a committee which will call on Mr. Creel tomorrow to discuss the case.

A service bureau created by order of President Wilson to be conducted under the direction of the Committee on Public Information will open offices here tomorrow in the Home Life Building, opposite the Treasury Building. The bureau is designed to speed up war work by making available to individuals who come to Washington to see officials complete records of the functions, location, and personnel of all Government agencies.

Its duties are to aid persons coming to Washington on Government business to fix the official and office they should be placed in contact with.

The director, Frederick W. McReynolds, Professor of Finance at Dartmouth College, has organized a staff of permanent employes, and, in accordance with the provisions of the President's executive order, has requested the heads of the several Government departments to detail as temporary assistants individuals conversant with the personnel and functions of their respective organizations.

The bureau has prepared a card index, showing the personnel, function, location, and telephone number of the officials of all departments.

OIL COMPANY ACCUSED.

Standard of Indiana Cited for Alleged Price Fixing and Control.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The Federal Trade Commission issued complaint today against the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, charging violation, not only of the Trade Commission act prohibiting unfair business practices, but violation of the Clayton anti-trust law as well.

As an infringement of the Clayton act, the complaint asserts that the company is discriminating in price between different purchasers of petroleum products and "that the effect of this discrimination may be to substantially lessen competition or tend to create monopoly." It also is charged that the Standard Oil Company of Indiana fixes different prices in different sections, selling its products at a lower price in highly competitive areas.

The company is accused of stifling competition in Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, North Dakota, South Dakota, and Oklahoma by distributing its products by means of tank wagon stations and tank wagons and refusing to sell in carload lots, or in such manner that the products can be reshipped to other territories where higher prices prevail, "except where such sales are made to other Standard companies."

TEXTILE STUDENTS SEE WORK IN MILL

Thousands from High Schools, Art Schools, and Colleges Visit Exhibition.

ENJOY THE FASHION PLAY

Much Interest Shown by Visitors in Exhibit of the "Made in the U. S. A." Designs.

Several thousand students from the high schools, art schools, and colleges of New York went to the National Textile Exhibition held at the Grand Central Palace yesterday and got a comprehensive idea of the practical workings of a textile mill. Most of the visitors' studies involved textile work. The Pratt Institute of Brooklyn sent eighty-five girl students, while the decorative design class in the Woman's Art School was present in a body. About 1,500 pupils in the first two terms of the De Witt Clinton School arrived after school hours.

All the visitors were especially interested in an exhibit arranged by M. D. C. Crawford, Research Associate of Textiles for the American Museum of Natural History, of the "Made in the U. S. A." textile designs that have come forth in the last year. These designs, it was stated, have created a new era in American art in textiles and are based on developments from prehistoric designs of textiles that Mr. Crawford obtained from the records of the museum.

"American goods must not only bear the label of 'Made in the U. S. A.' and express our technical skill and the honesty of our industry, but must also carry a measure of art that is distinctly individual," Mr. Crawford said. "We have passed the stage in the industry in which we were clever and successful imitators and come to that time when we must definitely show a creative faculty of our own."

The chief attractions yesterday proved to be the fashion play given in the afternoon and evening under the direction of Alexander M. Fream, and the whirling machinery which was producing about every kind of fabric known in the textile industry. The automatic and complicated machines which perform wonderful "stunts" in the manufacture of cloth did not however, hold any greater interest than the old-fashioned spinning, carding and winding machines, upon which two Boston women were turning out about four yards of cloth a day, exclusive of the time devoted to the spinning of the yarn. This is approximately one-eighth the amount the high-powered weaving machine produces in a single day. One mill girl can handle several machines.

Hundreds of cotton manufacturers and mill agents from every section of the East and South will visit the textile show today, and in the evening attend preliminary meetings and smokers to be held at the Hotel Biltmore under the auspices of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers and the American Cotton Manufacturers' Association, whose conventions begin tomorrow. Rufus R. Wilson, Secretary of the National Association, announced last night that a change had been made in the date for the joint dinner of the two associations. Instead of being held on Friday, the dinner will take place at the Biltmore tomorrow night. Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, who was scheduled to speak, is unable, on account of the windup of the Liberty Loan drive, to be present. His place will be taken by Secretary Daniels.

May Expel Enemy Members.

Bradley Stoughton, Secretary of the American Institute of Mining Engineers, announced last night that resolutions to have stricken from the roll of the Institute forever the names of all honorary, active, associate, and junior members who are subjects of enemy countries, will be acted upon by the Board of Directors of the Institute at a meeting to be held in this city on May 24 next. The American Institute of Mining Engineers is one of the five great engineering societies of the United States, and it is understood has a considerable number of enemy aliens in its membership.

Some News to Win the War With

I don't know how other people feel about it but when a man asks me to my face to spend three times as much money as I think I am going to, I care quite a little as to how he seems to think he can get me to do it.

Most people who have tried on me with the Liberty Loan seem to think I am one or the other of three kinds of people.

One man seems to think that the way to get me to forget how much money I've got or haven't got in my pocketbook, and to give away everything in sight, is to tell me things that will keep me awake nights being afraid of what the Germans are going to do to us.

Another man comes up to me and seems to think that what I need is encouraging and he gives me a kind of vision to spend my money on, a vision of what we are going to do to the Germans.

The third man hasn't come yet.

When he does he is going to hand over to me a daily fear to live with if I don't subscribe enough and get other people to subscribe enough, and a grim daily hope to live with if I do.

There are two clear visions the American people have got to have and have every day and have quick to win this war with. One is a clear vision of what the Germans are going to do to us unless we spend three times as much money as we think we are going to, and the other is a clear vision of what we are going to do to the Germans, a vision so clear that it will make the Germans afraid of us.

I don't know how other people feel about it, but when a man comes up to me in the street and asks me to invest nine of my ten hundred dollars in whipping the Germans, I want some news about my nine hundred dollars and what I can do with it in the way of whipping the Germans. The Germans keep me fairly supplied from day to day with news about their whipping us.

And when a man wants me to invest in nine hundred dollars' worth of whipping the Germans I want him to strike in and show me what nine hundred dollars' worth of whipping the Germans is like. I want to see the nine hundred dollars at work.

This is the way other things are sold, and so far as I am concerned at least, the way to sell whipping the Germans to me is to show me some—tell me

SOME NEWS TO WIN THE WAR WITH.

One German locomotive rolling innocently along in the sun 'way over in Germany is the equivalent of thousands of German soldiers at the front.

The thousands of German soldiers cannot eat, sleep, breathe, or fight without that one locomotive.

One bomb which anybody can buy for fifty dollars dropped from an airplane on the locomotive sends home thousands of soldiers from the front.

The way to win this war quickly is for the American people to have a vision not of what we are afraid of in the Germans but of what the Germans are going to be afraid of in us.

We must have a vision and have it quick. Then we must give it to the Germans, give them a six-billion-dollar advertisement of what they have to be afraid of in us, that will go all through Germany.

Here it is in German headlines:

THE AMERICAN GOVERNMENT ASKED THE PEOPLE LAST WEEK FOR THREE BILLION DOLLARS TO WHIP THE GERMANS WITH.

Walk-Over SHOES

and this Walk-Over pump clings instead of slipping when you walk. A small but efficient piece of soft surface ooze-leather inside of the heel-piece loyally attends to that.

A pump that you don't have to hold on with your mind. A graceful heel, an exquisite "daylight" arch, this is a shoe you would wear in walking over velvet. The sort of a shoe that makes a formal costume complete.

Walk-Over Shoes are manufactured at Campello, Brockton, Mass., are sold in all the important towns and cities of the world, and the world over bear the same trade-mark.

A complete line of shoes $6 to $10. Economy lines at $5. Special lines higher.

The Hampton Shops and Country House Decoration

THE first joyous breath of Spring is apt to call up a memory of some Georgia Country House with its cheery Breakfast or Morning Room, through whose tall casemented windows the blithe sunlight falls on well-polished Mahogany, gleaming Silverware and colorful Porcelains.

To make this into a reality all that is needed is a visit to the Hampton Shops whose spacious Galleries are graced with nicely arranged groupings of the very Furniture, and its accompaniments, of which such houses are in need; and whose Decorators, from long and intimate experience, can surround these pieces with the very tones and shadings which will make them seem at home.

PUBLISHERS PRESENT PROTEST ON POSTAGE

FLAT ZONE PLAN OFFERED

Post Office Committee Hears George McAneny, E. B. Stahlman, and Others.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Representatives of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association protested to the Senate Post Office Committee today against the second-class mail rates which under the War Tax act go into effect July 1, and urged a modification of the plan in so far as it affected newspapers.

The zone system, by which one rate is to be charged for advertising matter and a separate rate for news sections, the publishers contended, was discriminatory and excessive. In view of the war and the present print paper situation, they asked that a lower rate be prescribed.

Those appearing today were George McAneny of THE NEW YORK TIMES and Major E. B. Stahlman of The Nashville (Tenn.) Banner. Both were introduced by Frank P. Glass of The Birmingham (Ala.) News, President of the Publishers' Association. In presenting the witnesses, Mr. Glass read a resolution adopted by the association at New York in which the plan was pronounced unworkable and urging that no plan of the kind be placed in operation without a scientific investigation first.

"If there are abuses to be corrected let them proceed and the Government will have the support of the newspaper publishers," said Mr. McAneny. "In the case of the newspapers, I maintain that need has not been shown."

The transportation of newspapers last year gave a profit to the Government, Mr. McAneny asserted. The newspapers would meet the increase, he added, by readjusting their subscription rates, and no attempt would be made to make it up in increased advertising rates. He explained that owing to the increased cost of print paper and other expenses due to the war advertising rates had been advanced as much as possible.

In order to increase the circulation of newspapers, so that the various official statements and notices could get wide circulation, Canada, Mr. McAneny said, had reduced postal rates, while this country, "at a time when the circulation of the press is needed," proposed to inflict restrictions.

Major Stahlmnn said that the publishers were not asking any favors, but wanted to pay the Government what was due. Last year, he said, he paid the Government $20,000 for transporting his newspaper, which has a circulation of 50,000 copies. Under the new law this would be increased $8,000 the first year, $15,000 the second year, $20,000 the third year, and $25,000 the fourth year.

"We want a separation from the magazine and other publishers," said Major Stahlman. "While magazines can comply with that law, it is practically impossible for the newspapers to do it."

An amendment providing a flat zone system was proposed by the publishers. It would provide a rate, effective July 1 next, of 1 cent a pound for the transportation of newspapers for the first three zones, consisting of not more than 300 miles; 1¼ cents for the fourth zone of from 300 to 600 miles; 2½ cents for the fifth zone, from 600 to 1,000 miles; 3¾ cents for the sixth zone, from 1,000 to 1,400 miles; 4 cents for the seventh zone, from 1,400 to 1,800 miles, and 5 cents for the eighth zone, extending beyond 1,800 miles.

Stephen Farrelly, manager of the American News Company, told the committee that the zone system was "false in system and unfair."

Jesse H. Neal, Executive Secretary of the Associated Business Papers and representing the Publishers' Advisory Board of New York, urged that enforcement of the rate provided in the act effective July 1 be temporarily suspended until after the war.

Senator Bankhead of Alabama announced that a representative of the Post Office Department would be heard tomorrow.

CHICAGO HERALD IS SOLD.

Acquired by Hearst and to be Combined with the Examiner.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, April 30.—Announcement was made tonight that The Chicago Herald, which for the last four years had been under the control and editorship of James Keeley, had been sold to the Illinois Publishing Company, the official title of the Hearst publications in this city, and will be consolidated with William Randolph Hearst's Chicago Examiner, the transfer taking place tomorrow night. Mr. Hearst's purchase of The Chicago Herald is supposed to have been actuated by a desire to eliminate a competitor in the morning newspaper field and at the same time to obtain an Associated Press franchise for The Examiner. The purchase price is not stated and no information on this point is forthcoming.

The Chicago Herald, in announcing the combination of The Herald and Examiner, says:

"The interests of The Examiner property will be represented in the new editorship by Arthur Brisbane. Mr. James Keeley has been invited abroad by two European Governments for war work—to make certain investigations and report to the American people. Mr. Keeley will be absent from America for approximately three months. He will serve The Herald and Examiner in an advisory capacity. It is hoped and expected that upon his return to this country Mr. Keeley will resume his work as editor."

The first issue of the combined papers will appear on Thursday morning. The consolidation of The Herald and Examiner leaves Chicago, a city with a population of 2,500,000, with only two morning newspapers in the English language, The Tribune and The Examiner. The Chicago Herald was the outgrowth of four Chicago newspapers, each of which was an important factor in the life of Chicago in its day. In the order of their establishment the four papers were The Times, The Inter-Ocean, The Herald, and The Record.

TWO STATES GO DRY.

New Hampshire and Michigan Both in Prohibition Column Today.

CONCORD, N. H., April 30.—The sale of liquor in New Hampshire, after having been legalized for fifteen years, ceases with tonight. By midnight of April 30 all alcoholic beverages must have been removed from saloons and those who have held licenses may not store within the State any remaining stocks. Many saloon keepers cleared their shelves a day or two in advance and ceased business.

Enforcement of the new law has been placed by the Governor and Council in the hands of the Rev. Jonathan Lewis of Amherst, author of the bill for the repeal of the local option amendment.

DETROIT, Mich., April 30.—Capacity business in retail houses dealing in package goods, famine prices for wines and whisky in cafés and barrooms, and "no beer" signs in many of them marked the last day of the legal sale of liquor in Michigan today. The constitutional amendment making Michigan a prohibition State is operative at midnight.

DRAFTS BILL TO CURB I.W.W.

Walsh Measure Makes Members Liable to Ten Years' Imprisonment.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—A bill designed to crush out the I. W. W. has been approved by a Senate Judiciary Sub-committee, as a substitute for a similar measure proposed by Senator King of Utah, and will be considered Thursday by the entire committee.

The substitute bill by Senator Walsh of Montana, Democrat, would make such organizations unlawful, providing ten years imprisonment and $5,000 fine for membership, management, circulation of their literature, advocacy of their doctrines, or rental of rooms for meetings.

The principal prohibitory clause of the bill provides that:

"Any association, one of whose purposes or professed purposes is to bring about any Governmental, social, industrial, or economic change within the United States, by the use, without authority of law, of force, violence or physical injury to person or property, or by threats of such injury, or which teaches, advocates, advises, or defends the use, without authority of law, of force, violence, or physical injury to person or property, or threats of such injury to accomplish such change or for any other purpose, and which, during any war in which the United States is engaged, shall, by any means, prosecute, or pursue such purpose or professed purpose, or shall so teach, advocate, advise, or defend, is hereby declared to be an unlawful association."

MURPHY SATISFIED WITH HYLAN, HE SAYS

Tammany's Head, Back from French Lick, Indorses City Administration.

LEADERS FEAR FOR STATE

They Say "Chief" Is Worried, Too, About Effect of Mayor on Election of Governor.

The return of Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, from French Lick Springs, Ind., where he has been for several weeks just at the time Mayor Hylan is undergoing the severest criticism of his administration because of his Health Department investigation, centered political attention yesterday upon the Tammany organization. The Tammany chief denied that his return had anything to do with the Mayor's predicament, but it was noticed that Mr. Murphy was anxious to inform himself as to everything that had happened in the city administration since he went away.

Mr. Murphy had no criticism to make of the Mayor. Outwardly he appeared to be perfectly satisfied with the manner in which Mr. Hylan was conducting the City Government, and even said that he had nothing to complain about. But from other sources it was learned that the Tammany boss is not pleased with the way things are "breaking" at the City Hall, with a State election only seven months away. Tammany leaders frankly state that the "chief" is worried over the way the situation is developing. They admit that should any action be taken this Summer by the Governor looking to the removal of the Mayor from office, it would have untold consequences upon the State election.

"Another Sulzer affair at this time will be fatal to the party," said one of Mr. Murphy's friends.

Mr. Murphy arrived at Fourteenth Street shortly before noon. He looked in the best of health and said he had enjoyed his vacation, having spent a good part of his time playing golf. There was a long line of "the faithful" looking for favors of one sort or another, waiting for him and these the Chief soon disposed of. It was noticed that there were no office holders in line.

"What do you think of the Hylan administration?" was the first question put to Mr. Murphy.

"Why, I'm perfectly satisfied," was the reply. "I don't see anything wrong with the administration." The Tammany boss did not attempt a smile and this question was next asked:

"What do you think of District Attorney Swann appealing to Tammany leaders to help him clean up New York City?"

"There is nothing to clean up here," he replied. "If Mr. Swann thinks the town is not clean he ought to get busy and go out and find the unclean spots."

Silent on Health Department.

"How do the efforts of Mayor Hylan in the Police and Health Departments appeal to you?"

"The Mayor seems to be getting along all right with the Police Commissioner," said Mr. Murphy quickly, but he avoided any comment upon the Health Department.

"But what about Mr. Bugher's experience with the Hylan Administration?" he was asked.

"That's past and gone," was the only comment.

Reference was then made to Mr. Murphy's refusal to attend the dinner of the Young Men's Democratic League and the National Democratic Club's Jefferson Day dinner because of the reported presence of Senator Robert L. Owen of Oklahoma, and Mr. Murphy was asked if he had recently declined any more dinner invitations.

"I haven't been invited lately," he smiled.

"Were you invited to the Syracuse conference?"

"I was not."

"Have you any opinion to express as to why Tammany Hall leaders were not invited?"

"That was a conference of up-State Democrats, wasn't it? I'm not an up-State Democrat. That answers it, doesn't it?"

"Do you think Mr. Hearst will be a candidate for Governor?"

Mr. Murphy edged away, but he fired back this answer: "He is the only man who can answer that."

The interviewers made one last attempt, and asked the Tammany Chief what he thought of the Gubernatorial situation.

"I don't know a thing about it," he said. "You see, I left French Lick on the 25th, and I'll give you my word that I didn't read any newspapers while I was away. The Syracuse convention occurred before I got back. Not only have I not read anything about it, but I haven't seen any one to talk to about it either."

It was said yesterday that within the next few days Mr. Murphy would confer with the Tammany members of the Board of Estimate, as well as with other Tammany men holding important offices under Mayor Hylan, and get their views as to what should be done in regard to the Mayor's activities. Mr. Murphy believes, it was said, that it will not be good politics, just now at any rate, for the organization to "break" with the Mayor. Murphy, it was explained, is afraid that if he opposes the Mayor the organization will come in for the same kind of criticism it received after the famous "break" with Sulzer, and the organization will be accused of trying to dictate to the Mayor.

On the other hand, Murphy has been warned that the Mayor has shown signs of building up a political organization of his own in the interest of William R. Hearst. The Tammany leaders are not losing sight of the fact that Hylan and Hearst are on the most intimate terms and that the former has already espoused Hearst's candidacy for the Democratic Gubernatorial nomination. One of the Tammany leader's friends said yesterday that the "chief" is disposed to keep very quiet for the present and not give the Mayor an opportunity to attack the organization and accuse it of trying to run the City Government. At the same time, it was asserted that Murphy is not overlooking the fact that the Tammany organization is receiving all the blame for the Mayor's actions and that the criticism now being leveled at the Mayor is also being heaped on Tammany. That it will have a serious effect upon the Democratic Party in the city and State is not denied.

Tammany Aldermen Chaffed.

The Tammany members of the Board of Aldermen received a lot of chaffing yesterday at the hands of the Republican and Socialist members over the Hylan situation. William F. Quinn, Republican member from the Eleventh Manhattan District, made the prediction that there would be a unanimous demand for the removal of the Mayor.

"The Democrats will be with us in a very few months in calling on Governor Whitman to remove the Mayor of New York," said Quinn. "Otherwise there will be no Democratic Party in New York. It makes me laugh to see the Democrats trying to fix it up for the Mayor, especially after talking with some of them and hearing what they call him. It seems to be the Mayor's idea to make a family affair of the city departments."

The discussion came up over the attempt of the Socialists and Republicans to call out of committee the resolution introduced at a previous meeting by Algernon Lee, the Socialist leader of the board, providing for an investigation of the Health Department. The Socialists and Republicans wanted to force action on the resolution, but by a strictly party vote it was kept in committee. In the course of the discussion, Alderman Squiers of Brooklyn, Republican leader of the board, called attention to the circumstances surrounding the appointment of Dr. Copeland to succeed Dr. Amster as Health Commissioner, and said he knew Dr. Copeland personally, and knew him to be very efficient.

"But," added Alderman Squiers, "I regard one point in the published facts regarding Dr. Copeland's appointment as being very significant. Dr. Copeland is quoted as saying: 'Mayor Hylan told me that there would be no interference in my power over the Health Department, and if there is I shall resign at once. I may be out of office tomorrow for all I know.' In other words, the Mayor promised to let Dr. Copeland alone. The inference is very plain that Mayor Hylan hadn't left Dr. Amster alone, or, for that matter, any of the other heads of departments. Alderman Lee is right in demanding that the Rules Committee report out his resolution. This board will lose the respect of the public unless it does its duty under the charter, and this is one of its duties."

William F. Kenneally, a Tammany member of the board, went to the Mayor's defense, saying: "I notify the Democrats now that we are going to stand behind the Mayor."

"Yes, three months more, that's the most," yelled an Alderman, and Kenneally sat down amid laughter.

STATE CAMPAIGN PLANS.

Women Will Qualify for Primaries, Beginning May 16.

With the primaries fixed for a date two weeks in advance of the time they generally are held, campaign activities will begin early this year. The advanced date for the primary elections is to afford the Secretary of State an opportunity to prepare and transmit ballots to voters from this State now in the naval and military service of the United States.

The primaries will be held on Sept. 5. Preliminary campaign activities will begin as early as next month, however. On May 25 women voters in all communities with a population of 5,000 or over, will have an opportunity to enroll with the parties and qualify for participation in the State primaries this Fall when candidates for Governor and other elective State offices are to be nominated.

In localities with a smaller population, women will enroll by certificate, the period during which these may be filed extending from May 16 to June 15. Registration days in New York City this year will be all days from Oct. 7 to Oct. 12, both inclusive. Oct. 11 and 12, 18 and 19 have been selected as registration days for other municipalities with a population of 5,000 or more. In rural sections voters will register on Oct. 12 and 19. The election will be held on Nov. 5.

Independent candidates for State offices will find hurdles a little harder to negotiate this year. Instead of the 6,000 signatures required in other years on petitions nominating candidates without regular party backing for State office, 12,000 signatures will be necessary this year, with at least fifty from each county. Independent nominations must be filed not earlier than the 9th, and not later than two days after the eighth Tuesday preceding the general election.

Minnesota Bars Alien Teachers.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 30.—The State Safety Commission today passed an order providing that only teachers who are citizens of the United States may be employed in public, private, parochial, and normal schools in Minnesota. The Safety Commission also announced that the University of Minnesota was included in the citizen teacher order.

CANADA TO INCREASE WAR TIME TAXATION

Heavier Imposts on Incomes and Business Profits Proposed with New Levies Also.

OTTAWA, April 30.—A. K. MacLean, Acting Minister of Finance, presented to Parliament today one of the most important budgets since confederation. The steadily growing financial obligations of the Dominion, due to the war, made necessary the announcement of a number of increases in existing taxation as well as new taxation proposals. Mr. MacLean's statement, which was made to a crowded house and in the presence of full galleries, excited more than ordinary interest at the capital.

The Minister's proposals included a renewal and extension of the business profits war tax, an increase in the income tax, an increase in the excise duties payable on manufactured tobacco, &c.; a duty of 10 cents a pound on tea, changes in the duties on coffee to place the taxation on a parity with the taxation on tea, an increase in the tax on sleeping car berths and parlor car seats, excise taxes on matches and playing cards, a specific duty of 5 cents a lineal foot on moving picture films, and a special war excise tax of 10 per cent. on the selling value of automobiles, jewelry, talking machines, mechanical piano and organ players and records when imported into or manufactured in Canada.

The tax upon automobiles is applicable to all imported into or manufactured in Canada and unsold on April 30.

The amended business tax provides for the taxation of businesses with a capitalization from $50,000 down to $25,000, which were exempt under the former tax. The rate will be 25 per cent. of the amount by which the profits exceed 10 per cent.

Income tax exemption in the case of unmarried persons is reduced from $1,500 to $1,000, and for married persons from $3,000 to $2,000. The rate of taxation will be 2 per cent. from $1,000 and up to $1,500 in the case of unmarried persons, widowers, or widows without dependent children, and 2 per cent. from $2,000 up to $3,000 in the case of all other persons.

The present supertax is to be continued as at present up to incomes of $50,000, at which point a new classification is proposed. In addition to the normal tax and supertax, there will be a war surtax lasting until the year in which the war ends. This tax will start at 5 per cent. on incomes from $6,000 to $10,000, increasing gradually to 25 per cent. on incomes in excess of $200,000.

The corporation income tax, now 4 per cent., is increased to 6 per cent.

The Minister said expenditures of all kinds for the year would require $980,000,000, while the sums available would total $700,000,000, leaving $280,000,000 to be provided from loans.

PLANS SAVING OF PAPER.

Government Will Reorganize Industry to Conserve News Print.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Reorganization of the paper industry of the United States to put it on a war conservation basis is planned by the Government. Curtailment of certain of the less essential paper manufactories is said to be more than probable. One of the chief purposes is to conserve materials for news print paper, the publication of newspapers being recognized as one of the essentials to the conduct of the war.

The first move in the plan was made today, when representatives of more than 75 per cent. of the school textbook publishing business of the country met P. B. Noyes, Director of Conservation of the Fuel Administration, and A. D. Shaw, Chairman of the Commercial Economy Committee of the War Industries Board. Later the publishers announced the appointment of a War Service Committee.

While no official statement was made as to the functions of the new committee, it is understood that a readjustment of the textbook publishing business will be worked out with the Fuel Administration and the War Industries Board which will virtually put a stop to the present practice of printing new editions of school books every few months and curb the tendency to be constantly changing textbooks in the schools.

Other branches of the industry will in turn come here for similar conferences to agree upon readjustments in line with the Government's policy to restrict all less essential industries. Within the next few weeks the Fuel Administration will call in manufacturers of card and pasteboard, paper towels, cups, candy wrappers, boxes, and numerous other specialty paper manufactures.

FEDERAL CORD TIRES
DOUBLE CABLE BASE

Better Built

Each cord lies flat and carries its full share of the service strain.

Their built-up diagonal layers flex readily and prevent sidewall breaking.

Each cord is impregnated with live supple rubber and insulated against internal friction and heat which is so destructive to tires.

Their resiliency saves power and gasoline and insures greatest comfort.

The Double-Cable-Base construction, exclusively Federal, contains staunch steel cables which hold the tires firmly on the rim, under severest strains.

The tread is highly non-skid, and the whole tire constructed in perfect balance.

Our War and We Must Win It

In a recent address in Chicago, a prominent American business man said:

"Our war vessels have been destroyed, our soldiers and sailors killed and captured, and our casualty lists are being published, yet in the face of this we go on from day to day, living in an atmosphere of smug peace, making the war effort that comes to us, that is forced upon us, even as if we refused to realize that this is our war and we alone must win it."

Now is the time, before some fearful disaster overtakes us, to shake off this dangerous lethargy, to rouse ourselves from this false dream of peace and safety, to awake to a full realization of the gigantic task we have undertaken, and the dread menace under which we rest. The "effort which is forced upon us" is not enough.

There must be universal, spontaneous, unstinted and unlimited effort if we are to win this war. There must be an overwhelming investment in Liberty bonds.

This is our war—Let's go in and win it!

BAKER IS ASSAILED IN AIRCRAFT REPORT

Full Text of Aeronautical Society's Findings Attacks Secretary's Statements.

SMALL PLANTS NOT USED

Production Delayed, Committee Says, by Lack of Co-ordination, Loss of Blue Prints, and Bad Contracts.

The full report of the Investigating Committee of the Aeronautical Society of America regarding aircraft, it is now declared, devotes several pages to the optimistic utterances in official statements of Secretary of War Baker and brands them as false or exaggerated.

It reviews many causes of delay in aircraft production, including the refusal to deal with small factories on the ground that the cost-plus system made it necessary to keep accountants in all factories making aircraft, and that there were not enough accountants to go around. It asserts that delay was caused in some cases because the blueprints and specifications sent out by the Signal Corps got lost and failed to arrive at their destination.

It charges that the recruiting and training of men for flying has slowed down because the Aircraft Board has practically given up hope of providing planes on a large scale for 1919, and that the training program has been reduced through failure to realize that better equipped airmen can be turned out if they are taught many sciences connected with air work while waiting for machines to be built.

The report of the committee generally supports the charges made by Gutzon Borglum, the President's special investigator, but the committee avoids any fixing of personal responsibility for the failure of aircraft production on the ground that the society's investigation is concerned with the manner in which engineering problems were met.

It is asserted in the report that the Aircraft Board has not employed more than 5 per cent. of the facilities fit for producing aircraft on the production of aircraft. The report adds on this subject: "The productive capacity of the country is utilized to probably not more than 5 per cent. because apparently the ability to produce goods urgently needed is by no means a sufficient consideration for securing a contract."

The report is made by Leon Cammen, Vice President of the society, and a member of the New York Academy of Sciences; Thomas A. Hill, a lawyer and former President of the society, and Charles Howell, Vice President of the society and a manufacturer. Part of the investigation was made in conjunction with Gutzon Borglum. When he was asked last night if he was familiar with the report, Mr. Borglum said:

"I have read it. It is a good report on the subject." The investigation Committee prefaces its report by saying:

"It became apparent at an early date that the execution of the aeronautical program was being diverted into paths where the possibility of success was distinctly imperiled. As time went on the committee saw with dismay the issuance of statements by the Government which it was compelled to regard as untrue. For a while it was under the impression that such statements were issued for the deliberate purpose of misleading the enemy. It regrets to have to say, however, that it has become apparent since that it was to mislead the American people that these statements were issued.

"A still more threatening feature of the situation appeared to be the growing lack of co-ordination between the engineering and production departments, clearly indicating that neither realized the nature of the work which it had to do and the means by which success for such an undertaking could be accomplished. The committee found that the organization of production was such that delays would be inevitable. Not only that, but the production was so organized that no effective plans were made to keep American aviation engineering at least on the same level of excellence with that of the enemy. The situation was far too serious for either the committee or the society to keep silent, as silence in such a case would be treasonable."

The alleged boastful policy concerning aircraft production, according to the report, has been coupled with one of excessive secrecy, which is asserted to have had the results of stimulating Germany to an enormous increase of aircraft production and of preventing American engineers and inventors from rendering help, while German spies have had easy access to facts denied to American scientists. The Liberty motor is praised, but represented as only partially developed, and its development as being retarded by slowness to allow American genius to exert itself on the problems involved. The report says: "The curse of the production of the motor has been the excessive secrecy needed to make possible its overadvertising."

The report examines in detail statements by Secretary of War Baker, which are said to have given the public the impression that splendid progress was being made in equipping America for air fighting, and brands some statements flatly as untruthful and others as exaggerated and misleading. Under the heading of "Official Publicity" the report says:

"The committee at an early stage of its investigations became convinced, as has been since proved to a certain extent officially, that the majority of the statements issued by the Government in connection with the execution of the aeronautical program are untrustworthy. The following statements appear to offend worst in the matter of truth-speaking:

Deny the Final Test.

"In the office bulletin of Sept. 13, 1917, appeared the famous statement by Secretary Baker, giving the history of the Liberty motor. This statement begins: 'The United States aviation engine has passed its final test.' This statement is unqualifiedly untrue. According to the statement by Major J. G. Vincent at the annual meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers in December, 1917, the only test that was apparently given to the engine at that time was for fifty hours, not at maximum horse power. It is ridiculous to call such a test final. In fact, it is doubtful if a final test has been given to the engine even now in April, 1918.

"In the same statement it is said that 'tools for building the first engine were made even before the drawings were finished on the assumption that they would be correct.' It is absolutely impossible that this should be true, as before tools can be made the dimensions of the parts have to be known.

"The statement proceeds: 'Thirty days after the assembling of the first engine preliminary tests justified the Government in formally accepting the engine as the best aircraft engine produced in any country. This final test confirmed our faith in the new motor in every degree.' Here, again, Secretary Baker speaks about the final test. Here is, however, chronology: The engine was set up the first time on July 3. The preliminary tests were made thirty days thereafter, or about Aug. 2, at which time only one unit was built. It would appear, therefore, that the engine was developed to its final stage in about forty days more and given the final test. We know, however, that this is untrue because the engine is barely in the final stage even now.

"The next statement, which contains inaccuracies of a still graver character, was issued by the Secretary of War in October, 1917. At that time it was stated that 'work is in progress on practically the entire number of airplanes and motors for which provision was made in the Aviation bill passed by Congress in July.' As a matter of fact, at that time practically no work was in progress on the manufacture of machines. In many cases the buildings in which the machines were to be manufactured were not yet built.

"'The types of airplanes now in process of manufacture cover the entire range of training planes, light, high speed fighting machines, and powerful battle and bombing planes of the heaviest design.' Again untrue, because at that time neither the light, high speed fighting machines nor the battle and bombing planes were in process of manufacture. In fact, according to a statement made to the directors of the society by Mr. Coffin, no light, high speed fighting machines have been, or are to be, manufactured in this country at any time.

"On Feb. 20, 1918, an Associated Press dispatch stated that 'control of the air in the American sector belongs to the enemy.' On the same date, obviously to counteract the impression produced by the press dispatch, was published a statement authorized by the Secretary of War 'in order to give as complete a picture as is permissible under military requirements of the problem and the process in equipping the air service with fighting planes.'

"The picture is so complete that one cannot help seeing in it things that are not in the original landscape. 'The first American-built battle planes are today en route to the front in France. This first shipment, though in itself not large, marks the final overcoming of many difficulties met in building up this new and intricate industry.' This statement would be plainer to the ordinary man if it were frankly stated that only two machines were en route.

Committee in Doubt.

"These planes are equipped with the first Liberty motor from machine production. One of them in a recent test surpassed all records for speed and climbing for planes of that type.' The committee hesitates to state what it thinks about this statement, because it does not know whether it was simply invented in the office of the Secretary of War or elsewhere or whether it was based on an actual engineering report. In view of the fact that several weeks after the shipment of these planes such a vital feature of construction as the lubrication system of the Liberty motor has been found to be unsatisfactory, the talk about breaking a record sounds discouraging. If it was invented by the writer of the statement, it is only one of the many misstatements clogging the aeronautical program. If it is based on a report of the engineers, an investigation is most respectfully suggested, and the committee ventures to add that drastic action would be taken against any engineer submitting as misleading a report in private business."

After citing editorial comment from various technical publications for the purpose of showing that engineering experts, as well as the general public, were deceived by glowing statements, the report asserts that one substantial effect produced by such declarations has been to spur Germany to great activity. It says:

"According to Reuter's Agency, the French General Staff has in its possession proofs that the Germans, spurred to greater efforts by the fear of American achievement, have vastly increased their aerial forces. Some 400 furniture, woodworking, and piano factories have been converted to new uses; the Fokker Company has taken over the great Berlin piano factory near Schwerin and large orders for parts have been placed in Switzerland. The production in Germany has reached 700 to 1,000 planes a week and is growing. The 'American danger' has been also referred to on several occasions in German General Staff orders. This would have been bad enough if the American planes were there, but they are not."

While admitting that some causes of delay were justifiable, the report mentions other causes of alleged unnecessary delay in the following paragraphs:

"There have been changes in the program during the year, due, however, very largely to the fact that the original program was drawn up by men who knew next to nothing about either the art of flying or the production of flying machines.

"Other delays were due to a very inadequate system of contracting for the production of planes and engines. Practically all the contracts are made on a cost-plus basis, without any bonus for early production or any penalty for late production. The whole matter is therefore left to the discretion or patriotism of the producing companies, a pitifully inadequate system in a matter of such vital importance. Certainly none of the engineers of the Aircraft Board or the Signal Corps has staked or ever would stake the welfare of his private business on such a contract, but evidently what was not good in real business was good enough where only the lives of the men in our armies depended on the timely production of aircraft.

"A still worse feature was that even after the contracts were signed, apparently little effort was made to help the contractors get along with the work. Thus, the first five-day suspension of fuel utilization (Garfield order) did not exclude airplane factories.

"The small plants have not been utilized. In fact, the Council of National Defense, in its report for the first year, explained that this was its stated policy due to the fact that accountants had to be put into plants where the work was done on a cost-plus basis, and that the limited number of accountants made it impossible to use the smaller plants. * * * As a matter of fact, with standardized production and a reasonable desire to get results, there was nothing simpler than to permit the smaller plants to produce parts at a fixed price, with bonuses for early deliveries and penalties for delays. To take the wooden parts as an example, struts for airplanes could be produced in about 5,000 plants of cabinet makers, furniture makers, piano factories, toy makers, &c., at the rate of about 2,000,000 a day, which would be many times more than is necessary for the needs of American aviation. At the present time they are producing at a rate many times less than is necessary. * * *

Blueprints Got Lost.

"There were still worse cases where blueprints sent from the Signal Corps failed to reach manufacturers, because proper precautions were not taken for their delivery and because there was no proper system of checking the movement of documents of such importance.

"A rather startling fact has been disclosed by a Director of the Curtiss company which, if true, would indicate an absolute absence or any kind of organization. This gentleman has stated in the public press that the Curtiss company has delayed the delivery of bombing planes because, till the end of March, 1918, the Signal Corps failed to adopt a type of bombing attachment. If true, this would be equivalent to saying that the army cannot be sent to Europe because the Government has not yet decided on the rifles it is going to use.

"The report alleges that the recruiting of aviators has been allowed to fall into an alarming condition. The report represents the Aircraft Board as practically giving up in despair after its many troubles, no longer hoping to fulfill a vast airplane program for 1919, and consequently neglecting the enlistment and training of aviators. It says:

"The recruiting of men, both for the flying and nonflying services, was started with the big brass band, only to be practically entirely discontinued in the last few weeks. (The actual recruiting for the flying sections has been entirely discontinued, even examinations being suspended; for the nonflying sections the recruiting has been discontinued in the East, but a limited number of men are still being taken in the Middle West.)

"When asked about it, officials of the Signal Corps stated that 'there is no lack of human aviation material, no matter if fit boys do go to other arms of war service.' This is a plain case of careless ignorance of the problem before us, which shows that the men in charge of American aviation have failed to learn from European experience. The best flying material is furnished by young men between 21 and 25 years. The June (1917) registration showed approximately ten and a half million men in the ages between 21 and 31. Hence roughly four and a half millions would fall within the limits of 21 and 25. Of these four and a half millions roughly 25 per cent. would have to be eliminated as covering aliens and negroes, who could not be considered for the service. This leaves 3,375,000 men. As about one man in a hundred makes really good material for the aircraft service flying branch, this would indicate that we have roughly 40,000 men available. Perhaps 10,000 more could be secured by lowering the age limit to 19 years, which would be advisable anyhow. Still, going by averages, we have only 50,000 men. Of course this is more than sufficient for the number of planes which the present aircraft administration can produce, but it is entirely insufficient for the number which this country may need, if the war is carried into 1919.

"It is by no means exaggerated to expect that between 75,000 and 80,000 machines with the American star may have to be delivered to the European front by the middle of 1919, if we are to smash the Hun. (The aircraft authorities may say that this can't be done. It is, however, an old story that the men who can't do a thing say that it can't be done. Why not let somebody try who thinks it can be done?) If 75,000 or 80,000 machines have to be delivered, that will mean 150,000 men, which again will mean that a country with the best human resources in the world practically untouched may have to strain its resources to the utmost and perhaps use its second best material to meet the most urgent situation that human history has seen.

"Under these conditions to lose deliberately excellent material through the failure of simply going through the process of induction into service, is a short-sightedness which borders on plain madness on one side, and treasonable cleverness on the other side. Every man fit for the aviation service, who is driven into any other service, is an ineradicable blot on the record of the present aircraft administration."

1,025 LOCOMOTIVES ORDERED BY M'ADOO

Six Standard Types in Place of 500 Now Used—Contracts for $60,000,000.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Contracts for 1,025 freight and passenger locomotives, the largest single order ever placed in the history of American railways, were let today by the Railroad Administration to the American Locomotive Company and the Baldwin Locomotive Works. The entire order represents a cost of about $60,000,000. The profit to manufacturers will be between 5 and 6 per cent., less than half the rate of profit represented in the original bids.

Six newly developed standard types of engines, with heavy and light sizes of each type, were ordered. Deliveries will begin in July and continue through the year, and most of the new engines, it is understood, will be assigned to Eastern roads, where the shortage of motive power is greatest. They will bear only the initials "U. S." and identifying numbers, and will be virtually the first lot of engines to be owned jointly by all railroads, under Government management. About 200,000 tons of steel will be required, and the War Industries Board has allotted the full quota of steel to the Railroad Administration.

Although the railroad Administration declined to announce the precise number of engines ordered from each of the companies, it is understood the American Company will build 350 and the Baldwin 475. Most of the Baldwin engines will be built at the main plant at Philadelphia, and the American Company's order will be distributed among its plants at Schenectady, Dunkirk, N. Y.; Paterson, N. J.; Richmond, Va.; Manchester, N. H.; Pittsburgh, and Providence. The order will compel the two companies to operate practically at capacity for the next nine months.

The awarding of the contracts has been long delayed because of insistence of John Skelton Williams, Director of Purchases for the Railroad Administration, on lower prices than those originally submitted, which are said to have represented profit of about 15 per cent. The prices are a little less than those paid by individual roads before the Government assumed control.

The six types ordered include the Mallet—the heaviest, weighing 540,000 pounds—Mountain, Pacific, Santa Fé, Mikado, and Switch. The Mallet engines will cost between $80,000 and $90,000 each, and the Switch engines between $35,000 and $40,000 each. The six Standard types are expected eventually to supersede the many miscellaneous types now in service, embracing engines built according to 500, or more, varying specifications. This is the first time that any real forward step has been taken looking to the wide standardization of locomotive engines.

Contracts will be announced tomorrow for construction of about 70,000 freight cars at an aggregate cost of probably $200,000,000, to supplement the orders for 30,000 placed last week.

NAMES JEWISH FOOD BOARD.

Kosher Market Men to Co-operate with Federal Authorities.

Rabbi J. L. Magnes, head of the Jewish Community of New York City, announced yesterday the formation of a committee to advise the Federal Food Board on the dietary problems of orthodox Jews, as they may be affected by the regulations of the Food Administration.

The primary object of the committee is to obtain the co-operation with the Federal Food Board of all dealers in kosher poultry, including slaughterers, market men, and butchers.

Owing to the accumulation in this city of about 50,000 barrels of cornmeal, the Federal Food Board issued a notice yesterday calling public attention to the availability of cornmeal as a wheat substitute, and urging its consumption.

Two hundred and fifty clubs, it was announced by the Federal Food Board yesterday, have now joined the "no wheat until next harvest" program of the Food Administration, and thirty-five country clubs have also pledged themselves to observe the wheatless restrictions until the arrival of the new crop.

A considerable quantity of potatoes is on hand in this city at the present time. More than 100 cars of potatoes are standing at the Thirty-third Street yard, and have been there for two days. There are thirty cars at Barclay Street.

In regard to the inclusion of the North American Commercial Corporation in a list of coffee merchants whose licenses, it was announced, the Government would withhold until May 8, the company received a letter from the United States Food Administration stating that such was an error. The letter states that the application of the company for a license was made in proper form under date of April 2, and will be issued on May 1.

Masons Honor Kahn.

"Julius Kahn Day," in honor of the Congressman from California, was celebrated yesterday by 2,000 Master Masons in the lodge rooms of the St. Cecile Lodge of Masons, in the Masonic Building, Twenty-third Street and Sixth Avenue. The day was set aside in recognition of Representative Kahn's work at Washington in pressing the draft law to passage. After Congressman Kahn's address letters were read from Colonel Theodore Roosevelt and William Howard Taft. The speakers were the Rev. Cornelius Woelfkin, the Rev. C. Wallace Petty, William Sherrer, ex-Governor John K. Tener of Pennsylvania, Justice Townsend Scudder, Captain A. P. Simmons, W. H. Miller, John W. Vrooman, the oldest living Grand Master, and Charles G. F. Wahle.

WOMAN PROFESSOR AT VASSAR SEIZED

KNEW STULZ AND BOCKISCH

Federal Agents on Trail of Poughkeepsie Aliens—Three Men Arrested in New York.

Special to The New York Times.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., April 30.—On a charge of being a pro-German and circulating pro-German propaganda, Miss Agathe Wilhelmine Richrath, instructor of German at Vassar College, was taken into custody tonight by Federal Agents Estes and Bishchoff. The action followed investigations which have been prosecuted in this city for many weeks by the Federal agents who were responsible for the apprehension of Dr. Josef Stulz and Heinrich Bocksich, who are now in internment camps.

The agents ascertained that Miss Richrath had attended meetings at which Stulz, Bockisch, and several other prominent Germans of this city were present. On a recent occasion she attended a birthday party at a home of William Knauss in Fairview, a suburb, and it is alleged that there she made remarks which resulted in her being taken into custody.

Gathered about the table were leading Germans of this city and a well-known local attorney, who were discussing the war. It is alleged Miss Richrath said that the Germans were justified in the sinking of the Lusitania. Asked by the attorney why she thought so, she said that the liner was carrying "bullets for the murder of our German fathers." When questioned further as to whether she thought that the drowning of innocent women and children could be justifiable, she said, it is alleged, that she did feel sorry for them, but she had no sorrow for the rich men that went down with the ship.

It is asserted also that at the same time Miss Richrath declared that the Germans were justified in the invasion of Belgium, on the principle that if a person knew there was a murder being committed in a house two doors away, and the murderer could be caught only by going through the house next door, it would be permissible to go through that house.

Had Photograph of Kaiser.

When the Federal authorities made a search of her room at the college they took away a bundle of papers which are yet to be explained. They also found a handsome photograph of the Kaiser and a fancy German flag. Many letters and postcards were found, and these will be used when the prisoner is arraigned before Judge Wallace.

Miss Richrath came to Vassar about three years ago from Philadelphia. Her father, prior to his death, was a dentist, and her mother at the present time is engaged in the practice of dentistry. A short time ago Miss Richrath told her friends that she was contemplating giving up her post at the college and going to the University of Michigan to study dentistry.

Referring to the action of the Federal agents in taking Miss Richrath into custody, Henry Noble MacCracken, President of Vassar, said tonight:

"Miss Richrath has been under observation for some weeks by Federal authorities. It was at their particular request and for the purpose of facilitating their opportunity of observation that the college authorities took no action in the case before this date. I am ignorant of the grounds upon which the present action is based. No complaint has reached my office of exhibition of alien sympathies in the college class rooms, although I have heard of some indiscretion in private conversation."

During their stay in Poughkeepsie Agents Estes and Bischoff were kept busy night and day running down pro-German propaganda. It is known that a dozen or more prominent German residents underwent a severe questioning at their hands. Reckless statements at secret meetings have come to their attention, and their work in and around Poughkeepsie, it is said, is only just starting.

Arraignment Here Today.

Miss Richrath is the third woman enemy alien to be arrested in the Southern District of New York since President Wilson signed the new law which puts German and Austro-Hungarian women in the same status as men of those nationalities. That her arrest was impending has been known for several days, but it was not until yesterday that the warrant was issued by President Wilson.

Miss Richrath will be arraigned before Assistant Attorney General William Wallace, Jr., Chief of the Enemy Alien Bureau, in the Federal Building here this morning. She is the third prominent resident of Poughkeepsie arrested in the last two weeks for activities in behalf of the enemy. The others were Dr. Joseph Stulz, who married into one of the most prominent families in Dutchess County, and Heinrich Bocksisch, an Austrian, who for years has been connected with a piano manufacturing concern in Poughkeepsie.

At the time of the arrest of Stulz and Bocksisch it became known that a certain woman prominent in the educational life of Poughkeepsie was under suspicion, although her name was withheld from publication. The woman referred to at that time was Miss Rickrath. Reports reached the Department of Justice several weeks ago that a well-organized propaganda machine was operating in Dutchess County, and that she, Stulz, and Bocksisch were prominent in its activities.

Miss Richrath is described as a woman of great attainments, and holds degrees from German universities. She came to this country several years before the war began.

Thomas Dubeck, an Austrian, employed in the tug fleet of the Pennsylvania Railroad, was arrested by Federal agents yesterday afternoon. He is of draft age and is alleged to have said that if he was taken into the army and was ordered overseas he would try to sink the transport that carried him.

Emil Bielke, alias Heinrich Meyer, who has been working in an asylum in New Jersey, was arrested. He came to the country shortly before the war began and is a former seaman of the Hamburg-American Line.

Joseph Spieg was arrested at Springfield, L. I., for seditious remarks. He is charged with urging a draft registrant not to respond when called, telling him that the "Kaiser is going to win," and making insulting remarks in referring to President Wilson.

SAN FRANCISCO CONSULS SENTENCED TO PRISON

Bopp and Von Schack Get Limit of 2 Years and $10,000—Punishment Too Light, Says Court.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., April 30.—Maximum sentences of two years' imprisonment in a Federal penitentiary and fines of $10,000 each were imposed today upon Frank Bopp, former German Consul General here, and E. H. von Schack, former Vice Consul, following their conviction last week on charges of conspiring to foment revolution against British rule in India.

Motions for new trials on behalf of all of the twenty-nine defendants who were convicted by the jury were denied by Judge William C. Van Fleet of the United States District Court. In passing sentence Judge Van Fleet said:

"The punishment is wholly inadequate to the crime and the penalty may be well called to the attention of Congress and so amended that it will act as a deterrent. The German defendants represent a system that the civilized world cannot tolerate."

Pleas for leniency in the cases of other German defendants were made by both von Schack and Bopp. The sentences imposed today will run, by order of the court, consecutively after the completion of other sentences which they are now serving on previous charges of conspiring to violate the neutrality of the United States.

Extra precautions to guard against any possible untoward occurrences such as the shooting and deaths of Ram Chandra and Ram Singh, defendants, at the close of the case last Tuesday, were taken by the Government. Every person entering the courtroom was searched thoroughly and a double guard of United States soldiers and deputy marshals was on duty.

Motion by the Government for the arrest of judgment in the case of Sundar Singh Galli, one of the Hindu defendants, was taken under consideration. Galli's testimony is wanted for the Grand Jury investigating the shooting.

Baron Wilhelm von Brincken, former Military Attaché at the Consulate General, who pleaded guilty to the conspiracy charges in the course of the trial, was sentenced to two years' imprisonment, to run concurrently with other sentences he is serving on previous convictions of violating the neutrality of the United States.

Sentences imposed by Judge Van Fleet on other defendants were:

Walter Sauerback, navigating officer of the German gunboat Geier, one year in the Alameda County Jail and $2,000 fine.

Joseph L. Eley, shipping broker, fifteen months at McNeil's Island Federal Penitentiary and $5,000 fine.

J. Clyde Hizar, San Diego, Cal., attorney and former paymaster in the United States Naval Reserve, one year in jail and $5,000 fine.

Harry J. Hart, San Francisco, shipping man, six months in jail and $5,000 fine.

Louis T. Hengstler, San Francisco, Admiralty lawyer, four months and $3,000 fine.

The jail sentence was rescinded after Hengstler made a personal appeal to the court.

Captain Heinrich Eiho, master of the German steamer Ahlers, which was interned at Honolulu, six months and $1,000 fine.

Captain Edwin Delnat, master of the German merchantman Holsatia, interned at Hilo, Hawaii, ten months and $1,500 fine.

Baron Morris Stock von Goltzheim, San Francisco real estate and insurance man, six months and $1,000 fine.

Dr. Chandra K. Chakravarty, chief agent in the United States for the "Berlin Committee" of the German Government, thirty days and $5,000 fine.

Thirteen other Hindus, students and revolutionists, several of them highly educated, were sentenced to serve from twenty-two months to sixty days.

INVENTOR MAY BE INTERNED

Former Official of Teutonic Sons Also Arrested in Chicago.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Ill., April 30.—George von Roeder, an inventor, who is said to be of noble rank in Germany, was arrested today by members of the Federal Treason Squad to be held pending the arrival of a Presidential warrant of internment. It is said that von Roeder offered several of his inventions to the United States Government, but that others of a superior quality were conveyed to the Kaiser.

Federal authorities began an investigation of the activities of Gottlieb F. Hummel. He made a speech Monday night in which he is alleged to have criticised Hoover and the United States, whereupon he was arrested.

Hummel was formely Supreme Treasurer of the Teutonic Sons of America and also President of the German-Irish Alliance, both of which attempted to establish German-American friendship before the United States entered the war. In his pocket was found a letter from President Wilson, dated December, 1915, thanking the Teutonic Sons for support of the United States prior to America's declaration of war.

The 1000 lb. Havana Blend

Put up like a physician's prescription!

THE Piccadilly Little Cigar is not "guessed" together—nor "wished" together. We take three grades of tobaccos—one for body, one for flavor, one for mildness. We mix well, and then parcel out by weight and measure.

Thus, Piccadilly is a balanced blend. Each cigar is exactly like its little brother. Never the slightest variation in taste. Which is Reason No. 3—and still 9 other good reasons in the Process.

10 for 12 Cents

Guaranteed by
The American Tobacco Co.

Piccadilly Process for 1,000 lb. Havana Blend

1—We take 1,000 lbs. of high grade, selected and blended tobaccos as a base.
2—We use the greatest care in the selection of the finest leaf of each variety for this 1,000 lbs.
3—Uniformity of this 1,000 lbs. assured by the careful weighing of each grade contained in blend.
4—Mellowness and mildness of this 1,000 lbs. made perfect by the proper ageing of the tobacco.
5—Evenness of smoke and taste of this 1,000 lbs. preserved through careful and suitable fermentation.
6—Smoothness of this 1,000 lbs. produced by a thorough intermixing of the tobacco after careful shredding.
7—Absolute cleanliness of this 1,000 lbs. safeguarded by an automatic sifting and purifying process.
8—Harmony of fragrance of this 1,000 lbs. maintained by storing of tobacco in containers and temperature registered by thermometers.
9—Each Piccadilly is made of an exact fractional part of this 1,000 lbs.
10—The filler in each Piccadilly, from the 1,000 lbs. is encased in a golden-brown, silk-like wrapper.

MACBRIDE WIDENS HIS HEALTH ATTACK

Assails Head of Food and Drugs Bureau in Letter to New Commissioner.

CRITICISES CITIZENS UNION

Says He Will Abandon Inquiry "Along Administrative Lines."

COPELAND PRAISES MAYOR

Amster's Successor Says He Will "Gladly Co-operate" with the Federal Authorities.

On behalf of Mayor Hylan, Chairman James E. MacBride of the Civil Service Commission last night sent to Dr. Royal S. Copeland, the new Health Commissioner, a letter in which he said that it was the Mayor's desire "to extend the work done for the babies and children of this city by the Bureau of Child Hygiene, instead of to restrict it, as the false propaganda has sought to persuade the people."

In his letter of resignation, published yesterday, Dr. J. Lewis Amster, who quit as Health Commissioner, stated that one of the first directions given to him by Mayor Hylan was that "the baby health stations maintained by the department be successively abolished as unnecessary, despite their obviously invaluable aid in the conservation of infant health and the reduction of infant mortality."

No denial of the charges against the Mayor by Dr. Amster was made from the Mayor's office yesterday, but in an interview with reporters the new Commissioner said he did not believe it had been the Mayor's desire to abolish any bureau of the department. Dr. Amster charged that the Mayor had issued "a peremptory direction that the Directors of several of the bureaus be summarily dismissed," and Commissioner Copeland's statement was taken as an attempt to refute this charge.

MacBride Attacks Brown.

In his letter to Commissioner Copeland Mr. MacBride attacked Lucius P. Brown, Director of the Bureau of Food and Drugs, as having advocated in the recent session of the Legislature a bill "that would lower the standard of milk to a point where it would be an absolute menace to the health of babies."

Immediately on reading the letter of Chairman MacBride, Commissioner Copeland dictated a reply in which he said that "no fair-minded citizen, knowing that the facts summarized by you were obtained under oath, can longer believe that any 'raid upon the Health Department' was contemplated by anybody in authority."

Mr. MacBride's letter follows:

April 30, 1918.

Hon. Royal S. Copeland, Commissioner of Health, Centre and Walker Streets, New York City.

My Dear Commissioner:

There has been so much misrepresentation of the investigation of the Health Department that you cannot possibly know, if your information has been gleaned solely from the newspapers, what we have been doing.

I am confident this misrepresentation has not deceived the people. It is the same kind of misrepresentation carried on by the same agencies which were at work in the campaign last Fall to perpetuate in this city a government which for four years had been in the interests of the Rockefellers and their satellites who were exploiting the people. They did not fool the people then, and I am confident they are not fooling the people now.

There was a time when these same interests did their work in the dark. They bribed Senators, Congressmen, and public officials to do their bidding. Those were the days of the Black Horse Cavalry. Those methods were exposed and effectively ended when William Randolph Hearst startled the whole nation by the publication of the notorious Standard Oil letters and their accompanying certificates of deposit.

"The White Horse Cavalry" Now.

The exploiters, exposed, did not abandon their exploitations. They simply refined their methods. They prostituted reform and began to operate through the medium of subsidized agencies with righteous sounding names. We are now in the days of the White Horse Cavalry.

We find, for example, that the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor is largely financed by a family whose fortune is invested in the Borden Milk Company.

We find Mr. Lucius Polk Brown, Director of the Bureau of Food and Drugs of the Health Department, advocating the passage of a bill at Albany, during the recent session of the Legislature, which would lower the standard of milk to a point where it would be an absolute menace to the health of babies. We have found many letters in the files of the Bureau of Food and Drugs which show an unwillingness on the part of Mr. Brown to interfere with the operations of the Borden Milk Company even when he was requested by the United States Government to take action. I presume that you will find much accumulative evidence on this favoritism.

And we find the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor opposing an investigation of the Health Department which threatened to break up a corrupt ring in the Bureau of Food and Drugs, and to break Mr. Brown's imperial domination of that bureau.

Attacks W. J. Schieffelin.

Again, we find William J. Schieffelin, wholesale druggist and head of the Citizens Union, acting as an oral examiner for the Civil Service Commission in a test which brought the same Lucius Polk Brown from Tennessee to preside over a bureau in the New York City Health Department.

We have the sworn testimony of Mr. Brown that one of his duties was to visit wholesale drug houses and take samples for analysis to see that druggists were not violating the law. And we have Mr. Brown's further testimony that in all the time he has been in that department he has never taken a sample from the drug house of Mr. Schieffelin, though he has taken samples from all the other important drug houses in the city.

And we find Leonard M. Wallstein, the paid agent of Mr. Schieffelin's Citizens Union, as one of the chief organizers of the propaganda to block an investigation which the guilty consciences of all these gentlemen told them would put an end to such favoritism and exploitation.

Mayor Hylan knew of these conditions in a general way, as did many others who have been active in public affairs in this city during the past years. He knew that these exploiters would make a determined stand to hold their grip on the Health Department, just as they fought and defeated municipal ownership in the Legislature and are fighting every other interference with their private interests.

His aim was to get an able, courageous man for Health Commissioner who could not be won over by these interests which he knew dominated the Academy of Medicine and sought to dominate other medical organizations through a ring they built up in medical politics.

Says There Was Misrepresentation.

The fact that a man of your standing in your profession has accepted the post of Commissioner of Health and stands ready to brave the raids of the White Horse Cavalry is proof to me that you know—in spite of the volumes of misrepresentation that have been poured forth—that the Mayor never had a thought or made a suggestion which would in any way restrict honest effort to improve health conditions, living conditions, and working conditions in this city.

It was his desire to extend the work being done for the babies and children of this city by the Bureau of Child Hygeine, instead of to restrict it, as the false propaganda has sought to persuade the people.

It was his desire to do everything—and more—that is now being done by the Bureau of Preventable Diseases for the prevention of tuberculosis and other diseases, and to better the condition under which men and women work.

But it is his firm determination that that work must be done without waste and extravagance. The testimony of heads of bureaus that there is overlapping in this work, and that vast sums can be saved by proper administration is a complete justification of his position.

Both the Mayor and the Commissioners who have been conducting this investigation are convinced of the value and the necessity of public health education. But we do not believe that a bureau which will lend itself to the spreading of political propaganda, to the dissemination of information on controversial matters not even remotely related to public health, is a proper agency to carry on public health education.

For example, Dr. Bolduan used the Bureau of Public Health Education, of which he is Director, to promote the Staten Island garbage grab. He defended that iniquitous deal at a time when it was a live issue in a political campaign. The activity of that bureau on behalf of the garbage grab is particularly offensive in view of the fact that one of the owners of that garbage plant, William M. Greve, who was benefited by this press agent work at the expense of the city, was under indictment for other transactions in which the city was outrageously victimized.

Campaign for Prohibition.

Dr. Bolduan also spent large sums of money and used his bureau in conducting a prohibition campaign. We are informed that the hotel men of this city protested to Mayor Mitchel against that campaign, and as a result of an order given by Mayor Mitchel a great mass of prohibition literature which had been prepared at the city's expense was taken to one of the department hospitals and burned. Men and women honestly differ on the question of prohibition, but I do not believe that even the most ardent of prohibitionists will assert that such a campaign was a proper function for the Health Department to carry on at the expense of the taxpayers.

Nor do I believe that agitation either for or against woman suffrage is a proper subject for public health education. This Public Health Education Bureau under the last administration was primarily a press agent for officials and favorites in the Health Department, and for interests such as the Staten Island garbage combine, which was exploiting the people of this city. Public health education was really the secondary thought which gave the excuse for this raid on the city treasury.

We are firmly convinced that this bureau, as it is at present organized, should be wiped out and the work of public health education done through some other agency in the department. How it should be done is for you to decide.

We believe the investigation that we have been carrying on will be of great aid to you in formulating your policy of administration. We believe the facts we have brought to light will be a guide to the co-ordination of the work of the various bureaus. We believe the widespread system of corruption and the astounding disclosures of the opportunities for graft will make it possible for you to quickly formulate a system of inspection which will put an end to this corruption.

"Dr. Amster Meant Well."

It was the Mayor's hope when he appointed Dr. Amster that he would have the capacity to cope with the situation and clean house within his own department. Though Dr. Amster meant well, he quickly recognized his inability to deal with the great problem before him. It was at his suggestion that the Mayor ordered the investigation and directed the Civil Service Commission and the Commissioner of Accounts to aid the Health Commissioner in his house-cleaning.

You have before you the testimony taken in this inquiry to date. You have before you also the recommendations for administrative reforms made by several of the Directors. As the matter of reorganization and administrative reforms is purely a problem for the Health Commissioner, and as the Civil Service Commission and the Commissioner of Accounts were merely called in to give aid to Commissioner Amster, who admitted his inability to deal with the situation, and as no one who knows you can have any doubt of your capacity to handle your own department, further inquiry along administrative lines will be discontinued by this board. We desire, however, to assure you of our readiness at any time to aid you and to co-operate with you to the fullest extent of our ability, and we feel that the information gathered in this inquiry will be of great value to you.

Says Mayor Gave Him Free Hand.

The investigation, however, has disclosed so many grave civil service irregularities and violations in the Health Department that we feel it incumbent upon us to continue the investigation along civil service lines in order that we may carry out the Mayor's direction and make the Health Department a model in its compliance with civil service rules and regulations. Sincerely,

JAMES E. MacBRIDE, President.

In reply Commissioner Copeland wrote:

April 30, 1918.

The Hon. James E. MacBride, Commissioner Municipal Civil Service Commission, New York.

Sir: I have read your letter of even date with great interest. You are to be congratulated upon its forceful statement of the position of his Honor the Mayor and of the results of your investigation. No fair-minded citizen, knowing that the facts summarized by you were obtained under oath, can longer believe that any "raid upon the Health Department" was contemplated by anybody in authority.

I shall appreciate having laid before me the evidence relating to certain bureaus and shall act as any good citizen would have me act under the circumstances.

May I say, in this connection, that his Honor the Mayor was most generous in expressing to me his confidence and his willingness to give me a free hand in correcting any abuses in the department—always with the idea that it is his thought to make the Department of Health larger, more aggressive, and more useful.

Very truly yours,

ROYAL S. COPELAND, Commissioner.

Mr. Schieffelin and Mr. Brown could not be reached last night, but Mr. Wallstein said, "MacBride's vile mouthings do not merit a reply. He apparently fails to recognize the distinction between the tolerance which the public shows to demagogic addresses of that sort, which they expect from people of his kind in the course of a campaign, and what should be the serious utterances of an individual, however unfitted, who holds an important office."

Believe Mayor Is Fairminded.

Dr. Copeland spent his first day as head of the Health Department yesterday in making himself acquainted with the workings of the department and with the heads of the various bureaus. Reporters at the end of the day asked if he contemplated retaining on the Medical Advisory Council Dr. Abraham Jacobi and Dr. S. S. Goldwater, whom the Mayor, according to Dr. Amster, had asked the last Commissioner to remove.

"The matter of the members of the Advisory Council is not before me as yet," said the Commissioner. When told that Dr. Amster asserted that Mayor Hylan had asked him to remove the two physicians, Dr. Copeland asked his inquirers, "Do you really think he did?" He added: "I cannot believe that the Mayor is as bad as he has been pictured. My impression is that he is a fair-minded man. I talked with him some time ago about Dr. Goldwater, and he spoke kindly of him."

In reply to a question Dr. Copeland said that his conversation concerning Dr. Goldwater took place prior to the latter's testimony before the Mayor's Health Department investigators.

"Has the Mayor asked you to drop Dr. Goldwater or Dr. Jacobi?"

"The Mayor has not asked me to drop Dr. Goldwater, or any one else," was the reply. "Let me say that when the time comes to appoint members of the Advisory Council I am going to appoint men who appeal to me as men who will be helpful to the department. If I am continued as Commissioner in due time I shall appoint a Medical Advisory Council. I assume that the Mayor will be satisfied when I select such a council."

"What importance do you attach to public health education?" was another question.

Wants Time to Answer.

"Will you abolish the Bureau of Public Health Education?"

"I cannot say that. I have been here only one day. Give me time, but let me say that I am willing to discuss it frankly."

"Will you co-operate with the Federal authorities?"

"I am glad you asked me that. I want to say right here that this department will co-operate in the best possible way with the Federal authorities. We are subordinate to the duties of the Surgeon General of the Army, the Navy, and the Public Health Service. We are subordinates to the necessities of the National Government. I don't hesitate to stand on the housetops and say that."

"Your attitude is not that of Mayor Hylan as reported by Dr. Amster," he was told.

"I am frank to say I do not believe the Mayor made the remark attributed to him about his disregard for the Federal authorities," said Dr. Copeland. "The Mayor has given me every reason to believe that he wants the department to co-operate in every way with the Federal authorities. I have never observed such an attitude of mind on the part of the Mayor."

"Did you discuss with the Mayor the possibilities of Federal intervention?"

"We did not."

Asked as to whether he had received any orders to abolish the baby health stations, one of the accusations made by Dr. Amster against the Mayor, Commissioner Copeland said, "Dr. Amster may have received such orders, but I have not. I was promised a free hand. Let me say that I don't like the job. I didn't want to be Health Commissioner, but I took the office because a man I believe to be a good man asked me to take it as a patriotic necessity. I have confidence in my chief."

Has No Radical Ideas.

Later Commissioner Copeland said he believed in placing "all the cards on the table." He added that he did not believe that it had been the intention of the Mayor to abolish any department or sub-department of the Health Department.

"What do you think of preventive medicine?" he was asked.

"I believe it is the great medicine of the future," he said. "Let me say that I believe in disseminating all the facts as to right eating, right drinking, and right breathing."

Dr. Copeland was asked if he intended making any radical changes. "I have no radical ideas, because I am not a radical," he replied. "I am going to find out first just what kind of machinery there is, and if I feel that it is not modern and if I feel we need a new tractor or a new carburetor I am going after it. I am going to consult every possible source, friendly or unfriendly."

The Commissioner was asked about the rumor that the treatment of tuberculosis was to be taken out of the province of the Health Department and turned over to the Department of Charities, of which Bird S. Coler is head. Dr. Copeland said that he assumed that the function of the Health Department was to deal with contagious, infectious, and pestilential diseases and that any person afflicted with this character of disease who needed to be quarantined or restrained was within the purview of the duty of the Health Department. But when it came to the treatment of disease he said that he did not believe this was a function of the department.

Dr. Copeland was asked if he had heard of the Mayor's rule requesting department heads from refraining to talk with newspaper men and he said he had not.

"Do you expect to be Health Commissioner for the balance of the term of three years and nine months?"

"I am not saying anything about that," replied the Commissioner, smiling.

During part of the interview there was present Dr. Frank J. Monaghan, Secretary to the department, whom Dr. Amster characterized as the Mayor's "personal representative," to whom the Mayor gave instructions without Dr. Amster's knowledge concerning the running of the affairs of the department.

Not Paid for Extra Work.

J. J. Crans, Acting Superintendent of the Otisville Sanitarium, testified yesterday before Mayor Hylan's Health Department investigators. In the course of his examination it developed that he was employed on July 1, 1912, as an architectural draftsman at a salary of $1,500 a year, and that in 1914, when the Acting Superintendent retired on a pension, Crane took charge. Since then his salary was increased to $2,280. It appeared that while nominally an architectural draftsman he supervised the construction of buildings, attended to plumbing work, and generally managed the sanitarium, receiving nothing in addition to his salary of $2,280 for the extra work.

The testimony also showed that Dr. Robert J. Wilson, head of the Bureau of Hospitals, certified Mr. Crane on the payrolls as an architectural draftsman. Secretary Stengle of the Civil Service Commission professed to be greatly concerned with this condition, and asked Mr. Crane:

"Did you knowingly or unknowingly allow Dr. Wilson to certify you from month to month as an architectural draftsman? Don't you know you were receiving money illegally?"

Secretary Stengle showed the witness the Civil Service law on the subject, and Mr. Crane said he did not know he had been doing anything illegal.

"Will you so notify Dr. Wilson and refuse to receive this month's check?" again asked the secretary.

"If I am ordered to I will," said the witness.

In the examination of Dr. Wilson which followed it was brought out that a number of physicians were in the service of the city who did not hold State licenses to practice medicine. The investigators attempted to learn why these men had not been dismissed and replaced by others possessing State licenses. Dr. Wilson said that the only reason was that the men were experts in their lines. He said he had no objection to taking other physicians holding New York State licenses if they had the same skill, but such men were rare.

Dr. Wilson was asked if he did not think he was practicing a little deception in certifying to payrolls where men employed in one institution were paid as being attached to another institution. He replied that, while he did not defend the condition which caused him to certify the payrolls in that manner, he had attempted for ten years to have a more flexible payroll made by the commission, a payroll which showed the service of the employe rather than the particular institution to which he was attached.

The hearing will continue tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Assistant District Attorney Dooling announced last night that he expected to finish presenting testimony before the Grand Jury today in the cases of the Health Department employes suspected of grafting in connection with the sale of oysters from polluted beds to residents of this city. It was rumored that four indictments would be found.

STORM ON SUFFRAGE IN PRUSSIAN DIET

Move to Postpone the Reform Law Until After the War Is Beaten Decisively.

HERTLING DEFENDS BILL

Cries of "Traitor!" Assail Socialist Who Threatens Appeal to the Soldiers.

AMSTERDAM, April 30.—The Prussian lower house has had a discussion on the motion of a Centrist member, Count Spee, in favor of adjourning the Electoral Reform bill until after peace has been declared, on the ground that the soldiers ought to return home before any electoral reform took place.

Herr Friedberg, Vice President of the House, said that such an unlimited postponement would be a great danger for the country's internal peace.

Count Spee's motion met with strong opposition from the progressive sections of the House. Adolph Hoffmann, Independent Socialist, said that if the motion were adopted he would appeal to the soldiers to stop fighting. This led to shouts of "Shame, withdraw! Traitor!"

A very acrimonious debate ensued and finally it was resolved by the votes of the Rightists to adjourn the sitting for an hour. On the resumption of the sitting Count Spee's motion was rejected, 233 to 60.

Count von Hertling, the Imperial Chancellor, in the subsequent debate said:

"The proceedings might evoke doubt whether we shall reach an understanding, but they also show how strong the feeling of responsibility is on all sides. This affords me the hope that we will find a common road for the reconciling of divergencies in opinion."

Proceeding to analyze the bill and the various motions before the House, Count von Hertling said:

"Plutocratic suffrage, which gauges political rights according to wealth, is today no longer possible in our nation. The Government therefore cannot countenance plutocratic suffrage. Equal suffrage must be fundamentally adhered to. The promise given must be redeemed.

"In all modern States political and social life is being directed toward this goal. In many States equal suffrage already has gone far beyond what this bill proposes, and in the long run it is impossible for Prussia to escape this movement.

"It is of course possible to arrange certain safeguards to remove too far reaching and radical consequences. The bill already contains such safeguards and others may be added. Motions with that object are being prepared, and the Government will benevolently and earnestly examine these suggestions.

"It goes without saying that a Government which undertook to carry through equal suffrage is at the same time firmly resolved, as far as possible, to guard against feared harmful effects. I have no doubt that this aim is attainable."

DUTCH SEND MISSION TO EXPLAIN TO BRITAIN

Will Tell of Difficulties Caused by German Demands—Berlin Presses Claims.

AMSTERDAM, April 30.—It has been learned that former Minister of War Colyn, accompanied by a mission, has gone to England on board a Dutch torpedo boat. The object of the visit is to explain to the British Government the difficult situation that has arisen for Holland as a result of the demands made upon the country by Germany.

Germany demands from Holland, says the Vossische Zeitung of Berlin, the right to send war material over the Limburg railway to Antwerp, the right to send foodstuffs for shipment from Antwerp, and the renewal of treaties relating to the importation of sand and gravel.

"As Holland," the newspaper adds, "recently yielded to Anglo-American pressure, she must grant these conditions to redress the balance."

THE HAGUE, April 30.—A bill has been introduced in the Second Chamber of the Dutch Parliament to regulate commerce with foreign countries. It provides for the centralization of imports in order to obtain from abroad in exchange for home products such articles as are necessary to Holland. All credits opened to foreign countries must have the approval of the Dutch Export Company.

$2,000 for Women's Motor Corps.

A benefit matinée of "Lombardi, Ltd.," given at the Morosco Theatre yesterday under the auspices of Mrs. Oliver Morosco, netted about $2,000 for the Women's Motor Corps of America, and was also responsible for the sale of $40,000 in Liberty bonds. The members of the cast were presented with an honor flag by the Bond Committee, signifying that every member of the company has subscribed to the loan.

BAKER PLANS ARMY OF OVER 3,000,000

him that an even greater number will be needed from America to swing the tide in the Allies' favor. He believes the war is going to last considerably more than a year.

Senator Poindexter's bill calls upon the Secretary of War to draft an additional 1,500,000 men from the registry lists "and to proceed forthwith to train and equip them for service in the National Army."

"In introducing the bill I should like to say that I notice in the press that the Secretary of War is considering this matter and that conferences are being held about it, and I presume that Congress is waiting until somebody in the War Department prepares a bill and hands it in," said Senator Poindexter. "My opinion is that Congress ought to act immediately and that there should not be any delay.

"The foundation of this proposed increase is already in laws that have been enacted. All that is necessary is to call an additional number of men. The bill authorizes contracts and the incurrence of expenses that may be necessary in carrying out this work.

"There should not be a day lost. Destiny and opportunity are marching by while we are holding conferences."

Reed Would Prepare for Invasion.

Senator Reed's bill would raise the aggregate of the army to more than 5,000,000 men. The Missouri Senator warned the Senate in a speech three months ago that America should raise an army not only for service in France but against a possible invasion of this country. Senator Reed believes that the present selective draft law will not yield over 2,500,000 men. This, he insists, is far short of the army America must have to make her part effective.

The bills and resolution were referred to the Military Affairs Committee, which is expected to act within a few days. A majority of the committee favors a large army program.

TURKEY SOUGHT LOAN FROM BILLINGS IN 1914

American Capitalist Came Near Opening Way for Escape from German Control.

C. K. G. Billings, American capitalist, came near influencing powerfully Turkey's attitude in the world war by a move early in 1914 to lend money to that country which would have helped to save it from the clutches of Germany, according to an article by ex-Ambassador Henry Morgenthau in the World's Work for May.

Just before the outbreak of the war the Turkish Treasury found itself depleted. Further than that, the men in control of Turkey, Mr. Morgenthau writes, were not anxious to borrow from any of the European nations, most of which had ambitions not entirely acceptable to Turkey.

In late December, 1913, Bustany Effendi, Minister of Commerce and Agriculture, approached Mr. Morgenthau on the question of an American loan. Talaat, the strong man of Turkey, went to him a few days later. He said there was absolutely no money in the Turkish Treasury: if the American Ambassador could only get them $5,000,000, that would satisfy them.

After obtaining the consent of the State Department Mr. Morgenthau wrote to his nephew and business associate, Robert E. Simon, asking him to sound certain New York institutions on making a small short-time collateral loan to Turkey. Mr. Simon wrote that C. K. G. Billings had shown much interest in the idea; and that, if Mr. Morgenthau desired, Mr. Billings would come out in his yacht and discuss the matter with the Turkish Cabinet. In a few days Mr. Billings had started toward Constantinople.

The news of Mr. Billings's approach spread with great rapidity all over the Turkish capital. Wangenheim, the German Ambassador, displayed an almost hysterical interest, Mr. Morgenthau says. The idea of America coming to the financial assistance of Turkey did not fall in with his plans at all; in his eyes Turkey's poverty was chiefly valuable as a means of forcing the empire into Germany's hands.

Mr. Morgenthau then tells of Mr. Billings's arrival, of his statement that he would probably lend Turkey the necessary money, and of a dinner in his honor at which the principal members of the Turkish Cabinet were present. He continues:

"Before this dinner, however, Talaat, Mr. Billings, and myself had a long talk about the loan. Talaat informed us that the French bankers had accepted their terms that very day, and that they would, therefore, need no American money at that time. He was exceedingly gracious and grateful to Mr. Billings and profuse in expressing his thanks. Indeed, he might well have been, for Mr. Billings's arrival enabled Turkey at last to close negotiations with the French bankers. * * *

"I am convinced that Talaat did not regard this Billings episode as closed. As I look back upon this transaction I see clearly that he was seeking to extricate his country, and that the possibility that the United States would assist him in performing the rescue was ever present in his mind. He frequently spoke to me of Mr. 'Beelings,' as he called him; even after Turkey had broken with France and England, and was depending on Germany for money, his mind still reverted to Mr. Billings's visit; perhaps he was thinking of our country as a financial haven of rest after he had carried out his plan of expelling the Germans."

ASKED GREGORY'S ADVICE.

Elizabeth's Mayor Put German Paper Situation Up to Washington.

The New Yorker Staats-Zeitung last night gave out the following telegrams as having passed between the Mayor of Elizabeth, N. J., and Attorney General Gregory:

Elizabeth, N. J., April 27, 1918.

To Attorney General, Washington, D. C.

Demand made upon me by some organizations to suppress circulation of newspapers and periodicals printed in German. Advise what your wishes.

VICTOR MRAVLAG, Mayor.

Washington, D. C., April 30, 1918.

Victor Mravlag, Mayor, City of Elizabeth, Elizabeth, N. J.

In answer to your telegram April 27th, there is no Federal law for suppression of circulation of newspapers and periodicals printed in German, provided they do not engage in unlawful propaganda.

GREGORY.

Mayor's Secretary In Draft Army.

Among the men from Local Board 77, in the East New York section of Brooklyn, who left for Camp Upton yesterday, was John P. Sinnott of 118 Arlington Avenue, executive secretary to Mayor Hylan. Sinnott was accompanied to the Long Island Railroad yards by a party of friends and neighbors, among whom was Miss Virginia Hylan, the Mayor's daughter. James P. Sinnott, Deputy Tax Commissioner, Democratic leader of the Twenty-second Assembly District, the young man's father, was also in the party. About 500 drafted men left from the various parts of Brooklyn yesterday for Camp Upton.

CROWDER OBJECTS TO DRAFT BILL CHANGE

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Provost Marshal General Crowder today requested Congress to eliminate from the bill extending the draft to youths reaching 21 years of age the amendment putting at the bottom of the eligible list those who would register under the measure. He also asked that the bill basing draft quotas on the number of men in Class I be amended to make its operation retroactive. General Crowder made his request in letters to the Chairmen of the Senate and House Military committees.

Of the proposal to put the new registrants at the bottom of the list of eligibles General Crowder said:

"The plan proposed by this office would result in these registrants being given order numbers scattered throughout the entire list of order numbers. This seems to be fairer than the plan proposed by the amendment. The result of the House amendment in many jurisdictions will be to delay the calling of these young men for a considerable time. In the meantime their status will have changed, they will have married or become integrated with the industries of the country.

"Moreover, it establishes a precedent which may be appealed to provided aliens are registered under the provisions of the new legislation based upon treaties to be negotiated."

The plan to make the quota law retroactive would apply it to men called while the legislation is pending. Delay in enactment of the legislation, General Crowder wrote, necessitates the retroactive feature.

"During the last few weeks," General Crowder stated, "the camps have become ready to capacity and the imperative needs of General Pershing's forces have led to the rapid dispatch of more troops overseas and to the issuance of relatively small calls, by authority of the President, to fill the organizations in training at cantonments. The result of these calls, spread over the last few weeks, has been not only to exhaust practically all the deferred percentages of the quotas on the first general call July 12, 1917,) but to add still further quantities of men in the excess of the first quotas."

Obviously, General Crowder added, to insure fair treatment for all the States, the new quota plan should be applied to men called in the second draft.

W. P. SPRECKELS BARRED FROM BIG SUGAR PLANT

Manufacturer's Nephew Cannot Enter Yonkers Refinery Because It Is Now in War Zone.

Walter P. Spreckels, nephew of Claus A. Spreckels, is barred from entering the Yonkers plant of the Federal Sugar Refinery because of the war zone decree that has been established on the water front here. He has held the position of Assistant Superintendent of the refinery, but, although he has been in this country for ten years, he never obtained naturalization papers, and consequently is classed as an enemy alien.

The Superintendent of the Yonkers refinery, which employs about a thousand hands, is Louis Spreckels, a cousin of Walter P. and an American citizen. The war zone was extended to Yonkers a few days ago as part of the Port of New York. Besides the Federal there is the National Sugar Refinery and numerous other mills within the restricted area. It is estimated also that there are ten thousand residents within the zone, all of whom must obtain permits to remain there.

Mr. Spreckels, it is understood, will remain in the New York office of the Federal Sugar Company. His home is at 19 Cedar Place, Yonkers.

VON ARNIM'S REPULSE.

So far Kemmel Hill has been the high tide of German achievement in Flanders. In that neighborhood Von Arnim's picked troops were to overwhelm the British and French defenders, force the evacuation of Ypres or carry it by storm, and push on westward through the hills to seize the supply railway. It is estimated that the Germans used eleven divisions in the bloody fighting to capture the ridge between Mont Scharpenberg and the Mont des Cats, but instead of gaining ground they lost it, and their repulse was attended with such enormous losses that the correspondents have described it as a disaster.

The brevity of the Berlin bulletin was significant. It had nothing to say about Von Arnim's costly failure. In fact, the ugly truth was evaded: "On the Flanders battlefront from midday on the artillery fire revived." When Berlin takes refuge in silence things are going badly for the German Army in the great offensive.

On the following morning the ground in front of the allied lines under the shadow of Kemmel was covered with gray-coated dead; the living had retired, unable to face the enemy's artillery. Flesh and blood could endure no more. The village of Locre, which had often changed hands, was now entirely occupied by the French, who no more yielded than at Verdun. "Through long hours" waves of Germans had attacked Voormezeele Wood in vain. It remained with the British. The allied line had been pushed forward between La Clytte and Kemmel. The hills west of that place were secure. For the time being Ypres was in no danger.

Whether the British are to withdraw from Ypres eventually is a question for General Foch, whose strategy is not yet unmasked. The next move is Von Arnim's. He has met with a cruel check on what he regarded as the eve of victory. There is reason to believe that German losses on an equal front have never been so heavy. Can they be suffered much longer? The Germans must go on or retreat. They cannot occupy the ground they now stand on without risk of a formidable counterstroke by the French commander. From the success of the Allies in Flanders in stopping the enemy by inflicting great losses upon him it may be inferred that at last there is no lack of French and British reserves to dispute the German advance westward and to the north.

PAID TRAITORS.

There is warning for Americans in the story of the Bonnet Rouge treason, for which seven men are now on trial in Paris, and in the ramifications of it for which others are yet to be tried. France was poisoned with a pacifist propaganda conducted through newspapers which preached the horrors of war and the desirability of negotiating a peace with Germany. These papers were circulated not only among civilians but among soldiers—especially among soldiers. They bore an appearance of good faith, and they had patriotic names and were blatant in pretenses of patriotism; but always there was the subtle suggestion which was intended to do the poisonous work. Probably there were many honest Frenchmen who said: "Of course these men are wrong, but no doubt they are sincere, and every man is entitled to his opinion."

But they were not sincere. They were actually in the pay of Germany. The first proof came in the arrest of Duval, the business manager of ons of these newspapers, on his way back from Switzerland with a check for over $30,000. This and many other checks he had received from a German banker named Marx for the purpose of paralyzing French efficiency with his sanctimonious talk of peace, and Marx was the agent of the German Government, which paid Duval's newspaper alone more than $200,000. The arrest of the business manager led to the arrest of the editor, Almeareda, who escaped a court-martial by committing suicide. Seven others are now being tried.

All these men are tools of Caillaux, who poses as a French patriot, and whose method is peculiarly suggestive of the methods of Americans who have been doing the same kind of work on this side of the water. His method is to excite distrust of France's allies, to harp on old national grudges. It is the same method which was used in Italy last year with such success as to bring about the defeat of Cadorna's army. If any Americans can read this story without seeing the close similarity of what went on in France last year to what has been going on in America without hindrance ever since the war began, they must be singularly lacking in the ability to draw obvious conclusions.

NEW YORK AND THE COUNTRY.

Washington continues to lament conditions regarding the Liberty Loan which have a more agreeable front if looked at from another point of view. "New York to date has proved one "of the biggest disappointments of "the campaign," according to the semi-official statement yesterday morning. The fact is that the Treasury has got its money in the way it wanted it, and in a way that would be welcomed in Paris, or London, or Berlin. None of those countries could have floated any of their loans without the help of their financial capitals to an extent far exceeding what New York has supplied this time, partly because it was not necessary, partly because of much generosity before when it was harder to raise money than now. New York disappoints Washington because New York understands the country better than Washington. If the country had been backward, New York would have been more forward. If the banks had received their orders, as in Berlin, the loan would have been taken by them instead of by individual investors.

There is no bank in any nation which would not rejoice if it were able to report such conditions as are shown by our banks, which do not consider themselves hampered by the proportion of their national loans among their investments. The leading bankers of England are outspoken in praise of both our banking system and its administration. Loans in hundreds are the peculiarity of this campaign, and those loans, above all others, do not congest banks. The little-considered trifles in ten million pockets provide the funds which will sustain war industries and leave work for the banks to do in other directions.

The bottom district, Atlanta, waked up Monday and contributed $20,000,000. The day's total was $174,443,000, making the whole $2,457,744,000 up to yesterday, the daily average required for the minimum being stated at $110,440,691. It would be agreeable to see New York leading, in its usual place. But it is to be remembered that the same reports which make it out a laggard report its total at $592,022,700, and the next nearest at $380,537,750. It is too early to lament anything about the loan, and there are conditions which are quite as well worthy of welcome as would have been an extravagant and unnecessary contribution from the centre of finance, which now holds itself in reserve as surely as though Foch commanded. It is as well worth remarking where the money comes from as where it does not come from, but can be had for cause shown. Even Washington praises the popular origin of the money, and that will worry the Germans as much as the total.

ORGANIZATION OF WARTIME FINANCE.

The appointments to the War Finance Corporation and the Capital Issues Committee of the Federal Reserve Board complete our plans for wartime finance. Our Federal Reserve organization was designed to limit it to commercial assets of the most liquid sort, and thus to divorce the money market from the call loan market for securities. It required a series of panics of assorted sizes to convince us that commercial loans were a better reliance than collateral. Over and over again panics were allayed by the running off of commercial maturities under conditions when collateral was useless, even when sacrificed. It does not follow that investment banking is not good banking. It is just as good as any sort of banking, but it requires different talent and a different sort of capital. Commercial credits are limited by various short periods. Examples are the importation of materials from the ends of the world, the period of conversion of materials into consumers' goods, the raising of a crop and other determinable activities.

The first requisite of war finance is that it shall sustain production by sustaining the volume of legitimate trade, and should restrict all new nonessential enterprises. It has been calculated that the men under arms, and the "hands" engaged in sustaining them with food, clothes, weapons, and transportation of them, number eighty million men and women. No earlier war ever produced such a situation when practically all industrial nations are belligerents, and practically all other nations furnish them with supplies. There never was in the world such disturbance of production and credit. Always heretofore somewhere in the world there were nations where credit could be had. Now there is but one. The Federal Reserve has larger specie reserves than normal, and it is the hope of the Allies. It might almost be said to be the hope of the world, if a cataclysm is to be avoided. It is not accident that at this juncture the Federal Reserve issues a bulletin combining both bravery and sanity, and laying down principles to be administered by the two bodies whose officials are now appointed.

The Federal Reserve Bank will finance business and industry. The War Finance Corporation will finance investment banking. They are complementary functions, and both are indispensable. There are the surest signs of co-operation between them, and there is even prospect of co-operation between the Federal bankers and the State controllers of the issus of securities. In the immense volume of outstanding securities there are constantly maturities to be cared for, and of the most varying merit. It is as necessary to regulate finance as transportation or industry. There is to be a new set of priorities of accommodation, corresponding to the priorities of transportation and industrial supply. War necessaries come first. The support of the fabric of trade comes next. There is danger of both inflation and contraction. The safest course is the medium, and confidence must be felt in the Administration.

The Federal Reserve Bank needs no praise. It is a reassurance to believe that it will be administered increasingly by Mr. Warburg as Governor Harding's activities take other form in the new corporation. The greatest single item of new finance is transportation on land and sea. The shipping will be sustained from public funds. Railways will be financed presumably by such an advance of rates as will give them normal credit, and the same may be said of the broad group of public utilities, gas, electricity, tractions, which also are substandard through limitation of their incomes without regard to their costs. Mr. Skelton Williams will attend to this in association with Director of Railways McAdoo. Other names are less well known, but the qualities required are rather sober than brilliant. Discretion is demanded, not adventure. The total production of "goods and services" must be sustained. There is work and wages for all men and machinery on war goods. The most authoritative observers among us from abroad have praised our difficult performance most heartily. Witness Mr. Tardieu and Sir Edward Holden. The ship is sound, and the steersmen are good. They are not venturing into unknown fields. They are merely holding a steady course on open water. Steadyness we are is all that the financial case calls for. We shall be doubly fortunate if military affairs becoms equally easy.

WHO IS GUILTY?

In the Senate debate upon Mr. Gutzon Borglum's serious charges of waste, mismanagement, and inefficiency in aircraft production, published in The Times of Sunday, Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, who is a member of the Military Affairs Committee, was asked if the letter written by the President authorizing Mr. Borglum to make his investigation had been recalled. He made this reply:

"Not that I know of. I assume that Mr. Borglum has been unable to lay before the President any more definite information than that he was able to give me; and from my knowledge of the information the committee had already, I knew the material Mr. Borglum had would not be of any great value.

"Will the matter end there? Congress has appropriated something like $1,000,000,000 of the people's money for the execution of the aircraft production program. Senator Hitchcock himself declared during the debate "that the aircraft program had failed "and that only one American machine had been transported to the "American Army in France." We may assume that in this statement he meant that only one machine equipped with the Liberty motor had been shipped to France, for later he specifically made the statement in that form. One billion of dollars appropriated, a year of time lost, and the aircraft production program has "failed."

"Will the Senate dismiss the matter on the strength of Mr. Hitchcock's opinion that the material supplied by Mr. Borglum "would not be of any great value"? In the view of the Senate is it a matter of no consequence, quite immaterial, that Mr. Borglum has shown that the aircraft production has failed? What does Mr. Hitchcock, what does his committee, what does the Senate, expect of Mr. Borglum? That he should discover not only that the aircraft production program has failed but that he should hunt down the causes of failure, disclose the delays, errors, blunders or worse that have caused the failure, identify the guilty peraons who are responsible for the squandering of $1,000,000,000 without results and bring them to the Senate committee room for examination?

"Those are not Mr. Borglum's functions as an investigator. He has brought to light the astonishing conditions that exist in the field of aircraft production, he has exposed the failure of the Aircraft Board and of the Signal Corps to construct airplanes. Is that "material" of no value to the Senate? It is the Senate's business, the business of the Military Affairs Committee, to take up the investigation where Mr. Borglum necessarily laid it down and pursue the inquiry until responsibility for failure is fixed, until guilt is exposed, for unquestionably there is guilt here and it must be peraonal. Why does the Senate hesitate? Why does it not at once order the Military Affairs Committee to begin an investigation?

MAYOR HYLAN AND PUBLIC HEALTH.

If Mayor Hylan were a personage of comic opera, the author would be accused of exaggeration. Even to those who see the Mayor in the flesh and can testify to his apparent physical actuality, doubts must come as his continuous performance goes on. His naïveté, his megalomania, something primitive, savage, or childlike in his mental machinery, the ceaseless surge of his cacoethes scribendi, make him almost incredible among the curiosities of politics. "May I not assure you at this time," he writes Dr. Amster, "that your resignation will not affect my policy?"

The form of the assurance is pilfered from a mannerism of Mr. Wilson. The defiant substance smacks of megalomania. Continuous interference "by petty direction and arbitrary inaction" has been the Mayor's policy in the Health Department. Amid the protests of sanitary and medical authorities and societies, of labor organizations, the scientific and the lay public, he carries on his efforts to obstruct the beneficent labors of the Health Department. He seeks to disorganize and impair a vital organ of the community. In his singular blundering ignorance he threatens the public health. This at a time when the conservation of the public health and the efficient and enlightened administration of the health office of this port is a cardinal national concern.

The Mayor doesn't consciously wish evil. He simply belongs to that political and intellectual level where trained and scientific management is regarded as anti-popular and "plutocratic," where "experts" are thought of as dangerous to the public weal because they keep inexperts out of office; where tinsel campaign phrases are axioms. Of course none of the Mayor's sponsors and promoters takes seriously the populistic-socialistic nonsense of the platform of last Summer. It was mere bait for gudgeons. Apparently, the Mayor has nothing else in his majestic intellectuals. He writes Dr. Amster about "the special interests" that have been "preying upon the people" in the Health Department, which, he insists, shall be conducted in the interests of the people, and "not in "the interests of the food trust, the "drug trust, or any other combination."

Perhaps from some vague, distorted, diluted memory of a famous imprecation of Governor Flower's, the Mayor was prompted to say that he "does not give a darn"—O milk and water!—"for these Federal Governmental letters"—thus is Surgeon General Blue sent about his business—"or letters from other people"—such, for instance, as Dr. C. H. Mayo, President of the American Medical Association—who are interested in public health education." As long as I am Mayor of New York"—which may not be long, if the Mayor keeps on Hylaning and Governor Whitman keeps adding to the Hylan dossier—"the Health Department will be run as I see fit."

In other circumstances and times this expression of cephalic tumefaction would make even the judicious grin. In war the President of the United States cannot permit any weakening of the means of health conservation in New York. Too many great issues of military, naval, economic efficiency are bound up with the public health, maintained or lowered from this chief American port among our oversea forces, our industrial population, the multitude of visitors that might carry hence disease into innumerable American communities. If the New York Health Department service fails off, deteriorates, or even lessens, the Federal Government will step in mighty quick and take charge. The Mayor would be treated with about as much deference as a coachman shows to a fly on the wheel.

The new Commissionsr, Dr. Copeland, to whom the Mayor has promised the usual free hand, is quoted as saying that the Mayor's "advice "should be sought on all vital subjects." Then, why have a Commissioner? On the other hand, admirable is Dr. Copeland's determination "to have a conference with the "national authorities at Washington, "so that the department may be co-"ordinated with the greater national "work that is going on." It isn't co-ordination, it is demoralization, that the Mayor is bringing on the Health Department. Yesterday Dr. Copeland said that there is "no intention to interfere with the work "of any branches of the department." Graft and inefficiency must be put out. Good, but if Dr. Copeland knows "from what the Mayor has told" him, that "all the Mayor "wishes to do is to put the department in a position to be of the best "possible service to the people," why, Dr. Copeland has not followed the investigation of the Health Department, or he is of a trustful disposition. "I don't believe," he says, "that the "Mayor has any plans to interfere "with the work of any branches of "the department." Yet the Mayor isn't going to change his policy, if he hasn't changed his mind since his letter to Dr. Amster.

At any rate, Dr. Copeland has no such plans. He wants "all the co-operation" he can get. He may be sure of it so long as he administers the department in the public interest. In that case, how long will he have the Mayor's co-operation?

THE COMING WHEAT CROP.

When the Kansas State Board of Agriculture, three weeks after the Government's report for April 1 had estimated the coming crop of Winter wheat at 560,000,000 bushels, said that more than 3,000,000 acres of the Winter-sown fields in that State had been abandoned some feared that the yield would not exceed 500,000,000 bushels. But the remaining area in Kansas, 6,310,000 acres, in which the plants are in fair condition, is almost twice as large as the harvested acreage there last year, and the indicated yield is 86,500,000 bushels, while the crop in 1917 was less than 46,000,000. In most of the Winter wheat States there has been marked improvement since the Government's inquiry was made, and conditions warrant a prediction that the yield will not be less than 600,000,000 bushels.

There will be gains in the Spring wheat States. When Winter losses were foreseen, farmers were urged by the Government to increase the Spring-sown acreage. In reply it was said that the needed labor could not be obtained. From all the Spring wheat States there were reports that acreage would be reduced. But now a statement published by a prominent Western grain firm, based upon the inquiries of several hundred correspondents, says that in all these States acreage has been largely increased. This firm's estimate of the entire wheat area exceeds last year's harvested acreage by 28 per cent. Additions to the Spring fields promise to give a crop of 256,000,000 bushels. Last year's was 232,000,000. It now seems reasonable to expect 600,000,000 in the Winter States and a total of more than 850,000,000. Last year we had only 651,000,000, and this was not much more than is required in normal times for our own use. Only by reducing consumption at home has it been possible to send to our allies what they needed.

If 850,000,000 bushels are harvested this year, there will be an export surplus of 250,000,000 or even 300,000,000. In Canada also there will be gains. Acreage increase is 19½ per cent. in Alberta and 12 per cent. in Manitoba. For the whole country an addition of at least 10 per cent. is expected. In England and Italy there has been preparation for crops larger than last year's. Reports from all countries to which the Allies look for wheat point to a greater available supply.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Expectations Cruelly Disappointed. Much in the way of intelligence, of knowledge, and of the wisdom that crystallizes out of the two when they are in combination, can reasonably be expected of the man carefully chosen by the inhabitants of a city as variously great as is New York, to be their Chief Executive. In the very nature of things it would be assumed that, while he would not be infallible in judgment or always right in action, he would not make mistakes in the solution of municipal problems as simple as the one whether or not the city should gratefully accept, and as long as possible retain, as an adviser of its Health Board, a man as eminent in his profession and as highly respected as a citizen as Dr. Abraham Jacobi has been for these many, many years.

It is astonishing indeed, therefore, or at any rate one can with something of plausibility pretend to be astonished, that the present Mayor of New York, in considering the official status of Dr. Jacobi, gave attention neither to his professional attainments nor to his personal character—that what counted with the Mayor and made him decided that Dr. Jacobi should be removed was the fact that the doctor had a son-in-law whose political affiliations and business relations indicated a certain lack of enthusiasm in approval of the Hylan administration.

If the office held by Dr. Jacobi had been one that gave its occupant a big salary or the disposal of much patronage, the Mayor's determination to turn him out and to put another man in his place, while not more commendable than now, would not have been quite so hard to understand, and therefore not quite so hard to forgive. The doctrine that to political victors belong the political spoils is not yet so widely discredited that the holding to it by survivors from another era necessarily implies that they are either insane or corrupt. It ranks with belief in ghosts, or in dry and wet moons, or in "the war-made nations of Europe," or in any one of a hundred other illusions that result from arrested mental or moral development. But the members of this Advisory Board give their services to the city for nothing, so the Mayor was not under the "pressure" that Tammany so well knows how to exercise. He did as he chose, and he chose to do—that!

Teaching Children to Save. Thrift and war savings stamps to the amount of more than $100,000,000 have already been "sold" or "floated," or whatever may be the right name for their distribution, and, while it takes more money than that, in these days, to excite our special wonder, still even this sum does not seem small to all of us, and most of us are willing to accept it as one of the not very numerous proofs that many mickles make a muckle.

Of course we have several governmental agencies that can spend, or at any rate have spent, as much as that, or more, without having, as yet, anything either tangible or ponderable to show for it, but things are going better now. There's no doubt that we really are getting into the war, and all good citizens are willing that to "the expense" should be applied the oftenest used of soldier words. Meanwhile, the stamps are doing more than supply the Government with small change.

This Lamb Turned on the Wolf. One other service the stamps have rendered, and are rendering, is that of overcoming the constitutional aversion of innumersble children and not a few adults to saving their money instead of spending it. Especially to children is the only charm of money apt to be its power to buy, but even children have learned of late that there is joy in accumulation. It is to be hoped, indeed, that they will not learn this lesson too well, for nothing and nobody could be more obnoxious than a penurious child. In this instance, however, there is little or no danger of that misfortune. While the children who buy the stamps do save their money instead of spending it, the chances are that most of them take another view of the matter and look, not to the wealth that will be theirs as infinitely far away as five years from now, but to the instant satisfactions of filling their cards before other children do and of having more of them. They are playing a new game—not so much saving as "collecting"—and the cultivation of thrifty habits in incidental, as it ought to be.

The money will be theirs at the end of the five years, and there is little, or at any rate less, likelihood that money gathered by so much effort will be wasted, as it almost certainly would be if spent as fast as it came in.

At another time than this there would be not a little interest taken in the curious revelations that have followed the arrest here of a gambler who seems to have been of rather high degree, though hitherto unknown to fame. About the queerest feature of the episode is the disclosure that a man who was expected—and therefore presumably was able—to pay a gambling loss of $53,000 would accept for himself and his wife an invitation to dinner in a house where his only introduction and claim to hospitality was a brief acquaintance struck up at a resort hotel with friends of the too cordial host.

Such things do happen, though, now and then, and by no means always does confidence thus rashly accorded end in betrayal. At any rate, the visitor was courageous as well as trusting, and in the end it was the gambler that suffered, not the selected victim.

Of course the game by means of which the fleecing was attempted was one of the sort particularly favored by professional gamblers—of the only sort by which they could possibly live. In other words, it was not a game at all, but a certainty, even when played with what in gambling circles passes for honesty. Skill is entirely eliminated, and evenness of chance is destroyed by an admitted mathematical advantage in favor of "the house." At places like Monte Carlo roulette is played—perhaps—with no more than that mathematical advantage against the player, but it never suffices for the gamblers who do business on a smaller scale. Only in pretense are they votaries of chance. The "sure thing" is what they always seek and usually attain.

The Work of Philip Gibbs.

From The Topeka Capital.

Philip Gibbs outdoes himself in his dispatches to The New York Times describing the turn of the battle's tide April 17, last Wednesday, and later. He is the only correspondent at headquarters who describes the battles, or perhaps who has the courage to attempt such an ambitious and colossal thing. He does it, and his letters, written in the midst of the smoke and noise, as he describes it, "like the beating of all the drums in the world in muffled tattoo, above which and through which there were enormous clangoring hammer strokes from the British and German heavies," are literature of Homeric simplicity and power. He goes on picturing the battle in dispatches written in the midst of its confusion, letters that can be gathered into a book without the change of a word, and will still be the most vivid description of the actual fighting of this war that has been written or ever will be written.

The Sale of German Papers.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In Sunday's issue of The New York Times there appeared a statement issued by me and which was intended for the dealers. So far as I can see the statement as given does not commit me to an approval of the German papers being printed. I merely insisted that if the German papers were to be barred it should not be done by unauthorized individuals. I am sure that if the Government finds it necessary to suppress the German newspapers for the period of the war it will be received in a co-operative spirit, not only by the dealers but also the German newspaper publishers. WHITMAN SIGNS FOOD BILL.

Measure Aimed at Profiteers Among 66 Approved by Governor.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 30.—Profiteering got a quietus today with the signing of the Wagner bill preventing excessive profits being made on the necessaries of life. There were sixty-five other bills which became laws today over Governor Whitman's signature.

The Wagner bill provides that the State Food Commission may make rules fixing the difference between the purchase and selling prices of foodstuffs to prevent excess profits "by any person or corporation." Farmers and gardeners and members of all organizations formed by them are excused from provisions of the act. The act is to be effective wherever it does not conflict with Federal statutes dealing with the same subject. The new law was designed to hit at speculators in the food markets.

Another of the batch of bills signed was one creating a Central Supply Committee for the State which is to investigate purchasing methods of the various State departments and institutions and systematize the methods.

The Governor also signed one of the bills which brought a protest from Mayor Hylan, the Martin bill, which provides for increasing the salary of a Special Deputy Excise Commissioner in Queens County from $2,500 to $3,000 a year.

TO A MEAN STREET IN WAR TIME.

You once led up to the sweatshop,
And down to the docks so gray,
But since your lads atepped off to war,
You lead anotbar way.

You open on a green road
Where campfires, either side,
Light up the way for gallant youth
Well met from far and wide.

You opan on a wonder-road—
What royal ways are these
That point the quest so chivalrous
Across the purple seas!

You open on a high road
Where lusty singe its stave,
Along a rough and stark path,
The spirit of the Brave.

You street o' the dock and sweatshop,
Now your sons have marched away,
You opcn on the Goodly Road
That's fair as break o' day!

ANNE W. YOUNG.

WELCOMES JAPAN'S ENVOY.

Felicitations Exchanged as Ishii Presents His Credentials.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Viscount Kikujiro Ishii, the new Ambassador from Japan, presented his letters to President Wilson today. He was accompanied to the White House by Secretary Lansing. The selection of Viscount Ishii as Ambassador is attributed to his work at the time of his visit to Washington in 1917 at the head of the Imperial Japanese War Mission, when he succeeded in establishing relations between Japan and the United States on a firmer basis and was largely instrumental in the negotiation of the Ishii-Lansing agreement between the two Governments.

In presenting his credentials to President Wilson Viscount Ishii said:

"I am happy to assure you of the warm sentiments which my august Sovereign entertains toward you and the people of the United States; and in particular to emphasize the profound pleasure and satisfaction which the more than cordial kindness that was everywhere shown to the special mission of last year has given to his Majesty. As I had the honor of being the chief of that mission, I may be permitted, Mr. President, to take this occasion of again expressing my own deep personal gratitude.

"I am very sensible of the high and arduous nature of the duties entrusted to me, but, animated by the recollection of the generous warmth of the reception of the special mission, I am emboldened to bespeak, with every confidence, from you the trust and favor always accorded to his Majesty's representatives accredited to the Government of the United States.

"It will be my endeavor, Mr. President, to carry on the work of the mission by dealing with the various questions that may arise for adjustment in a spirit of open and friendly co-operation, which my experience tells me will never fail to be reciprocated.

"I congratulate myself on presenting myself at a time when the nations of America and Japan are more than ever evincing a temper of mutual appreciation, which is an honor to both. No effort shall be spared on my part, with your high assistance, to strengthen and intensify this happy relation, so that we may secure a peace just to all the warring nations and may thenceforward enjoy its blessing in ever-increasing friendship and security."

President Wilson replied to the remarks of the new Japanese Ambassador as follows:

"Mr. Ambassador: It is with a deep feeling of satisfaction that I receive from your hands the letters whereby you are accredited as the Japanese Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary Near the Government of the United States and to accord you recognition in that high quality. I also accept the letters of recall of your predecessor, whose residence in Washington is so pleasantly remembered.

"Some months ago it was my pleasure to welcome you as the Ambassador of his Imperial Majesty on Special Mission, and the felicitous expression which you gave to the sentiments of your Government, as well as the wisdom with which you co-operated to secure a satisfactory adjustment of questions then under consideration, makes my gratification all the deeper in again receiving you as your Government's duly accredited Ambassador at this capital. Your appointment, indeed, is to me an added evidence of the devotion of the Japanese Government to a policy of peace and good-will among all the nations of the world.

"I beg of you to express to your august sovereign my appreciation of his Majesty's sentiments of good-will and my confident hope that the cordial bonds of friendship already existing between our two countries will be greatly strengthened by the fact of our common efforts in so righteous a cause as that in which we are engaged.

"In conclusion permit me to assure you personally that in carrying out the high mission with which you are intrusted you may feel assured of my sincere confidence and good-will."

AVERTS PAPER MILL STRIKE.

War Labor Board Will Act After Newsprint Price Is Fixed.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The National War Labor Board, which was organized yesterday with ex-President William Howard Taft and Frank P. Walsh as joint chairmen, announced today that it had succeeded in averting a strike of the pulp and paper workers of the International Paper Company, which manufactures about 60 per cent. of the newsprint and a large amount of the commercial paper consumed in this country, and is an important war industry in that some of the products of these mills are used in shell manufacture.

The strike was scheduled to become effective May 1 by the International Brotherhood of Papermakers, of which J. T. Carey of Albany, N. Y., is President, and the Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers of the United States and Canada, of which John P. Burke, Fort Edward, N. Y., is President. Nearly 100,000 men were involved.

The demands of the unions were recently presented to Philip T. Dodge, President of the International Paper Company. At his request the matter was referred to the National War Labor Board, a conference with the union officials immediately following. The men demanded an eight-hour working day and an increase of wages.

The situation was complicated by the fact that the Federal Trade Commission was in process of fixing a price for paper, and it was pointed out by the National War Labor Board that until this factor in the economic relations of the company and its employes was established no just and permanent agreement could be expected, but the board stated its willingness to remain in continuous session until the report of the Federal Trade Commission was made public.

In view of this situation the officials of the two unions readily agreed to an uninterrupted continuation of paper mill operations, on the present schedule, in anticipation of a finding on their demands by the National War Labor Board on or before July 1 next, the further agreement being that the award of the War Labor Board should be effective as of May 1.

FAVOR POSTAL INQUIRY.

Rules Committee to Decide Whether to Limit It to Soldiers' Mail.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Two resolutions, seeking an investigation into the alleged inadequate mail service here and to soldiers abroad, are now before the House Committee on Rules. Protests over the delay in mail to soldiers abroad are still pouring in upon Members of Congress.

It has been determined informally by the Rules Committee that investigation will be made. The question is whether it shall cover the mail service at home as well as abroad. The investigation, it is believed, will be conducted by the Post Office Committee.

All the testimony submitted to the committee today, together with former testimony taken before the Committee on Expenditures, will be considered before any decision is made on the measures before the Committee on Rules.

Address Is "American E. F."

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Mail addressed to members of the American expeditionary force in France should have the word "American" written or spelled in full, so that in the address the designation will read "American E. F.," according to a request made today by the Post Office authorities. The new order is deemed necessary in order to distinguish American mail from that addressed to the expeditionary forces of other countries.

HOOVER SEES PLENTY OF FOOD THIS YEAR

Declares Crop Outlook Promises Sufficient Wheat for Both America and the Allies.

EFFECT OF REGULATION

Food Administrator Says People Were Protected from Threatened Advance of Flour to $50.

Addressing a conference of 100 grain men and the officials of the Federal Food Grain Corporation at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday, United States Food Administrator Herbert Hoover made the most complete statement on the grain situation that has ever emanated from him in public since he took office. Mr. Hoover pointed out that the efforts of the Food Administration as shown by what it had accomplished in the last year in keeping down the price of flour were directed entirely toward protecting the people of the country from any hardships that might be caused by profiteering, speculation, and artificial inflation of prices. Had it not been for the work of the Food Administration, he said the price of flour instead of being $10 a barrel at the mill door would have been "anything from $30 to $50 a barrel."

Discussing the regulations by which the Food Administration has endeavored to control the price of flour, he said:

"These are not times when any man, whether farmer, workman, manufacturer, or grain dealer, has a right to take one cent of profit over and above his pre-war normal earnings, otherwise he is taking money from the blood and sacrifice of the nation today."

He reviewed the harvest conditions of the last three years and pointed out how the 1916 harvest year showed the violent force of war disturbance while the harvest year of 1917 became one of control.

How Situation Has Improved.

"We consume," he said, "approximately 110,000,000 barrels of flour per annum, therefore the cost of handling this grain, the milling, and speculation cost nearly $200,000,000 more in the 1916 harvest year than either the 1915 or the 1917 harvest. It is also interesting to note that while the farmer for the 1917 harvest is receiving about $2.50 more for the raw material of a barrel of flour, at the same time the mill-door price is but 27 cents per barrel over the average of the 1916 harvest, and is $6.80 less per barrel than the maximum price reached in the 1916 harvest year. These are not merely dry figures, for in their worst aspects they represent acute human suffering.

"When flour went to $16.75 a barrel at the mill door in May, 1917, no one will deny that the greatest hardship resulted from it and no one can deny that this started a dislocation in our entire economic life. I am not one of those who accuse the grain trade of having been responsible for this situation. The European Governments, with their shortening shipping, had been compelled to abandon the more remote markets in the world and had established single agencies in this country for the purchase of their necessary food stuffs in competition with our own people.

"A series of speculation sprang up that were deplorable beyond words. But a microscopic portion of this speculation was of deliberate or vicious nature. There was no concerted manipulation. There was a local disturbance to the law of supply and demand and with skyrocketing prices 250,000 distributers of wheat and flour in the United States naturally marked up the price of the goods already in their possession as quotations rose. It was inconceivable that our people should be subjected to repetitions of these events throughout the period of the war if we were to preserve tranquillity and efficiency.

Allies Forced to Short Loaf.

"The question arises daily as to why the Allies cannot use more corn to leave us the wheat. The superior value of wheat as breadstuff lies alone in its durability and its palatability, not in its nutrition. We have no right to add more hardship of the Allies than of our selves. Beyond this, however, lies a long range of practical questions. Their people are ignorant of the art of making corn bread. They have little equipment for home baking. The life of corn meal is short. There is a lack of corn mills in Europe. It is difficult to ship corn during the germinating season. They do mix all the other cereals and potatoes in their loaf that it will stand, and still be a loaf. Their war bread today is less palatable than our loaf or our corn bread. The loaf to this entire allied world has this year been a short loaf, and ours has not been the shortest.

"The Allies are doing their part, for they have reduced their whole cereal consumption by 20 per cent. to provide us ships for more soldiers. They are today living their appeal for more soldiers by sacrificing their daily bread."

Defending the restrictions imposed by the Food Administration upon the commerce in wheat, Mr. Hoover said that, if such a course had not been adopted, the country would have experienced riots in the congested centres "of a violence that leads to blood."

"I agree," he declared, "with the contention of some farmers that they would have received $5, and perhaps $10, a bushel for wheat had it not been for the restraints imposed by the Government, but I would say to these farmers that they would have been taking money not only from the blood of our soldiers and from the suffering of the poor sections in our consuming centres, but every farmer in this country would himself have paid his share in the enormous national damage resulting in reactions from labor and instability in our population that would have thundered at the farm door sooner or later.

Grain Trade Is Intact.

"So far as I know, the whole of the grain trade is intact today and is able over night to assume its normal function in the distribution of wheat to our own population any moment that the Government finds it possible to withdraw.

"With a larger acreage of Winter wheat this year than we had last, we have a percentage of abandonment that apparently will not exceed 10 per cent., as against 32 per cent. last year. And in addition to this, our advices indicate anything from 19,000,000 to 21,000,000 acres of Spring wheat, making one of the largest growing acreages in many years. The condition of both Winter and Spring wheat is promising. At the present moment our crop prospects look anything from 800,000,000 to 900,000,000 bushels of wheat. The harvests of the Allies also look promising. With this prospect we now have ground for hopes of plenty for ourselves and our Allies, and instead of famine we can look forward to an entirely different economic situation this year from that which confronted us in the Summer of 1917."

J. H. Barnes, agent of the Food Administration in New York, presided at the meeting, and discussed the plans of the conference, which he hoped would result in the appointment of a permanent advisory board to co-operate with the Food Administration and the grain trade.

MISS BIGELOW WED TO LIEUT. MELVILLE

MISS POMEROY A BRIDE

Married to Clarke Washburne at the St. Regis—Nuptial of A. G. Herreshoff and Miss H. F. Haines.

Orchid pink and hydrangea blue were the colors that stood out prominently at the wedding yesterday afternoon in St. George's Church, of Miss Doroty Bigelow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Emerson Bigelow, and Lieutenant Ward Melville, U. S. R., who is serving in the office of the Quartermaster General at Washington, D. C. The ceremony was performed at 4 o'clock, Bishop Darlington and the Rev. Dr. Karl Reiland officiating.

The bride wore a gown of white satin with a short square train of satin and point lace, the veil falling from a medallion of point lace worn low on the coiffure. She carried a large bouquet of lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Lyall Dean was the matron of honor, and the Misses Eunice Beecher, Dorothy Cockshaw, Elinor Goodnow, Ruth Jenks, Dorothy Taylor, and Mrs. D. Morley Lodge were the other attendants.

Lieutenant Henry V. B. Darlington, who is chaplain of the Coast Artillery at Fort Totten, and son of Bishop Darlington, acted as best man. The ushers were Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo, the Chinese Minister; Captain Donald Armstrong, U. S. A.; Captain George B. Compton, U. S. R.; Captain Joseph J. Merrill, N. A.; Lyall Dean, a step-brother of the bride; Ernest S. Roche, and Burnet C. Tuthill.

Washburne—Pomeroy.

The marriage of Clarke Washburne, a son of Mrs. Hempstead Washburne of Chicago, and Miss Eleanor Pomeroy, a daughter of Theodora L. Pomeroy of Greenwich, Conn., was quietly solemnized at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the St. Regis. Mgr. Carroll, assistant to Cardinal Farley, of St. Patrick's Cathedral, officiating, at a temporary altar in a bower of white flowers, the bridal party passing to it through a ribboned aisle.

The bride, in white satin trimmed with old rose point, and a tulle veil, carried lilies and was attended as matron of honor by Mrs. Philip Watson, her sister, and the other attendants were the Misses Katherine Pomeroy, another sister, Annette Washburne, and Mrs. John Coleman, the former a sister and the latter a cousin of the bridegroom. The little Misses Katherine and Louise A. Weston, nieces of the bride, were the flower girls.

Mr. Washburne's brother, Hempstead Washburne, Jr., was his best man, and there were no ushers. The small reception was followed by a dinner.

Wed to A. Griswold Herreshoff.

A. Griswold Herreshoff, a son of Nathaniel G. Herreshoff, one of the famous Herreshoff brothers, builders of the America cup winning yachts, and Miss Henrietta F. Haines, a daughter of E. H. Haines of this city, were married at 8 o'clock last evening at the residence of the bride's aunt, Miss Mary Hettrick, 420 Riverside Drive. The ceremony was performed in the presence of the families by the Rev. A. Edwin Keigwin, pastor of the West End Presbyterian Church.

The bride was in a white charmeuse gown trimmed with the old lace worn by her mother at her wedding, a tulle veil held with orange blossoms, and carried white orchids. She was attended by Mrs. Robert Armstrong of Walley, Manchester, England, as matron of honor, and Mr. Herreshoff had his brother, Clarence Herreshoff, as his best man. After their honeymoon trip Mr. and Mrs. Herreshoff will live at 315 West Ninety-fourth Street.

Miss Lewis Weds Lieut. Green.

The wedding of Lieutenant J. B. Green, U. S. M. R., a son of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Green of Waterbury, Conn., and Miss Agnes Lewis, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Lewis of 780 West End Avenue, was celebrated last evening at their residence, in a bower of white spring flowers, by the Rev. Dr. Aaron Eiseman in the presence of the families, and was followed by a dinner for them. The bride, in white satin and Duchess lace and carrying lilies of the valley, was attended by her sister, Miss Grace Lewis. Lieutenant Green's brother, Harold Green, was his best man. There were no other attendants. Lieutenant Green will take his bride to Atlanta, Ga., where he is stationed.

H. J. Goodwin Marries Miss Kelly.

Herbert John Goodwin, a son of Frank J. Goodwin of this city, and Miss Margaret A. Kelly, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Kelly of Ogdensburg, N. Y., were married yesterday in St. Mary's Cathedral, Ogdensburg, by Bishop Conroy. Miss Ruth Kelly attended the bride and Elmer C. Goodwin was the best man. Edmund Kelly of Buffalo, and Bartholomew McDermott of Brooklyn, were the ushers.

Wm. W. Brown Marries Mrs. Shimer.

William W. Brown, on the business staff of THE NEW YORK TIMES CURRENT HISTORY MAGAZINE, and Mrs. Bertha Shimer of South Orange, N. J., were married yesterday at the residence of the Rev. Dr. Merle S. Wright, 490 Riverside Drive. Henry Brill gave the bride in marriage. A luncheon and reception followed at the Hotel Astor.

Powell—Schiffer.

William Douglas Powell, formerly of the Cincinnati Music College and now of this city, and Miss Nettie Schiffer, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schiffer, were married yesterday at the bride's home, 44 West 77th Street, by Justice Ottinger of the Supreme Court. There were no attendants.

Bride of Major Giles B. Cook.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The marriage of Miss Olive Smith, daughter of the Rev. Dr. C. Ernest Smith, rector of St. Thomas's Church, to Major Giles B. Cook, Medical Corps, U. S. A., took place this evening at St. Thomas's Church. The father of the bride officiated.

The bridal party included Mrs. Roger Berry and Miss Barbara Smith, sisters of the bride; Miss Maxwell Church, Miss Olga Pilson, Miss Dorothy Copenhaver, Miss Merle Moyers, and Miss Elizabeth Rosenbaum. The bride was escorted by Dr. W. Sinclair Bowen. Lieutenant Woodward Cook, U. S. N., was best man for his brother. The ushers were Lieutenant J. M. Emmett, U. S. M. C.; Dr. Bright of Richmond, Dr. William J. Mallory, Dr. Charles Potter, and Dr. Beale of this city.

WED TO LORD ALASTAIR.

Mrs. Helene D. Leishman's Second Marriage in Paris a Surprise.

Word has been received here telling of the marriage yesterday in Paris of Mrs. Helene Demarest Leishman and Lord Alastair Leveson-Gower, son of the Duchess of Sutherland, who was married in the Autumn of 1914 to Major Percy Desmond FitzGerald.

The bride's former husband was John G. A. Leishman, Jr., son of the former Ambassador to Germany, and her second marriage will come as a surprise to her friends on this side, as there had been no announcement of her divorce. Her engagement to Mr. Leishman was announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Warren G. Demarest, in the Summer of 1911, while they were at their villa on Lake Como, Italy. At this time Mr. Leishman's father was Ambassador to Italy. Their marriage took place in Milan several months later. About five years ago Mr. Leishman's sister married the Duke of Croy.

Lord Alastair, who is 28 years old, accompanied his father, the late Duke of Sutherland, who died in 1913, to this country six years ago. He is a Lieutenant in the Royal Horse Guards, and has served with distinction in the war, winning the Military Cross. His mother, who is a half-sister of the Countess of Warwick, has devoted herself to Red Cross work in Belgium and France since the beginning of the war, and her daughter-in-law is to assist at her hospital at Boulogne-sur-mer.

MISS MARKOE BETROTHED.

Daughter of Dr. J. W. Markoe to Wed Lieut. Wm. J. Schieffelin, Jr.

Dr. and Mrs. James W. Markoe of 12 West Fifty-fifth Street announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Annette Markoe, to Lieutenant William Jay Schieffelin, Jr.

Miss Markoe has recently devoted her time almost entirely to war work. Lieutenant Schieffelin is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. William Jay Schieffelin of 2 East Sixty-sixth Street. He is a graduate of Yale, class of 1914, and obtained his commission at the Plattsburg training camp. His sister, Miss Margaret Schieffelin, was married to Frederick H. Osborn, whose brother, William H. Osborn, was recently wounded in France. Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Sr., is his great-aunt.

There are no plans for the wedding, but it will probably take place shortly.

Miss Zeamans to Wed Lieut. Wolf.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Zeamans of 98 Morningside Avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Rosalie Zeamans, to Lieutenant Charles Wolf of the Medical Reserve Corps. Dr. Wolf is a graduate of Cornell and has been connected with the Vanderbilt Hospital. He is at present at the Walter Reed General Hospital at Washington. Miss Zeamans has directed the music at Temple Emanu-El for several years. The wedding will take place in June.

Apprentices School Dinner.

The School for Printers Apprentices held a dinner last night at the City Club, 55 West Forty-fourth Street, at which Paul Kellogg, editor of The Survey, who has returned recently from an investigation of labor conditions in England as affected by the war, delivered a short address on the trade situation in that country. Mr. Kellogg's address was followed by informal discussion of the work of the school and the election of officers.

These officers were elected: Charles Scribner, President; F. C. Stevens of the Federal Printing Company, Treasurer; William Green of the William Green Company, Secretary. Directors: Louis Wiley, Ernest Lilienthal of the Art Color Printing Company, Charles Francis of the Charles Francis Press, and Nathan Goldmann of the Isaac Goldmann Company.

Mrs. Gould Entertains 400 Nurses.

Four hundred nurses en route to France were entertained at tea yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. George J. Gould, 857 Fifth Avenue. Mrs. Gould, as Chairman of the Entertainment Committee, acted as hostess for the Mayor's Committee of Women on National Defense, which arranged the affair. She was assisted by the members of the committee, including Mrs. W. A. Hamilton, Mrs. Edward N. Breitung, Mrs. Hermann Oelrichs, Mrs. Julian M. Gerard, Mrs. Frederick Y. Dalziel, Miss Dorothy Donnelly, Mrs. Allen G. Wellman, and Mrs. Abell Armstrong. Burr McIntosh spoke.

New Trial for Mrs. Archer-Gilligan.

HARTFORD, Conn., April 30.—Mrs. Amy E. Archer-Gilligan of Windsor, under sentence of death for murder, has won her appeal for a new trial. Mrs. Gilligan was convicted in July, 1917, of the murder of Franklin R. Andrews at the Archer Home for the Aged, in Windsor, May 30, 1914. Judge Gardiner Greene sentenced her to be hanged.

ST. MICHAEL'S GETS $1,000,000 BY WILL

Margaret E. Zimmerman Leaves Nearly as Much More to Other Churches and Charities.

$25,000 LEFT TO A NIECE

Other Relatives, Estranged by Litigation, Not Mentioned—Contest May Follow.

A gift of the residuary estate estimated at more than $1,000,000 and $50,000 in cash is left to St. Michael's Protestant Episcopal Church, Ninety-ninth Street and Amsterdam Avenue, of which the Rev. Dr. John P. Peters is rector, in the will of Mrs. Margaret E. Zimmerman, who died at 400 Park Avenue on March 16 last. In addition to this gift, one of the largest ever made to a church organization, Mrs. Zimmerman leaves nearly $1,000,000 more to religious and charitable societies, the greater part of which goes to Protestant Episcopal organizations.

Mrs. Zimmerman, who was the widow of John E. Zimmerman, was the last of three daughters of William Ponsonby Furniss, known as the "West Indian merchant prince," who accumulated a fortune of about $1,000,000 with sailing vessels trading in the West Indies out of Portsmouth, N. H. Before his death in 1871, Mr. Furniss had invested the greater part of his money in more than 200 vacant lots in the Riverside Drive section on the upper west side, then known as Bloomingdale. Mr. Furniss foresaw the upbuilding of that section of the city, and in his will sought to provide for the retention of all this property by his three sons and three daughters. He created a number of trust funds, but one of the sons insisted on a partition of the estate, and as a result the realty was largely disposed of at bargain prices many years ago. His widow and three sons died many years ago, and the bulk of the estate then became the property of two unmarried daughters, Sophia and Clementina Furniss, and Mrs. Zimmerman, who were made trustees of the funds created. Clementina and Sophia Furniss died within the last few years and left their share of the estate to Mrs. Zimmermann, who had long been an invalid, and was 86 years old when she died.

Long Fight Over Trust Funds.

Because one of the trust funds was to go eventually to the heirs of the sons of William Ponsonby Furniss, the trust funds have all been the subject of litigation for ten years or more. The three sisters contended that they alone were interested, and declined to give an accounting of the trust, but the Furniss heirs, including Grace Livingston Furniss, playwright, a niece, and William Ponsonby Furniss, 2d, a nephew of the three sisters, forced an accounting in December, 1916. A referee who took the accounting ruled that the sisters had made investments that were not authorized for trust funds under the law, and charged $408,707 against Miss Sophia Furniss and $257,838 against Mrs. Zimmerman.

The litigation embittered Mrs. Zimmerman against her relatives, with the result that the Furniss relatives are not mentioned. Mrs. Zimmerman also declined to execute power of appointment of a trust fund for their benefit, but under the law it is expected they will receive the principal of this fund anyhow. It is understood that a contest of the will is to be filed by the Furniss heirs. Mrs. Zimmerman's only gift to a relative was $25,000 to Anna E. I. von Hemert, a niece of her husband.

Mrs. Zimmerman gave $30,000 each to her attorneys, Henry de Forest Baldwin and Lucius H. Beers, and to her real estate broker, Warren Cruikshank, "in consideration of valuable advice on investments," and named them executors. The only other gift to an individual was one of $10,000 to Margaret Damrosch of 146 East Sixty-first Street, the home of Walter Damrosch. Mr. Damrosch had heard nothing of the bequest until told of it by THE TIMES last night, and said he was not certain whether the bequest was intended for his wife, who was the daughter of the late James G. Blaine, or for his daughter, Margaret. Mrs. Damrosch and Mrs. Zimmerman were close friends for years, Mr. Damrosch said, and it was probably meant for her, although he said Mrs. Zimmerman had spoken of leaving a memento to his daughter Margaret because of her name, and thought perhaps the $10,000 was the memento. Mr. Damrosch said that the bequest when received would be invested in Liberty bonds in any event.

Big Gift to Haverstraw Society.

The largest gift other than that to St. Michael's was $200,000 in cash and sixty-six acres of land at Haverstraw on which is situated a chapel to the Diocesan Mission and Church Extension Society of the Protestant Episcopal Church. She asks that the fund be invested to maintain the chapel and to continue missionary work in the name of her husband for the benefit and improvement of the people in the district. The Cathedral of St. John the Divine received $140,000, which Mrs. Zimmerman suggests be used to maintain a school for girls. The New York Nursery and Child's Hospital gets $200,000 in memory of the decedent's father, and $100,000 goes to the Sheltering Arms Society for the maintenance of a chapel in memory of Sophia Furniss.

Bequests of $50,000 each are left to the Society for the Relief of the Destitute Children of Seamen and the General Memorial Hospital, and $53,000 is left to the Society for Promoting the Gospel Among Seamen, while $25,000 goes to the Church Temperance Society. The Protestant Episcopal Church fund for the widows and orphans of deceased clergymen gets $35,000.

The following receive $10,000 each: Seamen's Church Institute, American Church Institute for Negroes, Shelter for Respectable Girls, Church Mission of Help, House of Rest for Consumptives, Children's Society, and National Child Labor Committee. Bequests of $5,000 each are left to the following: National Indian Association, Children's Aid Society, St. John's Guild, Prison Association of New York, and New York Association for the Blind.

Although Mrs. Zimmerman was a member of St. Michael's Protestant Episcopal Church and was buried from there, her intention to leave the bulk of her fortune to aid the work of the church was not known to the rector or his associates. The Rev. Dr. Peters left yesterday afternoon for Philadelphia before the will was filed, and in his absence no idea of the use to be made of the gift could be obtained. The Rev. Thomas McCandless, assistant rector, who got his first news of the bequest from THE TIMES, said that the money "would not be wasted."

St. Michael's Church, which is now 111 years old, has been noted for many years for the great amount of community work done in the parish, just as the present rector, and before him his father, the late Dr. Thomas M. Peters, have been recognized as leaders in civic interest and Christian enterprise, especially along the lines of the free church system. Many organizations for the benefit of the people of the neighborhood have been formed there, and it is expected that the energies of the church along these lines will be broadened by means of Mrs. Zimmerman's generous gift.

The will of Mrs. Zimmerman left her valuable paintings, laces, and works of art to the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

H. T. Carey Left Many Bequests.

RIVERHEAD, L. I., April 30.—Disposing of an estate of many thousands of dollars, the will of Henry T. Carey, special partner in the brokerage firm of H. T. Carey & Co. of Manhattan, was filed for probate in the Surrogate's Court of Suffolk County today. The will gave $5,000 each to the House of the Holy Comforter, Home for Incurables, Manhattan, and to the Children's Aid Society of Manhattan. The residuary estate is left to Frederick Foster Carey, a nephew, of 51 East Thirtieth Street, Manhattan, and a niece, Marion Dinsmore, of 151 Madison Avenue, Manhattan. A sister, Mary De Peyster Carey, 520 Park Avenue, receives $35,000; Mrs. Laura Silliman Carey, a sister-in-law, the income from $75,000 during her lifetime. Other bequests are: Mrs. Adelaide Hudson, 38 West Seventy-first Street, jewelry, furniture, &c.; John C. O'Connor, 24 East Thirty-third Street, library and all books; Leo Wilson, chauffeur, 74 West Sixty-eighth Street, $5,000; Gertrude Waldron, 543 Halsey Street, Brooklyn, daughter of a deceased friend, $10,000; Samuel F. Streit, partner, $15,000; Frederick P. Hudson, 38 West Seventy-first Street, the income from $25,000 during his lifetime; Della V. Renihan, 261 West Twenty-seventh Street, nurse, $2,000; Franklyn A. Griffith, 60 Broadway, clerk in the Carey firm, $2,000.

Richard Mortimer's Will Filed.

The will of Richard Mortimer, late of Tuxedo Park, who died suddenly in March in the State of Florida, was filed at Goshen, N. Y., yesterday. The entire estate is left to his widow, Eleanor Jay Mortimer.

CAPITAL AND LABOR UNITED BY PATRIOTISM

May Day Finds War Work Unhindered by Any Strike of Consequence.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—May Day will find the nation's war work going forward without hindrance by a single industrial strike of consequence. The only threatened demonstration—that on the Pacific Coast as a protest of labor against the conviction of Thomas J. Mooney—apparently will not materialize as the result of appeals to the workers by union officials and Mooney himself.

Intensive efforts of the Government, aided by the powerful lever of public opinion, have served to bring labor and capital together to such a degree that there is not a serious tieup anywhere in the country, officials of the Department of Labor said tonight. Labor disputes still exist, but in such cases the workers are remaining at their tasks pending an adjustment of differences with their employers.

"The marked diminution of strikes and industrial unrest assures the Government of the maximum assistance of labor in the great war effort," declared Louis Post, Assistant Secretary of Labor. "The industrial situation has improved considerably in the last year, and there is every indication of a continuation of favorable conditions."

Satisfaction with the efforts of the Government to settle industrial disputes was expressed by Frank Morrison, Secretary of the American Federation of Labor. "During the present year," he said, "there have been 60 per cent. fewer strikes than at corresponding periods last year. Big strikes have been eliminated. Some unrest still is found, but chiefly among unorganized workers."

165,000 LUTHERANS IN WAR.

Atlantic District Convention Affirms Loyalty of the Church.

Resolutions affirming the loyalty of the Lutherans in America to the ideals of this country were unanimously adopted yesterday at the annual synod of the Lutheran Church of this district. The resolutions declare that there is no more democratic institution in the world than the Lutheran Church, and add that the democratic principles were worked out in America and not in Germany. The resolutions, in part, follow:

From various quarters of the country the loyalty of American Lutherans has been questioned. They have been charged with spreading German propaganda, and particularly with making their schools subservient to the cause of German autocracy and militarism. We, the Atlantic District of the Missouri Synod, assembled in annual convention in the City of New York, most emphatically repudiate such accusations as coming either from ignorance or from malice. We deplore the fact that at this time, when more than at any other time our nation must stand one and undivided, a large number of our citizens who have ever loyally followed our flag, and many of whom are today sacrificing their lives for the cause of liberty, should be made the target of such unwarranted attacks. There are in the service of our country today more than 165,000 Lutheran men. We call attention to the following facts:

First—We are today fighting for democracy. The democratic principles of the Protestant Reformation, as enunciated by Luther, were never worked out in Germany, but came to their highest fruition in this land of the free.

Second—Because they were not granted that liberty of conscience and of worship which is so fundamental to the principles of Lutheranism, large numbers of Lutherans came to our country, to enjoy here what they were denied in the land of their fathers. No assistance or guidance has ever come to the American Lutheran Church from the Hohenzollerns, who have not been Lutherans since 1614, or from any sources in Germany.

Third—The parish schools of the Lutheran churches in our country have been established and maintained solely for the purpose of giving the children of the Church a Christian training, and not for the purpose of propagating any foreign language in the interest of any foreign country or its rulers.

As the history of our country testifies to the loyalty of American Lutherans in the past, so also the present crisis finds them in the front ranks to uphold, and, if needs be, to sacrifice their life and limb—their all—for the country which they love.

The synod will end after today's sessions.

ANNA HELD SERIOUSLY ILL.

Actress's Condition Attributed to Her Arduous War Work.

Anna Held is still seriously ill at the Hotel Savoy, her physician, Dr. Donald McCaskey, said last night, although a slight improvement is noticeable in her condition. Miss Held now weighs only 84 pounds, he said, whereas before her illness her weight remained around 115 pounds. Members of Miss Held's company, which closed its road tour several weeks ago, said yesterday that the star's illness was due to exhaustion and exposure in war work.

Archbishop Ireland Improved.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 30.—The condition of the Most Rev. John Ireland, Roman Catholic Archbishop of St. Paul, again was announced "as improved" today. The physicians said they were beginning to hope the Archbishop might recover.

SENATOR GATTI-CASAZZA.

Father of Manager of Metropolitan Opera Dies.

BOLOGNA, Italy, April 30.—Senator Stefano Gatti-Casazza, father of Giulio Gatti-Casazza, general manager of the Metropolitan Opera House in New York, died today at Ferrara.

Stefano Gatti-Casazza was born in 1840 in Mantua while it still was under Austrian domination. When 19 years old he ran away and joined the Piedmontese campaign of 1859 against the Austrians, subjecting his father, a prosperous business man, to a heavy indemnity. In 1860 he became one of Garibaldi's famous "Thousand" volunteers who sailed from Genoa and, after capturing Sicily, crossed to the mainland and took Naples, which Garibaldi turned over to Victor Emmanuel. During the campaign Stefano Gatti-Casazza received the award of several medals for bravery, winning the rank of Lieutenant of Cavalry. Enrolled in the regular army, he made the campaign against the brigands whom the Bourbons sought to provoke into insurrection, and later proved his valor in the campaign of 1866 against the Austrians.

Retiring to private life, he was twice elected Mayor of Ferrara, and was for ten years President of the Provincial Deputies and five years President of the Provincial Council. After serving several terms as Deputy in Parliament for Ferrara, he was made Senator in 1912. He belonged to the Democratic-Monarchical Party.

When the present war began, in spite of his 75 years, he asked to be restored to the military service with his rank of Colonel of Cavalry.

CHARLES BLANDY DIES AT 70

Assistant Corporation Counsel in Three Administrations.

Charles Blandy, former Assistant Corporation Counsel of New York City, and many years a practicing lawyer here, died on Monday at his home, 143 West 121st Street, in his seventy-first year. Mr. Blandy had been Assistant Corporation Counsel in three administrations, and at the time of his death was a member of the law firm of Blandy, Mooney & Shipman. He had been designated as a member of one of the local exemption boards, but had been prevented from actively engaging in this work through ill-health. Mayor Hylan had appointed him a member of the Mayor's Committee on National Defense.

Mr. Blandy was born in Ireland Aug. 18, 1847. He was educated in Ireland, and later was graduated from Owen's College, Manchester, England. After graduation he came to America, and was admitted to the bar in this city in 1872. Ten years later William C. Whitney, then Corporation Counsel, appointed him an assistant, and he continued in that office until 1885, when he resumed his law practice. In 1890 Corporation Counsel William H. Clark appointed Mr. Blandy an assistant. He took up his practice again in 1895, and in 1898 again became Assistant Corporation Counsel under John Whelan.

URUGUAYAN MINISTER DEAD.

Dr. C. M. de Pena, Lawyer, Had Held Cabinet Offices at Home.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Dr. Carlos Maria de Pena, Minister from Uruguay, died in a hospital here today. Dr. de Pena was taken ill the day before the funeral of the Chilean Ambassador, Don Santiago Aldunate, April 22, and his condition since then had been considered hopeless. Dr. de Pena had been in this country as Minister since May 31, 1911.

Dr. de Pena was born in 1852 and had held several Cabinet positions in his native country. He was one of the most noted lawyers of Uruguay. In 1889 and 1890 he was Mayor of Montevideo and later was Secretary of the Treasury of Uruguay and Minister of Public Works, Industry, and Instruction.

HOTEL BELLECLAIRE NEW YORK
Broadway at 77th St.
Surface Cars at Door
Subway at 79th St.
Only a few minutes from the Shopping and Theatrical District.

Hall Adams, a guest of the Belleclaire for several years, has been trying to get into the war ever since it started. He is beyond the draft age. He has health, wealth, a secure position, a host of friends—but he is willing to give up all to serve his country. He has said for a year: "I must get into this thing somehow; I must do my part; I want to share in the glory of licking the Huns."

He went to the Plattsburg training quarters last year, but met with a serious accident which incapacitated him. He returned to the Belleclaire broken in body, but not in spirit. He said he would get in physical condition in the course of a few months. He did.

Last week he got his chance. He was accepted as a private in the ranks. Happy? You never saw a happier man in all your life. He was like a school boy.

His friends living at the Belleclaire gave him a farewell party the other night. It was a wonderful party—one of those family affairs that are so characteristic of the Belleclaire. Belleclaire guests—members of one big family—have the habit of getting together and passing out to one another good will and good cheer.

Mr. Adams has been a great favorite with all of us. It is hard to let him go, so at the party a great deal of sentiment developed, but he shut it off by saying "This is a time in my life when I want everybody to rejoice with me. Nothing could possibly give me greater joy than to be permitted to get into this fight; I want you to laugh and be merry."

He is leaving us today, Wednesday, with good luck wishes by the hundreds following him.

I pass this story along to you for two reasons: (1) to get into your minds the patriotic spirit which has aroused all of us, and (2) the goodwill that exists among the Belleclaire guests.

ROBERT D. BLACKMAN, Proprietor.

SLIM LOVE HOLDS MACKMEN SCORELESS WHILE YANKEES GATHER TWO TALLIES

DUEL OF SOUTHPAWS VICTORY FOR LOVE

Towering Yankee Pitcher Has Better of Mound Argument with Gregg of Athletics.

MACKMEN ARE SHUT OUT

Visitors Helpless at Bat, While Miller Again Inserts Timely Blow to Decide Game.

Several yards of pitching talent indulged in a seething flinging duel at the Polo Grounds yesterday, when Vean Gregg of Connie Mack's remade Athletics and Slim Love, the bamboo pole of the Yank moundmen, opposed each other and Slim came out on top, by a score of 2 to 0. Gregg's rejuvenation is one of the surprises of the season, for it was generally supposed that Vean was about at the end of his pitching career some time ago.

Gregg pitched every bit as well as Love and the break came when George Burns, the Athletic first baseman made an error in the fifth inning which paved the way for the Yankees' first run. Up to that time, both of the long lean pitchers were bending their southpaw slants over at such difficult angles that the hits were as scarce as straw hats in Iceland. The small gathering of spectators sat back in their seats and expected to see the game take advantage of the daylight saving hour.

Both pitchers were shooting over a cross-fire whizzer which was landing in thickly populated parts of the diamond when the ball bounded from the bats. There was neat, snappy fielding behind both pitchers and perhaps if Burns hadn't made a foolish muff, many of the Polo Grounds inmates would have had a cold dinner last night.

Up to the fifth the Yanks had made only two hits off Gregg and Pipp the first man up in the fifth, laid down a bunt when he discovered that it was quite useless to try to dent Gregg's twisters with a hard swing. Gregg fielded the bunt neatly and made a perfect toss to Burns, who made an atrocious muff. Following this lifesaver, Ping Bodie laid down a sacrifice and Pipp perched at second. Elmer Miller, who has already made the fans forget that he used to miss them under the Donovan régime soaked a single to right field, which pushed Pipp home. Miller's timely batting also won Saturday's game for the Yanks. That one little muff spelled the downfall of Gregg, for the next two men up were easy outs. Gregg continued to pitch great ball until he was taken out to give Rube Oldring a chance to come forth as a pinch hitter. Rube has sacrificed a great career as a New Jersey farmer to return to the Athletics, but his experience with the pitchfork seems to have affected his batting, for yesterday after Dugan had doubled and McAvoy had walked Rube had the chance of a lifetime to clean up. He accepted the opportunity by hitting into a double play.

Myers succeeded Gregg in the eighth and he was wild as a hawk. He walked Hannah for a starter and Love forced the big catcher. Gilhooley got a pass and Peck singled filling the bases. Love counted while Baker was being thrown out at first. Pratt walked and filled the bases again, but Myers buckled down and retired the side without any more scoring.

Slim Love delivered one of the pitching gems of the season. Of the three hits credited to the Athletics, two were scratchy and lucky. Only one bang was worthy of the name, a two-base crack over Ping Bodie's head in the eighth inning. That one rap was the only one which at all disturbed Love.

Behind Love, the Yanks fielded perfectly and the game was the most business-like performance the Yanks have shown this season. Two double plays were hatched just at proper moments, and the Yanks seemed encouraged over the fact that they can figure on some real pitching at last.

RUTH TOYS WITH SENATORS.

Holds Them to Five Hits and Boston Wins, 8 to 1.

BOSTON, April 30.—Ruth had little trouble in disposing of Washington today, Boston winning by 8 to 1. Harper and Yingling were wild, and the latter was hit freely in the fourth. Washington made only five hits off Ruth. In the eighth, Morgan's single and Pinch-hitter Ed Garrity's double, brought in the visitor's only run.

MAY BLOCK SUNDAY GAMES.

Hudson County Sheriff to be Asked to Stop Harrison Park Contests.

A protest against the playing of Sunday baseball games at Harrison Park between big league teams has engendered the wrath of the Jersey City club of the International League, which alleges that it will be an infringement of territorial rights. A wire to this effect was sent to Ban Johnson, President of the American League, last night. It is threatened that if the big leagues endeavor to carry out a program of games at Harrison that the Sheriff of Hudson County will be asked to interfere.

SMITH HELPS ROBINS WIN.

Dodgers Profit by His Errors and Beat Braves, 5 to 3.

Red Smith proved to be Brooklyn's winning card in the first clash with the Boston Braves at Ebbets Field yesterday. If it hadn't been for this auburn-haired third baseman who draws a salary from the Boston team, the pitching of Jack Coombs and the sterling play of several other members of the Robins might have been in vain. Smith is a disciple of the belief that it is politic to bunch errors in the same way that it is usually argued hits should be bunched. Smith may think otherwise today, after having had a heart-to-heart talk with George Stallings, but, however that may be, Smith assisted Brooklyn materially in winning yesterday's game. The Robins thereby gained company in the cold and dismal cellar position of the National League, Boston and Brooklyn being tied for the honors.

Smith's errors came in the sixth and seventh innings, two in the former inning to be exact, and as they started off the session they were responsible for the two runs that Brooklyn scored and which proved to be the winning tallies. These three errors were errors of commission. There was another of omission, but it doesn't show in the chart. In the fourth inning Smith doffed his hat to a Brooklyn hit which was later turned into a run.

Arthur Nehf was batted freely on occasions. The Robins collected eleven safe shots while Iron Man Jack Coombs was holding the Braves to five. If one P. Haughton hadn't come to terms with Charlie Herzog there wouldn't have been much hitting from Boston's point of view. Charles pounded out two triples which were chiefly instrumental in scoring the three Boston tallies.

INDIANS' PITCHERS WEAKEN.

White Sox Pile Up Many Runs in Defeating Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, April 30.—Chicago kept up its hard hitting today and, aided by loose playing by Cleveland, won, 13 to to 3. Of the pitchers used by Cleveland only Enzmann was effective.

Gandil, who made three hits in three times at bat yesterday, made it seven hits in seven consecutive times at bat by making a double and three singles in his first four times up today.

PHILS FALL BEFORE ASSAULT OF GIANTS

McGraw's Men Make Merry at Expense of Quakers, Amassing Score of 15 to 0.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, April 30.—The Phillies crumbled and fell before the Giant attack today, and McGraw's men battered their way to a 15 to 0 victory in the second game of the series. The Phils were dazed by the pitching of Jess Barnes and so badly shaken by the Giants' fierce assault on three of their boxmen that they furnished no opposition at all.

When the game had deteriorated into a romp, McGraw withdrew most of his regulars and the Giants finished with second-string men in the box, behind the bat, at second base, and in the outfield. Still the Phillies were unable to score a solitary run.

As is their custom, the Giants hopped on the Phillies in the opening inning. Young led off with a high bounder through the box that was good for a single, and Kauff sent him to third with a double that bounced off the right field wall. Burns was out to Bancroft, but Young scored on the play and Zimmerman's single to right chased Kauff over. Another run was manufactured in the third, out of a base on balls to Kauff, Burns's infield out, and Zimmerman's single to right.

The Phillies suffered a mental collapse in the fourth, enabling the Giants to register another tally. Rariden singled to centre and Barnes sacrificed. Young singled to left, advancing Rariden to third. Kauff hit to Bancroft, who threw to the plate, and Rariden halted. Young rounded second and dashed for third, and Stock attempted to tag Young. Taking advantage in the change of tactics, Rariden dashed over the plate.

The Giants ran their total up to 15 in the seventh inning on Zim's single and force at second by Rodrigues, an error by McGaffigan, Fletcher's single, errors by Watson and Dilhoefer, and a single by Rariden.

Barnes pitched gilt-edged ball for seven innings, at the end of which McGraw took him out and assigned Cecil Causey to the job. Causey also was an enigma to the Philadelphia batters.

CARDS' RALLY FALLS SHORT.

St. Louis Makes Three Runs in Ninth, but Loses to Reds.

CINCINNATI, April 30.—St. Louis made a determined rush in the ninth inning today, but fell one run short of overcoming the lead which Cincinnati had acquired off Packard. The visitors outhit the locals nearly two to one, but the latter made every one of their seven drives count in the scoring.

Cincinnati won the game in the sixth, on two passes, Chase's three-bagger to the right field fence, and Blackburne's hit.

BROOKLYN SIGNS WHEAT.

Dodgers Meet Salary Demands of Veteran Outfielder.

It was announced yesterday that Zack Wheat and the Brooklyn Baseball Club had come to terms and that the outfielder would soon don a Dodger uniform. Early in the season, when it was proposed to cut the salaries of major league ball players, Wheat was scheduled to suffer with the rest. That is, the Brooklyn Club decided that way. Wheat thereupon announced that he would retire from baseball, even though the cut in his case was less than $500.

All efforts to pry Wheat loose from his stock farm at Polo, Mo., were in vain until the Brooklyn Club agreed to the demands of the outfielder.

Red Sox Sign Frank Truesdale.

BOSTON, April 30.—The Boston American League Baseball Club announced today that it had signed Frank Truesdale, an infielder formerly with the Toronto Club of the International League. Truesdale is now at Santa Rita, N. M., and will join the club in New York next week.

NEW LEAGUE SEEKS RIGHTS.

Farrell Declares International Has Settled All Obligations.

It was announced last night by John H. Farrell, President of the new International League, that the organization, having cleared up all its debts, among them a claim of $5,000 in favor of the Brooklyn Club of the National League, was entering the field with clean hands. Then, as Secretary of the National Association of Minor Leagues, Mr. Farrell proceeded to give territorial protection to the new league, which, he said, was entitled to such on the strength of its having paid its debts. Having gone through this formality, Mr. Farrell wired to August Herrmann, Chairman of the National Commission, that the new International had been taken under the protecting arm of the National Association.

Mr. Farrell's statement as Secretary of the latter organization was in part as follows:

"The National agreement provides that no games shall be played within five miles of protected territory without the consent of the club occupying the territory. When the Bronx promoters applied for a franchise we respectfully declined to violate baseball law. These men were notified that they must first secure the consent of the two New York clubs before we could consider granting them territorial rights in the Bronx. We respected and protected the rights of the New York clubs.

"As Secretary of the National Association, I have steadfastly declined to grant protection to the new International League until the three adjudged liens filed against that territory had been paid in full. These claims embraced $1,900 salary arrearage claims of the Buffalo players, a $5,000 lien against the Newark territory granted by the commission in favor of the Brooklyn Club, and $3,000 due the National Commission by the old International League.

"The Buffalo claims originated in a stockholders' muddle of the Buffalo Club, which compelled legal proceedings to clarify the atmosphere. The Buffalo players claims of $1,900 have been paid in full.

"The Brooklyn Club's claim of $5,000 was paid in full today, and I have mailed a check for $3,000 to Chairman Herrmann for the amount due the commission.

"These three claims, aggregating $9,900, are the only claims ever filed against the territory. We have paid all three claims. Some of our club owners talked of persecution, maintaining among other things that the Brooklyn claim had been allowed to run along for a year and a half without any attempt at collection.

"The national agreement is a legal contract between the major and the minor leagues, or it is a scrap of paper. The new International League has respected the territorial rights of the major leagues, and we most confidently expect similar fair and square treatment."

JULE TAKES FINAL STAKE.

Helps Close Havre de Grace Meeting by Beating Startling.

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., April 30.—This was Getaway Day and, as is usually the case whenever the turfmen are preparing to flit to other fields, a number of well-played good things were victorious. The closing stake feature was the Chester Selling at six furlongs, and as in all the previous short-distance events at the meeting, a good field was attracted. It was a battle between J. W. Williams's Jule, carrying the feather of 86 pounds, and Richard F. Carman's Startling, which shouldered the top weight of 123 pounds.

The summaries:

FIRST RACE.—For 2-year-old maidens, purse $600, four and a half furlongs: Aunt Dinah, 112 pounds, (Lyke,) $12, $5.30, and $2.70, won; Jorice, 112, (Troise,) $3.50 and $2.30, second; Green Mint, 115, (Dominick,) $2.30, third. Time—0:54 3-5. Sea Pirate, Brisk, and Lady Vulcain also ran.

SECOND RACE.—For 3-year-olds and upward, claiming, purse $700, five and a half furlongs: Adele, 90 pounds, (Denys,) $10.30, $4.80, and $4.10, won; Murphy, 122, (Rice,) $5.40 and $4.20, second; Onico, 98, (Rodriguez,) $6, third. Time—1:07. Josefina Zarate, Meliora, Scarpia 2d, Paganini, May W, Corydon, Lofius, Langdan, and Ironcho Billy also ran.

THIRD RACE.—For 4-year-olds and upward, claiming, purse $600, six furlongs: El Mahdi, 110 pounds, (Kummer,) $8.20, $4.60, and $3.60, won; Miss Kruter, 110, (Dominick,) $4.50 and $3.30, second; Bert Williams, 110, (Mergler,) $4.50, third. Time—1:48 2-5. Noureddin, Bucknall, Curlicue, Flora Finch, Dan, Darkey, Veldt, and Hiker also ran.

SEVENTH RACE.—For 3-year-olds and upward, purse $600, mile and a sixteenth: Ben Hampson, 99 pounds, (Mergler,) $50.10, $13.20, and $10.60, won; Serenta, 101 pounds, (Kederis,) $5.80 and $3.20, second; Jessie C, 96, (Bullman,) $5.50, third. Time—1:48. Dundreary, Stalwart Helen, Say, Great Dolly, Prim Harry, Iolite, Mae Murray, Greetings, and Jack Lucas also ran.

STILL SEEK MATTY FOR DUTY IN FRANCE

Head of Y. M. C. A. War Work Council Goes to Cincinnati to See Baseball Leader.

Christy Mathewson, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, will decide whether he will go to France to take charge of the baseball activities among the American troops today at a conference with Dr. George J. Fisher of the Y. M. C. A. National War Work Council. Dr. Fisher had a conference with President Tener of the National League yesterday before he started for Cincinnati.

"I think Matty can be induced to accept the offer of the Y. M. C. A.," President Tener told Dr. Fisher, "and for the National League I may say that organized baseball appreciates the honor of the call from our soldiers in the trenches." President Tener promised to assist the Y. M. C. A. in every way possible in the association's problem of recruiting physical directors for the American forces.

Before he boarded the train yesterday Dr. Fisher expressed confidence that, in view of President Tener's support, he would be able to make Matty see that his duty lies overseas. He was able to convince President Tener that the call from the Y. M. C. A. was in reality a call from the Government, since the Government has intrusted to the Y. M. C. A. the task of providing recreation and keeping up the morale of the fighting men.

"We must train our army for the biggest fight in history," said Dr. Fisher, "as an athletic coach trains his squad for competition. General Pershing has realized that from the start. After seeing the results obtained with the American fighting forces President Poincaré and Premier Clemenceau of France and the military and civil authorities of Italy have requested the Y. M. C. A. to institute the same system among their troops.

"If there is one name in American sport that stands for clean sportsmanship and clean living, it is the name of Matty. Thousands of those boys in uniform overseas have sat in the bleachers and cheered him when he was in his prime as a pitcher for the Giants. They are 3,000 miles from home. Can any one doubt the enthusiasm with which they would receive the announcement that Matty was coming overseas to them, to be their athletic director and counsellor, to play checkers with them and to inspire them by the very magnetism of his personality?

"I hope to cable the news to them tomorrow night that Matty is coming."

CORNELL DOWNS COLUMBIA.

Rolls Up 9 to 1 Score in Game on South Field.

Cornell's baseball team easily defeated Columbia in the second game of a series of three, played yesterday afternoon on South Field. The score was 9 to 1, and had it not been for a homer by Clark, the Blue and White's first baseman, which came in the ninth inning, Rees would have registered a shutout for the Ithaca boys.

Rees allowed only four hits during the game, two of which came in the last inning. Dutch Koenig, on the other hand, who lasted eight sessions for Columbia, gave eleven hits. Farrell went to the mound for the Morningside boys in the ninth, but he forced in two runs when he hit two batsmen, and gave three passes.

The score:

COLUMBIA RUNNERS LOSE TITLE MEDALS

Athletes of Championship Relay Teams Declared Ineligible for A. A. U. Races.

Columbia University's two relay teams, which finished first and second in the national A. A. U. medley relay championship race last week, may be deprived of their medals at a special meeting of the Metropolitan Association Registration Committee, to be held tomorrow night. Announcement of the intended action was made yesterday by Fred A. Niles, Chairman of the Committee.

The eligibility of some members of the teams is the issue involved. A. A. U. authorities, it is said, discovered the violations before the race was run, but took no action. Investigation of the cases in question has developed that the charges can be substantiated by the records of the local A. A. U. office, according to Chairman Niles. The teams have been summoned to appear before the committee.

One of the Blue and White runners whose standing is questioned is Whettles, who ran second relay on the victorious team. It is alleged that he is now registered with the Metropolitan Association as a member of the University Settlement A. C., and, therefore, was ineligible to represent Columbia in the championship race. It would have been necessary for him, according to the rules, to have his registration transferred to the university. The other runner is Al Hulsenback, anchor runner on Columbia's second team, which finished second. It is charged that he competed on an expired registration card, and for this offense he is liable to indefinite suspension.

At the meeting the two teams will be ordered to return the championship medals and their race will be thrown out of the A. A. U. records. Chairman Niles declared that the teams would be suspended in any event, until they return the medals awarded them, and, if this return is not made promptly, it may affect the chances of the teams' competing in the annual intercollegiate track and field championships scheduled for May 31 and June 1 at Philadelphia, inasmuch as the I. C. A. A. A. A. upholds suspensions meted out by the A. A. U.

The disqualification of the Blue and White teams rearranges entirely the order of finish of the relay championship race. The team from the Jersey Harriers' A. A., which originally finished third, moves up automatically into first place and receives the championship medals. The Paulist A. C. team will receive second place medals and the Brooklyn A. A. quartet third place awards.

MOIST BALL IS BANNED.

Stringent Rules Adopted by American Association.

CHICAGO, April 30.—Rules prohibiting the "moist ball" and other freak deliveries in the American Association this season were thoroughly explained by Thomas J. Hickey, President of the association at a meeting here today of the club managers and staff of eight umpires.

Pitchers will not be allowed to place their hands to their mouth before delivering a ball, nor will they be permitted to use emery or any other foreign substance to aid their delivery. The umpires will be the sole judges of violations. Pitchers found guilty of breaking the rules will be fined $25 for the first offense and banished from the game for the second.

COLUMBIA VICTOR AT NET.

The Columbia tennis team defeated the Fordham University players on the Fordham courts yesterday afternoon, 6 to 0, making a clean sweep of the six matches in the dual tournament. All of the matches were captured in straight sets except the one in which Von Bermuth, the Columbia captain, opposed Matty Taylor, acting leader of the Maroon team. Taylor won the second set and forced the Columbia veteran to a fast exhibition to win the best match of the day.

In the doubles the Columbia players showed to greater advantage, the Fordham men winning only two games.

Elliot Benzen, the Fordham star, did not play.

PROTESTS JERSEY BOXING.

Vailsburg Association Objects to Bouts in Velodrome.

There will be no boxing under the new Hurley law covering New Jersey, at the Newark Velodrome, Vailsburg, N. J., this Summer, if the efforts of the Vailsburg Improvement Association meet with success. At the meeting of the New Jersey State Athletic Commission in the State House at Trenton yesterday this association protested against the proposed action of the Cycle Racing Association to hold bouts at the Velodrome.

The Cycle Racing Association has already taken initial steps toward securing permission to hold bouts by posting a bond of $10,000 with the New Jersey State Controller. No formal application for a license has been made, and, until it is made, the commission has decided there will be no action.

DEPOSITS BY BANKS TOTAL $2,828,000,000

Holdings of 543 National Banks in 101 Cities Announced by Controller.

SOURCE OF THE DEPOSITS

Southern Banks Carry Larger Balances in East and Northwest Than in the South.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The Controller of the Currency tonight gave out a statement showing where the nearly $3,000,000,000 which 543 national banks in 101 cities hold to the credit of other banks and trust companies comes from, based on an analysis, just completed, of balances carried by all the State banks, national banks and trust companies of the country in the national banks of all reserve cities and other cities in the United States having a population of 75,000 or more (and embracing 101 cities.)

It shows that the 543 national banks in these 101 cities held to the credit of other banks, national and State, and trust companies, on Dec. 31, 1917, a total of $2,828,000,000.

Of this sum, $146,000,000 had been deposited with these city national banks by banks and trust companies in the New England States; $729,000,000 by banks and trust companies in the Eastern States; $450,000,000 by banks and trust companies in the Southern States; $746,000,000 by those in the Middle Western States; $307,000,000 by banks in the Western States; $240,000,000 belonging to the banks of the Pacific States, and $201,000,000 was held for the credit of foreign banks and bankers and banks in Alaska.

The State banks and trust companies in the New England States distributed their $146,000,000 of balances as follows: $74,000,000 with the national banks in the cities in the Eastern States, $68,000,000 with the national banks in the New England cities, and $4,000,000 with banks in the Western cities.

Of the $729,000,000 deposited by banks and trust companies of the Eastern States with the national banks in these 101 cities, $687,000,000 was deposited with the national banks in the Eastern cities, and $42,000,000 in the New England, Western and Southern cities.

Southern banks carry larger balances with national banks in Eastern and Northwestern cities than in Southern cities. Of the $450,000,000 which the trust companies and banks in the Southern States had on deposit with the national banks in the 101 cities, only $214,000,000 was deposited with the national banks in the Southern cities, the greater portion of their balances being placed with outside banks, including $166,000,000 which they had on deposit in the Eastern cities, $72,000,000 in the Middle Western cities, and $7,000,000 in the New England and Western cities.

Of the $746,000,000 of bank balances which banks and trust companies of the Middle States carried with national banks of the 101 cities, $310,000,000 was deposited with national banks in cities of the Middle West, and less than half of that sum with national banks in other parts of the country, including $212,000,000 in Eastern cities.

Banks and trust companies in the Western States keep their national bank accounts principally in the cities of the Middle West. The State banks and trust companies of the Western States had, as above shown, deposit balances aggregating $307,000,000 with national banks, of which only $105,000,000 was with national banks in the Western cities, while they had to their credit in the cities of the Middle West $154,000,000 and $48,000,000 elsewhere, including $37,000,000 in the Eastern cities.

The State banks and trust companies of the Pacific States carried $240,000,000 on deposit with the national banks in all reserve cities and other cities of 75,000 or more, of which $143,000,000 was with the national banks in cities of the Pacific States, $55,000,000 in the Eastern cities, $31,000,000 in the Middle Western cities, $5,000,000 in the Western cities, and $2,000,000 in the New England cities.

Of the $200,000,000 which banks in foreign countries carried in national banks in the cities mentioned, $175,000,000 was held by the national banks in the Eastern cities, principally in New York City.

The money on deposit to the credit of the State and national banks and trust companies of the Southern States in the city national banks exceeded by several million dollars the total of such balances carried by all banks and trust companies of the New England States and Western States combined with the city national banks.

"It is significant," the statement says, "that the banks and trust companies of the Southern States had balances to their credit in national banks of the Eastern cities, principally in New York City, which amounted to practically as much as the aggregate of such bank balances held by the national banks of the Eastern cities to the credit of all banks and trust companies in the New England States, Western States, and the Pacific States combined.

"The huge amount which the national banks in the 101 cities hold for account of other banks and trust companies throughout the country is about $3,000,000,000—just the amount of the Third Liberty Loan—while the total assets of the national banks of the country are now over $18,000,000,000, or thirty-five times as much as these banks had invested as of March 4 in the bonds of the First and Second Liberty issues."

BUTTER AND EGG MARKET.

BUTTER.—Receipts yesterday, 10,210 packages. Demand is running a little ahead of the supply and the market is firmer, with an advance of about ½c on all useful grades of fresh creamery. Renovated a little steadier. Ladles slow. Packing stock in fair demand. Creamery, higher than extras, a pound, 46@46½c; extras, (92 score,) 45½c; firsts, (88 to 91 score,) 42½@45c; seconds, (83 to 87 score,) 40½@42c; thirds, 37@38c; creamery, unsalted, higher than extras, 48@48½c; extras, 47@47½c; firsts, 44½@46½c; seconds, 41@44c; State dairy, tubs, finest, 45@45½c; good to prime, 42½@44½c; common to fair, 36@42c; renovated, extras, 39@40c; firsts, 38@38½c; lower grades, 34@37c; imitation creamery, firsts, 35@36c; ladles, current make, firsts, 33½@34c; seconds, 32½c; lower grades, 31@32c; packing stock, current make, No. 1, 32½@33c; No. 2, 31½@32c; lower grades, 29@31c.

EGGS.—30,688 cases. Arrivals are more moderate and the market shows a generally steady tone. The demand is best for desirable qualities of Northern regular packings obtainable at about 36c, but only a moderate proportion of the current receipts of Western eggs shows quality to command that price, a good deal of the stock still selling at 35@35½c and Southern ungraded eggs at 33½@34½c; some graded lots from southerly sections command 35@35½c, rarely 36c for stock that is pretty close to storage packed firsts. Not much doing in storage packed eggs of the higher qualities, although the moderate trading reported is at sustained prices, and there are occasional cars of exceptionally fancy goods taken a shade above our quotation when the quality is extra fine. Dirties a little less firm. Checks moving a little better and high grades slightly firmer, but ordinary qualities offered at easy prices. Nearby white eggs in ample supply and outside quotation rather extreme. Fresh gathered extras, a dozen, 38@39½c; storage packed firsts, 36¾@37½c; regular packed extra firsts, 36½@37c; regular packed firsts, 35@36c; seconds and poorer, 33@34½c; fresh gathered dirties, No. 1, 33@33½c; No. 2 and poorer, 31@32½c; fresh gathered checks, good to choice, dry, 29@30½c; undergrades, 24@28c; State, Pennsylvania, and nearby Western hennery whites, fine to fancy, 41@42c; ordinary to prime, 38@40c; gathered whites, ordinary to fine, 37@40c; Western and Southern, gathered whites, 37@39c; State, Pennsylvania, and nearby hennery browns, 38@39c; gathered brown and mixed colors, 35@37c; duck eggs, 29@45c.

COMMODITIES MARKETS.

WHEAT.

The visible supply of wheat in Canada showed a decrease for the week of 4,641,000 bushels. This, together with the decrease in the United States visible, practically resulted in a loss of 50 per cent. of the American stock during the last week, and the total in both the United States and Canada is now only 15,003,000 bushels, compared with 63,921,000 a year ago. This brings the supply of wheat down very close to the vanishing point and emphasizes the necessity of very stringent economies during the balance of the present crop year.

RYE.

The local market was dull and nominal, while in Minneapolis prices were 1c higher at $2.71 and Duluth was up 2c at $2.70.

CORN.

The corn market was nervous and feverish throughout the day, with numerous price changes both ways. Early in the session there was an upturn of ⅜c in the July position on scattered buying, prompted by further complaints regarding the condition of seed corn and fears that the continued cool weather will delay planting operations. Subsequently a weaker tone developed on predictions of warmer weather, and final quotations were ⅛c to 1½c below the final of Monday. In the local cash market kiln-dried No. 3 yellow was quoted at $1.85; No. 4 yellow, $1.80; No. 3 white, $1.85, cost and freight New York.

OATS.

The oats market declined 1@2c a bushel from an early advance, and at the close was but unchanged to ⅛c lower. The reactionary tendency was due largely to a show of weakness in the cash position, where premiums declined about 2c per bushel. The local cash market was quiet; natural quoted at 89½@91½c; clipped white, 94@98c, all elevator.

PROVISIONS.

The market for hog products was very irregular and feverish. The May position in pork declined $1 a barrel during the liquidation, while the July position was fairly steady, and lard and ribs showed a slightly firmer tone. Operations were mostly of an evening-up character, while the undertone was barely steady, owing to a slow cash trade. Receipts of hogs at Chicago were 19,000; estimated for Wednesday 24,000. Kansas City received 11,000 and Omaha 14,000 hogs.

COFFEE.

The market for coffee futures was quiet yesterday, with fluctuations irregular. First prices were 2 to 4 points lower under scattering liquidation, but there was not much pressure, and a few buying orders caused moderate rallies, with the close net 3 points higher to 1 point lower. The local spot market continued quiet, with prices unchanged at 8⅝c for Rio 7s and 11c for Santos 4s. Range of prices:

SUGAR.

Statistically the sugar market continues to show improvement. The Cuban weekly statistics show a fair increase in exports, being 92,452 tons, compared with 91,077 tons a week ago. Most of the exports go to United States Atlantic ports and will doubtless allow the speeding up of refineries to their full capacity. The International Sugar Committee reported purchases for May shipment of 230,000 bags of Cubas at 4.985c. cost and freight, and the Shipping Board is making an effort to care for the shipment of all sales.

Bonds or Bondage

"I shall stand no nonsense from America after the war," the Kaiser told Gerard, our Ambassador to Berlin. And that was when our Government was neutral.

"When my hands are free of this war you will not dare to raise your head, you'll do no prattling about your independence and your greatness," he might just as well have said.

The German war lords dreamed of a world dominated by themselves—a world subjugated. America was to be their richest loot, their most abject slave.

We now see clearly what awaits us: Victory and Liberty or defeat and slavery. You must make your choice: Bonds or Bondage.

THE THIRD LIBERTY LOAN

Will you hold a Bond or be held in Bondage? Your purchase of the U. S. Government Bonds of the Third Liberty Loan is your answer.

Where others give their lives, you are asked only to loan your money. Go today—right now—to your local Liberty Loan Committee, or to any bank, for complete information. Choose Bonds or Bondage—

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Flurry Carries Prices Down, but They Rally—Steel to Pay Another 3%.

News of the costly repulse suffered by the Germans in the drive for Ypres was too good to be ignored on the Stock Exchange, as other war developments have apparently been ignored in recent sessions, and prices opened up all around the room on more active trading. This early movement was followed at the end of the second hour by a sudden reversal of form which sent quotations of some issues toppling at a rate that caused all kinds of alarming rumors to spring up by way of explanation. Steel common, which had moved up to 96⅛ on the influence of better foreign news, broke 2⅝ points on heavy selling orders, while numerous other issues kept pace with the declines on rather moderate selling. Thus, Bethlehem fell 2⅜ points without meeting much opposition, and Republic 1⅞. The break was not confined to the steel shares, however, Reading dropping a full 3 points, Studebaker 1¼, and Marine preferred 2⅜. The various rumors circulated to account for the sudden influx of selling orders were quickly dissipated, and from that point on to the close prices moved in the contrary direction and nearly extinguished the mid-day losses in most active issues. The close was irregular after a fairly heavy day.

The theory of traders who were on the floor yesterday was that a prominent professional operator and his associates had taken advantage of the strength shown at the opening to close out a large long account. The recovery which set in as soon as the market had caught its breath seemed to support this view, for there was no evidence of the creation of a new short account after the stocks which were pressed for sale had been absorbed.

The Steel Corporation did the expected yesterday in declaring once more the extra dividend of 3 per cent. which the Chairman intimated in his remarks to the stockholders at the annual meeting would be fully justified by the course of future earnings. The net earnings for the quarter were accepted as being satisfactory in view of the many difficulties experienced in two of the three months and the heavy demand for sums set aside for taxes. The rapid recovery shown in March indicates that the new quarter, of which one month has just been closed, will show a marked increase in net.

With four days left in which to get subscriptions to the Liberty Loan it will be necessary for the New York District to average $75,000,000 each day to bring the total reported last evening up to the minimum and necessary allotment of $900,000,000. The average for the entire country needed to round out the $3,000,000,000 is but $135,000,000 per day, so that it is apparent that if New York gets only its required amount the country as a whole should show a satisfactory oversubscription.

LONDON MARKET IS FIRM.

Prospective Holiday Restricts Trading on the Exchange.

LONDON, April 30.—The stock market was firm today, but the customary holiday tomorrow had a further restricting effect on business. Tin mines, especially West Africans, were buoyant features, influenced by a further advance in the metal. Shipping shares rallied and French rentes showed renewed strength. Japanese issues were good following the cancellation of another £200,000 in bonds. Rubber stocks, particularly Javas, were dull.

Money was in increased demand and discount rates were steady.

Trading Quiet on Paris Bourse.

PARIS, April 30.—Trading was quiet on the Bourse today. Three per cent. rentes 58 francs 50 centimes for cash. Exchange on London 27 francs 16 centimes. Five per cent. loan 88 francs 75 centimes.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Steel Corporation's Operations.

The Steel Corporation earned a net income of nearly $28,500,000 in March, with average operations at the plants in the neighborhood of 85 per cent. of capacity. This return was about $4,800,000 larger than last October before the adverse weather conditions and transportation difficulties of the Winter had their worst effect on business. During the first half of April operations advanced to about 90 per cent. of capacity, and at the present time the average is firmly fixed at 90 per cent., with certain plants doing better. Judge Gary considers a 90 per cent. ratio of production to capacity an excellent level. With the mills assured of plenty of business, the current situation is considered satisfactory in respect to future earnings, provided that no unforeseen obstacle arises.

Trust Company Clearings in Paris.

A significant development of American banking abroad is contained in the report of the Paris Clearing House for March. The figures received in the financial district yesterday showed that of the five banks reporting the heaviest clearings for the month, the branch of the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company stood first with 1,002,073,866 francs. The Crédit Lyonnais was next with 953,976,290 francs and the Comptoir National d'Escompte third with 615,247,030. The Société Général stood in fourth place with clearings of 502,391,045 francs, and the Banque Nationale de Crédit fifth with 318,259,216 francs. The statement covered the operations of thirty-four institutions. This is the first time, as far as records of the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company show, that an American institution has headed the list of the Paris Clearing House in regard to monthly clearings.

The Copper Price Question.

Copper producers are expected to discuss with representatives of the War Industries Board in Washington today the question of the fixed price to be put in force on July 1. Gossip of the trade reflects hope that an increase above the current level of 23½ cents will be decided upon, and predictions of 24½ cents are heard. The talk has outlined a possible measure whereby an increase of the price would be divided with the refining companies, both the producer and the refiner to set the advance against increased cost of production. Word came from Boston yesterday that N. L. Amster, as President of the Shannon Copper Company, had organized a committee to present to the Government officials a plea for smaller producers whose costs have risen to a level which threatens to eliminate profit at 23½ cents a pound.

When the Shoe Is on the Other Foot.

"It seems to make a lot of difference whose ox is gored," was the comment of one big local cotton dealer yesterday regarding the report that Southern Congressmen are being flooded with petitions from their constituents imploring them to close all the cotton exchanges in the country in order to save them from the speculators who are putting cotton prices down. "I notice," said this man, "they didn't make any move to have the exchanges closed to keep the wicked speculators from putting the prices up a month or so ago when cotton was selling on the spot at 36 cents and prices looked as if they never would stop rising. Then it was all for a free market, and any interference with the economic laws by price fixing or regulation was an assault upon the palladium of our liberties. We may be wicked speculators here in New York, but at least when the market goes against us we know how to take our medicine without squealing like—like Germans."

Manufacturers Want Stable Prices.

"The South has simply been proving the old saying about beggars on horseback," said the representative of several large cotton manufacturers. "They themselves are more to blame than anybody else for the violent reaction in the cotton market, because, when things were going their way, they wouldn't hear reason, but tried to hold on for the last penny of profit. Most of the manufacturers are trying right now to avoid the same mistake. They aren't trying to squeeze prices down, because they know that policy will inevitably be followed by another violent upward reaction. We believed in an open market, even when it was going against us, and now we believe our faith has been justified. We haven't much sympathy for the people who want it all their own way all the time."

The B. R. T. Financing.

There were rumors around yesterday that the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company was about to apply to the Public Service Commission for authority for a new bond issue of $150,000,000, partly to refund the small outstanding remainder of its old issue of that amount, and partly to take up its $57,735,000 of notes which fell due July 1 next. Some precise-sounding details were given, such as the interest rate of 5 per cent., instead of 4, as in the old bonds, convertible privilege, and so on, but all the officials and financial representatives of the company who could be interviewed yesterday professed a complete ignorance of any such contemplated move. It has been stated repeatedly that the B. R. T. financing is being held in abeyance at Mr. McAdoo's request until the War Finance Corporation gets under way.

Transportation Difficulties.

Much has been heard in industry about transportation difficulties, but the American Vanadium Company is experiencing something out of the ordinary. The ore containing the alloy is carried over the Andes Mountains from the mines in Peru to the coast on llamas. The company owns something like 10,000 of the animals, which work in groups of 1,000 each. It appears that an epidemic during the Winter reduced the herd, thereby affecting the transportation of ore to seaboard.

Buy All the Liberty Bonds You Can

You are perfectly safe in buying all the Liberty Bonds you HOPE you can pay for.

THOSE who bought all they dared—even more than they thought wise—in the First and Second Liberty Loans were, as a rule, surprised and delighted to find how much they could save when they had something definite and something vitally important to save for.

Buy all the Liberty Bonds you possibly can with the firm intention of paying for them and keeping them, and do not be afraid to buy to the limit.

HARD WINTER CUTS U. S. STEEL PROFITS

Net Earnings for First Quarter of 1918 $56,961,424, a Drop of $2,762,701.

3% EXTRA DIVIDEND AGAIN

March Proceeds More Than Double Those of January and 52% Above February—Surplus $15,032,502.

The United States Steel Corporation earned a net income of $56,961,424 in the first quarter of the year after providing for ordinary repairs and maintenance and setting aside $31,585,198 for Federal war income and excess profits taxes. The severe weather and difficult transportations conditions of January and February were sharply reflected in the figures, the full income before taxes being $32,127,867 lower than the corresponding item in the last quarter of 1917, while the net revenue after setting aside the war imposts was $2,762,701 less. Even with these decreases, the balance available for common stock dividends was equal to $7.20 a share, and the Directors declared the extra dividend of 3 per cent., which has now been in effect for a full year.

The poor result in the first two months of the quarter naturally had influence in the Federal tax reservation. It was about half as large as in the preceding quarter, but even with this extensive shrinkage it ate heavily into the earnings, being equal to more than $6 a share of common stock. The management set aside considerably less for depreciation and sinking fund requirements than in the December quarter, the total being $8,511,607, against $11,688,781. The principal features of the statement issued after the Directors' meeting are contained in this table, with comparisons:

Total	....$56,961,424	Total	.....$59,724,125

The large earnings in the March quarter of 1917 supply a marked contrast, as revealed by the tabulation, because no excess profits and war income taxes were charged against them. The process of prorating the taxation later in 1917 reduced the total of $113,121,018 substantially when converted into actual net income. If the proportion of the 1917 taxes chargeable to the first quarter of that year were taken into account, the surplus would probably be in the neighborhood of $29,836,981 instead of $69,836,981, as reported.

A significant development during the first quarter of this year was the large improvement of earnings in March over the other two months. This month brought in more than twice as much of net income as January, and showed a gain of more than 52 per cent. over the February result. Chairman E. H. Gary said after the meeting that operations at the mills were now averaging 90 per cent. of capacity, which was higher than the average in March.

"We continued to spend large amounts on the construction of new facilities for Government work," he added, "the outlay during the quarter being approximately $35,000,000, and expenditures are now being made at this rate."

Judge Gary said the corporation had bought an amount of Treasury certificates which about equal its war taxes for 1917, and so was provided with means to meet the payments. He declined to forecast the amount of probable earnings in the current quarter, saying that the Directors dealt with results alone and did not attempt to guess about the future of operations.

The usual preferred stock dividend of 1¾ per cent. and the regular common disbursement of 1¼ per cent. were voted, the former to be paid on May 29 to stockholders of record May 8 and the latter, together with the extra, on June 29 to stockholders on the books May 31.

NEW MORTGAGE FOR B. R. T.

Stockholders to Decide on Providing a Higher Rate of Interest.

A special meeting of the stockholders of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company will be held on May 23 to discuss the advisability of executing a new mortgage to replace the company's first refunding gold mortgage of July 1, 1902, which authorized an issue of bonds of $150,000,000. The call for the meeting explained that the present mortgage served a useful purpose as long as interest rates were low, but because the maximum rate allowed on the bonds was fixed at 4 per cent., it had been impossible to sell any of them except at a considerable discount. No bonds have been sold since February, 1909. The notice sent out for the meeting refers to the necessity of providing for the $57,735,000 of secured 5 per cent. gold notes which mature on July 1. Whether it is desirable to have available additional bonds for collateral or whether the notes should be renewed is also to be discussed.

The call says the Directors hope to present a plan for taking care of the gold notes before maturity. These notes were issued for subway extensions, &c., under contracts with the city. Of the bonds authorized to be issued under the new mortgage, $87,040,000 will be reserved to take up the bonds heretofore issued. This new mortgage will be dated June 1, 1918, and will mature June 1, 1968. Since the last sale of bonds in 1909 the company has acquired additional properties so that the collateral security on deposit is stocks, bonds, and certificates of indebtedness amounting to more than $84,400,000. There are also pledged, subject to the lien of the company's $7,000,000 mortgages of Oct. 1, 1895, securities and stocks of a par value of $11,605,000, making a total of about $96,000,000 of collateral. Against this is, the company says, only a charge of $3,459,000 of the refunding 4 per cent. bonds outstanding.

NEW EXCHANGE OPEN TODAY

The American Cotton & Grain Has Building at 73 Wall Street.

An announcement issued yesterday by the American Cotton and Grain Exchange, Inc., of 73 Wall Street states that the Exchange will be opened to its members today. It will not, however, be open for trading purposes, because, the statement goes on to say, that "the managers are now preparing the rules and regulations, and upon completion and adoption by the board announcement will be made when active trading will begin." The statement also says that the building, a seven-story one, is being remodeled for exchange purposes. The first floor will be used for trading in cotton and linters, the second floor in cotton goods, yarns, wool, and raw silk; the third floor for grain, rice, and provisions; the fourth floor for cotton oil, other oils, and chemicals; the fifth floor for sugar and coffee, the sixth floor for the various committees, and the seventh floor for the executive offices.

It is stated that the Exchange has about 5,000 membership subscribed, and that these are "made up chiefly of cotton and grain merchants, cotton, grain, and other brokers, exporters, bankers, cotton mills, elevators, oil mills, and refineries throughout the country."

COTTON MOVES UP.

Gains Run from 79 to 104 Points After Wide Swings.

Having staged a violent rise followed by an even more violent reaction on Monday, the local cotton market yesterday introduced still another novelty in its performances by producing a violent rise, a violent reaction, and another violent rise, the market thus completely reversing itself twice during the session. However, the tendency of the day was plainly firmer, and compared with some recent sessions the fluctuations of prices showed an encouraging tendency toward equilibrium. The close was strong, up from 79 to 104 points, in some cases at the best price of the day.

The violent drop in prices in the middle of the day seemed to be a purely temporary and exterior phenomenon, indicative of little save the nervousness of traders in the present uncertain situation, and the extreme sensitiveness which the market has developed to unfavorable news, especially when the volume of trading remains small. Prices were moving strongly upward when a dispatch came from Washington saying that petitions were being received by Congress from all over the South calling for the closing of all the cotton exchanges as a war measure.

All the faint-hearted, a fairly numerous host, promptly hastened to dump selling orders on the market up to the full extent of their long purchases, ably seconded by not a few of the cool and cynical who were quite willing to help matters along by going short of the market and making a profitable turn before it recovered its poise. Prices, which had worked up from 85 to 92 points above Monday's close, promptly fell back virtually to that level, and in some cases a trifle below it. Then everybody seemed to catch his breath and realize of how little importance the news really was, and the market was permitted to resume its normal course.

The market was normally firmer, not only as a result of the better technical position which had resulted from the bear drive of Monday afternoon, but also in response to the actual trade situation. The Liverpool market was more active and strong, the weather map continued unfavorable to the new crop, and, finally, there were signs that trade buyers were beginning to sift back. It was reported in several quarters that spinners were amply content to pay present prices, and there were signs during the day on picking up of bargains by their representatives in greater volume than has been the case for some time. Some of the big spot houses said that manufacturers just now were anxious not to abuse their advantage; that they had far rather see the entire industry stabilized on the basis of a fair profit to everybody, which could be done, they felt, at present prices or even something above them, than to try to force prices down so far in pursuit of the last ounce of profit, as to bring about an even more violent upward reaction.

No exports were reported yesterday. Southern spot markets are still undergoing readjustment. Changes yesterday ranged from 100 points lower to 50 points higher, and there were variations of nearly 5 cents a pound in quotations.

FOUR NOMINEES APPROVED.

Senate Committee Reports on the War Finance Corporation.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The Senate Finance Committee today reported favorably the nomination by the President of W. P. G. Harding, Allen B. Forbes, Eugene Meyer, Jr., and Angus W. McLean, as members of the War Finance Corporation, which is to direct the work of aiding industries engaged in war activities. The Senate is expected to confirm these appointments tomorrow. The Finance Committee considered the nominations early in the day. No opposition was raised to any of them.

The committee had before it also the nomination of the seven members of the Capital Issues Committee which is to pass upon all loans of more than $100,000. Senators on the committee pointed out that they had never heard of John S. Drum, a San Francisco lawyer, and James Brown, banker of Louisville, and they suggested that, before the Capital Issues Committee be reported upon the Administration be asked for more information about them. This was decided upon.

Criticism was raised in the Senate committee over the doubling up of work that the appointment of Mr. Harding, John Skelton Williams, and others nominated by the President would entail upon those officials. Mr. Harding, it was suggested, now has a tremendous task as head of the Federal Reserve Board, while Mr. Williams has a sizeable job as Controller of the Currency. Charles S. Hamlin and Frederick A. Delano, nominated for the Capital Issues Committee, are also members of the Federal Reserve Board.

It is not expected that the Senate will be disposed to hold up any of the nominations upon the Capital Issues Committee, as it is believed the President intends seeing that there is no duplication of functions. Word was current at the Capitol today that, under the Overman bill, if it passes the House, the President would be likely to merge the Federal Reserve Board and the War Finance Corporation.

Additions to Federal Reserve System

During the last month these New York State institutions were admitted to the Federal Reserve system, according to announcement made yesterday: Ithaca Trust Company of Ithaca, Nassau County Trust Company of Mineola, Schenectady Trust Company of Schenectady, the Workers Trust Company of Johnson City, and the Power City Bank of Niagara Falls. The Glen Ridge Trust Company of Glen Ridge and the Montclair Trust Company of Montclair were New Jersey institutions to be admitted.

Nipissing Company Earns $2,686,471

The Nipissing Mining Company reports a net profit of $2,686,471 in the year ended Dec. 31, 1917. Of this $1,935,000 was declared in dividends. The surplus at the end of the year was $2,731,598, an increase during the year of approximately $750,000.

Strike Last Fall Caused Decrease of 23 Per Cent. in Yearly Production.

MEETS WAR REQUIREMENTS

Total Revenue for Year $158,954,239, Gain of $8,411,552; Expenditure $124,620,487.

The Anaconda Copper Mining Company's annual report, issued yesterday, showed the effect of the protracted strike which was engineered by the I. W. W. at its Montana properties last Summer and Autumn. The production of copper amounted to 253,508,322 pounds, a decrease from the total of the preceding year of 78,384,931 pounds, or more than 23 per cent. Although much of the output was disposed of at high prices, the increased cost caused by the strike, with the rise of materials, aided in bringing about a sharp decline of profits.

The company's total revenue from the sale of metals and from investments was $158,954,239, a gain of $8,411,552 over the preceding year. Administration expenses and taxation, including the Federal excess profits tax, amounted to $3,396,110, against $1,613,424 for 1916. Including the cost of handling the metal produced and transportation and selling expenses, the total outlay of the year was $124,620,487, an increase of $23,908,172. The balance for dividends amounted to $34,333,752, compared with $50,828,372 in 1916.

In terms of the stock the balance was equal to $14.70 per share, compared with $21.80 in the preceding year. The company paid out to shareholders a total of $19,815,625, in contrast with $17,484,375, and had a surplus of $14,518,127. The aggregate surplus at the end of the year was $62,913,089. The principal features of the income account are set forth in the following table:

Sale of metals......	$109,055,593	$96,097,709
Total income	158,954,239	150,540,689
Mining and reduction expenses	43,551,975	43,892,003
Depreciation	5,387,436	7,113,463
Total outlay	124,620,487	99,712,315
Balance for div....	34,333,752	50,828,372
Dividends	19,815,625	17,484,375
Surplus	14,518,127	33,343,997

The company invested $9,066,889 during the year, including Liberty Bonds, and stocks of other metal producing concerns. The principal purchases were 50,900 shares of Inspiration Consolidated stock, which brought the Anaconda's holdings in this corporation up to more than 250,000 shares, from which an income in excess of $2,000,000 per year is derived at the current rate of Inspiration dividends; 28,740 shares of Butte Copper and Zinc stock; 2,700 shares of Greene-Cananea Copper stock; $922,500 Liberty 3½s and $3,628,100 Liberty 4s. The report noted that of the full subscription to the Second Liberty Loan $7,828,000 was unpaid at the end of the year. The company also included in its stock purchases shares of stock of its South American subsidiaries.

John D. Ryan, President, informed stockholders that production was at maximum proportions in the forepart of the year, but was seriously curtailed by the strike in June.

"Since the establishment of a fixed price," he added, "the entire copper output has been distributed for the Government through a committee representing the producers, upon an allocation of orders approved by the Government. Under the plan adopted the entire production has been put at the disposal of the Government and its Allies. The extraordinary demand for war purposes has been promptly met, and every effort has been made to provide for other requirements in the order of their importance, with the result that while there has been a shortage of copper production, no serious inconvenience has been felt."

Mr. Ryan said that the Santiago Mining Company, with $10,000,000 capital stock, had been formed to take title to mining property bought in Chile. The report recounted the progress of development work on these properties and others owned by the Andes Copper Company, another South American subsidiary. At the Montana mines, he stated, activity was centred more on production than new development.

In addition to the copper output the company produced 9,021,025 ounces of silver, compared with 11,837,769 the year before and 58,545 ounces of gold, a decline of 83,464 ounces. Of the 253,508,000 pounds of copper reported, a total of 239,014,880 pounds were turned out by the company's own mines, the balance being handled at the Anaconda and Great Falls reduction works for other concerns.

SPECIAL DIVIDEND BY BANK.

Disbursement by Liberty to be Used to Form Securities Company.

Stockholders of the Liberty National Bank will receive today checks for a special dividend at the rate of $8.83 a share, with the privilege of exchanging the money for the stock of a new company to be called the Liberty Securities Corporation. More than 75 per cent. of the shareholders have already indicated their intention of devoting the extra dividend to the purpose for which it was declared.

The new adjunct to the Liberty's facilities will be organized on practically the same lines followed in the recent formation of the Chase Securities Company, by stockholders of the Chase National Bank. That, in turn, was suggested by the security companies organized by the First National Bank and by the National City Bank, all for the purpose of handling business which does not fall within the scope of a bank operating under the national bank laws.

As the Liberty National Bank has $3,000,000 of capital, the new Securities Corporation will start with $250,000 capital stock, but this may be increased later if business warrants it. The stock of the new company will be placed in the hands of trustees, and will not be transferable apart from the bank shares held in the same names.

P. R. R. EARNINGS DECREASE

Decline of $3,491,702 in Operating Net for March Reported.

The Pennsylvania Railroad system reports for March gross operating income of $43,184,815 for all the lines, an increase of $8,357,080. During the month operating expenses amounted to $39,726,036, a total $6,848,783 greater than in the same month last year. The result of these expanded costs was a decline of $3,491,702 in the operating net and a full decrease of $3,665,963 after the hire of equipment had been paid. The final net income from rail operations was $2,525,604.

During the period from Jan. 1 to March 31 the aggregate revenue was $105,894,278, a decrease of $558,844, and, as expenses totaled $112,926,278, the result was a deficit of $7,032,000. As the operating costs were $19,817,162 greater than in the corresponding period of 1917, the increase of the operating deficit during the three months was $20,376,007 over the result in the same three months the year before.

Tobacco Dividend Paid in Scrip.

Directors of the Tobacco Products Corporation announced yesterday that a dividend of $1.50 a share for the quarter had been declared in scrip, in lieu of cash. The scrip matures on May 15, 1920, and will bear interest of 7 per cent. a year. The action was taken to conserve cash for working capital, and had the approval of the Capital Issues Committee. The dividend will be paid May 15 to stockholders of record May 9.

APRIL TRANSACTIONS.

Transactions in stocks on the New York Stock Exchange amounted to 7,436,714 shares, a decrease of 771,204 shares as compared with the previous month, and of 6,842,606 shares as compared with the corresponding month last year. The largest full day's total was 568,826, on the 22d, and the smallest 153,984, on the 2d. For the Saturday half holiday the maximum total was 292,962, on the 20th, and the minimum 121,210, on the 13th.

Sinking Fund Purchase of INTERNATIONAL AGRICULTURAL CORPORATION First Mortgage and Collateral Trust Gold Bonds.

Notice is hereby given that Bankers Trust Company, corporate Trustee under the First Mortgage of International Agricultural Corporation, dated May 1, 1912, to Bankers Trust Company and Frank N. B. Close, as Trustees, securing the First Mortgage and Collateral Trust Five Per Cent. Twenty Year Sinking Fund Gold Bonds of said International Agricultural Corporation will purchase for the Sinking Fund bonds issued under said mortgage to an amount sufficient to exhaust as nearly as may be the sum of $325,286.85 now held by said corporate Trustee in said sinking fund, and said corporate Trustee hereby invites sealed offers to be submitted to it on or before 12 o'clock noon May 8, 1918, at its Trust Department, 16 Wall Street, Manhattan, New York City, for the sale to it of such bonds, at prices to be named in such offers, which offers shall be for all or any part of the bonds so offered, provided, however, that no offers will be accepted which shall be for a sum in excess of one hundred and three per centum (103%) of the principal amount of such bonds, and accrued interest. Notices of acceptance of offers will be mailed on or before May 9, 1918, to the makers of such thereof as are accepted, at the addresses designated by them, respectively. Delivery of bonds accepted with all unmatured coupons attached should be made at the office of said corporate Trustee on or before 3 o'clock P. M. May 13, 1918, after which date interest on accepted bonds will cease. United States Treasury decisions require that Federal Income Tax ownership certificates for amount of accrued interest must accompany such bonds when presented for payment.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE

Stocks had fractional net losses and displayed a weak tendency at the close of an active market yesterday on the Consolidated Stock Exchange. There was a good recovery in mid-afternoon from the violent reaction, due to a heavy and continual volume of realizing sales, but the final moments of trading saw fractional recessions. The selling movement, which started toward the end of the first hour of the session, came after a spirited upward movement, during which the list averaged a point gain.

Liberty Bonds

$1 Down, Balance Weekly or Monthly

HELP YOUR COUNTRY FIGHT

Drawing on the wide experience acquired in dealing with the thirty-five hundred people who subscribed through us for Liberty Bonds of the two previous loans, we have produced a plan which we believe is at once the most equitable, convenient, and adaptable to the varying circumstances of the patriotic saver. You can subscribe for all the 4¼% Liberty Bonds (third issue) that you want.

HERE IS THE PLAN:

For a $50 bond—$1 down, $1 weekly or $4 monthly
For a $100 bond—$2 down, $2 weekly or $8 monthly
Larger Bonds in Same Proportion.

You can carry on as above until your accumulations amount to enough to pay for all your bonds, or whenever they amount to enough to pay for a $50 bond and accrued interest you may withdraw such a bond. Thus, if necessity demands, you can raise money on the bond. We will loan money on your pass book and bond rights. They may also be sold and transferred. No need to fear consequences of delinquency if you get "out of luck." You will not be sold out. If you die your estate will be released from your obligations, and money paid returned to the proper party. The subscription account may be opened in joint names, thus: John Doe and Mary Doe, or the survivor of them. This gives joint control while both are living, but either survivor could control. No bother and expense about courts, administrators, or probating wills, etc.

On this plan you can have bearer coupon bonds or bonds registered in your own name; besides, we will retain them in our vault for safekeeping, collect and remit the interest free of charge. None but past due interest coupons will be detached from bonds. 3½% allowed for use of your money while it is accumulating to cover your bond subscription, calculated on monthly balances in even dollars when your balance amounts to $10.00; this 3½% to be credited on July 1st and January 1st.

Furthermore, if you do not default in any of your payments prior to December 31, 1918, and then fail to complete your subscription before May 1st, 1919, you will, at your option, be entitled at any time within thirty (30) days thereafter to draw back in cash all you have paid in without deduction, or take part cash and part Liberty Bonds. Otherwise, but at the option of the Company, settlement may be made by its returning your payments in cash without deduction, or by paying part cash and part Liberty Bonds.

Saving for Liberty Bonds will help your country win—perhaps by this plan you will acquire the "thrift and economy habit" and win for yourself also.

Call, write or phone for descriptive subscription blank.
Subscriptions and payments may be made by mail.

Subscribers will receive an official Third Liberty Loan button and window flag.

We gladly offer our services free of charge to those desirous of subscribing on the government's terms, i. e., cash, or four installments by August 15, 1918.

COMMERCIAL PAPER.

Yesterday ....6 p. c. for the best names
Monday ....6 " " " " "

The quotations are for six months' paper.

Conditions in Neckwear Trade.

There seem to be a great many manufacturers of neckwear for women in this city who are so heavily booked up with business that they can accept no further orders for delivery within the next month or two. Though business has been very good, this booked-up condition is not entirely due to factory output having been sold up. There are many manufacturers who can only operate at from 70 to 80 per cent. of capacity. This is due partly to a shortage of skilled labor and partly to a scarcity of materials, particularly cotton fabrics.

Features in Waists.

Beaded designs in waists of many different types are proving to be very popular, according to reports from a number of the local manufacturers. Oriental designs and color effects predominate in these models, which are usually made of very fine silks. In other lines, pink, rich cream color and light tans seem to be the most widely sought shades. Georgette and organdie are being used a great deal in these waists, and voiles are said also to be developing a very strong following.

Strong Paper Market.

Considerable activity has marked the paper market in this city of late, and prices have advanced accordingly. Bond paper has gone up to 12 cents a pound from 9 cents only a short time ago. Fibre wrapping is also strong, ruling around 6 cents, as compared with a low last Winter of 4@4½ cents a pound. Buyers seem to have been plentiful during the last month, and it is said that they were sorely in need of supplies. Stocks available for immediate delivery have become very limited. Few mills are in a position to accept orders for nearby delivery, and most of them will only take further business provided it is booked subject to prices at time of shipment.

Fall Capes in Jersey Fabrics.

In quarters where Fall business in capes for women is already being done, it is said both wool and silk jersey cloths of the heavier weights and gabardines are proving very attractive to buyers generally. For Spring the leading fabrics have been serges, lightweight velours and tricotines, and it is thought that the addition of jersey and gabardine models to cape lines will prove a great stimulant to cape sales next Fall. Some very beautiful effects have been developed, and many rich colorings are employed, usually with a contrasting shade underneath.

Children's Summer Hats Do Well.

A nice business is being done here in Summer hats for children, especially in batiste, embroidered chiffon and very fine horsehair combined with tuscan braid. Attractive juvenile hats for dress wear are seen in small mushrooms and poke with accordion-pleated brims, shirred brims with soft edges, and high or low shirred crowns. The trimmings include hand-embroidered flowers and ribbon streamers, bows and rosettes. The prices of these hats range from $5 to $13.50.

A Rug Famine in Prospect?

Comment heard on the floor coverings trade, coincident with the naming of prices on Fall lines, is to the effect that a real famine in rugs is to be expected within the next year unless something now unforeseen comes up to increase production. Recently it was announced that the Fall production of the biggest factor in the trade would be but 20 per cent. of normal, and on Monday one of the other big manufacturers announced a probable production for the new season that was a little more than two-thirds below the usual amount. With the smaller producers the same thing is true to varying degrees. With the Government in command of the wool situation, as well as taking the special products of many carpet mill looms, the outlook for civilian trade is, to say the least, somewhat hazy.

Shoppers More Serious Now.

If the entrance of this country into the war has done nothing else, it has taken some of the frivolity out of a great many American women and given them a wider understanding of the need of co-operation in various directions. The effect of this is visible in the shopping that is now being done in the local stores, and particularly so in the decreased number of illegitimate returns of goods and the lessened call for deliveries of small packages. Not a little of the drop shown in both cases is said to be due to a marked decrease in "bluff shopping," that is, the buying of things not really needed in order to impress a friend or acquaintance. This was one of the biggest factors in the returned goods evil, and its falling off, as a result of the pleas of the Commercial Economy Board, has done a lot to offset other troubles the stores have been experiencing.

Smallwares Orders Big.

Little fault is to be found with the business that has been done by the leading fancy goods and notion houses here since the beginning of the year. While the Garfield closing order resulted in January's showing a decided drop in sales, as compared with the same month in 1917, the increases that have been shown each month since then put the 1918 total to date well ahead of last year. The gain, however, is more in dollars and cents than in the actual volume of merchandise disposed of, due to higher prices. As to the merchandise selling best at the moment, marabou scarfs in natural and black shades are very active. Sewing materials, especially needles and cotton and linen tapes, head the sales of staples. Needles, it is said, are becoming very scarce.

Advance Toy Business Best Yet.

The advance business that has been booked on toys this year is the largest which American wholesalers of these goods have yet experienced, and this in spite of the pleas for economy on the part of the "men higher up." It is apparent, according to trade comment, that if economy is to be practiced it will not be at the expense of the pleasure of American children. The new doll or the new wagon will be forthcoming for Christmas, even though father wears his last year's shoes. It was asserted yesterday to be difficult to say just what toys have been "best." The great strides that have been made in the manufacture of toys in this country have been appreciated by the buyers, and the good things in the market have been quickly snapped up. Especially true is this of dolls, in which the improvement in domestic production is particularly marked.

Gray Goods Sales Light.

While the rise in cotton had the effect of steadying things somewhat in the local gray goods market yesterday, it did not stir up any great amount of buying. First hands continued firm in their views as to what goods were worth, which left most of the little selling that was done to second hands. Among the printcloths sold by the latter were additional contracts of 38½-inch 64-60s at 17 cents. One of the most interesting sales of the day was the disposal, by certain first hands, of July-September deliveries of 40-inch, 2.85-yard sheetings at 33 cents. This price was the full market value of the goods. Mill prices on printcloths, which were nominal, closed this way:

39-inch, 72-76s....23c	38½-inch, 64-56s..18¼c
39-inch, 68-72s....20c	38½-inch, 60-52s..17c
39-inch, 56-44s....15½c	38½-inch, 60-48s..16½c
38½-inch, 64-64s..19½c	27-inch, 64-60s....13½c

BUSINESS RECORDS

In Town.

FRIED & CO.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Isidore Fried and Isidor Moskowitz, who are doing business as Fried & Co., dealers in wines at Yonkers, by the Rose Wine Company, a creditor for $605. The firm made an assignment to Aaron L. Palmer. Liabilities are $5,000 and assets $1,000.

JOHN E. DANAHER, a wine salesman of 640 Riverside Drive, has filed a petition in bankruptcy with liabilities of $1,037 and no assets. Joseph Beck & Co. are judgment creditors for $807, and the petition was filed to stop an execution in favor of Joseph Beck & Co.

HUGH JONES of 325 West Forty-second Street has filed a petition in bankruptcy with liabilities of $2,226 and no assets.

JOSEPH GIFFLER.—Benjamin F. Schwartz has been appointed receiver by Judge Knox of Joseph Giffler, manufacturer of trimmings and novelties.

SOL L. SCHAFFER.—Morris Frank has been appointed receiver by Judge Knox for Sol L. Schaffer, manufacturer of waists, under the name of the Yale Waist Co. at 26 West Twentieth Street.

BLASBERG & FRIEDMAN.—Louis Forscher has been appointed receiver by Judge Knox of Blasberg & Friedman, dealer in leather and findings at 93 Pitt Street.

MAX MAISEL, manufacturer of children's dresses at 135 Wooster Street, has filed schedules showing liabilities of $7,563 and assets of $3,028, consisting of stock, $500; fixtures, $500; accounts, $1,928, and cash in bank, $100.

KATE BELL, milliner at 2,012 Third Avenue, has made an assignment to Samuel Seligsohn.

ALL PACKAGE GROCERY STORES COMPANY.—H. Snowden Marshall and Herbert A. Emerson opened bids yesterday for the assets of the stores in this district, at the offices of Gilbert & Gilbert, 43 Exchange Place. Only two bids were received, from William L. Sweet, Jr., and Howard B. Smith, Secretary of the Stockholders' Committee. Mr. Sweet bid 50 per cent. of the inventory value of the merchandise, equipment, and automobiles. Mr. Smith bid 60 per cent. of the cost of the merchandise and 20 per cent. for the automobiles. The receivers considered the bids unsatisfactory and will report to the court that the bids be rejected. They think they can sell the assets at auction and realize more than the amounts bid for them.

CHARLES M. KORTE of 215 Hemlock Street, Brooklyn has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $4,410 and no assets.

PAUL E. WEISE of New Dorp, S. I., has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $5,507 and assets of $2,001.

MAX HUTT.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Max Hutt by these creditors: Morris Pepper, $200; B. Siegel, $854; E. Goodman, $177. He has made an assignment to Samuel Forschlum, 220 Bushwick Avenue, Brooklyn.

Out of Town.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 30.—A petition in bankruptcy was filed today by Frank C. Walsh, former Mayor of West Allis. His liabilities were listed at $9,586 and assets at $900.

REAL ESTATE FIELD

Haven Avenue Block Front in Deal—Plottage Acquired in Wholesale District.

Samuel Wacht, Jr., as attorney for Charles Kimmelman, bought from Charles Hoffman and Gerson Robison the entire block front on the east side of Haven Avenue from 178th to 179th Street. The property consists of three six-story apartment houses known as 185 Haven Avenue, 849 West 178th Street, and 860 West 179th Street, covering a plot with an avenue frontage of 185 feet and a frontage of ninety-seven feet on each street. The houses, which show a gross annual rental of $3,600, are assessed by the city at $232,000 and were held at $275,000.

Acquires Hudson Street Plottage.

The Markham Realty Company, C. W. Eckhardt, President, has purchased from Emily A. King, Augusta Elmendorf, and Marjorie C. Lyon 48 and 50 Hudson Street, being the southeast corner of Hudson and Thomas Streets, and for Emma D. Rodman and others the adjoining property at 46 Hudson Street and 88 Thomas Street. William A. White & Sons were the brokers. The plot consists of old three-and-a-half and four-story buildings, and comprises about 4,000 square feet. It is assessed by the city at $75,000 and is in the centre of the wholesale shoe and wholesale grocery district. The large building of Morse, Rogers & Co. is on the opposite side of Hudson Street, and immediately to the north are the large holdings of R. C. Williams & Co., which comprise the block front between Thomas and Worth Streets.

Investor Buys on University Place.

An investor purchased from the United States Trust Company, as trustee, the three-story building 3 University Place for $27,000. The building occupies a plot 35 by 74.6, located between Waverly Place and East Eighth Street.

Three-Cornered Exchange.

Michael Retzker has sold 650 West 172d Street, a five-story apartment house, on a plot 50 by 100, to Charles A. Held, who gave in exchange a 110-acre farm, with a dwelling and outbuildings, free and clear, at Roxbury, Conn. The apartment figured in the deal at a valuation of $70,000 and the farm at $14,000.

Mr. Retzker resold the Roxbury property to Payson Thomson, for cash, and two lots on Lydig Avenue, in the Morris Park tract, Bronx, sold several years ago at auction. The lots were held at $5,000. George A. Bowman negotiated the various transactions. Abraham Leichter, as attorney, represented Mr. Retzker.

Operators Buy Four Tenements.

Sonn Brothers, operators, purchased from the Albany Saving Bank, the four five-story tenements, 34 to 40 West Sixty-fifth Street, located between Central Park West and Columbus Avenue. The property is assessed at $100,000. Douglas Robinson, Charles S. Brown Company negotiated the sale.

Will Take Over Old Brewery.

A newly formed corporation of which J. M. Devitt, W. C. Nehring, and M. J. Palliser are Directors, has been organized for the purpose of purchasing from the Bank For Savings the former Thomas Convilio Brewing Company property at 328 to 336 East Forty-sixth Street, a four-story building, fronting 125 feet and extending back over the greater part of the plot, which has a depth of 100.5 feet. It is understood that a garage improvement is planned for the site.

Church Adds to Holdings.

The Church of St. John the Evangelist at West Eleventh Street and Waverley Place has increased its real estate holdings at that point by purchasing from Elizabeth Hanley the three-story dwelling, on a lot 19 by 75, at 21 Perry Street. The church recently bought adjoining and similar houses at 40 Perry Street and 224 West Eleventh Street. Charles S. Goldsmith negotiated the three transactions.

Private Dwelling Sales.

Marcus L. Osk, President of the Merit Realty Corporation, purchased from Mrs. C. J. Gould 2,121 Fifth Avenue, a three-story private dwelling, occupying a lot 16.8 by 75, on the northeast corner of 130th Street. This is the first transfer of the property since 1878. J. S. Maxwell negotiated the sale.

A. P. Poledo is the buyer of the English basement dwelling 105 East Seventy-third Street, adjoining the northeast corner of Park Avenue.

Justice Guy of the Supreme Court has granted permission to the Directors of Alumnae of Hunter College of the City of New York to sell the dwelling at 446 East Seventy-second Street to Sarah Goldberg for $7,000.

Theatre Sold at Auction.

Julius J. Dukas, as trustee of the S. Jarmulowsky Bank, in bankruptcy, acquired the two and three story theatre, meeting rooms, and stores occupying the block front, east side of Seventh Avenue, between 131st and 132d Streets, yesterday, in the Vesey Street Salesroom at the stand of Joseph P. Day for $199,400. The sale was the result of a suit brought by the Union Estates Company against the Loretta Corporation et al., to foreclose a third mortgage for $24,000. The property was encumbered by five other mortgages aggregating $341,000.

Buying in the Bronx.

The five-story apartment house, occupying a plot 98 by 70 by 97 by 81, on the northwest corner of Anthony Avenue and 176th Street, has been resold by Frederick Brown, operator, to August Eimer of Eimer & Amend. It was held at $105,000 and has an annual rent roll of about $12,000.

Six Brooklyn Apartments Sold.

Meister Builders, Inc., bought from the Land Estates, Inc., the six apartment houses at 655 to 665 and 685 to 689 Alabama Avenue, on a combined plot 160 by 100, near Hegeman Avenue.

Brooklyn Sales at Auction.

The real estate holdings of the Hoboken Trust Company in Brooklyn were offered by Arthur C. Sheridan at auction yesterday in the Brooklyn Real Estate Exchange. The properties on East Tenth Street, East Thirteenth Street, Coney Island Avenue, and Avenues P and O were sold to John T. Murphy of St. Louis, representing the American Aluminum Products Company, which intends to erect dwellings to house its employes after purchasing a large site in the neighborhood for its new plant in the East. The property brought a total of $15,500. The dwelling at 210 Hancock Street went to Earl E. Goodbody for $11,350. A large plot of thirteen lots on Ocean Parkway, fifty feet east of Eighth Street, facing Prospect Park, was sold to John J. Timmins at $19,100. Mr. Timmins stated that he would shortly file plans for the improvement of the plot with a six-story warehouse.

Brooklyn.

J. D. Ranck and Samuel Galitzka sold for the Kensington Home Corporation a one-family detached house on East Seventh Street, 385 feet south of Avenue J, on a plot 40 by 125, to a client for occupancy. This house is now in course of construction.

E. J. Hollahan sold the dwelling at the northeast corner of Ridge Boulevard and Eighty-ninth Street for Flora Fields to a client for occupancy.

Queens Borough Sales.

N. Doyle sold to the Nado Corporation a plot 222 by 308 feet on the northeast corner of Cherry Street and Main Street, Flushing.

J. R. Harris sold to K. F. Assenheimer the dwelling and plot 60 by 100 feet on the north side of Audley Street, 260 feet west of Beverly Road, Kew Gardens.

The Gascoyne Realty Company sold to A. Wischert the dwelling on the west side of Bigelow Avenue, 898 feet north of Atlantic Avenue, Woodhaven.

Clara Safronowitz has purchased for investment the old Cornell house at the corner of Washington and Prince Streets, Flushing. J. Albert Johntra was the broker.

Convent Buys at Dobbs Ferry.

The residence of Orlando J. Smith, founder of the American Press Association, on Broadway, Dobbs Ferry, has been sold to the Sacred Heart Convent. The property adjoined the old Mackenzie school site, which the sisters of the Sacred Heart have owned and occupied for several years. It is on the village assessment roll for $50,000, and will now be used for church purposes.

Club Acquires Historic Estate.

The International Garden Club has taken over "Nevis," the historic Alexander Hamilton estate, at Irvington, N. Y., containing sixty-eight acres, between Broadway and the Hudson River, and improved with a large colonial residence, with outbuildings. Mrs. Charles F. Hoffman is President of the club, which has occupied the Bartow mansion at Pelham Bay Park for a number of years. Kenneth Ives & Co. were the brokers in the transaction.

Westchester County.

Maurice C. Hull of the Bankers Trust Company has purchased the estate of the late George E. Neil at Larchmont Gardens, through George Howe. The property is on Landsdown Drive.

Commercial Leases.

The Charles F. Noyes Company leased for A. Schrader's Sons to George Mogensen, Inc., importers, exporters and forwarders, the building 28 to 32 Rose Street, 75 by 108, and containing over 50,000 square feet of space. The lease is for a long term of years at an aggregate rental of about $60,000.

L. Tanenbaum, Strauss & Co. closed a long term lease for the Hanover Corporation of 21,000 square feet of floor space in the building occupying the entire block front on Fourth Avenue, between Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth Streets, to Julius Kayser & Co. for offices and salesrooms.

Herbert Hecht & Co. leased for the estate of Charles T. Wills, represented by F. W. Sharp, the store at 67 Bleecker Street to the St. Regis Restaurant for a term of ten years.

Samuel H. Martin leased the store and basement at 136 West Sixty-fifth Street for Alfred H. Taylor to the Gordon Rubber and Tire Company of Canton, Ohio.

Daniel Birdsall & Co. have rented the entire building at 64 Grand Street to the Bernard Ulmann Company for a term of years.

J. Edgar Leaycraft & Co. leased the store at 220 East Fourteenth Street to Mrs. A. Sternberg for a term of years.

Real Estate Board Secures $2,600,300 in Liberty Loan Subscriptions.

Alfred E. Marling, Chairman of the Real Estate Board's Liberty Loan Committee, announced yesterday at a luncheon in the board's rooms that a total of $2,600,300 in subscriptions had been secured.

The various teams of members are still hard at work, and it is believed that at least $3,500,000 will be secured before the drive ends.

First Half of 1918 Taxes Become a Lien on the Property Today.

On May 1 one-half of the real estate taxes of the current year become a lien on the property, and personal taxes are due. A discount at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum is allowed on the second one-half of real estate taxes due Nov. 1, 1918, if paid before that date. Water taxes for unmetered service are also due in advance today.

Realty Note.

The M. Morgenthau, Jr., Company has moved its offices to 206 Broadway.

The Commission announces for May 21 an examination for assistant superintendent, instrument department, for men. A vacancy at the Frankford Arsenal, Philadelphia, Penn., at $3,000 a year, will be filled from this examination. Competitors will not be required to report for examination at any place, but will be rated on general and technical education, experience and fitness. Competitors will be rated upon the sworn statements in their applications and upon corroborative evidence adduced by the commission. Applicants must have graduated from a four years' high school course, or have completed a course of study equivalent to that required for such graduation.

Education Notes.

The faculty of Morris High School will be at home to alumni and former students in the school library from 3 to 5 P. M. on May 3.

A leave of absence without pay to April 9, 1919, has been granted to Aaron Feld, a teacher in P. S. 114, Manhattan, for war service.

The assignment of William E. Grady, formerly Principal of P. S. 64, Ninth and Tenth Streets, west of Avenue B, Manhattan, to the Division of Vocational Activities until July 31, has been confirmed. He receives $1,000 bonus in addition to his salary of Principal for this work.

The employment of three additional teachers at $3.50 a day has been authorized for a period of two months in the office of the Committee on Buildings and Economy, the Assistant Director of Vocation Schools and the Director of Art in high schools.

ASTOR WINS FIGHT OVER ZONING RULES

Board of Appeals Grants Permission for Business Building on Madison Avenue.

MORE LITIGATION PROBABLE

Committee on City Plan Yet to Act on Appeal—Decision Expected at Next Meeting.

Baron Astor of Hever, who owns the block front on the westerly side of Madison Avenue, from Thirty-fifth to Thirty-sixth Street, received permission yesterday to erect a seven-story business building on that site by a unanimous vote of the Board of Appeals. The only condition imposed is that the architectural and structural treatment of the exterior of the building be in keeping with the present development of Madison Avenue.

J. Pierpont Morgan, whose residence and library are diagonally opposite, and who owns the major portion of the property directly opposite the Astor holdings, was represented at the hearing by Edmund L. Baylies, who presented a vigorous protest to the proposed change in the zoning law. Henry W. Taft appeared for Lord Astor.

"The plans," said Mr. Taft, "call for a handsome seven-story modern structure, 120 feet in height, which has been approved by the Superintendent of Buildings, and will be used for high-class business purposes. The present residential neighborhood will not be affected any more than it is at present, as practically on all the side streets buildings have been and still are being converted for business occupancy. The question is whether you deprive the city of an ornamental improvement and all the incidental additional revnue for the benefit of an owner across the street.

"The present city administration is cutting down the cost of city government. On account of this restriction we obtained a reduction last year of $234,000 on the assessed valuation of this block front, resulting in a loss to the city of $7,000 in taxes. By going ahead with the erection of this $1,000,000 business building the city will gain $20,000 a year more in taxes, or a total gain of $33,000."

Edmund L. Baylies, speaking in behalf of Mr. Morgan and the Murray Hill Association, said:

"The opposition is attempting to make this a fight between dollars and homes. The argument of my opponent is that Lord Astor is not getting enough. He wants more, and at the expense of the residents of Murray Hill.

"It is untrue that this is a fight between Lord Astor and Mr. Morgan. We have only two main points to consider. This board has not the power under the zoning law to grant this appeal, and, secondly, even if it had the power it would not wish to grant it.

"The opposition appeared twice before the Board of Estimate in the last administration seeking this change, and twice it was denied. They have a new petition before the present Board of Estimate, whose Committee on City Plan has it under advisement and is about to render a report. Now that it is being considered by the Board of Estimate, a superior body to yours, I urge you to withhold your decision until we are advised of the action of that board."

Following this plea, one of the members of the Board of Appeals suggested that a special committee be appointed to study the situation and report in a week, but upon motion of Fire Chief Kenlon, another member of the board, it was decided to take immediate action. The appeal was then granted.

Mr. Baylies declined to discuss his next move in the case, and, being asked whether he contemplated further legal action, said: "It would be strange if we did not."

The request, at the close of the hearing, that his objections be placed on the record, coupled with the action taken at a recent meeting of the Murray Hill Association, in which that organization opposed the change, leads to the belief that the issue had been far from settled.

The situation is further complicated by reason of the fact that the same matter is being considered by the Committee on City Plan, of the Board of Estimate, whose report has practically been completed and may be submitted for action at the meeting on Friday.

AIDS SALVATION ARMY FUND.

Telegram by Secretary McAdoo Read at Luncheon Here.

Among the speakers at a luncheon at the Lawyers Club, 115 Broadway, yesterday, attended by members of the War Work Committee of the Salvation Army, which is pushing the drive for $350,000 as New York's quota for the Salvation Army war fund, were Lieutenant P. W. Shill of the Canadian Army and Sergeant S. P. Barre of the 18th United States Infantry, both of whom have seen service in France, and K. B. Conger, who has recently become Chairman of the Borough of Manhattan Salvation Army War Work Committee. The following telegram received by Mr. Conger from Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo and dated from a Western city where the Secretary is on a speaking tour, was applauded:

I am delighted to hear of your selection as Chairman of the Manhattan Borough Salvation Army War Work Committee, and earnestly hope you may be successful in raising necessary funds for the Salvation Army, which has always done such admirable work for humanity. My best wishes go with you in this new and highly patriotic service you have undertaken.

The officers paid a high tribute to the work of the Salvation Army at the front.

A MAYOR HELD FOR FRAUD.

H. I. Brolasky of California Brought Here a Prisoner.

Harry I. Brolasky, Mayor of Redondo Beach, Cal., arrived here yesterday in custody of Detective Joseph Daly of the Second Branch Bureau and was at once taken to the Court of General Sessions, where he was arraigned before Judge Mulqueen, who held him in $10,000 bail on an indictment charging him with publishing false financial advertising in connection with the sale of stock in the Standard Films Industries.

R. S. Davidson, who was a partner with Brolasky in the firm of R. S. Davidson & Co. at 42 Broadway, and Louis D. Jennings, President of the Standard Films Industries, Inc., were indicted at the same time as Brolasky.

HYLAN SIGNS BILL FOR SUBWAY RELIEF

Contractors to Complete Work on New Construction at Cost.

AGREE TO WAIVE PROFITS

Mayor Says He Doubts Constitutionality of Measure, but Approves It Anyway.

The Lockwood bill, authorizing the Public Service Commission and the Board of Estimate to relieve the contractors building the new subways from the burdens placed upon them by the high costs of labor and materials, and to do whatever is best to complete the work as speedily as possible, was approved yesterday by Mayor Hylan. It is expected the Governor will now sign the bill.

That arrangements will be made with the present contractors to complete the work at cost, with the understanding that the contractors will forego all profits, is probable, because it is believed that this will be the cheapest and most expeditious way of getting the much needed lines in operation. With his approval of the measure the Mayor filed this memorandum:

"I have serious doubts as to the necessity of this bill, and the Corporation Counsel advises me that there is grave doubt in his mind as to its constitutionality. In view, however, of the persistent efforts of the Public Service Commission in support of this bill, and after consulting with the Board of Estimate, I have concluded to accept it on behalf of the City of New York."

After the bill was drawn it was carefully studied by ex-Judge William L. Ransom, chief counsel of the Public Service Commission, and by the Attorney General, and both expressed the opinion that it was constitutional. In a letter to the Mayor on April 23, Chairman Straus called especial attention to the constitutional aspects of the bill, and quoted from an opinion prepared by Judge Ransom to the effect that the Legislature had the right to authorize the authorities to deal with emergency conditions, and to adopt the course best designed to get essential work actually completed in war time.

A statement by the commission said that the bill clearly and definitely provides that the commission and the Board of Estimate be clothed with power to meet any emergency for the speedy completion of the much-needed rapid transit lines.

Just what the additional cost of completing the lines will be is not known. In a letter to Theodore P. Shonts on March 27 the Mayor roughly estimated that the cost would be from $6,000,000 to $8,000,000 over the present contract prices. Construction work to the value of $117,000,000 has been completed and $45,000,000 worth of work on additional contracts totaling $60,000,000 is also finished. Altogether there is about $35,000,000 worth of work awaiting completion, and if the Mayor's estimate of the additional cost is accurate, it would mean an increase of about 35 per cent., which is considered reasonable.

TOWNER BILL HEARING MAY 8

Defense Society Fights German Insurance Co. Measure.

The hearing on the Towner bill, permitting German insurance concerns to continue in business by forming domestic insurance companies, has been postponed by Governor Whitman following a request made by Mitchell A. Palmer, Alien Property Custodian, according to an announcement made yesterday by the American Defense Society, which has been fighting the measure. Mr. Palmer acted after a conference in Washington on Monday with Richard M. Hurd, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the American Defense Society, and several prominent insurance men, among them being Archibald E. Stevenson, Frederick B. Campbell, and E. M. Sawtelle.

Three reasons are given by Mr. Stevenson as the basis of objections to the Towner measure. They are, first, that the bill gives enemy interests the opportunity to buy back during the war their insurance system, which has been shown to be a system of espionage; second, the bill purports to authorize the violation of trusts excepting for the benefit of American policyholders in such foreign insurance companies; and, third, that the whole measure as drawn is ambiguous, impractical, and wholly unnecessary.

The hearing will be held Wednesday, May 8, according to present plans.

METAL CONTROL BILL PASSES HOUSE, 291 TO 6

Appropriation Cut to $10,000,000 in Conservation Measure—Price Fixing Eliminated.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The Administration bill to control, encourage, and conserve the minor metals in the United States, essential to war industry, was passed in the House today by a vote of 291 to 6, after a section authorizing the President to fix the prices of such metals had been eliminated.

The bill, supported by the Secretary of the Interior and the War Industry Board, encountered little opposition except as to the features dealing with price fixing. The temper of the House upon legislation of this character was shown when, upon a motion offered by Representative Garland of Pennsylvania, the House in committee of the whole agreed to recommit the bill and eliminate the section by a vote of 156 to 150.

By a vote of 64 to 34 the revolving fund, created to purchase metals and to aid producers in developing mines, was reduced from $50,000,000 to $10,000,000. The elimination of the price-fixing authority and the reduction of the revolving fund were the only changes made in the bill.

Producers engaged in the mining and sale of such metals, as antimony, manganese, tungsten, and others necessary for the manufacture of munitions of war, are to be licensed and controlled by the Department of the Interior. The department is authorized to control the price by withdrawing the license of any producer who shall impose "an unjust or unreasonable profit."

The following minerals are defined as essential to war production and subject to control, regulation and distribution by the Federal Government: Antimony, arsenic, ball clay, bismuth, bromine, cerium, chalk, chromium, cobalt, corundum, emery, flourspar, ferrotitanium, fuller's earth, graphite, grinding pebbles, iridium, kaoline, magnesite, manganese, mercury, mica, molybdenum, osmium, sea salt, platinum, palladium, paper clay, potassium pyrites, radium, sulphur, thorium, tin, titanium, tungsten, uranium, vanadium, zirconium, and their metallurgical products and chemical compounds.

Another object of the bill is to build up American industries, as dye manufacturing.

SAVANNAH LINER SUNK BY FRENCH WARSHIP, 67 LOST

City of Athens, Rammed in Dense Fog Near Delaware Coast, Sank Rapidly.

ONLY 68 COULD BE SAVED

Women Passengers, Roused from Sleep, Aided by American Marines and French Sailors.

LIFEBOATS WERE CAPSIZED

Complaints Made by Marines That Apparatus was Not in Proper Order —Searchlights Saved Swimmers.

AN ATLANTIC PORT, May 1.—The coastwise steamer City of Athens of the Savanah Line, bound for Savanah, Ga., was rammed by a French warship [name omitted at the request of the French Embassy] in a dense fog off Cape Romaine, near the Delaware coast, shortly after 1 o'clock this morning, sixty-seven lives being lost. The steel bow of the warship cut through the side of the steamer like paper, making a huge hole which began to fill up at once. The City of Athens was sinking rapidly before the warship could man boats for rescue, and within a few minutes after the shock the steamer shot down under the water bow foremost.

Three large lifeboats were put off from the sinking ship, one of which capsized as it hit the water and most of those on board were lost. Several life rafts followed, but the sinking took place so rapidly, that several of the life-saving craft could not be launched. Many of those on the dock when the steamer went down were drowned almost immediately, while others remained afloat on wreckage and were either picked up by small boats from the cruiser or eventually lost. Because of the speed of the ship's sinking and the fog which impeded rescue, only sixty-eight of the passengers and crew were saved out of a total of 135.

1,000 "Match" the President As He Buys Bond at Theatre

WASHINGTON, May 1.—President Wilson went to a local theatre tonight and formally offered his "buy another bond" $50 subscription to a four-minute speaker. The audience rose and cheered lustily. A landslide of subscriptions followed, more than half of the 2,000 persons present "matching the President," and the total ran over $300,000.

Some one speaking for Francis R. Mayer of New York offered to take $100,000 of bonds if 200 $50 subscriptions were forthcoming. Two hundred subscribers promptly responded, and the $100,000 sale was recorded.

TOTAL LOAN $2,579,079,400

Tuesday's Subscriptions $121,334,500, Leaving $420,920,600 Yet to be Raised.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—The subscriptions to the Third Liberty Loan up to last night total $2,579,079,400. Today's returns are expected to make another record. This hope is based on the effect of President Wilson's example, set today, when he subscribed for a $50 bond on the monthly payment plan, and authorized the request that as many persons as possible match his final subscription. The President had previously made large subscriptions—nearly $20,000—and had gone as far as his present means would justify.

The Loan Publicity Bureau placed thousands of telegrams on the wires to every part of the country heralding the President's act and suggesting the formation everywhere of "Match the President" clubs. A telegram came to the White House from a little girl telling the President she had "matched him." The Philadelphia Committee wired that in one restaurant alone seventy-nine persons had matched the President's purchase during the lunch hour. Boston wired that the whole Loan Committee had promptly imitated the Chief Magistrate and thereby had started the entire city to doing the same.

At 20,000 meetings throughout the country four-minute speakers tonight invited their audiences to match the President. The invitation will be repeated at every public meeting in the United States until the close of the loan Saturday night.

Yesterday's total subscriptions were $121,334,500, as compared with $174,448,000 Monday, the red letter day of the campaign thus far. The amount to be raised in the last four days of the campaign is $420,920,600, a daily average of $105,230,150. The number of bond purchasers now exceeds 12,000,000.

Totals by Reserve Districts.

The totals by Federal Reserve districts follow:

District.	Quota.	Subscription.
Minneapolis	$165,000,000	$135,579,450
St. Louis.....	130,000,000	156,324,350
Kansas City....	130,000,000	148,409,350
Chicago	425,000,000	406,947,000
San Francisco...	210,000,000	194,988,900
Dallas	80,000,000	72,597,200
Boston	250,000,000	221,971,150
Cleveland	300,000,000	247,329,150
Philadelphia	250,000,000	297,805,000
Richmond	150,000,000	94,126,250
New York	900,000,000	633,956,800
Atlanta	90,000,000	57,101,700
Total.....	3,000,000,000	$2,670,079,400

Thus the New York district had yet to buy $266,043,200 of bonds to fill its quota, Chicago, $8,053,000; Dallas, $7,402,700; San Francisco, $15,061,100; Boston, $28,028,850; Cleveland, $52,670,850; Philadelphia, $42,195,000; Richmond, $31,873,750, and Atlanta, $32,898,300.

The percentages of quotas obtained by districts follow: Minnsapolis, 127; St. Louis, 120; Kansas City, 114; Chicago, 95; San Francisco, 92; Dallas, 90; Boston, 88; Cleveland, 82; Philadelphia, 80; Richmond, 75; New York, 70, and Atlanta, 63.

The Minneapolis district reported that official figures showed that every State within its borders had oversubscribed, and that unofficial figures indicated that every county had made a similar record. A total of 2,468 communities in the district have gone over the top and been awarded honor flags.

"We believe this record beats anything in the United States," the report said. "If not, tell us what it is, and we will go out and beat that."

In so far as the records of the Treasury Department indicate, the Minneapolis claim is well founded. The St. Louis district, however, is pressing Min-

FOE BUSY BURYING DEAD

Broken Divisions Being Replaced by Fresh Troops for Another Assault.

By PHILIP GIBBS.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WAR CORRESPONDENTS' HEADQUARTERS, Wednesday, May 1.—The Germans are very quiet in their lines since they were repulsed so utterly in their attacks against Scherpenberg and the British lines around Ypres. Even their guns were not very active last night, and today they are burying their dead and getting back their wounded, and taking the broken divisions out of the line to replace them with fresh troops for another battle.

I believe that will happen, because now that the enemy has Kemmel Hill his temptation to seize the three hills below is predominant, and there is no doubt that he will again risk the loss of many men to gain these positions. From the political point of view Ypres is also a lure to him, and there would be a great blowing of trumpets in Germany if their troops could capture that city of the salient, which as a name and a ruin is the great shrine of the British Army in this war.

Now that the French are with the British to strengthen the latter's defensive power, which has sustained such furious onslaughts by over 100 German divisions since six weeks ago, the next battle in Flanders may not give the enemy any further ground than the day before yesterday, which was nothing at all, and it is certain, anyhow, that not a yard of it will be yielded until the next waves of German soldiers have paid great sums of life.

Foe Used Two More Divisions.

In the last battle two additional divisions have now been identified as having been put in against the British front in Flanders, one being the 117th, near Voormezeele, and the other the 3d Guards Division, including the Maikaefer, or Cockchafers, whom the Welsh regiments shattered at Pilkem last year and who have fought against the British in the Cambrai salient.

Last night, when no doubt German reliefs were in progress, the British guns turned loose with shrapnel and high explosives upon the transport and troops crowding the track from Vierstraat to Wytschaete, and this morning the enemy had more dead to bury. So the slaughter goes on.

During a rare day without great news there is an opportunity of writing a few words about some of the British battalions who in the earlier fighting during these recent battles were wonderful in courage and endurance and self-sacrifice, but have not yet appeared in our narratives because for a time it was inadvisable to mention their presence in the battleline. They are battalions of Guards. There is no need for secrecy now, because the enemy met them at close quarters and knows how these men fought, sometimes in small bodies almost to the last man.

The recent history of the Guards begins with the battle of Arras on March 28, when the 56th London Division and 15th Scottish and the grand old 3d Division made their wonderful stand against one of the biggest efforts of the enemy.

Routed Foe With Bayonets.

On the 28th and 30th the Guards were heavily attacked and beat off the enemy's storm troops with exceedingly great losses to them, the Grenadiers making a counterattack near Boileaux St. Marc with fixed bayonets and flinging the enemy back from the ground they had gained.

But later than that battalions of Guards have been fighting in the north around the forest of Nieppe and between Lepinete and Vieux Berquin. That was from April 11 to 14, after the Germans had broken through the Portuguese line and with the full weight of their forces endeavored to widen the gap—did, indeed, widen the gap, pushing up between Armentières and Merville by gaining the crossings of the Lys.

The Grenadier, Irish, and Coldstream Guards were sent forward along the Hazebrouck-Estaires road when the situation was at its worst, when the men of the 15th Division and other units had fought themselves out in continual rearguard and holding actions, so that some of those still in the line could hardly walk or stand, and when it was utterly necessary to keep the Germans in check until a body of Australian troops had time to arrive. The Guards were asked to hold back the enemy until those Australians came and to fight at all costs for forty-eight hours against the German tide of men and guns which was attempting to flow around the other hard pressed men, and that is what the Guards did, fighting in separate bodies with the enemy pressing in on both flanks.

Fought Back to Back.

Greatly outnumbered, they beat back attack after attack, and gained precious hours, vital hours, by the most noble self-sacrifice. A party of Grenadiers were so closely surrounded that their officer sent back a message saying:

"My men are standing back to back and shooting on all sides."

The Germans swung around them, circling them with machine guns and rifles and pouring a fire into them until only eighteen men were left. Those eighteen, standing among their wounded and their dead, did not surrender. The army wanted forty-eight hours. They fixed bayonets and went out against the enemy and drove through him. A wounded Corporal of Grenadiers, who afterward got back to the British lines, lay in a ditch, and the last he saw of his comrades was when fourteen men of them were still fighting in a swarm of Germans.

The Coldstream Guards were surrounded in the same way and fought in the same way. The army had asked for forty-eight hours until the Australians could come, and many of the Coldstreamers eked out the time with their lives. The enemy filtered in on their flanks, came crawling around them with machine guns, sniped them from short range and raked them from ditches and upheaved earth.

The Coldstream Guards had to fall back, but they fought back in small groups, facing all ways and making gaps in the enemy's ranks, not firing wildly, but using every round of small arms ammunition to keep a German back and gain a little more time. One private, an old timer, remained in an outpost until every-

Germans Leave "Souvenirs" To Kill Unwary Americans

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, May 1, (Associated Press.)—Knowing that the Americans are persistent souvenir hunters, the Germans in the Toul sector have been strewing No Man's Land with all sorts of infernal devices.

These consist of electric wires attached to belts, helmets, rifles, and other paraphernalia connecting with concealed bombs.

In a number of instances American soldiers have tripped over these and escaped.

OUR OWN LOSSES SEVERE

French Applaud the Bravery of Our Soldiers in the Violent Encounter.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY, May 1, (Associated Press.) — A heavy German attack launched yesterday against the Americans in the vicinity of Villers-Bretonneux was repulsed with heavy losses for the enemy.

The German preliminary bombardment lasted two hours, and then the infantry rushed forward, only to be driven back, leaving large numbers of dead on the ground in front of the American lines.

The German bombardment opened at 5 o'clock in the afternoon and was directed especially against the Americans, who were supported on the north and south by the French. The fire was intense, and at the end of two hours the German commander sent forward three battalions of infantry.

There was hand-to-hand fighting all along the line, as a result of which the enemy was thrust back, his dead and wounded lying on the ground in all directions. Five prisoners remained in American hands.

The struggle, which lasted a considerable time, was extremely violent, and the Americans displayed marked bravery throughout.

It was the first occasion in which the Americans were engaged in the big battle which has been raging since March 21, and their French comrades are full of praise for the manner in which they conducted themselves under trying circumstances, especially in view of the fact that they are fighting at one of the most difficult points on the battlefront.

The American losses were rather severe.

Patrols' Clashes in Dark.

WITH AN AMERICAN ARMY ON A FRENCH BATTLEFRONT, April 30, (Associated Press.)—The situation along the American sector is gradually becoming stabilized.

There have been no infantry encounters in the last forty-eight hours, although small patrol parties or outposts have met in the darkness and mist.

Despite rain and poor visibility the American and French artillery have been most active in shelling enemy back areas. An American battery has been laying a heavy fire on enemy batteries and positions around a certain village which has been virtually wiped out.

The German artillery is less active than on the days immediately following the Americans' appearance on this sector. The Germans are throwing some gas shells.

Weather conditions prevent aerial activity on either side.

KAISER BOASTS IN FLANDERS.

Tells His Men They Will "Put the British Back on the Channel."

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN FLANDERS, May 1, (Associated Press.)—Emperor William appears to have been an interested and active visitor in the Flanders region yesterday. According to prisoners, he has been making his usual flamboyant speeches to the troops, and he told them the other day that the Germans were trying to separate the French and British armies, adding characteristically that the Germans were going to "put the British back on the English Channel, where they belonged."

All Allied Armies in France Now Fused Into One; Each Division Available for Service at Any Point

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.
From a Staff Correspondent.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES, May 1.—THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent is able to state on the best authority that the allied unity of command implies not only the sole direction of operations by General Foch and the utilization of reserves in common, but also the complete fusion of the American, British, and French Armies.

Henceforth divisions withdrawn from one battle sector, may be sent, (no matter what their nationality,) to any other sector along the whole line from the sea to Switzerland.

Hitherto there have been certain parts of the front set aside as British, French, or American. Unity of command changes all that.

In the battle sectors there will be fighting divisions of Americans, French, or English. In quiet localities there will be units of the three allied armies training for the big struggle, or recovering from the effects of having been engaged in it; but all distinctions will have vanished. The Allies now form one army in France, fighting for one purpose under one chief.

GERMAN LOSSES 350,000

Copyright, 1918, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.
From a Staff Correspondent.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES, May 1.—The Allies now have a number of fresh divisions greatly superior to the Germans. In a battle such as this the wear and tear of the troops engaged is one of the most important factors. The French know that the enemy's losses have been extremely heavy, and know, too, that their own and those of the British leave a big margin in favor of the Allies.

According to a conservative estimate the Germans have lost approximately 350,000 men in this battle to date. By a study of averages throughout this war 2,200 is shown to be the loss which a German division must suffer before it is withdrawn from the firing line. The Allies have already identified 186 German divisions that entered the battle and have been removed for reorganization and engaged or re-engaged, which permits an estimate of the enemy's losses. Of the total German forces on this western front only sixty-six divisions have not been thrown in at least once, of which it is known that at least ten—Landsturm and the like—are incapable of taking part in a battle of this character.

Allowing for refitted units, whose value is naturally greatly inferior both in morale and training to their predecessors, the enemy thus may be said to possess sufficient force for one more violent drive. When that fails, as the Allies are justified in believing it will, after having repelled the original onslaught, their turn will come.

The universal optimism which THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent has remarked on this French front is evidenced in the extraordinary élan of the poilus, who are delighted to exchange the monotony of the trenches for what they term "real fighting." Those best qualified to know attribute French resistance against overwhelming odds largely to this factor. Its importance cannot be overestimated in view of the subsequent operations.

Sure Amiens Is German Objective.

It may have seemed astonishing to the American public that, despite the bitterness of the Flanders fighting and the heavy numbers engaged on both sides, French and British military critics have insisted that the Amiens front was the real centre of the German objective, and that against which the chief effort was always to be expected. The reasons are simple. Firstly, the concentration of German divisions is such that the great majority of the enemy forces are still aligned along the chord of the semicircle from Arras to Montdidier. Secondly, it is known to the French that the attack in Flanders was originally intended as a diversion only. The proof is that the Germans began the battle with the troops hold-

Allies Predict Teuton Concessions—Kaisers Soon to Meet —Sixtus Confers in Spain.

LONDON, May 1.—Many signs have been noted here which confirm Washington expectations of the probability of the Germans starting shortly a great peace offensive. THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent learns that moves by enemy agents in Switzerland are under close observation and that the German policy is already foreseen.

In this connection Germany may try to take advantage of expected action by the Pope. A British Admiralty dispatch, per Wireless Press from The Hague, says that Cologne newspapers announce that the Pope intends to issue a new proposal for peace to all the belligerent nations at Whitsuntide, (May 19.) The document is to be of a more pressing nature than the former one from the Vatican and will contain concrete offers of mediation by the Holy See, with the possible co-operation of the neutral sovereigns of Europe.

Similar information regarding the Pope's intention has reached Berlin, where it is stated to have been sympathetically received.

So far as Germany is concerned, it is not expected that the peace suggestions will be offered until the great attack in the Amiens-Arras region which Ludendorff is preparing has been launched. After that is over Berlin is expected to claim that it has won considerable advantages, but that it is ready, despite its victories, to offer peace on reasonable terms; that if they are rejected the responsibility must rest on the Allies, and that the Central Powers will pursue their irresistible course until they have driven their enemies into the sea.

The kind of terms that will probably be proposed include the restoration of Belgium, the cession of French Lorraine to France, no indemnities, and the return of the German colonies and other conquests from the Central Powers. The Germans have realized that their treatment of Russia is an absolute obstacle to any Government again putting faith in their promises, and they may even express a willingness to revise the treaties of Brest-Litovsk and Bucharest.

In well informed circles here, however, it is not believed that this peace offensive will produce any considerable reaction in its favor in this country. The German game is too easily seen through to win many converts, and the idea is laughed at that after the practical repudiation of the Reichstag's famous no annexation and no indemnities resolution of last Summer immediately the military situation looked rather brighter, and after the demonstration of Germany's powerlessness to win anything like a decisive victory on the western front any British leader of real authority will be found willing to swallow the new Hun bun.

BRITISH CHECK A RAID

Rout Assailants Near St. Julien and Rush German Posts in the Meteren Sector.

LONDON, May 1.—Aside from heavy shelling by the Germans of French positions in the Locre sector and their bombardment of the back areas near Bethune there was little activity today on the Lys-Ypres front, the German High Command being evidently busy reorganizing the divisions shattered in the fighting of the last few days.

Field Marshal Haig reports that the French last night improved their lines in the neighborhood of Locre, and that his own troops yesterday repulsed a minor attack near St. Julien and rushed German posts in the Meteren sector, taking a few prisoners.

In the month of April, the British commander says, the English took 5,241 prisoners, including 136 officers.

Following is the text of the night bulletin:

The enemy's artillery has been active today against the back areas in the neighborhood of Bethune and has heavily shelled French positions on the Locre sector.

On the remainder of the front there is nothing to report beyond the usual artillery activity and local encounters on both sides.

The number of German prisoners captured by the British armies in France during March was 1,061, including sixty-nine officers. In April a further 5,241 prisoners, including 136 officers, were captured. These figures are exclusive of the prisoners taken by the French.

The afternoon statement reads:

A local attack made by the enemy yesterday upon one of our posts in the neighborhood of St. Julien was repulsed by machine-gun fire. Posts held by the enemy in the Meteren sector were rushed by our troops during the night and a few prisoners were secured by us.

By a successful minor enterprise carried out last night French troops improved the positions held by them in the neighborhood of Locre.

The following communication dealing with aviation was issued tonight:

Mist and rain again prevented flying Tuesday, except for a few low reconnoissances in the course of which bombs were dropped on the enemy's troops between Locre and Voormezeele.

One hostile machine was forced to land behind our lines. One of ours is missing.

Germans Reorganizing for Attack.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN FLANDERS, May 1, (Associated Press.)—General von Arnim made no further move along the Flanders battlefront last night, nor had an attack been expected. The heavy defeat which the Germans suffered on Monday forced them to pause and bring up fresh troops before continuing their drive for the hill positions in the Kemmel region. A few more hours, however, will suffice for their reorganization, and another assault may be expected immediately.

The seriousness of the German intentions here has been evinced in numerous ways. On Monday, for example, they pushed at least one field gun forward to within 700 yards of the battlelins, and other guns were brought close up.

Heavy artillery firing continued at various parts of the battleline during the night, and there were the usual outpost actions. The back areas between Ypres and Hazebrouck wers heavily shelled by the Germans. An enemy attempt yesterday afternoon to cut the barbed wire at Wieltje was dispersed by artillery fire.

German Boys Called to the Front.

Prisoners say that the soldiers of the 1920 class are being mustered in in the Offenbach district, (near Frankfort,) and they have been mustered in in the district of Nimptsch, (in Silesia.) Some of this class are already in the field, but they are not to be used in battle unless their aid is absolutely necessary.

The recent fighting in Flanders has furnished many unusual and trying experiences for civilians living near the front, but nons of these was more amazing than that of two tiny French children who are in a British military hospital. They were among the few unfortunate persons who remained in Neuve Eglise when the Germans overran that place. The town immediately became a centra of fighting which was continually changing hands, and German soldiers took these two babies into trenches for their protection.

In a counterattack the British stormed and captured the trench. They found the little ones safe and sound and brought them back. The children had been living under terrific gunfire, and how they escaped death cannot be accounted for.

Another French baby was found by two British signalmen at another place. At the child had no protection, the soldiers took it with them to their billet in a barn. That night the signalmen went to sleep with the baby between them so that no harm might come to it. German airmen bombed the barn and both the "Tommies" were killed. The child escaped injury and later was rescued by other soldiers.

Germans Explain Defeats.

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, May 1, (via Ottawa.)—The Australians today rushed an enemy post near Meteren.

The German field depots are being heavily drawn upon to replace recent casualties. The 13th German Reserve Division has just received a company of 250 boys of the 1919-20 class, who had only eight weeks' training, and were not to be put into the fighting unless absolutely necessary. But the fact that they are now in the division in the battleline suggests the anticipation that they may have to be used.

Prisoners say there has been in progress behind the enemy line a good deal of explaining away of defeats. When an attack is repulsed the German officers tell the man it was not seriously intended as an offensive manoeuvre, but merely as a reconnoissance in force to teet the strength of the enemy.

SHELLING ON FRENCH FRONT.

Bombardments the Chief Feature of Fighting Along Somme Lines.

PARIS, May 1.—Lively bombardments in the region north of Montdidier were the chief feature of today's fighting on the French front. Exchanges of gunfire of considerable intensity occurred last night on the Somme front near Villers-Bretonneux and on both sides of the Avre, southeast of Amiens.

The War Office bulletin, issued tonight, says:

There is nothing to report during the course of the day except quite lively bombardments in the region north of Montdidier.

On April 30 Sub-Lieutenant Guerin brought down his twentieth enemy machine.

The text of the day report follows:

Artillery actions of some violence took place in the region of Villers-Bretonneux and on both banks of the Avre.

In Lorraine French patrols brought in prisoners.

The night was quiet on the remainder of the front.

FRENCH FAILED, BERLIN SAYS.

Reports Assaults Near Dranoutre Shattered by German Fire.

BERLIN, May 1, (via London.)—Fresh French forces have vainly attempted an advance against Dranoutre. Their assault, several times repeated, broke down, according to the German official communication issued today.

The statement reads:

In Flanders the firing duel in the Locre and Dranoutre sectors revived to great intensity. French forces, thrown fresh into the battle, attempted vainly to press forward against Dranoutre. Their assaults, repeated several times, broke down under our fire.

On the battlefield on both sides of the Somme we carried out successful reconnoissanees. Thrusts into the enemy's lines southwest of Noyon and across the Oise-Aisne Canal, near Varennes, resulted in the bringing in of more than fifty prisoners.

On the remainder of the front there was nothing of importance to report.

CLEMENCEAU IS SATISFIED.

Tells French Deputies That the Allied Line Is Now Stabilized.

PARIS, May 1.—Premier Clemenceau, just returned from the front, entered the lobby of the Chamber of Deputies for a few minutes yesterday and to a crowd of Deputies explained the situation. It is understood that he declared he was satisfied fully with the course of events.

What the Premier told the Deputies was of a confidential nature, but it may be said that he asserted that the front as a whole had become stable, and that steps taken by the high command justified the opinion that points against which the enemy had directed his attacks were out of immediate danger.

LONDON PRESS IS HOPEFUL.

Regards Monday's Battle as a Very Substantial Victory.

LONDON, May 1.—The failure of the German attacks southwest of Ypres on Monday, with its immense losses to the enemy, is commented on here in a more hopeful and more confident tone, which is in marked contrast with some recent utterances regarding the news of the progress of the German advances toward the Channel ports.

The general opinion is that the enemy on Monday suffered the most severe and costly repulse since he began his offensive on March 21, and it is contended that if the terms of victory and defeat are applicable to single phases of such a prolonged battle, then the Allies on Monday won a very substantial victory.

Comparison is made between the present operations and the French defense of Verdun, and the opinion is expressed that the Germans' experience on the Verdun front is being repeated in their effort to capture the group of hills southwest of Ypres. The enemy's failure up to this time to achieve his object, and especially his bloody repulse on Monday, are universally regarded as of hopeful augury for the future of the allied dalense.

Nevertheless, the commentators warn against optimism. They remark that, although the enemy has been foiled, it does not mean necessarily that his enterprise has been abandoned, but rather that it has been suspended in favor of an attack at some point where a successful defense seems lees assured.

The Times says:

"Of all the violent combats witnessed in the last few weeks wa know of nons which is of more hopeful augury for the Allies than this ten-mile German failure."

It is pointed out that, although the public is prone to reckon victory in tarms of offensive success, a defensive victory like that on Monday may contribute equally toward the ultimate object of the campaign, namely, the destruction of the enemy's fighting strength. From this point of view the Germans, despite their spectacular successes, may be regarded as having had the worst of the balance of nearly six weeks of fighting, for it must not be forgotten that they sustained a series of disastrous losses, of which that of Monday was the most sanguinary of the past fortnight.

Indeed, apart from the capture of Kemmel Hill, their recent offensive has been one complete failure, including four separate defeats in pitched battles. These were on La Bassée Canal, on the Belgian front, at Villers-Bretonneux, and now on the Bailleul-Ypres front. The cumulative effect of this has been immensely to increase the confidence of the Anglo-French troops, whom the correspondents describe as now feeling that they have got the measure of the new enemy divisions.

Other strokes will undoubtedly coma before the German reserves are exhausted, but confidence is fait that wherever the Germans try they will find the Allies ready. Now that the attack of no fewer than 100,000 Germans has been broken in a sheer trial of strength on ground nons too favorable by the thinner allied line, there is a growing hope that Ypres will not he abandoned.

The Germans apparently are ae anxious to capture Ypres as they were to take Verdun two years ago, and it now looks as though their experience at the French fortress was about to be repeated. The loss of Ypres, the newspapers say, would be less serious than tha loss of Vedun would then have been. But now that the Allies have shown their ability te hold positions with a force smaller than that of their assailants, it may ha advantageous to hold Ypres and continue to inflict enormous losses.

Tha correspondente emphasize the fact that everything favored the Germans on Monday. Thay had magnificent artillery support, a favoring fog, tnnumerable machina guns, masses of men, and unlimited explosives, yet thay failed aftar experiencing a day of steady slaughter which only slackened with tha fading light.

The British alone between La Clytte and Zillebeke defeated five German divisions, hut tha valor of the French is also praised in the highest terms. They were fighting alongside the British, and their batteries were firing from the same fields in the spirit of the most loyal cooperation.

Tha Daily News concludes a hopeful editorial on the whole war situation with this paragraph:

"The new British advance in Mesopotamia threatens the most vulnerable spot of the German military system. Things are not going too well in Russia. The fact that Germany wants her prisoners in Russia back on her own terms throws some light on the stats of her man-power problem, nor is it clear that Germany's efforts to browbeat Holland are working to her advantage. Added to her economic anxieties, Germany has her hands pretty full."

The War Situation

Tha Germans were apparently unable during all of yesterday to renew their attacks in Flanders against the allied lines southwest of Ypres. Their losses in the previous three days' fighting were so heavy that the divisions engaged have had to be re-formed and reinforced for the next shock. In addition new supplies must be brought up and new artillery concentrations made.

This is the second time such a necessity has confronted the German commanders. Immediately after the fall of the Messines Ridge the activities ceased for several days, after which the attack began which has just been halted. This last attack, however, was the heaviest and most determined Germany has yet delivered. Consequently it was the most costly.

The battle has now reached the some stage as that at Verdun in June, 1916. No longer can it be a grand rush, breaking through advanced positions here and there with the high hope of forcing a way through the entire defensive sone. On the contrary, just as the battle of Verdun settled down to a fight for Le Mort Homme and Hill 304, so this fight has become a fight for a long series of limited objectives. The battle is not over; it may well last until Summer or even through the Summer. But there is reason to believe that the danger point has hecn passed. Thers must of neccssity bs further anxious moments. But the chence of German success now has been materisilly reduced.

Ths Allies' reserves have been mustered for the fight in both areas—in Flanders and in Picardy. They can be gathered, too, in absolute safety, for thers are no other points susceptible to attack where a material advance will do any harm. It matters not now, for instance, whether Germany is able to force back the lines in Champagne or at any other point on the French front. The danger is not thers, since not hy such a route can the sea be reached.

By the same reasoning, not by a success there can victory bs gained. The attacks must continue where thsy hava been begun, or fall completely. The Allies are ready, and, as has been proved, are fully eble to meet the enemy at both places. Ths last heavy attack south of ths Somme, which was delivered just before the tast offensive in Flanders began, proved a dismal failure. Such gains as were mads were almost as quickly lost, and the allied lines restored to their former position. This alone furnishes us with an indication of the allied strength in this sector. Of the fighting in the northern area, little additional need be said.

That ths Germans saw fit to expand such tremendous energy and such a great number of men in the north, which is not the field selected for their main effort, in itself tells eloquently of the failure of the plan to reach the sea along ths Somme. As a subsidiary operation to create a diversion or to clear up certain local points as an aid to the southern battle, the operation in Flanders presents one aspect. But as a major operation, conducted without regard to the southern situation, an operation begun for the obvious purpose of reaching tbe Channel ports in ths north, the picturs presented is entirely different. And the Flanders operation was a major operation, whatever it was intended to be when it first began. It wss a furnace into which a number of divisions have been fed, and the results are meagre. Thers is no opportunity now to wear down or wear out ths British troops. Rather ths reverse is the case.

With a deadlock reached in the south and a disastrous defeat sustained in the north, what will be Germany's next move? Ths alternatives which are presented to her leave hut little to choose from. There le only this consideration. The capturs of Calias or any other of ths Channel ports which does not divide the allied armies, but leaves their line still unbroken and continuous, will not bring victory, however embarrassing the allied situation may be as a result. To achieve victory there must he a rupture through a break by means of a German wedge thrust in between the two wings, or by a stretch of the sea interposed between the wings by the Germans reaching the coast at some point, such as Abbéville.

Therefore, the main offensive of the Germans, if they are to win, must come in the south, where such a division of forces is possible. This is the object and must so remain. Therefore, at some time in the action the Germans must return to their first choics and again press the offensive along the Somme. Evsrywhsre, however, their positions are unfavorable, and they hold but one advantage—that of superior lines through their interior position—and consequently greater fecilities for moving troops north and south. The long period of inactivity in the south—and there has been but one day of hard fighting there—would indicate that extensive preparations have been under way for a renewal of the offensive. But the next few days will decide.

In the meantime, hat has become of the allied reserve army? There is still every indication that this army is in existence, but there does not appear to bs any good reason why it should bs used at the momsnt. The French commander cannot afford to use this force until, by striking with it, he can achieve victory. There is no need as yet to use it for stopping the German advance, as this advance has been pretty thoroughly checked as things are. If this situation continues, if the subsequent attacks are held as have been the last two, it is the part of wisdom to delay the attack until ths Germans are more thoroughly exhausted than they are at present. For certainly the longer the Germans can be forced to attack in ths same manner as in the past three or four days, the greater will be the chances of victory when the allied blow does fall.

NEW GERMAN PEACE DRIVE IS FORESEEN

explained as designed merely in order to win a position from which he could safely talk peace. He has no desire for annexations, his agents are proclaiming, except for the transfer to Austria of certain Trentino communes of undoubted Austrian nationality, and he is not indisposed to consider an independent Dalmatia.

Meanwhile, as a preparation for peace talk in Germany itself, the obedient press there has changed its tone. It has switched the limelight off Hindenburg, the man of blood, and concentrated its eulogies on Ludendorff.

The most remarkable articles and write-ups have lately appeared about Ludendorff. He is a soldier, it is said, but he is also a statesman, a man of such breadth of vision and colossal intellect that he may be compared even with Bismarck. He can lead his soldiers to victory and can direct policies of strategy. He can make a speech even to Socialists, it is asserted, and move them to tears by his eloquence and patriotism.

Ludendorff, in fact, is the man likely to be put forward as the leader of the peace offensive, and the Germans, conscious of the growing urgency of peace if they are to stave off collapse and ruin, will trust to Ludendorff's game to keep their people quiet while they try to attract the Allies into their diplomatic net.

Papal Move Forecast in Munich.

The Munich Neueste Nachrichten, according to a London dispatch of April 23, said that the Pope would make a peace offer as soon as the western offensive had assumed a new phase. The Bavarian newspaper asserted that the move would take the form of "a word of warning addressed to the universal conscience."

Pope Benedict's peace proposals last August were preceded by reports through neutral countries that he was about to take such action. The Pope proposed the restoration of territory captured by the Central Powers; peaceful settlement of the Alsace-Lorraine, Trentino and Polish questions, reduction of all armaments and freedom of the seas.

President Wilson, in replying for the American and Entente Governments, refused the proposale on the ground that they would not lead to the goal which the Pope desired. The reply of the Central Powers, made some days after that of President Wilson, expressed hope that the Pope's efforts would result in a cessation of hostilities.

TEUTON KAISERS TO CONFER.

Emperor Charles and Burian Going to German Headquarters.

LONDON, May 1.—Emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary, accompanied by Baron Burian, the Foreign Minister, and their staffs, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Zurich, will proceed almost immediately to German Headquarters to confer with the German Emperor.

Ukrainian and Balkan affairs, it is added, will be discussed.

SIXTUS VISITS KING ALFONSO.

Confers on Peace Letters Exchanged with the Hapsburgs.

LONDON, May 1.—Prince Sixtus of Bourbon-Parma, to whom the famous letter written by Emperor Charles offering peace to France was addressed, the Times says, visited King Alfonso of Spain on Monday, according to the Madrid Sol. He was accompanied by his brother, Prince Xavier, and the Spanish newspaper understands that he gave to King Alfonso explanations on the subject of his correspondence with his Hapsburg relatives. (His sister Zita is Empress of Austria-Hungary.)

The Prince, it is added, and the fact may be of significance, asserts The Times, left the Spanish capital for the Belgian front.

Simultaneously the report reached Stockholm that Emperor Charles was making a fresh peace attempt and that he was appealing to Italy to consider it in her own interests. All that can be said about these rumors, The Times adds, is that they are not inherently incredible.

The duel monarchy and its ruler are unquestionably in a highly critical position, the newspaper continues, and it may well be that ths youthful Emperor is trying to tempt Italy, possibly also Belgium, as he tried to tempt France. The result of any such efforts would, it is added, be the same. They would interest the Allies only as fresh indications that the Emperor is conscious of the dangers which menace him and is seeking a wey of escape.

WASHINGTON DOUBTS MOVE.

Believes Vatican Knows Allies Will Not Compromise on Aims.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Secretary Lansing was today without any official confirmation of the report emenating from Cologne that Pope Benedict was on the verge of making a new offer of mediation.

The accuracy of the report is doubted here, as it is not believed that the Vatican is desirous at this time of making an offer of mediation, or taking any step in the direction of peace on its own initiative, in the facs of the known determination of the United Statse Government and ths Allies to carry on the war until the ideals for which the Entente nations are fighting have been achieved.

President Wilson has made it plain in his recent utterances, confirmed by his statement at Baltimore, that he does not feel that the German Government can be trusted in any possible peace negotiations undertaken in the immediate future, and that he considers it necessary to meet German force with American and Entente force until it is reasonably certain that a lasting peace can be arranged.

Just at this time the Washington Government is straining its energies to put troops into France and to back up with its resources the offer made by General Pershing to General Foch, for the use for the allied cause of the total resources and military power of the United States.

There le every ground for the statement that President Wilson has long since passed ths hour when he was ready to negotiate with those who now control the destinies of the German people. Developments since December on the Russian front, and the duplicity of the German Government in connection with the Brest-Litovsk conference, have driven it home harder than ever that there can be no peace along lines acceptable to President Wilson and Entente statesmen until Germany's military power has been sufficiently broken to insure for tha world a lasting peace.

LONDON, May 1.—In a letter to The London Press, Sidney Preston calls attention to moneys which have not been claimed for over 200 years and are recorded in an official advertisement that has just been published inquiring for representatives of the shareholders in the West New Jersey Society, on whose stock no dividends have been paid since 1692.

This society is alleged to have been a company of adventurers, formed in 1691 for the purpose of acquiring land in the colonies of British North America for trading purposes, and for the benefit of members thereof. Ths unclaimed balance of funds of thè society now amounts to £41,879.

LONDON, May 1.—Ian MacPherson, Under Secretary for War, replying in Parliament to questions recently asked, said that there did not appear to be any evidence to lead the medical authorities to believe that any of the wounds of the British soldiers in the German offensive had been caused by a new kind of explosive or chemical shell or gas.

NEUTRAL EXCHANGE PROBLEM TO ALLIES

O. T. Crosby of Interallied Board Coming from Paris to Discuss It with McAdoo.

DEPRECIATION IS COSTLY

Finance and Purchase Bureaus Organized in London and Paris and Ready for Work.

PARIS, May 1.—Oscar T. Crosby, President of the Interallied Council of War Purchases and Finance, is about to leave Paris for Washington for a conference with Secretary McAdoo concerning future financial relations between the United States and the Allies. The question of exchenge will also be discussed with a view to ameliorating existing conditions.

The French franc and the pound sterling are on a satisfactory basis with respect to the dollar, but the Italian lira, even in regard to allied currencies, is seriously impaired in value. In neutral countries all these currencies are at a discount.

"The support given in America to the pound sterling and the French franc has carried the dollar far below parity in neutral countries on account of the relations established between the three currencies," said Mr. Crosby. "All the European allies have been protected from loss on their exchange in America so far as their Government purchases in America are concerned, by loans made since the entrance of the United States into the war. Means are required to answer the serious depreciation in neutral countries as the balance of trade in such countries is now running against the allied powers. It will he well in this connection to dispel the opinion expressed in some uninformed quarters that there is profit to the United States, also to Great Britain, as the lending powers, in the difference between gold parity and ths actuelly quoted values of the French franc and the Italian lira. This idea is erroneous, since loans in dollers and sterling are expended chiefly for purchases in the United States and Great Britain which do not involve the question of exchenge.

"I would add that the United States, instead of profiting by existing conditions, has found its currency at a great disadvantage in neutral countries in spite of the fact that America is the creditor nation of the whole world except the Central Empires. The council will meet again about the first of June, when I expect to return. We will continue to discuss and recommend to Washington the needs of the Allies for purchases in the United States and neutral countries. By means of this council European representatives have been brought into contact since last December in respect to their own requirements and in regard to the requirements of the other Allies. Beneficial comparisons have been made in respect to the quantities, prices, and markets involved. The staff of the council in London and Paris is now perfected, and as soon as requisitions from the various Governments are received they will hegin the study of them for a report to the council.

"On my trip to America I will be accompanied by Robert Loree, a young American banker, one of the volunteer aids in the work. Paul D. Cravath, the legal adviser, will remain in Europe in my absence, aided by H. J. Cook, another American volunteer financial worker. J. B. Skinner, a banker of Minneapolis, has recently been appointed an additional member representing more particularly the Food Administration."

QUEEN'S MESSAGE INSPIRES.

Haig Says Army Is Heartened by Her Words.

LONDON, May 1, (via Ottawa.)—Queen Mary's recent letter to the troops has been published in a special order for the information of the troops in France, with ths following telegram to the Queen from Field Marshal Haig:

"The message your Majesty sent to the army and air force in the name of the women of the British Empire will inspire with new strength and fresh determination all those brave men from every part of the empire who on the battlefields of France and Flanders are fighting so gallantly for all they hold most dear.

"They who with their own eyes daily see the women and children homeless and once peaceful and prosperous villages and towns ruined and in flames have resolved that their own loved ones and homes shall not share that suffering. No peril can be too great, no sacrifice too extreme to save their country from such a fate.

"Side by side with our gallant allies, whose wrongs we feel as our own and are determined to set right, we will persevere in the fight against all odds until victory is at last achieved. In this great struggle we are heartened by the love and confidence of the women of the British Empire, of which your Majesty's most gracious message has given such moving expression."

Right Will Prevail, Says Pershing.

"Our forces appreciate your message; right sure to prevail," was ths text of a cable message from General John J. Pershing received here yesterday by Bishop James H. Darlington of Harrisburg, who on April 17 sent greetings from the House of Bishops of the Protestant Episcopal Church to the commander of the American forces in France.

Philip Gibbs's Story of the Great Battle

one of his comrades was dead or wounded, and for twenty minutes after that—twenty minutes of those forty-eight hours—kept the Germans back with his rifle until he was killed by a bomb.

Bought Each Minute With Blood.

Forty-eight hours is a long time in a war like this. For two days and nights the Irish Guards who had come up to support the Grenadiers and Coldstreamers tried to make a defensive flank, but the enemy worked past their right and attacked them on two sides. The Irish Guards were gaining time. They knew that was all they could do, just drag out the hours by buying each minute with their blood. One man fell and then another; but minutes were gained, and quarters of hours and hours.

Small parties of them lowered their bayonets and went out among the gray wolves swarming around them, and killed a number of them until they also fell. First one party and then another of these Irish Guards made those bayonet charges against men with machine guns and volleys of rifle fire. They bought time at a high price, but they did not stint themselves nor stop their bidding because of its costliness.

The brigade of Guards here and near Vieux Berquin held out for those forty-eight hours, and some of them were fighting still when the Australians arrived, according to the timetable.

I have told the story briefly and baldly, though every word I have written holds the thread of a noble and tragic episode. One day some soldier of the Guards will write it as he lived through it, and that saving of forty-eight hours outside the forest of Nieppe shall never be forgotten.

Allies Now Have Measure of Their Strength After Inflicting Five Serious Checks.

Copyright, 1918, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, May 1.—Paris is now speculating as to how long the Germans will be ehle to continue to endure the frightful losses of men which they are continually suffering on the western battlefront.

It is estimated by experts here that the Germans have had available for service on the west front since the break-up of frost in Russia 250 divisions at the very highest figure. Assuming that a German division still consists of 13,570 men, this would give a total available strength of 3,392,000.

Now during the five weeks that the great battle has already lasted at least 150 German divisions are known to have been so reduced or at icast fatigued to such extent that they have had to be taken out of the line.

It is true that many of them have been reinforced and thrown in again, sometimes several times in succession, as the evidence of prisoners has shown beyond dispute; but such made-over divisions are never of the same value as the fresh troops.

The people who are inclined to be pessimistic as to the present position of ths battle may well ask themselves this simple question: If after five weeks of desperate effort these 150 divisions, or 2,000,000 men, of the best existing German troops heve been unable to carry a single important town, such as Amiens, Arras, or Bethune, what likelihood is there that the enemy will achieve any greater success with the remaining hundred divisions? And what chance have these hundred divisions reaching either Paris or any one of the much longed-for channel ports?

In March when the battle began the Allies were ignorant of the strength behind the enemy's supreme blow. Since their tremendous offensive was definitely stayed before Arras on March 28 the Germans have suffered five extremely serious checks, two of which were real defeats. They were repulsed twice at Givenchy, which they anticipated as an easy conquest, and were thsn driven out of Villers Bretonnsux, where they were plainly licked. They were again beaten before Arras, where the Allies regained the lost ground, which the enemy hes not since attempted to recapture. And finally on Monday after making the greatest effort they had undertaken during the offensive in Flanders they were compelled to admit the Allies were too strong for them.

The Allies, in fact, have now got the measure of the German strength and no more serious setbacks, it is confidently believed here, may be anticipated.

Paris is safe and the Channel ports are safe. The losses of the fourth German army, under von Arnim, in Monday's battle are estimated here as at least 50,000.

Teutonic Powers Said to Have Agreed to Take Action.

LONDON, Thusday, May 2.—The Teutonic powers, the correspondent of the Daily Mail at Annemasse, France, says he has learned on reliable information, have decided to dethrone King Ferdinand of Rumania and install a ruler of their own choice.

He says that Germany some time ago tried to get Count Czernin, the Austro-Hungarian Foreign Minister, to consent to such action and that his removal from office has made an agreement possible.

ALLIES NOW AHEAD IN FRESH FORCES

ing the sector, instead of, as in a premeditated offensive on a big scale, bringing up special shock divisions.

The operation happened to be directed against the point of the allied line defended by a Portuguese division—courageous enough, but naturally less trained in modern warfare than the French, British, or Germans—and flanked on either side by British units that had already been engaged in the great battle, and sent to this sector to reorganize themselves after the arrival of the new drafts by which they were brought to their original strength. The attack thus fell on a weak point and succeeded beyond expectation.

Even then the Germans did not realize the possibilities of the situation. Instead of immediately flinging their best troops into the breach, they employed divisions—of good quality, but in no sense shock troops—brought up from Alsace to act as supports behind their better units. It was only when the difficulties of the allied situation became obvious that the enemy appreciated his opportunity and flung in some of his best divisions to exploit it.

The reports of the latest fighting indicate that the Allies have repaired the effects of this accidental weakness, and have checked the German advance in the north. Hence the natural conclusion that the enemy is now likely to resume his original scheme of a drive against the Amiens communication points.

Assassin of Archduke Ferdinand and Wife Expires in Austrian Fortress.

VICTIM OF TUBERCULOSIS

Killed Imperial Couple with Explosive Bullets After Attack with Bomb Had Failed.

LONDON, May 1.—Gavrio Prinzip, the assassin of Archduke Francis Ferdinand, heir apparent to the Austro-Hungarian throne, and his wife at Serajevo, Bosnia, died yesterday in a fortress near Prague of tuberculosis, telegraphs the correspondent at The Hague of the Exchange Telegraph Company.

Gavrio Prinzip was the 20-year-old son of a hoteikeeper in Sarajevo, the capital of Bosnia, who shot and killed the Archduke Francis Ferdinand and his morganatic wife, the Duchess of Hohenberg, on June 28, 1914, while they were visiting in the city. A bomb thrown at the archduecal carriage earlier in the day by one Medeljo Gabrinovitch had been warded off by ths Archduke, exploding under the carriage following. Prinzip eventually ran out into the street, got close up to the carriage, and shot the Archduke and his wife with explosive bullets, a single shot killing each.

This assassination was made the pretext for ths Austrian ultimatum to Serbia four weeks later, which led to the outbresk of the general war. It wee pretended that the conspiracy of Bosnian Serbs, who wanted union with Serbia, had been formed in Belgrade with the countenance of the Serbian Government. Since then, however, it has been made plain by evidence from many sources that Germany and Austria hed long been planning thie war, and that, in the words of Henry Morgenthau, American Ambassador to Turkey at the time, "the assassination was a godsend" to the leaders of the two empires.

PRINCES OF INDIA RENEW THEIR PLEDGE

Send Message to King George, Voicing Determination to Do Their Duty in the War.

LONDON, May 1.—A message from the Viceroy of India to the King-Emperor is given out officially tonight. It says:

"A conference of the ruling Princes and representative leaders of all classes of the people of India, assembled at Delhi, has authorized me in a resolution passed unanimously to convey to your Majesty, the King-Emperor, an expression of India's dutiful loyalty, in response to your gracious message, and assurance of her determination to continue to do her duty to her utmost capacity in the great crisis through which the Empire is passing.

"India is determined that your Majesty's confidence that she will not fail the Empire in its hour of crisis shall be fully justified and that ths manpower and resources of the country shall be utilized to the greatest possible extent in the cause for which the Empire is fighting."

LONDON, May 1, (via Ottawa.)—Twenty-five thousand Belgian men and boys have been compelled to work on military operations, under the whip of German sentries, behind the German lines in the regions of Valenciennes and Maubeuge alone, according to Reuter's, Limited.

The mortality in the camp of the deported Belgians, it reports, is terrible. The numbers sent back as unfit are replaced by fresh recruits.

Foreign Minister Hints at Break with France if Minister's Attitude Is Supported.

By ARTHUR RANSOME.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MOSCOW, April 25.—M. Noulens, the French Ambassador, has given an interview to Moscow newspapers justifying the Japanese landing at Vladivostok as a necessary measure in view of "the state of prolonged anarchy and insecurity in that place." The Ambassador is further quoted as saying that the German States were trying to bring the whole of Russia under their economic domination, and that with the help of war prisoners they were endeavoring to establish centres for colonization in Siberia.

Questioned concerning this interview, M. Tchitcherin, the Foreign Minister, said:

"I am unable to state what steps will be taken by the Government with regard to it." But, speaking for himself, he hopes that the French Government will understand what unfortunate results it will undoubtedly have on Russo-French relations if M. Noulens is supported by his Government in the position he has taken up.

M. Tchitcherin's published statement touches in detail the points of M. Noulens's interview, and in particular his remarks about German use of prisoners in Siberia. He points out that an Anglo-American mission has reached Vologda on its return journey from an investigation in Siberia, and that the French Ambassador must have known of his report that there is absolutely no truth in the German prisoner nightmare, which is being used by the Germans on one side of Russia and by the Japanese on the other side as an excuse for interference in Russian internal affairs.

The Pravda says it must be remembered that though M. Noulens is French Ambassador, he is not Ambassador to the Soviet Government, which is the only Government existing in Russia, because that Government has not yet recognised him. "He is Ambassador to some future, to some possible Russian Government which shall better suit the refined taste of the French bourgeois," it says. It goes on:

"Such occupation of Siberia, cutting it off from European Russia, could mean the condemnation of the people of the Soviet Republic to death by starvation. Without Siberian bread and other products Russia, deprived of Ukraine, would be doomed to destruction. This the French, Japanese, English and American enemies of the Russian workers' revolution perfectly understand."

TWO HEROES OF THE AIR WIN VICTORIA CROSS

Britisher, His Machine Aflame, Fights German Planes and Escapes.

LONDON, May 1.—The Victoria Cross has been awarded to Lieutenant Allan Gerrard and Alan Arnett McLeod of the Royal Air Force for deeds which stand out, even among the exploits in this branch of the service.

Gerrard, when on an offensive patrol with two other officers, attacked five enemy airplanes, shooting one down in flames. He then attacked an enemy airdrome, engaging single-handed some nineteen machines, which either were landing or starting off, and crashed one of them against the airdrome. A large number of machines then attacked Gerrard, but, seeing one of his companions in difficulty, he went to his assistance and destroyed a third enemy machine.

Fresh enemy machines were rising from the airdrome, and he attacked them une after another, and only retreated when ordered to do so. Five machines pursued him, but he turned, although apparently wounded, and repeatedly attacked them until, overwhelmed by numbers, he was driven down.

McLeod, while flying at an altitude of 5,000 feet, was attacked by eight enemy machines, which dived at him from all directions, firing from their front guns. By skilful manoeuvres he enabled his observer to fire bursts at each machine in turn, shooting three down.

By this time both McLeod and his observer were wounded and their machine was in flames. McLeod climbed out onto the airplane, controlling the machine from the side, and by side slipping steeply he kept the flames confined to one side, thus enabling the observer to keep on firing until the ground was reached.

McLeod dragged the observer from the flaming machine, and, although again wounded by a bomb, persevered until he had placed his companion in safety, when he fell from exhaustion due to loss of blood.

We Have Expressed No Views On Irish Draft or Home Rule

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—The State Department tonight authorized the statement that there was no foundation for the assertion, made in a press report sent out today, that the United States Government had indicated to David Lloyd George, the British Premier, that in its judgment the Irish Home Rule act should be passed before Irish conscription is applied.

It was authoritatively asserted that the application of Irish conscription and the enactment of home rule legislation were matters wholly of domestic policy in another nation, in which the United States Government could not interfere.

Many petitions to the President to intervene in behalf of home rule have been sent by Irish organizations in this country, including one from the Irish Fellowship Club of Chicago. These may have led to reports that he had forwarded recommendations to London.

LONDON, May 1.—An Order in Council has been issued further postponing the operation of the National Service act, or conscription, as respects Ireland beyond May 1, to which it had been postponed previously.

Some of the morning newspapers say that the postponement is due to the Government's wish to introduce a home rule bill and to see what measure of success it gets before proceeding to enforce conscription in Ireland, which, it is said in some quarters, is not likely to be attempted in the next few weeks.

Opinion in the lobbies of Parliament is that a home rule bill will be presented in the House of Commons next week, but the difficulties of drafting it have not been overcome entirely.

The Catholic Union of Great Britain, an influential organization whose membership includes many titled persons and others of prominence, has sent to Cardinal Gasparri, the Papal Secretary of State, for submission to Pope Benedict, a series of resolutions passed by it regretting the action of the Catholic hierarchy in Ireland in opposing Irish conscription, "thereby apparently supporting organized resistance to law." The resolutions express the opinion that the Irish ought to share in the defense of the empire and of the liberties of mankind from the grave peril to which they are exposed through a conflict forced on the world by a cruel and unscrupulous enemy." There are serious misgivings, it is added, on the interference of ecclesiastical authority in purely temporal and political questions.

Members of the Labor deputation who waited on the Premier in the House of Commons on Monday in regard to Irish conscription, say, according to The Daily Telegraph, that Mr. Lloyd George spoke frankly and firmly and listened patiently to the statement prepared by Arthur Henderson upon representations made by a deputation of Irish trades unionists and the lengthy explanation of J. H. Thomas, M. P. for Derby, who had been in Ireland on business for the Railway Men's Association.

Premier Lloyd George promised that the Cabinet would consider fully the representations of the Laborites, but he held out no hope, so far as he was concerned personally, for any change in the policy of the Government. In a speech the Premier insisted that equal rights of citizenship involved equality of duty and responsibility, and that Ireland could not take all the advantages accruing from her association with Great Britain while refusing to bear a share in the burdens and sacrifices of the United Kingdom.

Measures Facing Difficulties.

LONDON, Thursday, May 2.—The Daily News lobby correspondent says:

"The Government is involved in serious difficulties over the Irish policy. The only way out of them, in the opinion of Labor members, is that the Government should for the time being abandon both Irish projects, conscription and home rule, and it is not at all improbable that this course will in the near future be adopted."

Enumerating the difficulties the correspondent says:

"The Government cannot find a Viceroy for Ireland. Several peers have refused the honor. In the second place, the committee intrusted with drafting the bill is held up on the issue of giving a veto to Ulster, which has been raised on the Tory side, and is also in process of considering the Ministerial promises which in the past have been given to Ulster. In the third place the more genuinely conservative, or Tory elements, in the Unionist party for some time have been stiffening against any kind of Irish home rule. In the meantime the Labor party is pledged against conscription in Ireland unless home rule is granted."

The Daily Chronicle editorially asks why the Home Rule bill is being held up, and says: "Something is standing in the way. What is it?"

SAYS MANY SLACKERS ARE FOUND IN ULSTER

Copyright, 1918, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BELFAST, May 1. (Dispatch to The London Daily Chronicle.)—It should not baffle British statesmanship to get many thousands of young men of Belfast into the army with or without conscription. In Great Britain men of 50, having made the best arrangements they can for the care of their fatherless grandchildren at home, are getting ready to follow the lead of their sons. On this side of the Irish Channel, even more conspicuously in Belfast than in Dublin, men of old fighting age are doing what we in the other island have come to regard as the work of women. They are lustily cleaning offices, strenuously waiting at the table, heroically serving over the counter, and when they get leave from these wartime occupations they mobilize in places of entertainment, an imposing army.

Why it is that in Belfast, compared with any English or Scottish city of similar size so very far away from the war and its penalties, there are no Sinn Feiners to speak of? The predominant churches and predominant politicians are advocates of recruiting, and even of recruiting by conscription, and the young men themselves break up anti-conscription meetings and applaud denunciations of those other Irishmen who not only refrain from joining the army, but are audacious enough to express their contumacy in speech.

I say nothing of shipyards and factories, though even in these it would be possible to release men for fighting by employing more women. I refer only to businesses which are nonessential, for which in any case could just as well be carried on by women. The overabundance of potential soldiers in such businesses is so obvious that when it is pointed out no Belfast man can deny it, and the only explanation given is that the shirkers are intruders from the South of Ireland who have hastened hither to seize the places of the martial youth of Belfast who are in the trenches.

I am sorry to say that the explanation is incredible, even if we only take account of the Belfast prejudice against the south of Ireland Nationalists, Sinn Feiners, Roman Catholics, or pro-Germans, under all of which names the intruders would be condemned and hunted.

We often hear of the skulker in khaki, the man who puts on a uniform in order to protect himself from interference while he is doing work that any woman might do. Is a man less to be despised who averts the attentions of the Recruiting Sergeant from himself by loud professions of military ardor and by dwelling upon the opposite but more candid professions of the Sinn Feiners?

If the Government is wise it will take the militarism of Belfast seriously and act accordingly, and if Sir Edward Carson and his party wish to serve the British Empire in its sore need they will offer to accept conscription for Ulster alone or at least for that part of Ulster which claims to be associated more with Britain than with Ireland. In some districts of Ulster and probably in part of all, the farmers—Unionists as well as Nationalists—hostility to conscription is quite as resolute as in the south, but there is a considerable Ulster population which could be economically conscripted without withdrawing thousands of soldiers from the western front, without fighting a solidly opposed community, without entering into a deadly struggle with the Roman Catholic Church, a population which, on the other hand, would be called up with the approbation of the representative leaders of Ulster, of all the popular newspapers, and of all the powerful churches.

Belfast, alone, by a prompt and generous tender to the British Government, could compensate at once for the failure in advance in Southern Ireland of the Military Service act. It has done well out of the war, and it has known war privations just as little as this happiest of countries in creature comforts.

For the information of Americans, may I add a word or two in correction of the amazing statement quoted in Irish newspapers from The New York Nation? The statement is that Irish children are starving because Irish food must be sent from Ireland to feed the children of England. The simple truth is that all kinds of food is much more plentiful in this country than in Britain, and Irish people are returning to Ireland from England and Scotland in order to get substantial meals. Many Irish children are starving, but that is because human nature, here as everywhere, is callous and selfish, and children are starving in England for the same reason.

Ireland has done splendidly in producing food and exporting it, not only to Britain, but to all the Allies. It is, however, unfair to spread it over the world that she is being impoverished by a forced levy upon her supplies, and that England is fattening at her expense. That is not true.

General Pershing Reports 72 Casualties; Two Lieutenants Are Missing in Action

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Major Gen. Pershing has reported seventy-two more casualties, which were made public by the War Department today, bringing the total casualties in our overseas forces from the beginning to 4,490. The list contains the names of eight killed in action, three died of disease, one died of wounds, one died of accident, one died of other causes, five severely wounded, fifty-one slightly wounded, and two missing in action. Only three commissioned officers were named. Lieutenant Nathaniel C. Reed was wounded slightly. Lieutenants William H. Jenkins and Franklin B. Pedrick are reported missing in action.

The War Department does not make public the addresses of officers and soldiers named in its casualty lists, but telegraphic notification is sent in each instance to the next of kin.

POPE NOT OPPOSING DRAFT, SAYS LOGUE

No Instructions or Suggestions Sent to Irish Bishops from the Vatican.

PESSIMIST ON HOME RULE

Cardinal Can See No Hope of a Satisfactory Solution of the Irish Question.

Copyright, 1918, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 1.—An Irish correspondent sends to The Manchester Guardian an account of an interview with Cardinal Logue, Archbishop of Armagh and Primate of Ireland, on the subject of the "No Popery" cry which has been raised in The London Times as a contribution to the Irish question.

The Cardinal, says the correspondent, has the weight of more than eighty years upon him and, moreover, one gathered not so much from his words as from the sentiments which inspired them, that when the enemy takes the form of the thousand-tongued modern press it is wearisome even to a Christian Bishop to be attempting always to combat error. Every speech he had made, he said, brought at least a score of letters, some abusive and some inquisitive.

The correspondent asked the Cardinal pointblank whether the Irish Catholic hierarchy was taking the lead against conscription as part of a pro-German plot engineered from the Vatican.

"I don't suppose you yourself need telling," the Cardinal said, "but if you think anybody else needs telling, then tell him from me that it is nonsense. The Irish Bishops have received no instructions and no suggestions from the Vatican, about their attitude toward conscription. If they had, it is surely myself who would know, and I do not know anything of the kind. But everybody knows that the Catholic Church has sons on both sides in this horrible war, and everybody ought to know that so far as the Vatican is concerned, it has been neutral throughout. The Vatican could have been no other."

Was the "No Popery" cry likely to do harm to the Church itself, was asked, and the Cardinal's answer was:

"Not a bit of it, but if persisted in it might do harm to the Allies."

The Cardinal shook his head ominously over the final question. Was there any chance of an immediate settlement of the Irish question? He added that nothing he had heard gave him real ground for hope that the new Home Rule bill would be satisfactory to the great majority of Irishmen, and on this pessimistic note, which, the correspondent says, one is afraid is pretty general in Ireland just now, the interview ended.

TO MELT GERMAN STATUES.

All Bronze Ones That "Can Be Spared" to be Used.

AMSTERDAM, May 1.—The German Minister of War has ordered an inventory of all bronze statues throughout Germany, directing that the list indicate those which "can best be spared," with a view to their requisition for military use.

He has also ordered an inventory of church bells, which have hitherto escaped military confiscation.

COMRADE BETRAYED RAIDERS IN ANCONA

DRAMATIC CAPTURE ON SHIP

Invading Party, by Mistake, Landed 17 Miles from Town—Sally Had Three Objects.

Copyright, 1918, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MILAN, May 1, (Dispatch to the London Daily Chronicle.)—Permission has been granted me today to tell the full story of the Austrian raid of April 4 on Ancona. Though the Austrian Admiralty chose to risk some sixty lives only in the enterprise, the expedition was well planned but badly carried out. Its objective was threefold, namely, to blow up the submarine flotilla in Ancona Harbor, to destroy the captured Austrian torpedo boat B-11 lying there, and to seize a naval motor-boat squadron.

The invading party left Pola at 4 o'clock in the afternoon on board the torpedo boat 69, having a motor launch in tow and escorted by a destroyer. They headed for the Italian side of the Adriatic at a speed of sixteen miles an hour. When fifteen miles from land the invading detachment took their places in the motor launch, whose engines had been carefully covered to suppress noise.

Shortly after 2 o'clock in the morning they disembarked at a solitary spot on shore to find that owing to a big error in their calculations they were seventeen miles north of Ancona. Formidably armed with bombs, pistols, and daggers, and carrying 25 kilos of dynamite, they moved in rows four abreast along a road skirting the coast. Since all spoke fluent Italian with a Venetian acent and wore uniforms indistinguishable in the darkness from that of the Royal Italian Marines, they aroused no suspicion in the minds of coast guards and sentinels whom they passed and from whom they inquired the nearest route to Ancona, it being taken for granted that they had disembarked from some friendly vessel lying off shore at daybreak.

Having sighted a lonely cottage of which the only occupants were one woman, two small children, and a big dog, they decided to seek refuge till evening. During the interval two cadets disguised as peasants were sent to Ancona to purchase necessaries and spy out defenses and the exact position of vessels in the port. The information which the spies brought back determined the officers to forego a plan of blowing up the Mandracchio sugar factories, with other items of their program, and to concentrate their efforts on capturing the motor boat squadron, in which they could get away from danger as quickly as possible. At sundown they buried their dynamite in the cottage garden, and at the stroke of midnight they started toward the town.

Mistaken for a naval patrol they experienced no difficulty in passing the toll-gates, but once well within the town they were betrayed by a comrade who, seeing a chance of deserting, slipped down a pitch-dark alley and informed an Italian squad of Carabinieri, who at once telephoned an alarm to headquarters.

Meantime only a long narrow passage skirting the sugar factory separated the raiders from a corner of the harbor, where the motor boats lay at their moorings. The commanding officer, shouting out in imperative tones that he had orders to board the boats, successfully passed the first sentry, but further on a second acntry, being somewhat suspicious, silently followed them till one of the party turned and plunged a dagger into his breast, not, however, before he had time to give an alarm by firing his carbine.

This brought several sailors from a torpedo vessel hard by hurrying up, while from the opposite direction ten Carabinieri appeared on the scene. Then came swiftly a dramatic and ignominious ending. Armed to the teeth though they were with knives, revolvers, and handbombs, the invaders simply threw up their hands in surrender.

PREPARES FOR APPEAL HERE.

Dublin Lord Mayor Said to be Awaiting His Passport.

DUBLIN, May 1.—The Lord Mayor of Dublin has not abandoned his proposed visit to Washington to lay the case of the Irish organizations opposing conscription before President Wilson, as has been reported. It was stated today that the Mayor was awaiting his passport.

It has been arranged for two leading members of the Dublin Corporation to accompany him. The men selected are William Cosgrave, recently elected by the Sinn Fein as a member of Parliament from Kilkenny City, and Councilor Sherlock, a supporter of the Nationalists, who has twice been Lord Mayor of Dublin.

A Dublin dispatch on Monday stated that the British Foreign Office had notified the Lord Mayor of Dublin that he should make his application for a passport to the office of the Chief Secretary for Ireland, where it would receive attention. The London Daily Mail said last Saturday that it had learned that the Lord Mayor had abandoned his proposed visit to Washington.

DR. D. J. MOONEY KILLED.

Local Hospitals Here Know of Only One Surgeon Lost at Front.

Much interest was aroused yesterday in local hospitals which had sent medical units to the war front by Charles H. Grasty's dispatch indicating that there had been heavy casualties among American doctors attached to the British Army. So far as could be learned here, however, only one such casualty had been reported.

Dr. D. J. Mooney, who was formerly attached to the house staff of the Post-Graduate Hospital and went over with the base hospital which that institution organized, was killed during the present offensive, according to cablegrams received at the hospital. It was not known, however, where, when, or under what circumstances he lost his life, except that it was in the early days of April.

The New York, Presbyterian, and Roosevelt Hospitals, all of which sent base hospitals to France, had heard nothing of casualties to their members. It was said that while most of the base hospitals were well beyond the present scene of the fighting, considerable parts of the personnel had been detached for emergency duties nearer the front, and that many New York doctors might have been under fire, but that any casualties would at once be privately reported to the hospitals here.

AMERICAN AIRMEN BRING DOWN A GERMAN

Rickenbacher, Former Auto Racer, and Norman Hall Victors in Fight Over Toul Sector.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, April 30, (Associated Press.)—A German airplane was brought down in enemy territory last night by Captain Norman Hall of Colfax, Iowa, and Lieutenant Edward V. Rickenbacher of Colombus, Ohio, after a duel over the American line on the Toul sector.

The American airmen first engaged the enemy machine over the American lines. Lieutenant Rickenbacher swept over the German and opened fire with his machine gun, while Captain Hall, formerly a member of the Lafayette Escadrille, darted behind the foe and also opened fire. The German made desperate attempts to escape and returned the fire of the Americans, several bullets piercing Captain Hall's airplane. The Americans peppered the enemy machine with bullets and drove it down until it fell behind the German trenches. Captain Hall and Lieutenant Rickenbacher returned from the fight unscathed.

This was the third machine to be bagged by the Americans in three weeks, while several others have been unofficially reported brought down.

Captain Hall served as a private in the British Army at the outbreak of the war and later joined the French aerial forces. He is the author of "Kitchener's Mob."

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 1.—Eddie Rickenbacher, mentioned in dispatches as having helped bring down a German airplane, is a professional automobile racer. Rickenbacher holds the 300-mile speedway record. He enlisted in the army soon after the declaration of war and was among the first to be sent overseas. For some time he was General Pershing's chauffeur.

ADMIRE US AS FIGHTERS.

French Say Americans Are Fused with Them in One Army.

PARIS, May 1.—"The end will show which weighed most in the balance, Austrian cannon as reinforcements to the enemy, or the battalions which crossed the Atlantic to support the defenders of right," says a special dispatch to the Temps, describing a visit to the American troops at the front.

"The Franco-British liaison has been rightly described as intimate. The Franco-American is, if possible, still closer. It is real fusion. Every document of one of the French divisions touching the Americans is immediately translated and communicated to the allies. There are two uniforms, two languages, but one army."

The correspondent asked a French artillery Colonel, who is well-known in Washington, what he thought of his American allies. The Colonel replied: "We value them highly, of course. There are lots of tricks which we learned—at what cost—which we can hand on, but I am astonished at their faculty of assimilation.

"Take my arm of the service. One of the greatest difficulties in artillery is the utilization of observation points. You can hardly imagine the work involved in properly using the information collected at these posts. Our American comrades have succeeded splendidly in this delicate work. You may say that all the artillery officers of this division are West Pointers. But it is not sufficient to be a graduate of the polytechnique to be a good observer."

The correspondent visited an American Chief of Staff and asked if he had lost many during the month he had been in the line.

The reply was: "Some, not many." The correspondent said: "Yet your sector seems to be pretty hotly shelled."

The American officer replied: "Yes, but not as hotly as that in front of us."

The correspondent asked if there had been any infantry attack.

The officer replied: "No, but when one comes, it won't find us snoring."

CALLS OUR MEN MARVELOUS.

French Officer Amazed at Their Coolness and Discipline Under Fire.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—A glowing tribute has been paid to the American soldiers in France by a French officer in a letter to a friend, which was published today in the Paris Temps. The letter, as quoted by an official dispatch from France, said:

"Infinitely interesting is our contact with the American troops. They have occupied the sector immediately beside ours. We have seen them at work, and could form an idea, and it should be told and retold that they are marvelous. The Americans are soldiers by nature, and their officers have the desire to learn with an enthusiasm and an idealistic ardor very remarkable. There is the same spirit among the privates. They ask questions with a touching good will, setting aside all conceit or prejudice. Naturally they have the faults of all new troops. They show themselves too much and expose themselves imprudently, letting themselves be carried away by their ardor, not knowing when to spare themselves or to seek shelter or when to risk everything for an end. This experience will be quickly learned.

"As for bravery, activity and discipline, they are marvelous. They absolutely astonished us on a morning of attack. The cannonading, suddenly becoming furious, had just thrown me out of my bunk. No doubt about it, it was a Verdun attack. Taking time to seize my revolver, put on my helmet, and gather up several documents, I descended to the streets. When I arrived there they were already filing by with rapid, easy, decided steps, marching in perfect order in silence with admirable resolution, and above all with striking discipline, to their fighting positions. It was fine. You can have no idea how cheering it was to my Poilus.

"Their artillery will be and already is of the first order. The officers are intelligent and filled with zeal, and the greater part of the service functions without a hitch. Too much praise can never be given their sanitary automobiles, swift, strong, comfortable, a veritable godsend to us."

Soldiers' Votes May Decide Election.

Although the prohibition referendum on the special election in Montclair was passed yesterday by thirty-one votes, the opponents of the measure assert that the 250 ballots cast by the soldiers in the training camps, yet uncounted, will defeat prohibition. The vote was 1,661 for prohibition and 1,630 against it. A large soldier vote was cast, because they were not required to register.

DUVAL A PUZZLE IN BONNET ROUGE CASE

The Paris Public's View Is That He Did What Bolo Pasha Sought to Do.

KEPT LITTLE OF PLUNDER

Contented Himself with Quiet Life in Modest Apartment—His Explanations Contradicted.

Copyright, 1918, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Wednesday, May 1.—"What Bolo wanted to do, Duval did." This fairly sums up the opinion of Paris this morning in regard to the Bonnet Rouge trial. Bolo, as all the world now knows, was able to get something like $2,500,000 of German Government money, and with it to buy what he believed to be a controlling interest in the Paris newspaper Le Journal. His intention, and the German Government's intention, undoubtedly was to make use of this newspaper as a means of undermining French opinion in the direction of defeatism and peace at any price in the interests of Germany.

The fact that Bolo did not succeed in attaining this objective has already been made abundantly clear, although at the same time his success was sufficient to justify the authorities in arresting Senator Humbert, the chief editor of the Journal and one of the largest of Bolo's co-proprietors, who is now awaiting trial on a charge of commerce with the enemy because of his association with Bolo.

Duval, who is the principal surviving member of what is known as the Bonnet Rouge gang, was able to carry out to the full an exactly similar plan to that of Bolo. In the ex-convict, morphinomaniac, and all-round swindler Almereyda and his Journal the Bonnet Rouge Duval found tools ready to his hand, although it is still a question whether Almereyda or Duval was the principal culprit. The Bonnet Rouge had been founded some time before the war began, and the fact is beyond dispute that a part at least of the money Almereyda required to start the paper was provided by former Premier Caillaux.

The extent of Caillaux's knowledge of Almereyda's plans may or may not be revealed, and Almereyda closed his own mouth forever by his suicide in the Fresnes Prison a few days after his arrest. But there is no possible doubt that both Almereyda and his paper were more than suspected long before the check for $30,000, the first of a series of ten signed by Marx, the banker of Mannheim and agent of the German Foreign Office, was found in the pocket of Duval when he was stopped by the French police at Bellegarde in the act of crossing the frontier to return to Paris.

Almereyda was undoubtedly a blackmailing journalist who turned to all sources of plunder as the needle turns to the pole. With such mud birds available German money soon found ready employment. The Bonnet Rouge, of which Duval, the confidante of Almereyda, was manager, soon became for all practical purposes the organ of the German Government. The Bonnet Rouge consistently for many months pursued its insidious campaign of sapping the morale of France. In times of depression the Bonnet Rouge always found the means to dash from the eager lips of its readers the foretaste of triumphs to come. In spite of all this it continued to receive subsidies from the Secret Service funds of the French Government.

A curious fact is that the Bonnet Rouge, although the total amount of checks brought to Paris by Duval and Vercasson amounted to less than $200,000, made every effort to give the Germans value for their money, while Bolo, who certainly received at least a dozen times that amount of German money, gave them absolutely no return. One reason was that Duval contented himself with a very quiet life in a modest apartment of less than $500 a year, while Bolo was prominent in society and spent money royally. This strange characteristic of Duval, who appears to have pocketed very little of the plunder himself, is puzzling to Parisians, who have begun to make a close study of the strange personality of the man. His steady flow of statements, his utterly calous and unconcerned manner, combined with flat contradictions between his explanations and facts revealed by the judicial inquiry are fascinating the French public.

Direct public interest in the case, however, has for the time being almost ceased, as was evidenced by the fact that the court today was almost empty so far as the general public was concerned. Interest will probably not revive until the formalities are completed and there is a probability of Caillaux and other witnesses being called.

PARIS, May 1.—The third day of the trial of the Bonnet Rouge case was chiefly occupied with the interrogation of M. Joucla, a reporter of the Bonnet Rouge.

M. Joucla scouted suggestions that a voyage he had made to Spain was to get in touch with the Germans.

"I am a bachelor," he declared, "so with $20 a month I received as a reporter on the Bonnet Rouge, and $40 as a clerk, I saved money. I received $60 to go to Barcelona. I am willing to give my life for France for nothing. It is not likely I would risk it for $60."

He explained his visit to the German Consulate at Barcelona and to a Germanophile newspaper published in French there by his wish to study German propaganda in Spain. Joucla declared that he indignantly refused $10 the newspaper in question offered him for an article he wrote for it.

BANS GERMAN SOCIALISTS.

British Party Won't Meet Them Save on "No Annexation" Basis.

LONDON, May 1.—Arthur Henderson, leader of the Labor members of the House of Commons, in an interview today regarding the statement that the German Social Democratic leaders had declared that only by complete victory on the western front, accompanied by annexations and indemnities, could a solution of the war be reached, said:

"Those of us who favor a policy of conciliation made it an essential condition that all concerned must have publicly declared their willingness to act in conformity with the principles of 'no annexations or punitive indemnities and the right of national self-determination.'

"There is now no question of a conference being now possible until the German Socialists have accepted this position and are ready to press their Government to apply these principles honestly and unreservedly to every question of political and territorial readjustment with which any subsequent peace conference will have to deal."

ROOSEVELT URGES WAR ON FOE'S ALLIES

Calls Our Attitude Toward Turkey and Bulgaria "Criminal Absurdity."

DEMANDS ACTION AT ONCE

Tells Springfield Audience That Instead of Belligerence We Are Praying for Armenians.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., May 1.—"It is frequently said that if we must have criticism it should be constructive criticism," said Theodore Roosevelt in an address here tonight. "Very well, here is a constructive criticism: I propose that we declare war upon Turkey and Bulgaria this week. I hope we will declare war upon them tomorrow.

"The Turks have massacred Armenians," Mr. Roosevelt said; "but we have not declared war upon Turkey, although she is one of the four Central Powers. Instead, we have appointed days of prayer for the Armenians. Moreover, we have allowed organizations to be recruited in this country to fight for the recovery of Palestine, something that should not be permitted against a country with which we are at peace. Of course, the situation is a criminal absurdity."

It is intimated, Mr. Roosevelt continued, that the Germanized Russian Black Sea fleet may make a dash into the Mediterranean. The United States has destroyers operating over there with British and French units. In case of this dash will the Americans have to ascertain the nationality before they fire?

Mr. Roosevelt visited Springfield upon invitation of the Hampden County Improvement League. A crowd of 4,500 packed the auditorium to hear him.

Good enough for the Germans

IN neutral countries Germans are reported buying and hoarding American paper money.

Evidently the German bankers, facing the depreciation of their own currency, realize that every obligation of the United States will be paid one hundred cents on the dollar.

The immediate thought is this: If our paper money is good enough for the Germans, are not Liberty Bonds good enough for you?

You have only a few more days to buy a few more Liberty Bonds—the best secured investment in the world.

Tropiko PINEAPPLES
Juiciest Fruit in the World
You Eat the Core

You Know Before You Buy a Tropiko Pineapple That It's Delicious

When you buy a pineapple with the name TROPIKO on the wrapper, the meat is sure to be tender clear through. You don't waste the core of a TROPIKO pineapple—you eat it. There is sure to be more juice than in other pineapples, and this juice is sweeter and richer in flavor.

The fruit is selected by experts from the best pineapples grown by the leading growers of Porto Rico. These experts know it is exactly right before they put the name TROPIKO on it.

Eat TROPIKO pineapples, grapefruit, and oranges. Be sure the name TROPIKO is on the wrapper. If your dealer is unable to supply you, write

ARMY CAN EQUIP 1,600,000 MORE MEN

Clothing, Arms, and Shipping In Sight for Doubling Our Present Forces This Year.

MAY CALL OUT EVEN MORE

President Wants Power to Summon Any Force Necessary to Win the War.

BAKER TO DISCLOSE PLANS

Will Lay Everything Before House Committee Today—Dent Offers Bill for 4,000,000 Draft.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Secretary Baker will carry to Congress tomorrow the army increase program mapped out by President Wilson and his advisers, based on the determination to win the war, if it takes the whole man power of the nation to do it. There are indications that he will ask that all restrictions on the number of troops to be raised be removed and the Government authorized to mobilize as many men as it can equip, train, and send to the battlefront in France.

When the War Secretary appears before the House Military Committee with supplemental estimates for the army, he is expected to disclose that the department has reason to believe it can handle during the present year at least double the existing force under arms of approximately 1,600,000 men. That would mean a total of 3,200,000 soldiers, for whom clothing, equipment, and transportation are now in sight. Should additional facilities become available, however, it is indicated that President Wilson wishes to be able to call out more men without delaying to seek authority.

Evidence came today in various ways of the tremendous effort now being made to send American armies into the fight in such numbers and such time as to make victory certain. In the morning the heads of the Shipping Board and the War Industries Board met with the War Council, composed of army officials. Details of additional ships and supplies were gone into, it is understood, on the basis of the recent surveys of the situation.

Later the President's War Cabinet met with him at the White House and went over the ground thoroughly. Secretary Baker remained more than an hour with the President after the other members of the War Cabinet had left.

In the House Chairman Dent of the Military Committee offered a bill that would authorize the mobilization and organization of 4,000,000 selective service men instead of the 1,000,000 to which the Government is limited by the existing act. Mr. Dent said the measure was his own and he had not consulted the War Department on it.

1,800,000 in Class 1.

Under the new classification scheme there are understood to be 1,800,000 men immediately available for active military service in Class 1. That estimate is based on the returns of numerous States and the law of averages. It excludes all men rated as fit only for limited special service, all delinquents, slated for immediate induction into Class 1 when apprehended, and all the so-called medical cases, the men who will be fit for active service after operations or medical treatment to correct minor physical defects. Behind that, also, stand the men who have reached 21 years since the draft act was passed, and who will be brought in under pending amendments. Probably the total of effectives in Class 1 will prove to be 2,500,000 men when the definite figures are available.

This is the first reservoir from which men will be drawn to fill up the new armies. It is conceivable that Class 1 will be exhausted in time, but not that it would fail to furnish all the men who can be shipped to France before Congress meets again. For this reason it is regarded as probable that the question of increasing age limits of the draft act or of drawing upon Class 2 can be deferred until Congress again convenes.

While plans for the future have been shaping up for representation to Congress the War Department has been pressing vigorously its efforts to expedite the movement to France of men already under arms. Secretary Baker appeared today before the conference of Shipping Board officials, with shipowners' and seamen's unions to urge prompt manning of new ships. He told the conference that the accelerated movement of troops was going smoothly.

Proud of Army Movement.

The record of achievement during the last few weeks is a source of pride with War Department officials. Military precautions forbid disclosure of the rate at which the army is being sent to the front, but Mr. Baker will be able to give the House Committee tomorrow some interesting figures in this regard.

In pressing forward the troops, the War Department, it is learned, has abandoned its previous policy of completing organization of a unit before it goes over. Under the new plan, regiments or larger units go forward on schedule even if they are short a considerable part of their full enlisted strength at the time. They will be filled up on the other side by drafts from replacement camps in this country.

The number of men scheduled to be called to the colors this month under the selective service act has been raised to 250,000. Last month 150,000 were mobilized. At this rate half of the 800,000 which the department, before the German drive was launched, had planned to call during the present year, will have been called out in two months' time.

First 100 Per Cent. Railroad.

Special to The New York Times.

WARWICK, N. Y., May 1.—This town has subscribed $180,300 to the Liberty Loan, 30 per cent. over its allotment. The honor flag was raised by Company K, First Infantry, the local unit of the New York Guard. The Lehigh & Hudson River Railway, with general offices and shops in this village, is probably the first 100 per cent. railroad, every employe having subscribed.

RAINBOW DIVISION NOW UNDER FULL HEADWAY

Having been assured by George de B. Greene, Chairman of the Advisory Trades Committee, that the committees making up the Rainbow Division would not be arrested for exceeding the speed limit in the present Liberty Loan campaign, the heads of the various business organizations have ordered all their associates to open the throttle wide and go the limit. Reports received yesterday showed that canvassing was proceeding at top speed, a number of the committees announcing many large subscriptions.

The Cerro de Pasco Copper Company subscribed to $250,000 of bonds yesterday, the figures going to the credit of the Mining Industries Committee.

The men's clothing trades announced that it had passed its total for the second campaign of $4,866,500, the figures at the close of the day being $4,888,600. A subscription of $150,000, from Ludwig, Baumann & Co., was reported by the Furniture Committee.

Several large subscriptions were reported by the Shipping, Import and Export Committee, of which Sheppard G. Schermerhorn is Chairman. Among them were:

Czarnikow-Rionda Co.	$350,000
Cosmopolitan Shipping Co. (additional)	100,000
Stein, Hall & Co.	100,000
Sir Robert Burnet Co.	83,000

More than $8,000,000 in subscriptions to Liberty bonds have been turned in by the hotels and restaurants against a quota of $10,000,000. The Plaza leads with $1,055,000. The Ritz-Carlton reports $600,000, the Biltmore $500,000, and the Vanderbilt $500,000. Reisenweber's, with a subscription of $458,000, leads the restaurants. Thomas Healy is second with $150,000.

Subscriptions from William Fellowes Morgan of $5,000 and Henry B. Robbins of $5,000, both additional, and Nathan Straus, $5,000, were reported by the Fish Committee, of which F. W. Wilkinson is Chairman. A subscription of $100,000 was reported by the Brewers Committee from Paris, Allen & Co. The report of the results of the appeal made by Chairman William Rosenblum of the Millinery Trade at its dinner held several nights ago showed that $700,000 had been realized, every one of the seventy guests buying bonds to the amounts of from $1,000 to $35,000.

More than 22,000 employes of the Erie Railroad have subscribed so far to the Third Liberty Loan. This compares with 15,000 subscriptions to the Second Loan.

Twelve hundred and ninety-six subscriptions from officers and employes, totaling $92,100, were reported by the Hudson & Manhattan Railroad yesterday. John Doyle, President of the New York Billiard Room Owners Association, reported yesterday that his committee had reached and passed its quota of $100,000.

ELY WANTED NO MOURNING.

Family Got Prophetic Letter from Aviator Killed in France.

CHICAGO, May 1.—Lieutenant Dinsmore Ely, U. S. A., of Winnetka, a North Shore suburb, was killed in France in aviation service on April 21. A few days before his death he wrote a letter to his father, Dr. James O. Ely, which was received yesterday. The letter closes thus:

"And I want to say in closing, if anything should happen to me, let's have no mourning in spirit or in dress. Like a Liberty bond, it is an investment, not a loss, when a man dies for his country. It is an honor to a family, and is that the time for weeping? I would rather leave my family rich in pleasant memories of my life than numbed in sorrow at my death."

Dr. Ely sent the letter to Mrs. Ely, who is at the family cottage in Donaldson, Wis. There the family held a funeral service for the soldier last Sunday, placing his effects in his canoe, and covering all with the national colors, and sinking it in a quiet nook of the lake, which was the favorite retreat of young Ely.

LOAN SALES HERE SHOW BIG INCREASE

With Total of $634,000,000, A. H. Wiggin Predicts Oversubscription in District.

GAIN FOR DAY $42,000,000

Guaranty Trust Takes $10,000,000 and Other Banks and Mutual Life $5,000,000 Each.

The campaign for the Third Liberty Loan, which had been lagging in the New York Reserve District, assumed yesterday a more cheerful appearance, and it was emphatically declared that before Saturday night, when subscription books close, the quota of $900,000,000, assigned to this district, would be handsomely oversubscribed.

Applications for bonds filed with various institutions on Tuesday and reported to the Federal Reserve Bank yesterday amounted to nearly $42,000,000, the largest daily total since the opening day of the drive, and it brought the total up to about $634,000,000. There is every assurance that when the returns of yesterday, today, tomorrow, and Saturday are tabulated they will show a total greater than $266,000,000, which is required to fulfill the Treasury quota.

Albert H. Wiggin, Chairman of the Board of the Chase National Bank and one of the most active members of the Liberty Loan Committee, declared last night that the Liberty Loan was a success and that there was absolutely no doubt that the country would oversubscribe the $3,000,000,000 asked for and that the New York district would "go over the top." Speaking for the committee, Mr. Wiggin said:

Success Due to Organization.

"The loan is a success. It is primarily a success because the organization has been so complete and so effective that it has been possible to get the greatest number of subscribers. The people are taking the loan, and it is best that they should take it. The bonds are being well distributed, and are being lodged in the hands of investors who are likely to keep the securities. I do not mean that some people won't sell, and that some are taking the bonds and charging their subscriptions up to profit and loss and calling it patriotism, but what I mean is that the majority of the subscribers are going to keep the bonds. The number of subscribers is very large—a great improvement over the previous loans in that respect.

"You can put it down for a fact that the $3,000,000,000 and more is absolutely sure to be subscribed. You need not have any doubt about that. It is a go. As to the $900,000,000 quota in this district, you can put that down as absolutely sure to be subscribed, and even oversubscribed. I want to make that just as emphatic as possible. I won't say how much the oversubscription will be, but absolutely the amount needed and more—a good deal more, most assuredly. The total will exceed the quota. Put that down strong."

Yesterday a number of large subscriptions were reported, in fact a larger number than on any previous day of the campaign. The Mutual Life Insurance Company filed an additional application for $5,000,000, and some of the banks sent in substantial subscriptions for their own account and for customers. The Guaranty Trust Company applied for $10,000,000, and applications of $5,000,000 each came from the First National, the Chase National, the Central Trust Company, and the Mechanics and Metals National Bank. The American Telephone and Telegraph Company announced an additional subscription of $2,500,000.

Reports of Subdivisions.

The following table gives the quotas, yesterday's recorded subscriptions and totals to date for the various subdivisions of the New York Reserve District:

Church Pension Fund Invests.

The Church Pension Fund of the Protestant Episcopal Church, it was announced yesterday, has made a further investment of $500,000 in bonds of the Third Liberty Loan.

U. N. Bethell, Chairman of the Public Utilities Liberty Loan Committee, in making public the $2,500,000 additional subscription of the Bell system, which brought the total up to $7,500,000, said that the increase was due to the generally larger participation in the loan by employes of the company.

An unusually large crowd gathered yesterday at the noon Liberty Loan rally in front of the Sub-Treasury, the chief attraction being Sergeant Eugene McNiff of the old Sixty-ninth, a member of one of General Pershing's fifty "veterans" who recently arrived here to work for the loan.

"When I go back to the front," McNiff said, "I want to be able to tell the boys over there that New York is buying all the bonds that she can afford. Let me tell the boys that you men and women are back of us. All I have to say to you, is: 'Give us guns and ammunition and we will take care of the Huns.'"

Police Commissioner Enright spoke and Mme. Schumann-Heink sang "The Star-Spangled Banner."

The crowd that collected in City Hall Park yesterday afternoon witnessed a daring feat by a young girl who gave her name as Helen Taft. She climbed one of the extension ladders of the Fire Department while she pleaded for bond subscriptions. Sailor White, the strong man of the navy, stationed on the Recruit, at Union Square, went to the top of the ladder and descended on the other side, hand over hand. As he came down the ladder, hand over hand, his feet dangling in the air at a height of 100 feet, the crowd cheered tremendously.

Honor Dewey's Memory.

One thousand American Junior Naval and Marine Scouts marched yesterday in honor of the memory of Admiral George Dewey, the first chief of their organization. At their head, riding in a chariot drawn by two horses, was George Dewey, the six-year-old grandnephew of the hero who twenty years ago destroyed the Spanish fleet in Manila Bay. The youngsters also visited the financial district, where they collected a large number of Liberty Loan subscriptions.

Reports received up to date from the Boy Scouts of America throughout the United States show 47,174 individual subscriptions to the Liberty Loan, totaling $6,210,600.

The Italians of New York held a special Liberty Loan rally last night in Washington Square, where the Metropolitan Opera chorus sang for the first time in the open air. A vast crowd of men, women, and children packed the pavements and joined in national airs of America, Italy, England, and France. Leon Rothier, the opera bass, who has served in the trenches, sang the "Marseillaise," and W. S. Mygrant led the 7th Regiment Band in melodies from the operas of Verdi. General Guglielmotti, arriving with an escort of soldiers, was greeted with the playing of Italy's "Royal March." Dr. Luigi Roversi, Senator Cotillo, Dr. Oreste Ferrara, Captain Mario Guardabassi, Judge Freschi, and Enrico Caruso were the speakers.

Standing of Banks of City.

The banks and trust companies in the Boroughs of Manhattan, Brooklyn, and the Bronx had up to noon yesterday filed subscriptions totaling more than $400,000,000. Following is a record of all banks, the subscription totals including the applications of the banks as well as those of their customers:

The associated Custom House Employes will hold a Liberty Loan rally at noon today on the steps of the Custom House. Among the speakers will be Collector Byron R. Newton, Naval Officer H. Otto Wittpen, Surveyor Thomas E. Rush, and Corporal Whited, one of Pershing's soldiers who has received a Croix de Guerre.

Following is a partial list of today's Liberty Loan speaking engagements of General Pershing's men:

Custom House	Noon
Hudson Terminal	12:30
Jersey City Post Office steps	Noon
Rotary Club luncheon, McAlpin	12:15
Fifty-ninth Street and Broadway	Noon
Union League Club booth	5 P. M.
Yonkers	All the afternoon
New Rochelle	4 to 5:30

General Pershing's men will be entertained at a theatre party and reception at the Palace Theatre tomorrow night as guests of E. F. Albee, Chairman of the Theatrical Allied Interests Division of the Liberty Loan.

The Anawanda Club, the home club of Charles F. Murphy, raised $39,000 in subscriptions last night. Mr. Murphy subscribed to $5,000, just as he had done in the case of the two previous loans.

United States Marshal Thomas D. McCarthy, who has been making speeches for the Liberty Loan, has been instrumental in procuring subscriptions amounting to more than $1,000,000.

WOMEN HERE RAISE $7,376,800.

Organizations Have Collected 20,091 Subscriptions for Loan.

The women's organizations of New York have, according to latest reports, collected 20,091 subscriptions to the Third Liberty Loan, aggregating $7,376,800. These figures were given out yesterday at a meeting of the booth captains, held at 509 Fifth Avenue, at which Mrs. Cortlandt D. Barnes presided.

PRESIDENT GIVES LOAN NEW VIM

neapolis for honors. All except fifteen counties in the district have subscribed at least their quotas.

Official reports from eight of the twelve Federal Reserve districts show that 10,714 communities have oversubscribed, divided as follows: Chicago, 3,630; Minneapolis, 2,468; Cleveland, 1,801; San Francisco, 891; Boston, 852; New York, 780; Philadelphia, 424; St. Louis, 140. No reports were received from the Atlanta, Richmond, Dallas, and Kansas City districts.

The entire State of New Jersey was reported unofficially over the top tonight. The twelve northern counties had subscribed 97 per cent. officially and the nine southern counties had exceeded their quotas. Fairfield County, Conn., also was within 5 per cent. of its quota tonight, leaving only territory in New York State at a low mark in the district. New York State now has subscribed 68 per cent. of its quota and New York City, 64.

Secretary Lansing has written a letter to J. Lewis Butler, a negro messenger in the Department of State, congratulating him on the large subscriptions which he and members of his family have made to Liberty Loans. Subscriptions by him, his wife, and four children to the three loans and their purchases of War Savings Stamps total $1,150. His salary is $720 a year, augmented by outside work. He entered the service of the State Department in 1888.

"Your sacrifice for the cause of liberty is deserving of the highest commendation, and sets an example which all Americans should follow," Mr. Lansing wrote.

POLICE PUSH LIBERTY LOAN.

Knock at Doors to Inquire if Occupants Had Bought Bonds.

Persons with guilty consciences received scares yesterday, for policemen knocked at many doors to aid the Liberty Loan campaign. It was called "Policemen's Day," and no arrests were made, although there were many pointed suggestions that a trip to the bank would be advisable.

Enrico Caruso, who has bought $27,000 in bonds of all three issues, was put through the Liberty Bond "third degree" while he was in his bath tub. The policeman knocked at the door of Caruso's apartment in the Knickerbocker Hotel, and said he would have to see the singer at once. Caruso thought the best proof of his innocence of any crime would be to receive the policeman in the bath, only to find he was not guilty of any crime of commission or omission. He subscribed for $400 more from the policeman.

Other persons, stopped by policemen in the streets, expected to receive summonses for breaking the speed laws in automobiles or for disorderly conduct. The policemen found that it was a day of sport for them, and after asking many questions inquired about the fatal crime—"You don't mean to tell me you haven't bought a Liberty bond?"

A man who drives his automobile across the Queensboro Bridge daily said that a policeman stopped him to ask how fast he was driving, whether he had a speedometer, a license, and then brought up Liberty bonds. "Got one, and it ought to be a crime not to have them," the relieved motorist replied. "You can arrest me for anything but that."

No figures upon the amount of bonds sold by the police had been compiled last night.

HYLAN MARKS OUT COPELAND'S WORK

Mayor "Urges" His New Health Commissioner to Pursue "Fearless" Investigation.

PLEDGES FULL SUPPORT

Assails "Misleading Press" in Outlining the Course for Amster's Successor.

MacBRIDE CHARGES DENIED

Director Brown Replies to Charges of Favoritism—Three Health Employes Indicted.

Mayor John F. Hylan wrote yesterday to his newly appointed Commissioner of Health, Dr. Royal S. Copeland, directing another investigation into the Health Department.

"It has been charged that there were places created for favorites without warrant of law, that the provisions of the charter creating the department were most glaringly violated," the Mayor said in his letter. Asked what the Mayor meant by that clause, Commissioner Copeland said he was unable to tell. By some who have been following closely the course of the Mayor's Health Department investigation, it was taken to mean that the Mayor had not given up his desire to abolish seven of the nine bureaus of the department on the ground that only two of them were created by the charter.

Although Commissioner Copeland said he had not received any word from the Mayor as to abolishing any of the "activities or divisions" of the Health Department, when he was asked if the bureaus as at present organized would be continued he was not prepared to say.

In his letter to Commissioner Copeland Mayor Hylan did not say what specific "places were created for favorites without warrant of law" and he did not indicate in what manner "the provisions of the charter creating the department were most glaringly violated." It was asserted, however, by persons who had been following the course of the investigation, that the Mayor could have meant but one thing and that was that he wanted the newly appointed Health Commissioner to obey the orders originally directed to Commissioner Amster to do away with the heads of seven of the bureaus.

Hylan's Directions to Copeland.

Mayor Hylan's letter to Commissioner Copeland follows:

City of New York.
Office of the Mayor.
May 1, 1918.

Dr. Royal S. Copeland, Health Commissioner, City of New York.

My Dear Commissioner: Previous to your selection and appointment by me as Health Commissioner of the City of New York, my attention was called to conditions alleging that the policy of the Health Department was not centred in its head as I believe it should be, but that it was controlled and dominated by outside influence.

The information that I obtained also alleged that in some of the divisions of the department graft was most prevalent, and that the people whose business brought them in daily contact with some of the divisions were treated harshly and with contempt by the subordinates of the department and made to feel that it was a compliment instead of a duty to receive the slightest attention that is due the public from their paid servants.

It has also been charged that there were places created for favorites without warrant of law, that the provisions of the Charter creating the department were most glaringly violated. After careful deliberation I determined that an investigation of these allegations was most necessary.

With the desire that the department should be purged from these conditions if they existed, and having only one single purpose in mind, and that one the safety of the public's health, dependent on a thoroughly competent and honestly conducted administration of its internal affairs, I requested your predecessor to conduct an examination that should prove either the truth or falsity of these charges.

Acting under my instructions, such an investigation was started. At an early stage of the proceedings I became convinced that your predecessor either had not the courage or the qualifications to conduct a proper inquiry or else that outside interests who had reason to fear the result of the proposed investigation controlled his action.

I then requested the Civil Service Commission to proceed with the inquiry and to consult with the Commissioner of Accounts where his aid might be required.

Your predecessor, for reasons best known to himself, resigned his office before the investigation then being conducted was finished.

I have selected and appointed you as his successor as the head of what I consider the greatest department of the city, having charge of what is the most precious boon that can be conferred on its citizenship, viz., its health.

Mayor Pledges Support.

Having confidence in your intergrity and ability to maintain to its highest standing the traditions of the Health Department, I state to you now, as I stated to your predecessor, that the health of the public comes first above all else, and I pledge you my fullest support to that end.

With that single purpose in view I shall recommend to the several bodies who have been conducting the inquiry that they turn over to you a complete report of their investigations today, together with all data pertaining thereto in their possession, with the recommendation that such evidences of graft that may appear be immediately placed in the hands of the District Attorney for prosecution.

It has been strongly intimated, in fact stated, by some of the misleading press of the city, that this investigation was instigated by political influence. I say to you now and to the press who have made these malicious and false statements that such statement will not prevent me from doing my fullest duty to the people who have placed their trust and confidence in me by electing me as their Mayor.

I am responsible to the people of the city, and any man who would even think of betraying that confidence in such a crisis that our nation is now confronted with should be classed as a traitor to our country and its cause.

I urge again that you make a fearless and honest investigation. Permit no outside influence, however powerful, to deter you from giving the best that is in you to make our city what it should be, viz., the safest and healthiest place in the world in which to live. Very truly yours,

JOHN F. HYLAN, Mayor.

MacBride's Charges Denied.

Denials of the charges made by James E. MacBride, Chairman of the Civil Service Commission, in a letter to Health Commissioner Copeland, were made yesterday by William Jay Schieffelin, Lucius P. Brown, Director of the Bureau of Foods and Drugs; Leonard Wallstein, former Commissioner of Accounts, and represeniatives of the Women's Municipal League. At the same time Commissioner Copeland said he was very much impressed by Mr. MacBride's letter, which attacked Mr. Brown, Mr. Schieffelin, Mr. Wallstein, Dr. Charles F. Bolduan, Director of the Bureau of Public Health Education of the Health Department, and others.

Mr. Schieffelin explained the circumstances attendant on his examination of Mr. Brown for the office the latter now holds. Mr. Wallstein did not desire to add anything to his previous reply to Mr. MacBride, but he let it be known that instead of opposing a public investigation of the affairs of the Health Department he desired an open investigation, and that it was Mayor Hylan's investigators who were intent on conducting a "star chamber proceeding." At the Academy of Medicine it was learned that it was not the desire "to dignify Mr. MacBride" by issuing a statement. It was asserted that his letter itself was an answer to the charges he made, and that the whole matter was one that was above the plane of a personal controversy, "where Mr. MacBride seeks to drag it."

In a formal statement Mr. Brown said that if Mr. MacBride's letter had not been given to the press he would have waited until the Health Commissioner brought it to his attention, but inasmuch as Mr. MacBride saw fit to publish the letter as soon as he sent it to Dr. Copeland Mr. Brown said that his regard for his reputation and for the efficiency of his bureau caused him to make an equally public reply.

In reply to the accusation that the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor, "largely financed by a family interested in the Borden Milk Company," had influenced him to favor a bill to lower the standard of milk, Mr. Brown said that, on orders from Health Commissioner Emerson he attended a conference at Albany on Nov. 14, 1917, which was attended, he said, by dairymen and officials of large agricultural schools. The conference, Mr. Brown said, approved a certain bill which did not lower the standard of milk. As far as he knew neither the association nor the Borden Milk Company was active in supporting the measure.

In reply to the allegation by Mr. MacBride that he found many letters in the files of the Food and Drug Bureau which showed an unwillingness on the part of Mr. Brown to interfere with the operations of the Borden Milk Company, Mr. Brown made a flat denial that such letters existed. Mr. Brown said he knew of no such letters and would be glad to see them produced. The Borden Milk Company, he said, had been prosecuted just as any other milk company.

To the charge that the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor was opposed to an investigation of the Health Department because of the possibility of the exposure of "a corrupt ring in the Bureau of Food and Drugs," Mr. Brown said that he had no knowledge of the association taking such action; that he knew of no corrupt ring in the bureau, and that he constantly used his best efforts to prevent all corruption in the bureau. Mr. Brown reviewed in detail his work in this connection, and declared that he had willingly from the first given his co-operation to the District Attorney in the latter's hunt for graft.

In replying to Mr. MacBride's "insinuation" that he favored the drug house of William J. Schieffelin because the latter was one of the examiners who questioned him when he applied for his present office, Mr. Brown said that the statement was "without the slightest foundation." He said his selection was due solely to the showing he made on his Civil Service examination.

Regarding the allegation that he had not taken samples from the stock of Schieffelin & Co., Mr. Brown said of the 122 drug houses in the city he took samples from only thirty and these were taken only when information was received that the drug houses were violating the law.

Health Commissioner Copeland said yesterday that he was very much impressed with the letter from Chairman MacBride.

"If there is any need of action in the department," he said, "I will act, and if there is anything criminal to be handled it will be turned over to the District Attorney," he said.

Commissioner Copeland was emphatic in asserting that the work of public health education would be carried on by the Health Department so long as he was Health Commissioner.

"I am not prepared to say as yet whether the work will be done through a particular bureau or not," the Commissioner said. "If any one can come along, friend or foe, and show me a better scheme, I'll adopt it."

The Commissioner then remarked that the Mayor had never said anything to him which indicated that he contemplated changing any of the activities of or divisions of the department.

"How about the bureaus—will they be continued as they are at present?" he was asked.

"I am not prepared to say."

The Health Commissioner also remarked that "much has been said about the employment of experts." At no time, he said, had the Mayor indicated to him that he had an aversion to experts in the Health Department.

"Experts have nothing to fear from this administration," he said.

"I do not think that the public money should be spent in advocating prohibition," the Commissioner continued. "There is room for differences of opinion on that point. I have no objection, however, to making public through public health education the position of medical men with regard to alcohol. There isn't a doctor in the world who would not say that alcohol in excess was not good for you."

A statement issued yesterday by the Women's Municipal League, signed by Miss Agnes De Lima, Secretary, and Mrs. Edward S. Van Zile, Director, protested against the "inaccuracies" in Mr. MacBride's summary of testimony taken at his investigation.

"Mr. MacBride's summary of the testimony taken at the public hearings," the statement said, "fortifies the impression which the representatives of the league received there, that Mr. MacBride was more interested in acting as a prosecutor than as an impartial judge. Even if such weakness as he claims could be found in the conduct of the Bureau of Public Health Education, that would constitute no ground for his recommendation that the bureau itself be abolished.

"The fact that Mr. MacBride wilfully suppressed the most important part of Dr. Baker's recommendations regarding changes which might be instituted in the Bureau of Child Hygiene shows that his position is entirely a partisan one. His desperate recourse to outworn campaign shibboleths and his attempt to fasten the 'money bag' stigma on those who have interfered with the proposed disorganization of the Health Department fool nobody."

Indictments were returned yesterday by the Grand Jury against Harold W. J. Keen and T. Spencer Duignan, Inspectors in the Bureau of Food and Drugs of the Health Department, and Alexander Leibe, a messenger in the same department. Leibe was charged with extortion and the inspectors with bribery and extortion. The men denied the charges.

The trio were arraigned before Judge Mulqueen in General Sessions and held in $3,500 bail for pleading tomorrow. The inspectors were accused of extorting from oyster dealers and planters one cent a bushel for permitting oysters from polluted waters to be sold. The messenger was accused of being the one who received the money on behalf of the inspectors.

TOWNLEY DENIES CHARGES.

Tells Senators Farmers' Non-Partisan League Is Not Disloyal.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Charges that leaders and members of the Farmers' National Non-Partisan League are disloyal were answered today before the Senate Military Committee by A. C. Townley of St. Paul, the league's President, who is under indictment for alleged violation of the Minnesota laws.

Townley had an opportunity to reply to the statement of Judge John E. McGee of Minneapolis, a member of the Minnesota Public Safety Commission, in the committee's consideration of the Chamberlain Court-Martial bill.

Reciting support given to the war in wheat planting and Liberty Loan subscriptions by farmers of Minnesota and North Dakota, belonging to the league, Townley categorically denied the organization was disloyal.

"We do not want to stand before the country and the world branded as traitors," he said.

Senator Reed of Missouri, declaring Townley's hearing an "unusual proceeding," said Judge McGee had stricken from the record the statements referred to by Townley as reflecting upon the loyalty of the league's membership.

"Our people don't know that the charge—widely published in our States—was withdrawn," Townley replied. "Since the charge is withdrawn I think it is agreed by Judge McGee and everybody else that it is untrue."

Senators Reed and Weeks declared the sole question involved was the charge that leaders—not the membership—of the league have been disloyal.

"Four or five" officers and workers of the league, Townley said, when pressed, had been indicted in Minnesota for violations of laws passed to assist the conduct of the war, but two only had been convicted.

"The convictions were had only on charges of holding meetings without the consent of the Minnesota Safety Commission," he explained.

Senator Hitchcock read a statement from Governor Burnquist of Minnesota saying Joseph Gilbert, a director of the league, had been convicted of "disloyal utterances."

"That's one of the convictions, but the charge was not what the Governor says it was," the witness responded.

WILL USE LABOR CARDS.

New Jersey Introduces System to Check Up Floaters and Aliens.

TRENTON, N. J., May 1.—By an agreement among the members of the New Jersey State Manufacturers' Council and the directors of all municipal, State, and Federal employment bureaus in the State no worker will be employed hereafter unless he holds a card issued by the labor bureaus. The agreement was announced at a meeting here today, and the object was said to be to curtail the "floating" of labor, as well as to prevent the employment of undesirable aliens in munition plants.

Warren C. King, the President of the council, said that the practice of leaving jobs after a few days' work was causing heavy loss to employers through inefficiency. It was said that organized labor approved the plan to keep out the undesirable element. Men without work will be aided in a search for jobs and those who refuse to work will be prosecuted under the "anti-loafing" law.

MISS HIGGINS WINS CHEERS.

Girls at Woolwich Arsenal Shout for "Old Glory" and Delegate Speaks.

LONDON, May 1.—Several members of the American labor delegation now visiting England made a survey of the Royal Arsenal at Woolwich yesterday. The delegates were received enthusiastically in every shop and department.

Miss Higgins of the delegation spoke at a large canteen crowded with girls. She said that the women of the United States were emphasizing their will to war. The girls shouted: "Good Old Glory!"

Professor A. O. Lovejoy of Johns Hopkins University addressed a large number of men. He explained the American viewpoint and declared America's determination to go on until victory was obtained. He assured his hearers, who cheered him loudly, that America was going to do and was doing big things. Professor Lovejoy said he did not wish to boast, but wanted to emphasize that they could rely on material help from America within the next month or two.

PARIS, May 1.—Premier Clemenceau, Marshal Joffre, and others of Franco's notable men will take part in the receptions to the American labor delegation about to arrive in Paris from England. Numerous organized bodies of workers will also participate in the reception.

All of the passengers and many of the crew were asleep when the crash occurred. The shock, which appeared to lift the steamer out of the water, combined with the grinding of steel plates ripped out of the side of the boat and the splintering and snapping of woodwork, was sufficient to indicate to all, who were roughly awakened from sleep, that the ship would not last more than a few minutes.

Most of the passengers rushed up on deck with life-preservers slipped over their night clothes and some with overcoats and slippers on. The women were hastily put into lifeboats and liferafts, as fast as they could be got off. French sailors and American marines, who were among the passengers, together with three young sailors of the United States Naval Reserve, who were being trained for commissions, joined in saving passengers.

Soja Apperaise Woe Defeelive.

According to several marines some of the life-saving apparatus did not appear to act properly. The cause of the capsizing of one of the boats was reported to be the breaking of a rope. Others struck the water so close upon the sinking of the steamer that they were caught in the swell which it created and swamped.

F. J. Doherty, the wireless operator, reported among the missing, is said by passengers to have stayed at his post sending out "S O S" signals until he went down with the ship. The relief operator, C. W. Volmer, was saved.

The French ship, whose bow was badly battered by the crash, drew back at once after the collision, and rescuing launches and rowboats were put over at once. French sailors rowed about, guided by the shouts of survivors in boats and hanging upon wreckage, until the big searchlights could be brought into play.

Beams of light then swept over a moderately rough sea for several hundred feet on each side of the spot where the collision had occurred. As soon as it revealed the head of a man afloat the beam remained fixed on the figure in the water until it could be seen that a rescuing boat was on the way toward it. Then the searchlight again began to swing slowly to and fro.

Mrs. Richard Bodziner of Mobile, Ala., who was one of the first to be taken on board the French warship, anxiously awaited news of her husband, from whom she was separated by the order to put women first on the lifecraft. Party after party of the rescued were put on board, but he was not among them. After several hours of searching, further attempts to find the missing man were considered futile.

The French warship landed its survivors early last night. Three women who were severely injured were taken to a hospital. Other women, who had been rescued in their nightdress, waited for clothes, which were obtained from the shore, and then most of the survivors of the City of Athens went ashore.

Eight marines returned wearing caps, shirts, and wooden shoes loaned to them by the sailors of the French warship. They were members of a squad of twenty-four men that had been ordered to the marine concentration camp at Port Royal, where they were to be trained for service overseas.

The survivors were all fast asleep in their bunks when the collision occurred. Each one had a comrade sleeping in the same stateroom with him whom he tried to awaken, and, according to several, the marines who were drowned met their fate because they would not take the situation seriously until it was too late. The surviving marines said the City of Athens sank in less than seven minutes after she was struck.

Several of the marines happened to be fully clothed when thrown into the water. Then they grabbed for anything they could get hold of, often two or three of them grasping a small box or a bit of timber until it sank under their weight, forcing them to let go and swim for something else, until the searchlight from the French warship picked them out and boats went to their rescue.

Young Marine's Experience.

John L. Wilson, 19 years old, who enlisted in the United States Marine Corps in Buffalo, told his story of the disaster as follows:

"I was fast asleep and dreaming when my dream was broken by a terrific crash. I jumped out of bed and looked out of the window. I heard a bugle from the French boat and I shook my partner in the bunk above—a man by the name of Graham—and told him he had better hurry. Somehow I could not make him understand. He just rubbed his eyes, yawned, and wanted to turn over and go to sleep again. I learned later that he was drowned.

"On running out on deck I found the boat listing far to port and a group of men, with a woman among them, struggling like mad with a lifeboat. A crowd of them got in with the woman, but just as I arrived a rope or something broke, the lifeboat turned clear over, and every one in it tumbled into the water. Feeling the steamer sinking I didn't think it was worth while bothering about lifeboats, so I slid down a pole to the deck below, and just as I was about to leap off the rail a big wave piled over the side and swept me overboard. When I rose to the surface I found myself looking right into the eye of a searchlight.

"That gave me hope and I started to swim toward the ship. On my way I met a French sailor in the water, who was one of the passengers on our boat, and who was holding onto a box. I asked him if he would mind if I took hold of the box too. He could not understand what I said, but nodded his head, and I promptly grabbed hold. Then with one hand on the box and the other to his mouth, the French sailor would raise himself out of the water and shout 'Sauve! Sauve!' toward the warship. Finally the French sailors heard him, and one of their boats came out and picked us up.

Ned Rogoff, of Springfield, Mass., another marine, was sleeping in the same stateroom with Samuel Ginsberg, of 1,451 Crotona Place, New York, who was drowned. Rogoff awoke when he heard Ginsberg fall out of his bunk. Half asleep, he heard Ginsberg say something about "a woman crying out on deck."

Begged Him to Save Her.

"Ginsberg went out," said Rogoff. "He seemed very much worried about the woman, so I dressed and followed as quickly as I could. I put on my trousers, my coat and my shoes. I got into the saloon deck and found that the boat was listing, with the stern rising fast. At the upper end of the saloon a woman came from one of the staterooms, and as soon as she saw me she rushed down and seized me around the neck, begging me to save her. The boat continued to list downward, and I felt my feet sliding from under me.

"With the woman still around my neck I tried to grab for a table in the saloon, and finally succeeded in seizing hold of the foot of the piano, with the woman, who had fallen to the floor, holding on to my foot. The piano began to slide, too, and down we went, all three of us—the woman, myself, and the piano.

"We banged against something, and—I don't know what happened, but the next moment I was on deck, rushing toward a lifeboat, which some men were just about to put off. I was on the point of getting into it when one of the ropes gave way and everybody in it was hurled into the water."

Rogoff said he then climbed up to the highest point of the deck above water and found a life raft, lashed to the deck. He decided to cling to it, and did so for a minute or two, when, according to his story, he heard something that sounded very much like a terrific boiler explosion, after which he found himself still clinging to the raft, but in the water, with a man and a woman holding on to the other side of the raft, the woman pleading with her husband to save himself and let her go.

"These two, I learned later, had two children on board, one of whom was drowned," said Rogoff. "Apparently the explosion or whatever it was, had separated the raft from the deck. Anyway, we floated around and pretty soon I saw emerge from the water a few feet away the head of a steward. He shouted for an oar, and I shoved one toward him. Then came a negro. He floated by with his face all bleeding. He blubbered something or other to me and floated on.

"We saw several lifeboats pass us, and I shouted, but none of them would stop. I guess they thought we were well enough provided for with the raft. It was not until I yelled to one boat that we had with us that it stopped, and we would not let it pass until we all got aboard."

The other survivors who told their stories at the Marine Corps headquarters yesterday were Joseph Spaeth and William Bessenger, both of Buffalo; Harold L. Cooper of Springfield, Ohio, and Harold R. Weeks of Sodue, N. Y. Spaeth and Bessenger clung together from the moment the collision occurred until they landed on the French warship. Together with two French sailors and two negroes, they managed to launch a lifeboat safely, in which they carried a woman and her two children to the rescuing warship.

Cooper said he clung to a box and then to a bit of partition for fully three hours before he was picked up by a lifeboat. He, too, said he saw the steward of the City of Athens swimming by. The man grabbed hold of the partition, but under the weight of both of them the support sank and they had to let go. When Cooper came to the surface the steward was nowhere in sight. By the time a lifeboat reached him, Cooper said, his fingers were so numb with cold that he was about ready to give up.

Harold R. Weeks said the passengers had difficulty in releasing any of the lifeboats. He saw them struggling with two before he was washed overboard. In the water, he first found a box to hold on to, then a door, and then he saw a raft with a man on it.

"I asked him if I could get on," said Weeks, "but he shook his head and said he thought it would go down with two of us. But I got on and hung on until a boat came along and picked us up."

At the Marine Headquarters the survivors were taken in charge by Sergeants Harry W. Miller and George Kneller. They were fed and supplied with any clothing that they still lacked out of the stock which the two recruiting sergeants were able to improvise.

Had "a Comfortable Time."

Of all the marines who lived through the experience the only one who had what he called "a comfortable time" of it was Frederick L. King of Geneva, N. Y., 21 years old, and a student of the University of Michigan who enlisted in the United States Marine Corps a few days ago at Buffalo. He was thrown out of his bunk by the collision. Awakening his mate in the bunk above, he started to put on his life preserver when Rogoff passed his window and shouted, "What are you doing, practicing?" King and his mate, Harold L. Cooper, went out on deck to find the ship listing at an angle of about 30 degrees.

"I climbed to the highest part of the ship," said King, "and then there was nothing to do but let go and slide down the whole length of the deck and land in the water to find right within reach a floating door and a nice, soft cushion on top of it. I climbed on top of the cushion and sat there, feeling quite comfortable and as secure as the circumstances would permit, and just waited to see what would happen next.

"After floating around for fifteen minutes there emerged out of the sea what looked to me very like half of the upper deck, with a cupola-shaped pilot house and everything right side up. It offered an even more inviting perch than I had, so I swam out to it and got on top of the cupola. Pretty soon a young naval cadet swam up and got aboard with me and started to give me a lot of points on how to keep from freezing by lifting my feet out of the water and moving my arms around. I followed his directions and we sat there, watching a lot of things floating by us in the fog. Now it would be a man, sometimes a woman, holding on to a box, and almost the last thing I saw were four negroes sitting on an overturned lifeboat and praying at the top of their voices."

After being passed by several lifeboats, whose occupants would pay no attention to them, King and the naval cadet were finally discovered by the searchlight and a boat from the warship picked them up.

Albert M. Thibodeau of Waterville, Me., was awakened by the rush of water into his cabin. Armed with life preservers, he and his roommate rushed out on deck, where Thibodeau was swept overboard by a heavy swell. He got hold of a box with a rope attached to it. Another man was holding on to it, and Thibodeau saw that his companion had little strength to struggle, so he grabbed hold of the rope and started to swim for the searchlight, pulling the man with him.

Stephenson Higginson Tynge, one of the marines who was lost, was married on the day the ship sailed, taking him off for service. He was reported as a resident of New York. He was a Yale graduate and had attended one of the training schools at Plattsburg.

Mrs. Charles B. Levy of Bridgeport, Conn., and her 5-year-old daughter, though both suffering severely from the shock and exposure, refused to go to a hospital when they were landed. Mrs. Levy said that she and her daughter had been thrown from their berths by the shock.

A French officer who was on board laid the difficulty with the lifeboats partly to the manner in which the side of the ship was crushed in by the collision and said that few had been able to get overboard in lifeboats, and that men and women were at the starboard rail waiting for boats to be launched when the deck became submerged. According to him between fifteen and eighteen minutes elapsed between the collision and the sinking of the ship.

Harry A. Kelley of New York, an oiler on the steamer, swam to one overturned lifeboat, according to survivors, and assisted four persons, who were kept afloat by their life-preservers, until they were able to cling to the keel of the capsized craft from which they were rescued by French sailors.

The City of Athens was a ship of 8,649 gross tons and carried a general cargo, besides passengers.

BOSTON, May 1.—Miss Flora D. Holthan of the Hyde Park district of this city, who is believed to have been lost on the steamer City of Athens, left here to take a short sea trip for her health. She was Private Secretary to M. S. Leonard, an official of the B. F. Sturtevant Company, and was 31 years of age.

We Cannot Do Without the "Little You Can Do"

Some people say, "I don't eat much wheat or meat; the little I could save wouldn't amount to anything.

"I don't spend much money on luxuries; the little I could save wouldn't help win the war.

"I could only buy one or two Liberty Bonds; that wouldn't be noticed in a great bond issue of billions of dollars."

If every person in the country who can save only a little and invest a little felt that way, we would have to quit before we began. Our country would be absolutely helpless. We would have to say to Germany, "Come over and help yourselves—we can't fight you—each one of us can only fight a little."

It is the little savings and the little investments that will win this war. Do your share—your little bit of vital importance—your help is essential to an American VICTORY.

People Who Pray and Pay

It makes my heart stand still sometimes to hear the church bells ringing so thoughtlessly Sunday mornings.

To walk down the street after reading my paper some Sunday mornings wondering if there are going to be any church bells, and then hear them ringing away in the same old way as if nothing had happened—it seems as if I cannot bear it.

Has every church in this country got to be its own Louvain? Has every man got to be hit by a German bomb in his own pew, to make him religious enough to rush out of the service to a bank?

If ever there was a sacrament, if ever people took bread or wine to their lips to pray, it is now.

All day and all night I see it—the sacrament of the nations. In the firelight, in the sunshine, in the black night, in the roar and the glare of the streets, in the stars and in the trenches, America breaks bread with God!

If I were a priest in charge of a church today and I could not get people to buy bonds in banks next door before and after service, or if I could not get them to buy bonds in the church vestibule, I would sell bonds in the chancel. I would see—in a time when the reputation of God, and the fate of a world, is hanging on how much men will pay for their God, and on how much men will pay for their world,—if I could not get my parishioners to take a bond behind the chancel as seriously as they take a boy choir.

If I cannot make a chancel out of a trench, or a trench out of a chancel, if I cannot sing a Te Deum in a bank, if I cannot beat the Germans back to keep the world and to have a God for a boy choir to sing about, it does not matter about me.

My life is as dust that is blown away.

One of the first things I would do with the church bells if I had control of them for a Sunday morning, would be to make the bells tell to the people news about themselves—news about where the front is in this war. I would have the church bells sing out to the people just where the front is.

There was a time not long ago in England when people objected to having everybody go out and work in their garden allotments on Sundays when they were supposed to be going to service.

Finally they brought the services to the allotments and let people worship while they hoed.

To me this singing to God while hoeing, this kneeling to weed and pray—this raising potatoes with a Te Deum, this crying to God as one feeds the pigs and saves the bones of the chickens, is the noblest, the most conclusive proof that religion in this world cannot be shut up in stained glass windows, that the world has ever seen.

I, a lover and doter on cathedrals, say it. "Let a thousand cathedrals be razed to the ground! The spirit that kneels and weeds will build ten thousand more."

I am not afraid for my religion now. The precious pieces of stained glass windows now at last can crash to the ground! We really have a religion, a worldful of religion, I have seen a world heaped high with religion. The Cross is no longer a gentle, beautiful, holy show people go to and fold their hands.

Let the great bells fall with a crash from their mighty towers! The bells ring in our souls.

Now verily do I believe in God! Now daily do I give thanks to God! Angels have climbed down out of their niches to me! I have seen rich men as poor men and the first last and the last first, and the face of Labor transfigured with the sacrament of war! I have seen pipe organs moved to the mill!

I go about today, tomorrow, I see Saint Francis in the street! He might be anybody. He might be selling Liberty Bonds. He would have bought Liberty Bonds.

BRITAIN DEFENDS SEIZURE OF SHIPS

Rejoins to the Dutch Note with an Assertion of Full Legality of Action Taken.

BLAMES BERLIN OBSTACLES

Says That Every Effort Was Made to Reach an Agreement with The Hague.

LONDON, May 1.—The note of the British Government in reply to the last Dutch note concerning the requisitioning of Dutch shipping gives a detailed survey of the abortive negotiations for an amicable arrangement for the use of Dutch shipping.

It shows that such an agreement was reached Dec. 24 with Dutch delegates sent to London for this purpose. A prolonged period followed during which Great Britain awaited the result of the examination of the agreement by the Dutch Government. At the end of January it was understood that the Dutch reply might be expected in a few days and would be favorable. But no such reply came.

Meanwhile an arrangement was reached Jan. 20 (the so-called modus vivendi) which provided that a certain number of Dutch vessels could be used at once outside the submarine zone, of which ships up to 164,000 tons might be employed for Belgian relief. On the departure of a vessel for Holland in the service of the Commission for Relief in Belgium, a corresponding vessel was to leave Holland for the United States.

Germany Blocked Modus Vivendi.

The extent to which the modus vivendi was carried out, says the note, was so slight as to render it practically abortive, and it was German opposition that caused the modus vivendi breakdown, Germany refusing to allow any Dutch ships to leave Holland as arranged. Of sixty-five vessels lying in American ports, only nine began the voyage under the modus vivendi before the end of February, and the Dutch statement that "almost all the ships in question were duly freed and many had already sailed when on Feb. 22 the Netherlands Government asked for an advance of 100,000 tons of wheat on the total included in the basis of the agreement of London," is irreconcilable with the facts.

The reply remarks that it would seem as if the terms of the Dutch note of March 30 were intended to produce the impression that when the associated Governments at length proceeded to requisition Dutch tonnage lying in their ports they took a step entirely unexpected by the Netherlands Government.

"As a fact, explicit intimations that if there was no agreement other measures must be taken were conveyed to the Dutch Government March 8 and March 12," says the note. "Moreover, as early as March 1 the Netherlands delegate who remained in London was informed that it looked as if it would relieve the situation for both sides if the tonnage were requisitioned. Two months had elapsed without any expression whatever of the views of the Netherlands Government on the general agreement, and the situation had materially changed.

"Nevertheless, the associated Governments, which would gladly have preferred an arrangement by mutual consent, made another determined effort to reach a satisfactory conclusion, and submitted the proposal which the Netherlands Government accepted in form March 17, but coupled with conditions which made their acceptance nugatory, namely, that the ships were not to be employed for the transport of troops and war material and not to be armed.

Denies Affecting Neutrality.

"The Dutch note implies that these new conditions were necessary from the point of view of neutrality, but this view is not based on international law, and is merely a rule which the Netherlands Government made for themselves, as the Dutch Foreign Minister himself stated in a speech March 19, that rejection of the British offer made the requisitioning of the tonnage inevitable, unless a state of things were to continue which it was the very object of the Central Powers to achieve, namely, the immobilization of Dutch shipping."

The note then recalls the very liberal conditions with which the associated Governments would comply in using requisitioned ships, and their intimations to the Dutch Government of their readiness to facilitate the carriage of grain to Holland by Dutch vessels at Buenos Aires, Curacao, and Savannah. It then proceeds to refute the assertion of the Dutch note that the negotiations for an economic agreement for the importation into Holland of large quantities of food and other necessaries had been abruptly terminated by the action of the associated Governments. It declares there is no obstacle to a continuation of the negotiations at any date, and that if the negotiations proceed no further and no final arrangement is reached the responsibility will not rest with the associated Governments.

Asserts Full Legal Right.

Finally the note deals with the legal aspect of the requisitioning of the shipping. It says it makes little difference whether the act of requisitioning is based on the right of angaria or upon the general right of sovereignty over all persons and property within a nation's jurisdiction.

In refutation of the Dutch contention that the right of angaria has fallen into desuetude, the British note quotes a whole series of modern writers and authorities on international law of various nationalities and points out that the right was asserted by Germany and acquiesced in by the British Government in 1871. The right, it says, is also recognized in the entire series of treaties entered into by Germany between 1872 and 1892. It says the latest of these treaties, that with Colombia, contains the following provision:

"In the exigencies of war neutral vessels also can be detained in order to be used for the purpose of conducting the war. For the service thus rendered compensation must be made, but the payment need not be made in advance, nor is it necessary to fix the amount beforehand."

Treaties containing similar provisions, says the note, were made in France, Spain, and Italy with various South American States between 1882 and 1892. The note declares that the Netherlands Government can therefore hardly maintain that the right exercised by the associated Governments is an obsolete one.

The note deals with the allegation of the Netherlands Government that the measure taken only rests on force, and contends that the measure was simply an exercise of the universally recognized right of sovereignty. It adds that it is a commonplace that the rights of a sovereign State extend over all property within its jurisdiction, irrespective of ownership, and that neutral property within belligerent jurisdiction is, in the absence of special treaty stipulation, as liable to requisition in case of emergency as the property of subjects.

"The fact that the exercise of this right with regard to shipping has received a particular name," says the note, "should not obscure the truth that it is a legal exercise of a sovereign State, and not an act by a belligerent based on no principle of law and for which the only justification is to be found in usage."

The note concludes with an expression of the hope that the explanations given will remove from the mind of the Netherlands Government and the Dutch people any misconceptions regarding the proceedings of the associated Governments, and that it will be realized that the latter have done everything in their power to render the action they were compelled to take, and which, in their opinion, is fully justified under international law, as little injurious as possible to the Netherlands interests.

ADVANCE 20 MILES IN MESOPOTAMIA

British Pursue Turks to the Tauk River, Capturing 1,000 More.

VICTORY EAST OF JORDAN

Palestine Forces Menace Es-Salt, Taking 260 Prisoners; Occupy Village of Mezreh.

LONDON, May 1.—British troops in Mesopotamia carrying on their pursuit of the retreating Turkish forces have advanced as far as the Tauk River. It is officially announced today. Twelve additional field guns were captured on April 29. The total of prisoners has reached 1,800.

The text of the statement reads:

"On April 30 our pursuing troops advanced as far as the Tauk River. Twelve more field guns were captured on the 29th, and the number of prisoners now amounts to 1,800.

The British forces east of the Jordan River attacked the enemy holding the foothills south of Es-Salt Tuesday, and the mounted troops were within two miles of that town by nightfall, says a British official communication, issued tonight, dealing with the fighting in Palestine and Hedjaz. The communication adds that 260 prisoners were taken.

Information from the Arab forces operating in the Moab area shows that 550 prisoners were taken in the course of the recent attacks along the Hedjas Railway.

Another bulletin says the British have advanced along a line of one mile in the vicinity of Mezreh (possibly Mesrash-Sherkiyeh, on the line of the British advance northward from Jerusalem) and occupied that village.

The new ground covered by the British in Mesopotamia represents an advance of approximately twenty miles from the point farthest north mentioned in the official statement of yesterday, announcing the beginning of the drive north from Bagdad toward the Turkish base at Mosul. Yesterday's statement reported a total of 878 prisoners taken, so that nearly 1,000 more Turks appear to have been captured.

BOHEMIAN TROOPS JOIN ITALIAN ARMY

Zecho-Slovak Force Fighting Against Austria, Causing Perturbation to Foe.

LONDON, Thursday, May 2.—The Daily Mail's correspondent at Italian Headquarters says that Bohemian troops are joining the Italian troops against Austria and that the first detachments are already on the Italian fighting line, wearing Italian uniforms.

The detachments belonged to a Czecho-Slovak army which is being formed in many centres from former subjects of Emperor Charles. They already occupy positions at various points.

It is known, adds the correspondent of The Daily Mail, that their arrival already has caused perturbation among the Austro-Hungarian commanders, who fear the effect on their Slav troops. Now that the enemy Slav troops know their fellow Slavs are fighting under the Italian banner in complete accord with the Italians and with a definite program of winning absolute independence for their common country their whole attitude toward the war, he adds, may undergo an important change. The new position of affairs is being explained adequately to them by airplane propaganda and committees of their own race are accredited to and co-operating with the Italian command.

AIDS KAISER IN POLAND.

Pope Will Send an Envoy to New State Formed by Germany.

ROME, May 1.—The Vatican intends to recognize the new political formation of Poland under Germany by the sending of Mgr. Ratti there as Apostolic Delegate, according to a statement issued at the office of the Papal Secretary of State today.

The statement adds that the breaking up of Russian authority in Poland has made necessary the sending of Mgr. Ratti to Poland. He is considered an able representative of the Vatican, holding the office of Prefect of the Vatican Library. The statement says that he will soon depart for his new post.

FRENCH SUBMARINE IS SUNK

Some of the Prairial's Crew Lost When She Hits a Merchant Ship.

PARIS, May 1.—The French submarine Prairial has been sunk as the result of a collision with a merchant ship, it was announced today. Part of the crew of the submarine was saved.

The Prairial was built at Cherbourg ten years ago. She was 167 feet long and displaced 400 tons. Her complement ordinarily was 24 men.

CROWN PRINCE HELPS TO BOMBARD PARIS

Kaiser's Heir Visits Long Range Guns Frequently and Fires Shots from Them—3 Women Injured.

GENEVA, Switzerland, May 1.—The German Crown Prince himself has fired several shots with a gun with which Paris is being bombarded, a Cologne dispatch says. He is greatly interested in the working of the guns, according to the dispatch, and has visited the spot frequently.

PARIS, May 1.—The long range bombardment of the Paris district was resumed this morning. Three women were injured slightly, it is announced officially.

General Dubail, the Military Governor of Paris, visited today the various points in the region of Paris which had been particularly affected by the latest bombardment. The General talked with the local authorities and asked them to convey his congratulations to their subordinates for the calmness they had displayed during the shelling.

WANT AUSTRIA TO ATTACK.

German Papers Seek to Force Drive on Italian Front.

LONDON, May 1.—It is worthy of note in connection with the official statement from Austro-Hungarian Headquarters Tuesday, reporting increased activity on the Italian front, that German papers recently have been referring to a supposed impending revival of the Austrian offensive against Italy on a grand scale.

The comments have read at times as if they were intended to exert pressure on Austria-Hungary to begin an attack, for which the Germans are eager as a diversion on the extreme flank of the Entente front.

Lieut. Gen. von Ardenne, in the Berliner Tageblatt, writes:

"The tension amid which the world is watching the drama in France and Flanders is likely to be increased as soon as the Italian theatre becomes livelier. It cannot be denied that while the German people await a revival of the fighting activity there with full confidence, they also await it with impatience. Never was the opportunity for reviving an Austro-Hungarian offensive more favorable than at present."

GODSOL ASKS FOR LIBERTY.

Files a Motion to Dismiss Ambassador Jusserand's Complaint.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Frank J. Godsol, the French soldier charged with getting $1,563,104.84 from the French Republic by false representations in connection with the sale of trucks for war use in France, today filed a motion to dismiss the complaint preferred by Ambassador Jusserand for his extradition. Hearing of the motion is scheduled before Justice Hitz of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia tomorrow.

Seven reasons are assigned by Godsol why the complaint should be dismissed. He asserts that no authenticated copy of the warrant of arrest in France is attached to the complaint. There is no allegation, he contends, that the supposed false representations were ever communicated to the French Republic before it parted with the money to pay for the automobiles, and no allegation that such false statements were relied on or that the French nation was deceived in parting with its money is set forth.

Another reason assigned is that it is not shown that any money was obtained by Godsol in France. It is also alleged that the complaint fails to set forth the substantial and material features of an offense in a manner sufficiently explicit to inform Godsol of the precise nature of the charge against him.

Can the Germans bomb New York?

THEY are shelling Paris from seventy-five miles away—a thing called impossible. They ran the British blockade and landed on our coast with an ocean going submarine. Can they bomb New York from the air? Would they use Zeppelins or great bombing Aeroplanes?

Would they make the round trip or operate from a base?

Two experts give an authoritative answer in the May Review of Reviews.

"THE GREATEST BATTLE"

Can the Allies hold the line, bending from the defensive hinges on North and South?

Can the numerically inferior British army stand the tremendous assaults? The Fifth British army was defeated, and yet the line was saved. Do you know what saved the day?

When will Foch strike—and where? Is he waiting too long?

Frank H. Simonds, our most brilliant writer on strategy, deals with this colossal chess game—in the Review of Reviews for May.

FOCH—GENERALISSIMO

The entire world has its eyes on Foch, Allied Generalissimo. Can he save democracy? Is he biding his time? Is he to be Hindenburg's master in strategy?

ASSERTS MRS. KING WAS SLAIN BY A SPY

Otto Schumann, a German Now Interned, Shot at Means, Prosecutor Charges.

GETS WARRANT FOR ARREST

Trust Company's Detective Trailed Means and Knew Who Killed Woman, It Is Alleged.

Special to The New York Times.

CONCORD, N. C., May 1.—Otto Schumann, a German now interned as an alien enemy, with several aliases, is wanted here on the charge of having murdered Mrs. Maude A. King near this city on the night of Aug. 29 last in an attempt to assassinate Gaston B. Means, who subsequently was tried and acquitted on a charge of murder in connection with the wealthy widow's death. A warrant for the arrest of Schumann was sworn out here late today by Morrison H. Caldwell, Prosecuting Attorney for the City of Concord, before Police Justice A. B. Palmer.

At the time of the issuing of the warrant Mr. Caldwell made this statement:

"Otto Schumann is a German spy and is now in the custody of the United States Government. We expect to prove:

"First, that Gaston B. Means severed his connections with the German Government in 1916 because of its attitude toward the United States Government and the then strained relations between the two Governments.

"Second, that in July, 1917, in New York City, Gaston B. Means called on German interests there in connection with profits Mrs. King and himself had in the custody of these interests, derived from the shipments of rubber and copper to Germany long prior to the declaration of war between the United States and Germany. Means's profits in these transactions amounting to about $85,000 and Mrs. King's profits to about $146,000.

"In this interview with the Germen interests he stated to them that he had just completed an investigation that he had been working on for five or six months, and that he was going to volunteer his services to the United States Government or accept a permanent position that had been offered to him by a leading newspaper, which would enable him to be of service to the United States Government, because the time had come when every citizen should be of all possible service to his own country.

Inquiry Into U-Boat Base.

"Immediately after this interview he did, in connection with the editor and manager of one of America's leading newspapers, prepare their plans for an investigation to ascertain positively where the German Government submarine base on this side of the Atlantic Ocean was located.

"These German interests knew that Means had full knowledge as to how the German Government had been able to get its requirements of rubber and copper prior to the declaration of war between the United States and Germany.

"Third, Gaston B. Means had placed in the hands of Mrs. King's attorneys all of the facts, data, and affidavits that he had gotten together and the opinions of the handwriting experts on the disputed James C. King will of October, 1905, and had made arrangements through Carl L. Schurz, one of Mrs. King's attorneys, for Mrs. King to meet Charles E. Hughes in reference to employing him in connection with the will case, according to the instructions of Mrs. King.

"Fourth, that Otto Schumann, at the direction of the German interests with whom Means had had his interview, followed him out of the City of New York to North Carolina. After his arrival in North Carolina, Otto Schumann, during Means's several automobile trips with Mrs. King and friends in this section of North Carolina, followed him on a motor cycle.

"Fifth, that Means was also under the surveillance of C. B. Ambrose in the interest of and for the Northern Trust Company of Chicago, in connection with the prospective litigation involving the disputed James C. King will of 1905, and that C. B. Ambrose and Otto Schumann, prior to the night of Aug. 29, 1917, the night of the tragedy at Blackweider Spring, met and had numerous conferences, and that C. B. Ambrose, by numerous reports from North Carolina, was keeping W. S. Miller, attorney for the Northern Trust Company, posted as to just what Mrs. King and Gaston B. Means were doing in North Carolina, and in addition that Means was also under surveillance by Otto Schumann for German interests.

Trailed by Motorcyclist.

"Sixth, that on the evening of Aug. 29, 1917, Otto Schumann, on a motorcycle, followed Mrs. King, Captain Bingham, Afton Means, Ernest Eury, and Gaston B. Means, to Blackweidar Spring, where he saw them stop in their automobile, and he on his motor cycle turned up the Plantation Road that runs in front of the church and schoolhouse just above the spring and to M. L. Cline's farm.

"Seventh, that in the church that evening there was a man and woman whose veracity in Carbarrus County will not be questioned who saw Otto Schumann go up this road with his motorcycle, leave his motorcycle in the woods, and walk to the underbrush on the hill just above the spring.

"Eighth, that shortly thereafter they heard a shot from the spring, saw Otto Schumann come back soon after the shot to his motor cycle, get on it, and leave at a rapid rate of speed.

"Ninth, that Charles Dry and his wife testified to the truth at the trial of Gaston B. Means for the murder of Mrs. King when they said they heard somebody, immediately after the shot, run through the underbrush, and soon thereafter saw a light from what appeared to them to be an auto going at a rapid rate of speed over the hill in the Gold Hill road toward Concord, and later a second auto leave the spring going in the same direction. Otto Schumann did run through the underbrush, and it was his motor cycle that Dry and his wife first heard and saw leave the vicinity of the spring and later Means's automobile.

"Tenth, that C. B. Ambrose and W. S. Miller, attorney for the Northern Trust Company, had in their possession in whole or in part before the trial of Means and at the time of the trial of Means and at his acquittal all of the foregoing facts; and that C. B. Ambrose from North Carolina had made written reports to W. S. Miller, attorney for the Northern Trust Company, acquainting him with these facts; and that later at the time of the trial of Means, W. S. Miller, attorney for the Northern Trust Company, and C. B. Ambrose, were in daily conferences, using all of their endeavors to suppress these facts, and Miller sent Ambrose away from Concord at the time of the trial of Means for the murder of Maude A. King after Ambrose had been made by the court, to stand up in the audience for the purpose of identification, for fear that by some chance Ambrose might be called on to take the stand as a witness.

Eye Witness to Tragedy.

"Eleventh, That there was an ey witness to the tragedy as Ambrose first publicly stated and privately reported to W. S. Miller, and that eye witness was Otto Schumann and Ambrose knew this fact.

"Twelfth, That from the underbrush above the spring Otto Schumann, with a rifle equipped with a supplemental chamber, fired at Gaston B. Means as he was getting a drink of water. The bullet hit a rock on top of the spring and rock wall of the spring, glanced and struck Mrs. King. Mrs. King fell crumpled up mortally wounded with her feet under her, and that was when her ankle was broken.

"Thirteenth, that C. B. Ambrose was employed by the Northern Trust Company of Chicago during all the time he was in North Carolina and had Gaston B. Means and Mrs. King under surveillance and that he was not representing nor acting for the Department of Justice, and this information is officially stated by A. B. Bielaski, chief of the Department of Justice, in letters to United States Senators John Sharp Williams of Mississippi, Calder of New York, and Simmons of North Carolina.

"Fourteenth, that the Northern Trust Company is equally guilty with Ambrose in perpetrating a fraud on the courts of North Carolina and the attorneys who prosecuted Means for the murder of Maude A. King, and that Ambrose was the instigator of the proceedings against Means and as agent and representative of the Northern Trust Company.

"Fifteenth, that Gaston B. Means was a victim of the Northern Trust Company as a result of malicious reports given to the press so effectively by the agents and representatives of the Northern Trust Company, which reports and statements concerning Means were not based on facts and emanated from Chicago and New York City."

JAPAN'S WAR POLICY STANDS, SAYS GOTO

New Foreign Minister Declares It Is Unchanged, and Reiterates Pledge to Allies.

WARNS OF PROPAGANDA

Points to German Efforts to Stir Animosity Toward Japan in America and Russia.

TOKIO, Saturday, April 27.—(Associated Press.)—The change in the Foreign Ministry implies no alteration of Japan's policy in the war, said Baron Goto today. The Baron has actively taken over the work of the Foreign Office.

"In this day," said the Baron, at a reception to the chiefs of departments today, "there should be no need of a declaration by the Secretary for Foreign Affairs of one of the nations allied in the common cause for which we have taken up arms and for which we are pledged to stand together until victory and peace have been secured. Nevertheless I recognize the importance, especially at this time, of guarding against insidious propagandists who are particularly busy when there is opportunity to plant seeds of suspicion and distrust. I therefore welcome this opportunity to declare, through The Associated Press, that there is no foundation or truth in the suggestion of a change of policy or of lessening or loyalty to all engagements on the part of this Government because of a change in personnel which is due solely to the regrettable illness of the former Minister of Foreign Affairs.

"It ought to be enough to say that Japan is one of the Allies. Japan is always loyal to engagements and faithful to friends, which is the leading principle of our foreign policies. Next we have the centre pivot of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance, and engagements with the United States and others, notably, the Lansing-Ishii notes exchanged at Washington last October, our long friendship with the Allied Powers, and also our desire for good relations and co-operation with our neighbors, Russia and China.

"We are watching the course of events in Europe with the deepest interest. The magnificent patriotism, courage, self-sacrifice and genius of the allied armies and navies have won the admiration and sympathy of all the Japanese.

"With the rest of the world, Japan longs for peace, but does not and will not shrink from war where the cause is just or her honor and national safety are menaced. Japan has done, and will continue to do, what may be within her power for the Allies. Our friends must not forget that Japan three and a half years ago made common cause against Germany and Austria.

"We have given a guarantee to maintain the peace of the Far East. We have done so. We have cleared the enemy from the Pacific and from the Indian Ocean. Our ships of war are in the Mediterranean, on the Pacific, and on the Indian Ocean. Our ships of commerce are, within all original measure of our resources, loaned to the Allies for their use.

"Now we have before us in single-hearted devotion America, united as never before, under a wise President, whose calm courage and steady purpose has made him today one of the foremost of the world's greatest statesmen.

"There has been no effort on the part of Japan to conceal her loyalty. On the contrary, we have stood upon the housetop to declare our unalterable faith in the outcome of the war and our unchangeable fealty to the allied cause.

"We seek the friendship, co-operation, and assistance of China. We ask China to disentangle herself from the old prejudices and maze of intrigue planted and fostered by the enemy. Just now complete unity is essential to victory. The Lansing-Ishii notes (in which the special interests of Japan in China were recognized by the United States) have even been used by the enemy to create ill-will in China, but we feel that the Chinese Government now understands the entire friendliness of Japan. We seek the full co-operation of China, for the sake of mutual advantage.

"Regarding Russia, the situation has afforded much comfort to the enemy, but above all an opportunity to increase the activity of malevolent propaganda. Such propaganda is now going on in Siberia, more particularly with the view to an estrangement between Japan and Russia, as well as between America and Japan. For instance, the landing of a few British and Japanese marines at Vladivostok, a local occurrence, has been magnified out of all proportion.

"Japan has not for a moment made light of the inimical influence spreading in Eastern Siberia both as a menace to Japan and China and as against the Entente Allies. Neither has Japan lost sight of the fact that Russia is a power endeavoring to reorganize a machine temporarily out of order.

"Japan must give encouragement, assistance, and support to the work of reorganization in Russia. We trust the sound sense of the Russian people will not be misled by reports calculated to keep the two neighbors apart.

"Finally, I repeat there is no change, nor will there be any change, in the policy of this Government because of the changes in the Cabinet. We will help maintain peace in the Far East and we will help our neighbors and friends to the limit of our capacity."

One Hundred and Forty-Two Years of Labor and Struggle

THE American people fought their first battles for liberty and the rights of self-government one hundred and forty-two years ago.

At that time and for many years thereafter their realization of their national aspirations and of the goal toward which they were really striving was vague and indistinct. But step by step they struggled onward and upward toward a light which grew clearer as their eyes and mind slowly opened to its significance. Today, as a result of their struggles and their sacrifices, we possess and enjoy our priceless American institutions. These institutions must be preserved. The structure so laboriously reared in these one hundred and forty-two years will be utterly destroyed if we do not spring to its defense with every atom of our energy and determination. This is not a situation which may be trifled with, or evaded, or put off. It is one which must be met now—today—no matter what sacrifices it may entail, or what the cost may be.

When he was 11 years of age, W. L. Douglas was again "bound out" under an agreement whereby he was to receive $3.00 a month in wages besides his board and clothes. As a matter of fact, he received only $10.00 for three years' work, as the agreement was verbal, and not considered binding. W. L. Douglas acquired the habit of saving early in life. He is shown above depositing all of his first month's earnings in the bank. Today Mr. Douglas is President of the Peoples Savings Bank, Brockton, Mass.

A British Official Report dated April 29, 1915, says: "The Germans have just crucified a Canadian soldier whom they made prisoner."

Our Sacred Duty Is To End These Atrocities!

The record of Germany in this war is blackened by the most inhuman atrocities—the most monstrous crimes against prisoners whom they have taken, and against inoffensive men and helpless women and children who have fallen into their remorseless hands.

These unspeakable barbarities are a part of our account against Germany. It is our duty to see that they settle to the ultimate letter. There is no place in the world for such practices; no room within the borders of civilization for those who are guilty of them.

Our soldiers and sailors are now at grips with the German hordes who would impose the doctrine of might and the rule of cruelty upon all the world.

Their Victory—the Victory of civilization and humanity—is certain if we at home do not fail them. The blood of the innocent cries out to us from the red desolation of Belgium and France, and from the bottom of the sea, to do our part and do it quickly.

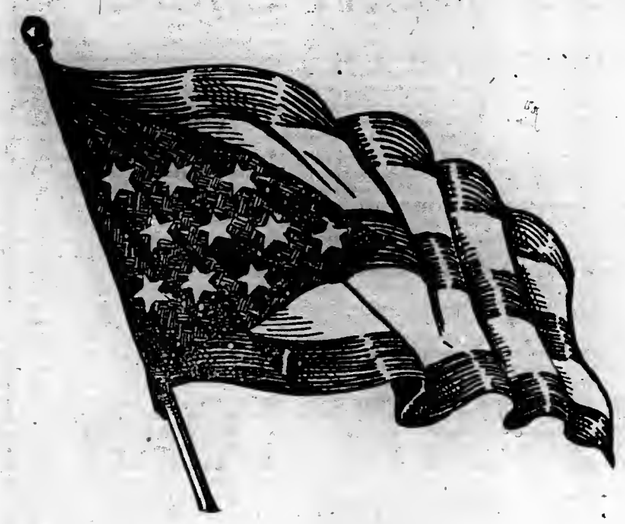
Now, All Together! Men and Women of New York, Rainbow Division Workers!

Our President celebrated Liberty Day by doubling his purchase of Liberty Bonds. Many of us might do as much!



We expect to publish the complete list of Hundred Per Cent. Flag Winners the last day of the campaign—Will You Be There?

Will the Industrial Honor Flag Fly Over YOUR Place of Business?

This week tells the tale—whether or not Your Firm wins First Rank for Patriotism in the Third Loan. The right to fly this flag is awarded to those firms which have subscribed 60% or over of their workers. An additional star appears for every 10% over 60%.

Tell your workers about the Honor Flag. Put it up to them. Their response will surprise you—we know one firm that subscribed 22,000 out of 22,500. Very many make it a clean 100%.

Wednesday, Thursday, Friday of this week will be the

THREE GREAT CONTEST DAYS

in the three classes of the Rainbow Division.

We are out to show the world what New York Business Men can do to make the world safe for Democracy. We must say to them;

> "It's up to you—to Each One of Us —not merely to buy out of our surplus—but to borrow and buy—to buy and borrow—to buy till it hurts."

Then, only then, will we feel the spirit of sacrifice—the great spirit that made the Land we Love the Land of the Free, the Home of the Brave.

ORDERS 200 MORE WOODEN VESSELS

Shipping Board Now Has 580 of This Type Completed, Building, or Planned.

34 NEW SHIPS LEAVE LAKES

One Hundred Thousand Tons at Atlantic Ports or on the Way and 50,000 More Soon to Start.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Expansion of the shipbuilding program to provide for the construction of 200 additional wooden vessels of 4,500 or 4,700 dead weight tons, was announced tonight by Chairman Hurley of the Shipping Board. This will increase to 380 the number of wooden ships completed, building, or planned.

The vessels, which will be either of the Dougherty or Ballin type, will be constructed in shipyards already established, and will be allotted, Mr. Hurley said, among yards which are most efficiently managed. Construction of the ships will be started as soon as vessels now building are off the stocks.

The board also decided today to authorize the construction of twenty-five new sea-going tugs, increasing to 100 the number of such craft now building for the board. The tugs will be employed in coast traffic, replacing those diverted overseas.

It also was made known today that with the reopening of navigation on the Great Lakes thirty-four vessels built there since last Fall were brought to the Atlantic and were en route to Atlantic ports or were loading preparatory to their maiden voyages. They aggregate approximately 100,000 tons.

Of 23 ships in lake yards scheduled for completion this month, 11 are so far advanced that they have begun to take on crews and cargoes. These new vessels, with an aggregate tonnage of 50,000, have been allocated by the Bureau of Operations of the Shipping Board to the New England coal carrying trade.

A new American wooden ship construction record was reported to the Shipping Board today by the Supple & Baillin Company of Portland, Ore., which claimed the assembling and placing of 79 frames in a new vessel in a total working time of 44 hours.

QUINCY, Mass., May 1.—A riveting gang composed of three Syrians at the Fore River yard of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation today claimed to have broken the world's record for riveting. This was based on the performance of Charles Mulham, who drove 2,805 three-quarter-inch oil-tight rivets in a nine hour stretch last night.

The previous record, the Fore River company stated, was 2,729 three-quarter-inch snap rivets driven in nine hours, at the plant of the Baltimore Dry Dock and Shipbuilding Company. Oil-tight riveting is much harder than "snap" riveting, for the bulkheads on the shell of the oil tanker on which the men were working are put under air pressure test.

PUBLISHERS DISPUTE SECOND CLASS COSTS

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Post Office Department estimates and recommendations in the matter of proposed increased postage for second class mail matter were presented to the Senate Committee on Post Offices today by John C. Koons, First Assistant Postmaster General, who asserted that the present cost of carrying newspapers and periodicals by mail was from 5.4 cents per pound within a 300-mile zone up to 12.2. He conceded that 3.86 of the 5.4 cents represented overhead charges.

Correctness of the figures was challenged before the committee by Senator McCumber, as well as by representatives of the publishers.

George McAneny, Chairman of the Postage Rate Committee of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, closed the hearing by asserting that the department's figures were questioned and that the possibility of getting accurate figures was small, in view of which facts he suggested that increased rates be deferred for at least a year. The war and the rising costs of publications, he said, were additional reasons for delay.

Stephen Farrelly, manager of the American News Company, declared that the overhead charges assessed against second class matter represented the cost of handling Government franked matter.

JURY FAILS TO INDICT.

Gambling Charges Against Bauchle and Ten Others Dismissed.

District Attorney Swann's attack on so-called social clubs that provided card-playing sessions for members at weekly and monthly meetings at several of the big hotels met with a legal check yesterday when a Grand Jury refused the Prosecutor's request to indict George Young Bauchle, President of the Partridge Club. He was arrested on Feb. 27 on a warrant charging violation of Section 973 of the penal law, which makes it unlawful for a person to keep a room or premises for the purpose of conducting gambling or games of chance.

The same jury also dismissed similar charges against three members of a political club, and, after consideration of charges against seven members and officers of other clubs, who figured in Assistant District Attorney Smith's gambling investigation, failed to return indictments. It is believed this action will eliminate from the District Attorney's gambling crusade any further attempts to proceed against private or social clubs on the ground of alleged gambling.

Mr. Bauchle, who is a wealthy attorney, with an office at 31 Chambers Street, defended the Partridge Club at the time Judge Wadhams was taking testimony in the gambling inquiry. He said the club was composed of wealthy men and women, and that the only money received by the club from the proceeds of card games was used to pay for the hotel meetings and dinners. The membership included Judges, attorneys, and several members of the Police Department, he said.

OFFICER PLAN PROTESTED.

Foreign Born Will Be Used on Our Ships if Necessary.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Announcement that the Shipping Board plans to supplement American crews with foreign-born officers if necessary for the prompt movement of vessels of the new merchant marine immediately evoked protests from Seamen's Union officials at today's session of the board's conference with ship owners and union representatives.

Despite the difference of opinion over that question and the problem of living conditions aboard ship, which kept the conference wrangling yesterday, the discussion advanced to the point where each side began to debate concessions for the benefit of the country at large. Officials of the board expressed the hope that differences having been thrashed out, the remainder of the week would be devoted to constructive work.

Necessity for the speedy manning of all available ships was presented to owners and union leaders by various high officials.

SENATE UNANIMOUS ON HOUSING BILL

Passes $60,000,000 Measure for Shelter of War Workers—Plans to Adjourn Early in July.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—By viva voce vote, the Senate today passed the so-called Housing bill, carrying an appropriation of $60,000,000 to provide accommodations to workers in war industries. The measure was passed by the House a month ago and now goes to conference.

The bill authorizes the President to have houses built at shipyards, arsenals, and other places where war work is carried on. Extensive housing facilities are to be projected at Hog Island. Of the aggregate appropriation $10,000,000 is to be used for putting up temporary buildings in Washington to relieve the congestion due to war work.

After the bill was disposed of, Senator Gallinger, Republican floor leader, urged that the Senate expedite its work in an effort to adjourn by July 1.

"We ought to have night sessions, if necessary, to finish by that time," said the Senator. "There is no need of sitting here all Summer."

Senator Overman of North Carolina, who has handled several of the Administration measures during this session, agreed that the Senate should adjourn early in July. The only important legislation to be disposed of, he said, embraced the Appropriation bills and that to increase the national army.

"That can be disposed of in fifteen minutes," suggested Senator Smoot.

"Why not adjourn July 1?" urged Senator Vardaman.

"That suits me," said Senator Gallinger.

With both branches of Congress anxious to clear out of Washington, so as to put in a small holiday before entering upon the Congressional campaign, there is every indication of adjournment early in July.

LEROY M. YOUNG HURT.

BABYLON, L. I., May 1.—The District Attorney of Suffolk County, Leroy M. Young, had a narrow escape from being killed in an automobile accident last evening on the South Country Road near Islelin. He was returning from Patchogue in a taxicab when a car going in the opposite direction sideswiped the taxi, crushing the side and throwing Mr. Young to the floor. He was cut by splintered glass. A soldier passing in an automobile took him to the office of Dr. King at Bay Shore, where the cuts on his face and head were dressed. The injuries were not serious.

Immigration Falls Off 1,000,000.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Immigration from Europe fell off 1,000,000 during the United States' first year of the war, according to statistics made public today by the Bureau of Immigration. The figures show that only 400,000 immigrants were admitted during the last year, while 1,400,000 came in the previous year.

Special to The New York Times.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., May 1.—Declaring that the national executives of the International Brotherhoods had no right to make an agreement continuing the present wage scale, until July 1 about 2,000 papermakers of this section struck today, closing four mills of the International Paper Company, three of the St. Regis Company, and the De Grasse Company's mill, all within a twenty-mile radius of this city, and stopping the production of 500 tons of news print daily.

The men of the International Mills held a closed meeting tonight to discuss the situation. About 500 men attended.

Have You Shared the Soldier's Sacrifice?

Have you shared the soldier's sacrifice?

You—Man, Woman or Child, comfortable, well fed—yes, even enjoying luxuries—what has made YOU—individually YOU—worthy of the soldier's sacrifice?

Do not answer that you have bought a bond!

Bought a bond! Have you made a sacrifice? Have you bought bonds until it HURTS?

The Soldier's Message to You

"I stand in the trenches unafraid, a master over death, ready when 'zero hour' strikes to go over the top for you, to make the supreme sacrifice for you—and you, you individually, do you share my sacrifice?"

You millionaire with a ten- or twenty-thousand dollar subscription—what have you sacrificed? For remember, it is not by what you have Saved for Liberty Bonds that you are to be judged—but by what you continue to spend.

You working man, you clerk, you woman in your limousine, you girl at the counter, have YOU made a sacrifice?

"America as a great nation will die, as all coward civilizations have died, unless she accepts the stigmata of sacrifice which a divine opportunity again offers her."

Has America made a sacrifice worthy of the cause? Can you, with conscience clear, accept the sacrifice thousands of our boys are about to make for YOU?

Have you made a sacrifice—you man of wealth? Have you even equalled the patriotism, the sacrifice of the girl clerk who buys one bond and pays therefor one dollar each week?

There is patriotism! Because there is buying until it hurts! There is a sacrifice you men of means have not equalled!

Do not answer that this loan will be oversubscribed. Our millionaires and banks could take it all—and you would have gathered but money, cold and dead. There would be no spirit of victory in such a loan. But—

Oversubscribe this loan five times, and the cheer of victory will be heard round the world.

Oversubscribe this loan five times, and you will have set about a spiritual bombing of Berlin that will sink in through blood-lust and madness and be understood.

Let us oversubscribe this loan to the point of sacrifice. Oversubscribe this loan to the point of worthiness of the soldier's sacrifice—worthy of the lives that will be laid down for love of you, your cause and your country.

"It's Love that Helps Us to Die Gladly."

"It's love that helps us to die gladly—love for our cause, our pals, our family, our country."

Lieut. Coningsby Dawson in "The Glory of the Trenches."

Have you a "pal" over there? Buy bonds!

Have you a brother, a son? Buy bonds! Buy bonds!

Do you, too, love our cause—our country? Buy bonds! Buy bonds! Buy bonds!

Have you responded to this sort of love from your "pal"? From your boy? Have you shown this sort of love for our cause—for our country?

Buy bonds! Buy bonds! Buy bonds to the point of sacrifice!

Buy until with conscience clear you know that you, too, are worthy of a share in the love that helps our boys to die gladly. Buy until you know that you, too, are worthy of the soldier's sacrifice.

BILLIE BURKE STARS WITH HENRY MILLER

"A Marriage of Convenience," by Alex. Dumas Adapted by Sydney Grundy.

POLITE COMEDY IN COSTUME

A Slender Play Beautifully Produced and Very Capably Acted.

A MARRIAGE OF CONVENIENCE, a comedy in four acts, by Alexander Dumas, adapted by Sydney Grundy. At Henry Miller's Theatre.

Comtesse De Candale	Billie Burke
Marton	Lucile Watson
The General	Frank Kemble Cooper
Comte de Candale	Henry Miller
Chevalier De Valcios	Lowell Sherman
Jasmin	Frederick Lloyd
An Officer	Lewis Sealy
A Suisse	Lynn Hammond

Billie Burke swept into the Henry Miller company last night, her exuberant ingenuosity subdued by a series of stately Louis XV. gowns, one to each of four acts, and her well-known charms enhanced by them. Mr. Miller was equally resplendent and varied in costume, but the effect upon his mood histrionic was quite the reverse, his usual manner of manly reserve being appropriately enlarged and rhythmically amplified. Of the others in the company one or two were less fortunate in the transition to costume comedy; but on the whole the effect was of rare beauty and harmony, thoroughly in keeping with the spirit of Mr. Miller's tasteful new theatre.

The occasion was a revival of "A Marriage of Convenience," by Alexander Dumas, in Sydney Grundy's adaptation. It is among the lightest of its author's works, playing over the gay surface of modish life with effervescent spirits and with a moral toleration that extends even to the virtues and proprieties. This husband is a libertine if you will, and his wife a creature of wilding impulse; but Mrs. Grundy is on the spot in the martial presence of Uncle, and at the close virtue and true love triumph.

It is an often told tale, how husband and wife who have married for worldly "convenience" fall in love with each other. The only trouble with it is to make the obstacle sufficiently formidable. Where a husband is as gracious, witty, and dashing as this Comte de Candal of Mr. Miller, and his wife as tremulously girlish and beautiful as the Comtesse of Miss Burke, the idea of any other than a happy conclusion is, in the theatre, a sheer impossibility. At the end of the second of four acts the Comtesse had already capitulated and the Comte had begun to take notice. The "dramatic struggle" was at an end, and all that remained was a mild curiosity as to how the two would come together.

The reconciler was the bride's uncle, a General who lived in the provinces, and was therefore highly respectable. At first, scandalized by the levity of his nephew and at the apparent levity of his niece, he boomed forth the Ancient Moralities. But his second thoughts were better. Adopting the tone of the younger generation (which, even under Louis XV., as it appears, was morally "advanced,") he shocked them into behaving. It is a sound comedy character and situation; but, between the heaviness of Sydney Grundy's adaptation and a lack of vigor in the humor of Frank Kemble Cooper, it largely vanished.

Lowell Sherman was the apex of the marital triangle, a handsome figure of a man, but a rather futile interloper, foredoomed to defeat. Lucile Watson and Frederick Lloyd lent the authority of competent art to the small parts of maid and valet.

The mood of the play is rather alien to these stirring times; but in its kind the production is admirable, being inspired throughout by inerrant good taste and sound craftsmanship.

'OUT THERE' AT CENTURY.

All-Star Cast to Give Play for Red Cross May 17 and 18.

The New York performance of "Out There," with the all-star cast which will tour the country for the $100,000,000 fund of the American Red Cross, will be given at the Century Theatre on Friday and Saturday, May 17 and 18. There will be a matinée on Saturday. The tour will begin in Washington on May 13, and there will be a performance in Brooklyn, at the Academy of Music, on Thursday night, May 16.

The final additions to the cast were made yesterday, the complete roster now including Mrs. Fiske, George Arliss, George M. Cohan, Laurette Taylor, James T. Powers, H. B. Warner, James K. Hackett, Mme. Eléanora de Cisneros, Helen Ware, Chauncey Olcott, Julia Arthur, George MacFarlane, Beryl Mercer, and Burr McIntosh. Rehearsals are now under way at the Criterion Theatre.

The original plan to charge $10 a seat for all performances has been abandoned, the price being changed to $5.

ANNA HELD UNDER X-RAY.

Actress Is Found to Have Disease of the Bones and Bone-Marrow.

Anna Held, who has been seriously ill for the last few days at her apartment at the Hotel Savoy, was taken in a private ambulance to the house of Dr. John L. Kantor at 44 West Ninety-sixth Street, yesterday morning, by her physician, Dr. Donald McCaskey, in order to have an X-ray taken.

Dr. McCaskey said last night that the X-ray had shown that Miss Held was ill with a disease of the bones and the bone-marrow. The doctor said that Miss Held had brought about her ill-health by overwork. He said that she had borne the trip to Dr. Kantor's office and back to the hotel better than he had expected.

Princeton "Dry" for the War.

PRINCETON, N. J., May 1.—President Wilson's home town is "dry" today, and will remain so for the duration of the war. Following a visit of Deputy United States Marshal W. B. Snowden today the proprietors of the eleven bars, obeyed an order to close. These hotels and saloons come within the half-mile zone of the aviation school and training camp here, and were subjected to the proclamation issued by President Wilson. United States District Attorney Lynch, at Newark, today issued an order closing all the saloons and hotels within the barred zone at Little Silver. Camp Vail is near that place.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Rol Cooper Megrue's latest comedy, "Tea for Three," will have its first production at the Belasco Theatre, Washington, on June 2.

George White, the dancer, made his first appearance last night in the midnight entertainment at the Century Grove.

Olive Wyndham and Jose Ruben will appear together at the Palace Theatre next week in a sketch, "The Fine System," by George Courteline.

Pupils of Public School 186, on Washington Heights, will give a performance Saturday morning at the Hamilton Theatre, Broadway and 146th Street. The proceeds will be applied to a fund for the purchase of a Red Cross ambulance.

Gladys Feldman has been engaged for the new edition of the "Follies," now in rehearsal.

The first showing of William A. Brady's film, "Stolen Orders," which was to have been at the Casino Theatre tonight, has been postponed indefinitely, it was said yesterday at the Brady offices.

The current program at the Comedy Theatre, consisting of "Salome" and other plays, will be continued another week instead of being withdrawn this Saturday. The Washington Square Players will present at least one more program at the Comedy before the close of the season.

HIT AT BURLESON AGAIN.

Gallivan of Massachusetts Calls Post Office Policy Penny-Wise.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—There were continued attacks in the House of Representatives today on the Post Office Department for what the assailants termed utterly inadequate postal service. Representative James A. Gallivan of Massachusetts, a Democrat, charged that Postmaster General Burleson in a "penny-wise, cheese-paring policy" had disrupted his working organization beyond recognition.

Representative Moon of Tennessee, Chairman of the Post Office and Post Roads Committee, and the Administration spokesman on the floor, asserted that many mail trains had been cut off lately. Mr. Gallivan retorted that the department could not much longer blame its troubles on the railroads.

Mr. Gallivan assailed also an attitude of certain army officers, which, he said, was unfriendly to the soldiers getting their mail promptly.

"I was surprised recently to read," he said, "a purported statement by an American officer in high command in France to the effect that our soldiers were 'there to fight, not to read letters from home.' I was the more surprised because of an entirely dissimilar letter which I received a day or so ago from Colonel Edward L. Logan, now at the head of his regiment in France. He wrote me:

"'Above all, tell them over there to write, and write some more. Tell them not to wait for the boys to answer. We may be in the trenches all the time. Tell the folks at home to keep in mind that nothing in the world is so consoling to our boys as to hear from home.'"

The House applauded, and Mr. Gallivan continued:

"When an officer says therefore that our boys are there to fight, not to receive letters, I think it is time the statement is brought to the attention of the House, and that it should be characterized as unworthy."

KAISER NAMES 3 BRIDGES.

Honors the Crown Prince, von Hindenburg, and von Ludendorff.

BERLIN, May 1, (via London.)—At the direction of Emperor William, says an official announcement issued today, three new Rhine bridges have been named for the German Crown Prince, Field Marshal von Hindenburg, and General Ludendorff. In a message to the Crown Prince Emperor William said:

"It is a great pleasure for me to tell you I today ordered that the Rhine railway bridge near Engers, which was built in great times and is to render important services in the country's defense, shall be called the 'Crown Prince Wilhelm Bridge.' The Administration of Prussian State Railways, which made the proposal to me, desires in this way gratefully to perpetuate your name as an army leader."

Emperor William similarly honored von Hindenburg by having a bridge near Rudesheim called the "Field Marshal General von Hindenburg Bridge." The bridge near Remagen has been named "Quartermaster General of Infantry Ludendorff Bridge."

AGAINST GERMAN ADS.

Mrs. Field Asks Mayor Why City Patronizes German Press.

In reply to a letter from Mrs. Oliver Cromwell Field, asking why official advertisements and reading notices for the city government were printed in the German newspapers, Mayor Hylan yesterday directed his secretary, Grover A. Whalen, to send a note to Mrs. Field, explaining that the advertising was required by a section of the City Charter. Mrs. Field, who is a member of the American Defense Society, is conducting a campaign for the suppression of the German language newspapers. She gave out the letter from the Mayor's secretary yesterday, with the letter she had sent to the Mayor. The letter from the Mayor's secretary said:

Your letter of April 30 is at hand. I am directed by the Mayor to advise you that any city advertising that appears in the German newspapers at this time is required by Section 1,5?4 of the Charter of the City of New York, entitled:

"Board of City Record, publication and contents, newspapers to be designated in which corporation notices are to be advertised."

SEES GERMAN REVOLT IF THE DRIVE FAILS

Kaiser's Dentist Says Graft, Crime, and Disease Are Undermining Population.

OUR AIRMEN FEARED MOST

Dr. A. N. Davis at Loan Rally Asserts Raid on London with Poison Gas is Planned.

Dr. A. N. Davis, the Kaiser's dentist, who was one of the last Americans to leave Berlin, just nine months after war was declared, gave 4,000 persons gathered for a Liberty Loan mass meeting at Carnegie Hall last night some emphatic reasons why Americans should buy Liberty bonds to support their army fighting Germany.

Liberty bonds to the amount of $3,500,000 were purchased at the meeting. William Fox bought $350,000 worth, while his closest competitor, Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., subscribed to $50,000. Several large amounts were taken by corporations.

"Germans find it impossible to feed themselves without the importation of food; their raw products have been exhausted and their commerce destroyed," Dr. Davis said. "You ask why, then, do they subscribe so generously to the eighth war loan of three and a half billion dollars? It is because they expect the United States to pay an indemnity to make those bonds good. Will they get it?"

A mighty roar of "No, never!" which shook the building, was the answer to Dr. Davis's question.

Dr. Davis said that because he had been friendly with some of the highest military leaders in Germany the Imperial Government feared to allow him to leave with the rest of the Americans and held him back until last January. He told, from an experience of fifteen years at the Court of Berlin the vast preparations the Kaiser had been making for the war, especially with a view to aligning America on his side. The doctor said he was glad to get out of Berlin alive.

"I'm going to say here," he said, "that since I have been in America I have been asked a number of times why I did not do something to the Kaiser. I am glad to be able to be here with my own head, and I preferred to allow his own people to do something with him. You may not know that since the time when the King and Crown Prince of Portugal were murdered the Kaiser and the Crown Prince have never been seen together publicly in Germany. If anything should happen to the Kaiser he has six sons and they have many sons, who would be willing and glad to take the place.

Fears American Fliers.

"The one thing which Germany fears from America is the injury our fliers can do to her country," he continued. "The reason that she has tried to terrorize the world with her air fleets and Zeppelins and submarines and long-range guns is that that would be the surest method to bring her to her own knees. High German officers have told me that they expect to send air fleets with gas bombs containing gas heavier than air to drop on London. This gas will be blown into the subways and cellars and basements of the houses where the people will be taking refuge. They expect by this method to destroy 1,000,000 of the civil population of London. And New York—they not only talk of their supersubmarines, but of their gigantic airplanes equipped with six motors and carrying fuel sufficient to more than make the journey to New York and back."

Dr. Davis went on to tell of the circumstances that led to the Kaiser recalling Hindenburg from retirement and placing him in command. He said that it was Ludendorff, then a Colonel, who at the beginning of the war first recognized the genius of the present German Commander in Chief.

"We must destroy the confidence of the German people in their Kaiser and their Hindenburg," said Dr. Davis. "So long as they continue to have successes, just so long will the people endure the untold deprivations which had become almost unbearable. We have heard much of the pro-Germans in this country. My advice would be to take the ring leaders and put them on a ship and send them to Hamburg. When they come under the iron hands of that military power they will become the most loyal Americans the world has ever seen. Their first breakfast would consist of a substitute for coffee, and a substitute for milk, and a substitute for sugar, and a substitute for real bread, and a substitute for eggs.

Would Destroy Power Now.

"Germany's great hope has been to destroy the allied armies in the west, and they thought that America would make an easy compromise peace. If we should be so foolish as to accept a compromise with Germany, with her thumb upon Russia with its vast resources, the time would come when we would have to fight her again, and possibly without the aid of France or England. Now is the time to destroy that power. Now is our best opportunity, and don't ever forget it. Germany believes that we have lost the spirit of our forefathers; that we are mercenary, that we are dollar-chasers. Now is the time to show them what we can do. Money, with the war loan, the Liberty bonds, will do more at the present time to undermine and to lower the morale of the people in Germany, and to show them that America is sincere and will carry this war to a victorious end.

"With the Germany of today, where graft, crime, robberies, and disease are undermining the civil population, if we can give them a military defeat they will disintegrate. I know today how the German press is writing to bolster up the spirits of their people. They are saying that the American Third Liberty Loan is a failure. From a business standpoint, I would like to ask you, how would you like to buy a German war bond? I have never bought any."

A. B. Leach, Chairman of the Metropolitan Canvass Committee of the Liberty Loan Committee, presided. Ex-Ambassador James W. Gerard and Martin W. Littleton also made addresses, while Louis Muratore of the Chicago Opera Company sang the "Marseillaise." General Pershing's veterans and the "Blue Devils" came into the hall for a brief period, and received an ovation from the crowd.

Sergeant Guy Empey and Joseph P. Day closed the meeting by taking subscriptions for Liberty bonds.

Head of Refining Company Indicted.

An indictment, charging Solomon Siegel, President of the Globe Refining Company of Brooklyn, with grand larceny, was returned by the Grand Jury in Brooklyn yesterday. Siegel, it is charged, opened an account in 1917 in the Pitkin Avenue branch of the Public National Bank. An account was opened in the Broadway branch of the Mechanics' Bank at approximately the same time by a man who gave the name of Elias Cohen. Siegel, it is alleged, frequently deposited a Cohen check for a large amount in the Public National Bank, and drew a similar sum and deposited it in the Mechanics' Bank before the Cohen check arrived. It is alleged that on Feb. 28 he deposited a check for $4,800 and drew the same sum. The Mechanics' Bank reported, it is charged, that there was not enough money in the Cohen account to meet the check when payment was sought by the Public National Bank. Siegel's office is at 1,480 Eastern Parkway.

New Jersey's Utility Commission.

TRENTON, N. J., May 1.—Reorganization of the New Jersey Public Utility Commission for the ensuing year was effected today by the re-election of Ralph W. E. Donges of Camden, President; Albert N. Barber of Trenton and L. Edward Herrmann of Jersey City continue as Secretary and counsel of the board, respectively, having been elected last year for two years.

NEW YORK AVIATOR KILLED.

Lloyd S. Allen, Great-Grandson of Seward, Falls in Plane.

DAYTON, Ohio, May 1.—Lloyd Allen, 24 years old, of New York City, a cadet flyer at the Wilbur Wright Aviation Field, met instant death today when his machine became unmanageable in a practice flight, and crashed into one of the school buildings on the ground. The cause of the accident is not known.

Lloyd Seward Allen was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Innes Allen of 55 East Sixty-fifth Street, and a great-grandson of William H. Seward, Lincoln's Secretary of State. Until recently he was engaged in the manufacture of airplanes and was actively associated in aerial inventive work. He enlisted in the Aviation Corps last August and attended the ground school at Princeton, N. J., and then at Dallas, Texas, subsequently going to Wilbur Wright Field. Mr. Allen was graduated from Andover and Yale. He was a member of the Yale Club and the Aero Club of America.

SIEGEL STORE CLOSES.

Reported That Government Will Take Over Big Chicago Building.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, May 1.—The department store of Siegel, Cooper & Co., one of the oldest in Chicago, closed its doors tonight. The entire stock has been sold to Mrs. Mollie Netcher Newberger, owner of the Boston Store, for about $1,750,000. Samuel Kline, who has been in charge of the Siegel store for a committee of bankers, announced that all claims would be paid in full.

It is rumored that the eight-story building at State and Van Buren Streets, occupied by Siegel, Cooper & Co., will be taken over by the Government for use in the Quartermasters' Department. Joseph Leiter, manager of the Levi Z. Leiter estate, to which the building belongs, arrived from Washington today to attend to the disposition of the building.

113 Sick and Wounded Now Home.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Major Gen. Gorgas, the Surgeon General of the Army, authorizes the statement today that 113 sick and wounded soldiers, returned from the American expeditionary forces, were landed in the United States during the week ended April 26.

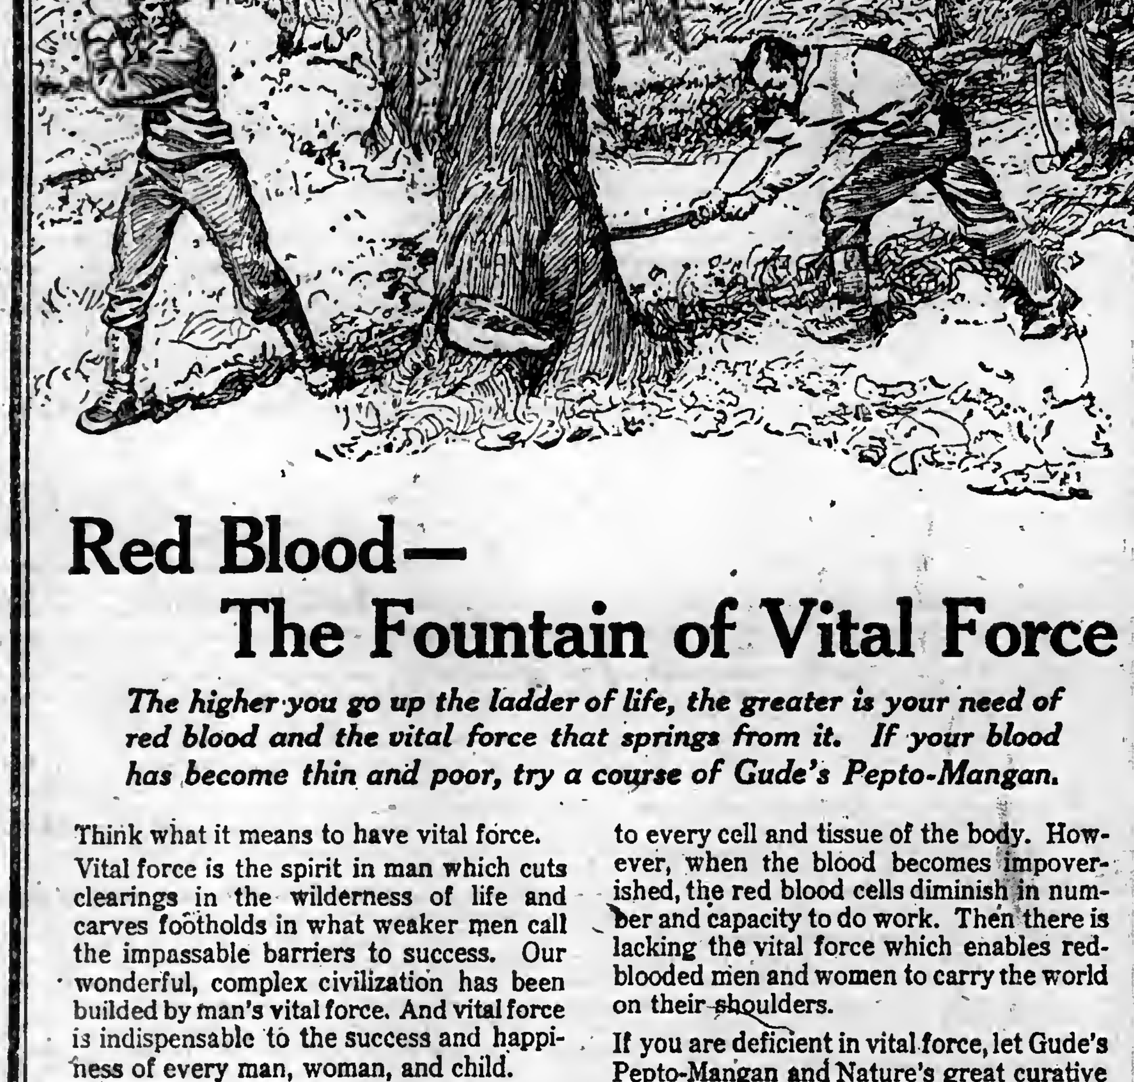
CITY BREVITIES.

A luncheon was given for Mark Eisner, Collector of Internal Revenue, by prominent merchants and bankers, at the Hotel McAlpin yesterday afternoon.

Municipal Court Justice Gustave Hartman, President of the new Israel Orphan Asylum, announced yesterday that the society's new five-story building at 274 Second Street, built at a cost of $150,000, had been turned over to the institution, and that fifteen orphans had been admitted. Formal dedication exercises will be held on Sunday.

The Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York will hold its one hundred and fiftieth annual meeting today at 12 o'clock. Preceding the annual meeting there will be a special meeting at 11:45 o'clock for the election of a Commissioner of Pilots under the laws of the State of New York. At the annual meeting the Nominating Committee will present a ballot of officers and members of the various committees for the ensuing year. The Executive Committee will make its report, urging more drastic treatment of spies and enemy agents.

In the ballroom of the Colony Club, under the auspices of Mrs. Oliver Harriman, at 3 o'clock Saturday, there will be a children's performance, consisting of songs, dances, and recitations, to raise funds to endow two beds in the Post Graduate Hospital for soldiers' and sailors' babies.



Red Blood—
The Fountain of Vital Force

The higher you go up the ladder of life, the greater is your need of red blood and the vital force that springs from it. If your blood has become thin and poor, try a course of Gude's Pepto-Mangan.

Think what it means to have vital force. Vital force is the spirit in man which cuts clearings in the wilderness of life and carves footholds in what weaker men call the impassable barriers to success. Our wonderful, complex civilization has been builded by man's vital force. And vital force is indispensable to the success and happiness of every man, woman, and child. Vital force has its origin in the blood—the stream of life. The red blood cells carry and distribute oxygen—the breath of life—to every cell and tissue of the body. However, when the blood becomes impoverished, the red blood cells diminish in number and capacity to do work. Then there is lacking the vital force which enables red-blooded men and women to carry the world on their shoulders.

If you are deficient in vital force, let Gude's Pepto-Mangan and Nature's great curative agents, diet, air, sleep, and exercise, build up the red blood cells to normal number and oxygen-carrying capacity.

Study this picture so you will know how genuine Pepto-Mangan looks.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan

"The Red Blood Builder"

Gude's Pepto-Mangan is not a temporary tonic, but a scientifically prepared blood builder which supplies the red blood cells with the elements they need. It has been used and prescribed by the medical profession for over 25 years because it is absolutely safe and beneficial for invalids, convalescents, and run-down people of all ages and conditions. It is a splendid general tonic and appetizer, exceedingly pleasant to taste, easy to digest, and promptly assimilated by the blood.

FRIENDLY WARNING: There are many imitations of Pepto-Mangan on the market, but you can be sure of getting the genuine if it bears the name "Gude" and is put up in the bottle and sealed package as pictured here. Ask for it by its full name—"Gude's Pepto-Mangan." For sale at all drug stores.

Pepto-Mangan is made only by M. J. BREITENBACH CO., Manufacturing Chemists, New York

A FEDERAL GRAND JURY FOR THE AIRPLANE INQUIRY.

Secretary BAKER did not willfully and intentionally deceive the public in the statements he made showing good progress in the execution of the airplane production program. He was himself deceived, misled by persons who knew the facts, who knew that they were misleading the Secretary, who must have had a motive for deceiving him and the public. As the work of airplane production was carried on under the authority of the War Department, as these persons were under the direction and authority of the Secretary of War, it will be said that he should have acquainted himself with the facts at first hand, to tell the public only what he knew to be the truth. Whatever may be said or felt about that, no one will for a moment believe that the Secretary knowingly misrepresented the facts and attempted to make the public believe that airplane production was going on swimmingly when, in truth, it was not going on at all.

The report of the Investigating Committee of the Aeronautical Society contrasts Mr. BAKER'S statements with actual conditions, which are very different from what he believed and represented them to be. In giving the history of the Liberty motor on Sept. 18, 1917, Mr. BAKER said that "the United States aviation engine "has passed its final test." The committee declares that this was impossible; that, "in fact, it is doubtful "if a final test has been given to "the engine even now, in April, "1918." In a statement issued by Mr. BAKER in October, 1917, it was declared "that work is in progress on practically the entire number of airplanes and motors for "which provision was made in the "Aviation bill passed by Congress in "July." The committee says that at that time "practically no work "was in progress in the manufacture "of machines. In many cases the "buildings in which the machines "were to be manufactured were not "yet built." The Secretary further informed the public that "the types "of airplanes now in process of manufacture cover the entire range of "training planes, light, high-speed "fighting machines and powerful "battle and bombing planes of the "heaviest design." Yet Mr. HOWARD COFFIN of the Aircraft Board informed the directors of the Aeronautical Society that "no light, high-speed fighting machines have been or are to "be manufactured in this country at "any time"; nor were battle or bombing planes in process of manufacture at the date of the Secretary's statement. Again on Feb. 20, 1918, the Secretary authorized the statement that "the first American-built "airplanes are today en route to the "battlefields in France. This first "shipment, although itself not large, "marks the final overcoming of the "many difficulties in building up this "new and intricate industry." The committee says that at this time "only two machines were en route."

The condition of affairs in the field of airplane production, then, is this: Congress appropriated $640,000,000 by the act of July last for the building of airplanes, including the necessary provision of material, tools, and machinery and for the establishment of training camps and the training of aviators. Subsequently other large sums were made available for these purposes. In April, 1918, it is disclosed by Mr. BORGLUM'S investigation that the airplane production program has "failed," that practically no airplanes have been produced. He tells of contracts awarded to persons who had no facilities for producing airplanes of a vast plan, scheme, or conspiracy of profiteering; of prolonged, practically fruitless and enormously expensive experimenting with the Liberty motor. At an earlier date than that of Mr. BORGLUM'S statement, we had been told of unconscionable delays through endless changes in design and drawings furnished to the builders, many of them petty, unnecessary, productive only of delay. In an earlier report, the Aeronautical Society had in part made disclosure of the conditions of delay, inefficiency, nonproduction, and failure now more fully brought to view by Mr. BORGLUM'S statement and by its own more recent report. During all this time when airplanes were not being built, when the Liberty motor was not being brought to perfection and tested, when airplanes were not being sent to France in any numbers worthy of attention, when manufacturers held airplane contracts which they were without facilities to fulfill, yet when the money for airplane production was in the Treasury, appropriated by Congress, and was being spent upon this program of practically complete failure, the Secretary of War was induced or persuaded by certain persons as yet unknown to the public, although necessarily known to him, to put forth statements intended to make the people of the United States believe that their money was being spent to good purpose, that airplanes were being produced in quantity, that our soldiers at the front would soon be provided with this essential arm of the service.

These conditions plainly point to an organized conspiracy, bold, powerful, numerous, made up of men able to formulate a great and definite plan and embracing within their number men sufficiently high-placed and influential to have the ear and the confidence of the Secretary of War. It must have been these high-placed men who put before Mr. BAKER the false picture of the work and achievements of the Aircraft Board and of the Signal Corps upon which he based his public statements. Necessarily, the conspirators had a purpose, they had a motive in deceiving the Secretary. Putting aside for a moment the question of their chief aim and purpose, what was their motive in deceiving the Secretary? Did they hope thus to cover up their record of failure? That would have been a mere postponement and a short one, for detection could not long be deferred. Was it their expectation that, by misleading the Secretary and the people, they could conceal their failure to produce airplanes for a time until they had pocketed the gains of their profiteering contracts? If this was their motive, it is necessary to assume that they expected the Government to pay them before the Government had received any airplanes from them.

The motive is hard to discover until we get at the real purpose of the conspiracy. Was it, after all, nothing but a sordid venture in profiteering? If so, these airplane contractors stand practically alone among the great industrial producers of the country, who, as we know from innumerable examples, have been actuated first of all by a loyal desire to serve the Government, to help the Government in the prosecution of the war, putting their own profits in the second place. It is equally difficult to believe that a "ring" of inventors and patentees of airplanes and airplane devices, actuated by desire to confine the Government orders to their own types, and to exclude all outsiders, has been willing or able to cheat the public of its just expectations and to deprive our soldiers at the front of weapons of war essential to their safety and success. If, however, it was the chief and the actual purpose of these conspirators to delay production, to prevent the construction of airplanes, to deprive the Government and the army of those eyes of the fighting force upon the possession of which so much depends, then all is explained. That is a theory under which all the facts arrange themselves in orderly and harmonious relation. If all the persons in charge of airplane production, with $1,000,000,000 at their command and nearly a year's time to work in, had actually desired to produce airplanes, would they not have produced them? We need not inquire why anybody should wish to obstruct the execution of the airplane production program. That question answers itself. It is answered by a thousand strange happenings in American industrial establishments during the last three years.

It is a theory, only a theory, which, however, has the merit of leaving less to be explained than any other, for it would explain completely the whole astounding situation in respect to the building of airplanes. It is now obvious that the investigation of the failure in aircraft production is not a work for any committee of Congress. It involves consequences that lie outside the domain of the Legislative Department. It is work to be undertaken by a Federal Grand Jury, and in view of the deceptions practiced upon him, a high officer of the Government, it should be undertaken at the instance of NEWTON D. BAKER, Secretary of War.

PROGRESS OF THE LOAN.

There is still no discount on the excellence of the distribution of the Liberty Loan. More than twelve million had subscribed $2,579,079,400 four days before the lists were to be closed. That explains some of the mystery about the probable total of the loan. It was to be expected that the country would furnish the millions of subscribers, but the reliance was upon the cities for the dollars. The country subscriptions averaged small, and the deposit was negligible. In the cities the subscriptions were larger by those more accustomed to the operation, and in particular by those who like to make last minute decisions and delay the required 5 per cent. deposit, or often 10 per cent. It would not be surprising if these last day subscriptions would make the city record less disappointing. On the other hand, there is reason to believe that the city subscriptions are better apportioned on this loan than on others. Corporations with suburban factories or offices even in New York have distributed subscriptions in a manner which can be traced even locally. The most striking example of that sort is in Minneapolis. It did not subscribe its quota to the second loan, but now it heads the list of all districts. That is the more surprising because its population is 90 per cent. foreign, and subscriptions are mostly under $100.

The country as a whole is now ahead of the quota necessary for the minimum asked, and needs only to hold its pace to make sure of an oversubscription. But as the remaining period shortens the daily average rises, and the cities' subscriptions are still in the reserve. It would be a new record if New York should beat Atlanta for last place, and with a total tenfold Atlanta's. Candidly, we do not expect it. A "grandstand" finish is necessary to prevent it, but some would not be surprised if New York won handily, with something to spare at the post. If people decline to save their country by savings for investment in their country's bonds, they can be sure that their money will be taken from them by taxes, which yield neither interest nor principal. That is too plain to need pointing out, and Secretary MCADOO made it his text in his speech at Rochester.

BUILDING THE SHIPS NOW.

The output of American shipbuilding yards in the month of April, 240,000 tons, is hailed as a record for this country, but the time is coming when it will not loom very large in the retrospect. More gratifying than the total for this month is the fact that two-thirds of this deadweight tonnage must be credited to the second half of April, which means that our shipyards are beginning to gather headway in construction. The showing of May will be better than that of April, and by the Fall America will be doing big things, more, we predict, than was expected of her, except by the most sanguine.

When all the wood and steel ways are completed and in use—there will be 730 of them, 332 for wooden and 398 for steel ships—the progressive achievement will appear magical. Sir ERIC GEDDES, in a recent address in England, could claim only 209 ship ways for the industry in Great Britain and Ireland, according to Chairman HURLEY. Our fabricating or assembling yards, when entirely completed, will soon be breaking records. Hog Island will have fifty ways, Newark Bay has twenty-eight, and Bristol will have twelve. There will be a procession of standardized ships moving into the water from these great plants.

Calculation of what the total of ship construction will be for the year 1918 has been attempted on the basis of the first four months' output, which was 621,341 tons, but how is it possible to forecast the showing of the last months of the year from the April record of 240,000 tons, which was greater by 148,459 tons than the total for January? With CHARLES M. SCHWAB as Director General of the Emergency Fleet Corporation there are going to be ample deliveries of steel plates to the fabricating yards, and the whole industry from Maine to California, steel, wood, and concrete, will know a hustler is in charge. People have talked of 4,000,000 tons for the year. This would have been a forlorn hope before Mr. SCHWAB was summoned, but it is not too high a mark for him. The impossible has fascinations for CHARLES M. SCHWAB. His lieutenants have been trained to do big things under his direction. They have been called to his aide to help him carry out the shipbuilding program. The day Mr. SCHWAB took charge it was announced that contracts had been let for a fabricating yard at Wilmington, N. C., and the first order was for eighteen Isherwood ships. The plans of this useful type were turned over to the Government by the Steel Corporation (which owned them) with its compliments when Mr. SCHWAB entered the Government service.

For such a leader men work to make records, and at the last reckoning there were 236,000 men employed in completing yards and in building ships, with a great reserve of volunteers available when needed. Success depends entirely now upon the good will and zeal of the army of ship workers. When May Day passed without strikes among them it was a reassuring portent. Two weeks ago the Newark Bay plant sent this telegram to the Shipping Board: "We "are laying twenty-eighth keel, which "fills all ways of the Newark Bay "shipyard." Wonderful things are being done out on the Pacific Coast. At Seattle recently the Ossineke, a ship of 8,800 tons, was delivered in 109 days after the keel was laid. The contract called for delivery in 190 days. A company building the West Grove, a ship also of 8,800 tons, promises to turn her over to the Government in 103 days. Records will soon be tumbling right and left. It would therefore be rash to figure on the output for the year, but optimism is justified.

OUR BOLSHEVIKI.

The full Senate Judiciary Committee will today consider Senator WALSH'S bill, approved by the subcommittee, for the benefit of American Bolsheviki and anarchists of the I. W. W. order, or disorder. The bill declares unlawful:

> Any association, one of whose purposes or professed purposes is to bring about any governmental, social, industrial, or economic change within the United States, by the use, without authority of law, of force, violence, or physical injury to person or property, or by threats of such injury, or which teaches, advocates, advises, or defends the use, without authority of law, of force, violence, or physical injury to person or property, or threats of such injury, to accomplish such change, or for any other purpose, and which, during any war in which the United States is engaged, shall, by any means, prosecute or pursue such purpose or professed purpose, or shall so teach, advocate, advise, or defend.

Ten years' imprisonment, a fine of $5,000, is the punishment, not too austere, for belonging to such organizations, circulating their propaganda matter, advocating their doctrines. Montana and the West generally know too well the I. W. W. architects of revolution and assistants of Germany. In the mines, the factories, the lumber districts, the fruit orchards, the harvest fields, their work of sabotage, of destruction, of blocking war preparation, has been active and various. "We openly "declare ourselves determined op"ponents of all nationalistic section"alism or patriotism," says the I. W. W. platform, "and this militaris"rism preached and supported by our "enemy, the capitalistic class." The I. W. W., says their organ, Solidarity, "is more than a labor organiza"tion. It is a revolutionary union. "* * * Had we the power, we "would stop every train, ship, mine, "and mill, every food and supply "train, every wheel of industry." Right and wrong are not in their vocabulary. They seek revolution by violence, the overthrow of the "capitalistic class," the "bourgeoisie," hated of TROTZKY and LENINE. They preach their revolution to ignorant and dangerous men. They prepare for it and illustrate it by violence whenever they can. Wherever there is trouble, a chance for stirring up further mischief and violence, the I. W. W. emissaries flock.

Representative free government is nothing to them. "Representation in "such governments," says one of their apostles, "has no value to the pro"letariat, since it does not cure to "trade or traffic with the other "classes, for whom it possesses only "hatred and contempt."

Down with the wage system, down with parties, down with Governments, up with a class! That is the gospel of the I. W. W. The fatal doctrines, the cowardly and bloody practice of the Bolsheviki, have ruined Russia. The congeners of those traitors to freedom, the counterparts of those unworking workers, are in the United States, organized, busy, shameless. Is the United States going to defend itself?

SUPERINTENDENT ETTINGER.

It is a queer enough political protection of "home talent," the parochial theory of Tammany that the head of the city schools, the administrator of the education of some 700,000 school children, should be a villager of this village. This village, so copiously and inextricably composite in its population, ought to be hospitable to outlander qualifications; nor, with all its magnetic call, can it expect to contain all the best examples of every capacity and fitness.

Since, however, the Tammany view prevailed in the Board of Education, the choice by that body yesterday of Dr. WILLIAM L. ETTINGER as Superintendent of Schools will be justified or condemned, as that of the most illustrious outsider would, by the fruits of his administration. Dr. ETTINGER is a man of character, of education, of no inconsiderable educational experience and achievement. It should not be counted against him that he was a Tammany candidate, that his candidacy and election were due, in part, to the good offices of an old friend and college comrade, sometime President of the Board of Education. That continuing friendship honors both men.

Superintendent ETTINGER has every reason to give the city the best service of which he is capable. He has an opportunity to make a reputation, in a thorny and difficult post, it is true. He has everything to lose and nothing to gain from any sacrifice of his independence to the small politics that threatens the public school system of this city. His powers are, unfortunately, so circumscribed by law as to be inferior to those of School Superintendents in other cities. Conspicuous in the public eye, his place is one of constant frictions, struggles, obstacles. Cabals and cliques and banded selfishnesses will be in his way. Opposition, violent, sullen, or insidious, will lie in wait for him. His tact will have to be equal to his courage. It is hard, vexing work to which he comes.

To our singular Mayor, Dr. ETTINGER owes nothing. Indeed, as a man of intelligence, an "expert," he must be a priori suspect or offensive to that polished, complete letter-writer. To friendship rather than to politics is his success to be ascribed. The way should be clear before him to an administration whose eye is single to the best use and development of the city school system. There is the chance and the career for him.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Aliens Are Misplaced in Schools.

In the other and happier days that now seem so remote there would have been an instant and emphatic protest made in almost any part of the country against an attempt to bar from our educational institutions all teachers who were not citizens by birth or naturalization. Such an effort would have been denounced, and with reason, as but an extension of the stupid parochialism that so often manifests itself in our towns when a man from outside is selected because of his reputation as an expert in one or another art, profession, or trade to fill a municipal position—and to draw a municipal salary.

Politicians of a type now very much in evidence here are always angered in such cases, and cover their real objection to extending the field of selection in this way by declaring it to be an invidious reflection on local intelligence and ability. That argument has always been heard with warm approval by indigenous place-hunters, but only rarely have they been able to prevail against the sounder view that capacity for efficient service, not residence or birthplace, should be decisive of choice.

Times have changed, however. We have come to realize that the alien may be, or may become, an enemy, and that as an officeholder, and especially as a teacher, the efficiency of the alien may be exercised to a dangerous and intolerable extent outside the domain of his avowed or professed expertness. Therefore, probably no objections will be made to the action of the Minnesota Legislature in passing, this week, a law declaring citizenship a requisite for holding a position in the public schools of the State; and in other States, where such a law may or may not be less needed, similar action may soon be demanded, if instances of seditious utterance by other teachers like the one just revealed at Vassar should come to light and attention.

That there are others, and not a few others, is indicated by the fact that almost everybody knows of at least one teacher whose sympathies are with our enemies, and whose influence, whatever there may be of it, is exerted against our national interests and safety. Citizenship, unfortunately, does not guarantee loyalty, but it is one basis of it, and one upon which it is right as well as expedient to insist—certainly while present conditions exist, and perhaps always.

Germany Speaks to Slaves

If there remains in Russia even a little of the feeling of nationality and of the pride and courage naturally associated with that feeling, it is inevitable that a saving anger will be excited in Russian minds by the proposal, or rather by the demand, just made by Germany with respect to what the German war lords cynically call an exchange of prisoners of war. What they ask is that all physically sound Germans now held as war prisoners in Russia be at once sent home—where, of course, they will be promptly incorporated in the German Army and sent to strengthen von ARNIM'S shattered battalions. The German prisoners who are unfit for military service the Russians must keep and support!

That is one side of the suggested bargain. The other is that Germany shall send home the Russian prisoners whom hardship and scanty food have made industrially useless, while those whom she has not yet worn out in her mines, factories, and fields she will retain for further exploitation. And if the Russians do not agree to an "exchange" so obviously and preposterously disadvantageous to themselves, and so utterly in disaccord with custom and international law, their capital is to be seized as the first manifestation of German resentment and the first lesson in the wisdom of submitting to German wishes, whatever they may be.

Proposals or demands such as these, of course, are made only to vassal, or rather only to slave, peoples. They are unheard-of as between nations both possessing sovereign rights, and the contempt which Germany expresses through them for the one large nation she can treat as conquered should serve as a warning to the other nations which she is still striving to overcome. This sort of consideration they would get in case of defeat could not be better illustrated than by this by no means unimportant incident.

The worst feature of the case lies in the high probability that the Russians—there is no such thing as Russia now—will do what they are told by their new masters, and that they will have their reward—the privilege of occupying their capital till Germany wants to take it away from them. The chances that she will keep, longer than suits her convenience, the implied contract not to occupy Petrograd if docility in the matter of the prisoners is shown, could not be measured even with an ultra-microscope.

We Expect More from Them.

While there is a fair presumption that the State Police had full legal justification for shooting the murderer whom they had very efficiently hunted to his hiding place in Warren County, this week, such an ending of their chase hardly comes up to the high standards set by the members of the like force in Pennsylvania, and, though not a basis for criticism, this killing will cause something like disappointment among their friends.

For it is the expectation that the State Constabulary shall rise to heights of skill and prowess unattainable by common, or even by uncommon, policemen—that in dealing with the criminal classes they shall overcome all odds as a matter of course and custom, and that always, when they go after an offender of any grade, they shall scorn to do anything else or less than to get him and turn him over to the courts, alive—not to the undertaker, dead. That the culprit resists arrest or attempts to escape when cornered is a good excuse for shooting, but not one quite good enough for State Police.

Perhaps these expectations are unreasonable—perhaps they are founded on too faithful reading of magazine chronicles of exploits achieved by the Pennsylvania marvels of perfection. Nevertheless, they exist and are firmly fixed in most minds, and it will be hard to give them up. It will be necessary at least to mitigate them if our constables fail to cow even the most desperate villain by a glance of the eye and a few quietly spoken words. Their mission in life is to arrest, not to kill or even to wound, in any case.

IRISH COMPLICATIONS.

Views Which Tend to Confuse American Opinion.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The Irish question has now assumed an almost international importance, and the Allies should be grateful for the well-balanced views of it put forth by THE NEW YORK TIMES.

There are two forms of Irish propaganda seeking to mystify public opinion in America: (1) the Irish pro-German teaching, which repeats the German lies, such as that "the great majority of the English Army are Irishmen and Scotchmen, the English do not enlist," (H. Chamberlain,) the official British returns showing 70 per cent. of the present army to be English and Welsh, and 30 per cent. Scotch, colonial, and Irish; (2) that of loyal but mistaken Irishmen, who, like the loyal American pacifists, ask us to lean upon a broken reed. Of this type is Mr. T. P. O'Connor. He asks England to seize this golden opportunity of trusting Ireland. It seems to me a golden opportunity for Ireland to show some gratitude to England.

During the last fifty years legislation following upon legislation has removed every semblance of a wrong from Ireland. Her land laws are the most liberal in the world, her taxes light, her workmen's cottages (at 50 cents rental per week) widespread. But she cries for home rule, and England has tried over and over again to add this to other boons; but Irishmen will not have it. Mr. Redmond refused "home rule for those counties in Ireland which ask for it." An autocratic home rule putting wealthy Ulster under the heel of Southern Ireland would have brought civil war.

Now that a modified home rule based on the report of the convention, which Mr. Redmond agreed to, is offered, Ireland flings it in the face of England, and says: "To hell with home rule!" Why? Because the majority in that distressful country prefer squabbling among themselves to fighting against German barbarians. Yet Mr. O'Connor says, "Trust them." Give them home rule, then trust them. Trust them to squander precious time in dragging their coattails through the marketplaces, while England, Scotland, Wales, America, France, Italy, Belgium are pouring out their lifeblood for the salvation of humanity! Trust them to alter tactics which have been their lifelong habit, while the world of civilization is in danger of its life! If Mr. O'Connor wants to push things on, his appeal should be to Ireland, not to England.

Let him appeal to Ireland not to disgrace herself in the presence of the Americans, now, thank God, in that country, and able to judge for themselves; not to use false arguments, hiding her real meaning under false issues, but to put aside cowardice, to rise up, and take her part, like many a noble Irishman in the past and in the present, in fighting, as some Irishmen know how to, for liberty, for honor, for religion, for truth.

BERESFORD POTTER,
(Archdeacon.)

New York, April 28, 1918.

The Proper Course for Ireland.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Accept my congratulations on your courageous editorial on Ireland's failure to enlist her man power in this war. If Ireland would enjoy the happy destiny we all wish her to attain she should volunteer to take her place in the grim battle which we are all fighting against an outlaw nation for the liberty of the world. Every Irishman in America should urge this course upon his friends at home.

Kapoosta for Sauerkraut.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

When your correspondent in today's TIMES invited us to cry: "Down with sauerkraut! Hurrah for choucroute," I cannot help hesitating. Certainly the French are immeasurably superior to the Germans in everything good, yet when you hear choucroute you will do right by consulting a French dictionary. Larousse tells us that the word choucroute is not of French but of German origin: sauer, acid, and kraut, cabbage, and that "la choucroute est un plat national en Allemagne." Therefore, choucroute is but a French imitation of German sauerkraut. However, the Germans have no reason to triumph on account of their sauerkraut. For sauerkraut appeals only to the appetite of some 60,000,000 Germans. But when in the ex-Czar's country you would cry, "Kapoosta," you would see at once over 150,000,000 happy, illumined faces of Russians—men, women, and children. In a beautiful old Russian folk story it is said: "There is a Russian odor, there one smells Russia," and you may be sure that you deal with the people every day eating kapoosta and drinking kvass, both sour. If a substitute for German sauerkraut is needed, then I would suggest not choucroute, a French imitation of German, but a real Russian thing, kapoosta.

IRA DEI.

Anger, bright Anger, Servant of the Lord,
Amidst a red-flowered field set up a sword—
The Spirit's sword! 'Twas as a mirror sheen,
In which One Face unchangeable was seen.

The Face of Him who sent the sword to be Token that all folk—all men—should be free.
And they who in the sword's plain mirror looked,
Thenceforth nor ease nor quiet thoughts brooked!

Of Anger speak not ill whose arm is worth
The price of all best things on earth;
Know him for heavenly, coming in this guise;
So clear and beautiful his sparkling eyes!

He with a blinding smile, and passion-white,
Fronteth that host which works the world despite,
And fronteth, too, that Hate (yet is no kin
To Hate) in whom they put their trust to win.

The world's heart would have broken, long ago—
This Saving Anger would not have it so!
He kindled and he fed such glorious flame
In every bosom, in his Master's Name!

He draws all fear from out our million breasts—
Gives us to know that Victory with us rests;
When so divine a leader goes before,
The world's hurt Liberty he will restore.

Anger, bright Anger—surely, he shall still
Be with us till accomplished is that will
Which hath dispatched him from the ardent skies
To breathe through earth the fire that purifies!

All done to which he hath been dedicate,
This Anger shall his purging fires abate,
And shall give place to them who laurel sheave
And cypress with the flower purpureal weave.

CELEBRATE LABOR DAY.

Many Large Meetings Affirm Determination to Win the War.

Socialist and labor elements yesterday celebrated May Day, the international labor holiday, in a number of meetings all over the city, and the general tone of the holiday was not greatly different from that of any patriotic festival. There was talk of the approaching triumph of the working class, but quite as much talk about the present war and of the necessity of getting together to win it.

The biggest meeting of the day was held in Madison Square Garden by the Amalgamated Clothing Workers. Here some 12,000 persons assembled to listen to a musical program, which included "The Star-Spangled Banner" as well as the Marseillaise, with solos by Claudio Muzio and José Mardones of the Metropolitan Opera Company and selections by Nahan Franko's Orchestra.

Sidney Hillman, General President of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, declared that it was time for labor to reaffirm its rights ever perpetrated. "The Governor, it is expected, will sign the bill.

The Governor announced his intention of signing the three bills fostered by the Education Department, which would provide educational facilities for illiterates, and compel cities of all classes to maintain night schools.

He signed Senator Robinson's bill annulling the charter of the New York State branch of the German-American Alliance. Its corporate existence in the State ceased today under the bill.

TICKET OFFICES COMBINED.

Railroads Will Save $60,000 in City Rentals by New Plan.

Plans for the establishment of a central city ticket office to save about $60,000 in rentals for seven railroads have been approved by the railroad officials and the Director of Railroads, and a location has been chosen in the Manhattan Life Building at 66 Broadway. The railroads to be represented in the new ticket office are the Pennsylvania, New York Central, Lehigh Valley, Lackawanna, New Haven, Baltimore & Ohio, and Erie.

A suggestion for the combination office was made by Edmond J. Loughran before the Government took over the railroads, and the change in control brought up the plan again. Plans for alteration to give the office the entire lower floor to make a rotunda for the ticket booths have been made. The office will have an entrance on the New Street side, facing the Stock Exchange, and through the basement arcade a way will be open to the Wall Street station of the subway. Three similar combination offices are planned and a fifth may be located in Brooklyn.

ACCUSE ARMY SURGEON.

Alleged Seditious Remarks Lead to McAllister's Arrest.

First Lieutenant John McAllister, Medical Reserve Corps, United States Army, was arrested yesterday on Governors Island, on orders received from the War Department. The charge on which he will probably face a court-martial is said to be utterances of seditious remarks. Colonel Frank L. Dodds, Judge Advocate General of the Eastern Department, confirmed the report of the arrest of Lieutenant McAllister.

Lieutenant McAllister is a New York City physician with offices at 41 West Forty-eighth Street. He has a home at Scarsdale. He was commissioned an officer of the Medical Reserve several weeks ago, and his remarks, which the War Department has termed seditious, were made since President Wilson signed his commission. The nature of the alleged remarks was not disclosed at Governors Island last night.

A Lieutenant of the 22d Infantry, who is charged with desertion, is also soon to appear before the Governors Island military court.

DANISH RADICALS BEATEN.

Opposition Led by Christensen Wins Control of Landsthing.

COPENHAGEN, May 1.—Final returns on the voting for members of the Landsthing, the upper house of the Danish Parliament, show a victory for the opposition parties led by former Premier Christensen.

They elected forty-five members, as against twenty-seven returned by the Socialist and Radical parties, which have been in control for the last four years.

Brazil Appoints New Consuls Here.

RIO JANEIRO, May 1.—In connection with the reorganization of the consular service, which was decided upon recently, the following appointments have been made: Consul at St. Louis, Sebastiao Sampaio; at San Francisco, Victor Ferreira du Cunha; chief of the consular staff at New York, Joao Muniz; Inspector of consulates in North and Central America and Asia, Alves Lima.

PARIS, May 1.—The American Red Cross today presented 10,000,000 francs ($2,000,000) to the committee which is directing the three great French societies for caring for the wounded. They are the French Red Cross, Les Femmes de France, and les Dames Françaises.

Derby Presents Credentials.

PARIS, May 1.—The Earl of Derby presented his credentials as Ambassador of Great Britain at Paris to President Poincaré today. He replaces Lord Bertie in the British Ambassadorship here.

'BLUE DEVILS' CALL ON COL. ROOSEVELT

At Harvard Club He Greets Them with Stirring Words and Shakes Each by Hand.

PRAISES THEIR BRAVERY

French Soldiers Get Rousing Welcome at Hippodrome and Later Are Received at J. P. Morgan's Home.

"I am prouder of the fact that I have four sons fighting with the American Army in France than I am that I was once the President of the United States."

This was the keynote in the address of welcome with which Colonel Theodore Roosevelt of America greeted the hundred "Blue Devils" of France when he met them yesterday at a reception at the Harvard Club.

It was at the persistent and unanimous request of every one of the hundred that the reception with Colonel Roosevelt was arranged. Ever since they have landed the "Blue Devils" have expressed the desire to see the Colonel, and when this fact was made known to the former President, he readily consented to come in from Sagamore Hill.

The "Blue Devils" arrived at the club in buses and marched into the big hall on the ground floor at 2 o'clock. They stood at attention behind their officers, their impassive faces bearing no trace of an emotion beyond the calm confidence in themselves that came from battle dangers undergone and laughed at.

The Colonel, who was at lunch, hurried to the hall to greet the soldiers. As he passed the line with long rifle barrels and bayonets gleaming in the glare of electric lamps, a slight tremor passed through the sturdy ranks. Passing directly to the little knot of officers, Colonel Roosevelt greeted them briefly in French and turned to the soldiers:

"Soldiers of France," he said, "there are no men in all the world whom every good American is more glad to welcome than you men of France. I have been President of the United States, and I am proud of it. I am prouder of the fact that I have four sons fighting with the American army in France. One of them has been wounded and has received the French Cross of War, and there is no possession in our family which I prize so highly.

"When we have beaten the Boche and made the world safe, all the nations of mankind will owe their greatest debt to France. There is only one set of men to be envied today. They are the men to whom the great good fortune has come of fighting in this great cause for humanity. As I have told my fellow-countrymen, it will be more pleasant to explain why you have fought than for those who will have to explain why they have not fought. I shall end simply by saying, 'I greet from a full heart the flag of France and the soldiers of France.'"

There was a lack of applause when the Colonel finished speaking, for each man was weighing his words and cherishing them as something sacred. When the speaker stepped forward to greet each soldier in person spectators noticed that there was hardly a man in the command whose eyes were free from tears, while Colonel Roosevelt's tones were husky as he said to each man, "God bless you, my boy."

Speaking of the "Blue Devils" afterward, Colonel Roosevelt praised them highly.

"They are a magnificent lot of men," he said. "Did you notice the look of determination on their young faces? It made them appear older than they really were, but it came from three years of war. There can be no doubt of the outcome of this war when men like that fight on our side."

From the Harvard Club, the "Blue Devils" marched to the Hippodrome, where they were guests of the management and the Liberty Loan Committee. A touching scene occurred just outside the Harvard Club as the men marched away. General Claudon, head of the French military mission here, was at Fifth Avenue and Forty-fourth Street when he heard the familiar notes of a French bugle, sounding "Fall In."

The General turned and hurried up Forty-fourth Street until he got to the club, where he saw a large automobile with five French officers, whom he recognized as men in the Alpine Chasseur command whom he had addressed Tuesday but whom he had never met. The General and the young officers of the "Blue Devils" saw each other at about the same time, and, heedless of taxicabs and delivery wagons, rushed to greet one another. The five officers stopped just before they reached the white-mustached general officer in the middle of the street and stood stiffly at attention while they named themselves one after another to the representative of their country's army in America.

At the Hippodrome, the "Blue Devils" appearance was the signal for an enthusiastic outburst and for an immediate Liberty Loan drive. Within ten minutes $18,500 worth of bonds were subscribed for. After the show they went to the home of J. P. Morgan, where they were greeted by the banker and Mrs. Morgan. After that, the officers dined with General Glenn. Officers and men were guests at the Palace Theatre last night. Today the "Blue Devils" will visit the Statue of Liberty. In the afternoon they will attend the ball game at Ebbet's Field in Brooklyn.

When the roll of the detachment of French Chasseurs Alpine, the famous "Blue Devils," was called at the Liberty Land bazaar yesterday there was a youth in khaki standing on the edge of the crowd who listened attentively to the names and started forward as he heard Private Marcel Humbert answer. The moment the French line was dismissed the boy in khaki rushed up to Humbert and embraced him. Then it was learned that the boy in khaki, Private Rene Humbert of the new 60th Regiment, was a brother of the French veteran and had not seen him for ten years.

The Humberts lived in Biarritz and ten years ago the mother came to this country with her daughter and 8-year-old Rene, leaving Marcel behind. None of the family had revisited France since then. Rene was 18 years old in March and at once enlisted in the new 60th Regiment to get military training. He happened to be detailed for duty at the armory, where the Liberty Land bazaar is being held. His mother and his sister, Mrs. Leon Arnaud of Brooklyn, were called by telephone and the family held a reunion last night. Marcel Humbert has been in the service since the beginning of the war, and has acquired three wounds, the Croix de Guerre, and the Legion of Honor.

POPE'S CANON LAWS READ.

Cardinal Farley Announces Four Pastors as "Irremovable."

New canon laws promulgated by Pope Benedict last year were read at the sixteenth triennial synod of the Archdiocese of New York yesterday in St. Patrick's Cathedral. The new laws become effective on Whitsunday, May 19.

The members of the Board of Administrative Removal, or the Synod Court, and the members of the Board of Diocesan Consulters were re-elected. Cardinal Farley announced that the pastorates in four parishes had been made irremovable. The incumbents and pastorates are: The Rev. Joseph F. Smith, in St. Bernard's at 332 West Fourteenth Street; the Rev. John B. McGrath of the Church of St. Thomas the Apostle, at St. Nicholas Avenue and 118th Street; the Rev. John G. McCormick of the Holy Trinity parish at 206 West Eighty-second Street, and Mgr. Edwin M. Sweeney of the Ascension parish, at 215 West 107th Street.

ELECT DR. ETTINGER CITY SCHOOL HEAD

Five Votes of Board Cast for Him as Superintendent with Two Blank.

PLEDGES REFORM IN STUDY

Thorough Instruction in English and Vocational Education Will Be His Aim, He Says.

Dr. William L. Ettinger was elected yesterday by the Board of Education as City Superintendent of Public Schools, at $10,000 a year, to succeed Dr. William H. Maxwell, who is now City Superintendent Emeritus. Before a vote was taken President Somers said that the new educational law was ambiguous as to the term of years for which Dr. Maxwell's successor would be elected, but that they would elect for six years.

Only one name, that of Dr. Ettinger, was put in nomination. Anning Prall, from Richmond, made the nominating speech. He outlined the various qualifications the new City Superintendent should have, and declared that Dr. Ettinger possessed them all.

"The next Superintendent of Schools," he said, "is pro-American and a genuine patriot. He will bring with him into this high office a brand of Americanism that will not be misunderstood at any time and will meet all other qualifications. It is essential that at this time we should place in the care of a man such as I have described the proper education of over 800,000 school children, future American citizens, many of them not born of American parents."

The nomination was seconded by Mr. Wilsey from the Bronx, who five years ago nominated Dr. Ettinger for Associate Superintendent; by Mr. Ryan from Queens, and Mrs. Murray from Manhattan. The vote was by ballot. Only one ballot was taken. Mr. Prall, one of the tellers, announced the result, five votes for Dr. Ettinger and two blanks. Those who voted for him were: Messrs. Prall, Wilsey, Yeska, and Ryan and Mrs. Murray. The blanks were by President Somers and Mrs. Russell. Messrs. Yeska and Prall were appointed to notify Dr. Ettinger and bring him to the meeting. There was great applause from members of the board and from the audience of Associate Superintendents, heads of departments and teachers when Dr. Ettinger entered the room. President Somers invited him to the platform and presented him to the board. He addressed them as follows:

"I am deeply sensible of the great honor and the tremendous responsibility attached to the illustrious office to which you have elected me. With feelings of prayerful humility I accept this sacred trust. Relying on your co-operation and support, relying also on the co-operation of the executive officers of this board, and, above all, relying on the loyal support and co-operation of the members of the supervising and the teaching staff, I pledge my best efforts to the realization of policies to be dictated by the educational needs of the children of our great city."

In his office later Dr. Ettinger said:

"I do not intend to recommend to the board any revolutionary changes or sweeping reorganizations within the public school system. Immediate attention must be given to the extension and betterment of the housing facilities available, especially for the pupils in the elementary schools. Various influences working during recent years have resulted in our present inadequate school accommodations. The relatively small increase in our pupil population since the beginning of the war and the development of a standardized type of building and equipment with the adoption of a type of reinforced concrete building may make it possible to remedy, at least in part, the present unsatisfactory situation.

"From the standpoint of administration it is of immediate importance that our attention be directed to the formulation of educational policies that will make the instruction of children in elementary grades more thorough; that will provide for the democratization of the education of older pupils in the elementary schools through the choice of differentiated academic, commercial, and industrial courses, and at the same time do away with the present hiatus that exists between the elementary schools and the high schools.

"The present war crisis has brought home to us the fact that unified national ideals must be based upon a sound elementary education, including a thorough mastery of our mother-tongue. The draft disclosed that an enormous number of young men were lacking in a knowledge of the English language and other fundamental subjects. A half-way decent English will not do.

"Moreover, the demands of war conditions have awakened all to the value of vocational education, whether it be commercial or industrial. It is not so long ago that one had to defend any change in the older bookish curriculum, but the urgent demands of the Federal Government that the schools immediately assist through their regular and special courses in training certain types of workers should impress upon us the fact that no future emergency should find us equally unprepared because of the lack of vision of those in responsible charge of our educational system.

"The thorough democratization of our schools should mean not only energized, aggressive loyalty, finding expression in the performance of patriotic service such as our pupils, teachers, and Superintendents have rendered to an unexcelled degree, but also such methods of administration as will encourage and utilize the latent ability within our professional staff and the adoption of a curriculum and methods of supervision as will enable us to meet the varied needs of the vast army of children intrusted to our care. To the extent that, although we recognize the different capacities of pupils and build in relation thereto, we train our pupils in common to revere and support the ideals dear to the hearts of our people, we are not only democratizing our schools, but making them a bulwark against which no European militarism will ever prevail."

SOCIETY HELPS AVIATORS.

Society taxed the capacity of the ballroom at the Hotel Plaza last night at the concert and dance given under the auspices of the Woman's Naval Service of the National Aeronautic Committee, to purchase athletic outfits for aviators abroad. Many aviators from nearby camps attended.

Among the patriotic features of the evening was the playing of the national anthem by the trumpeter of the Symphony Society, Carl Heinrich, which was sung by the entire assembly. Lucien Muratore sang the Marseillaise.

The entertainers were Miss Margaret Keyes, Miss Guiomar Novaes, and Sascha Jacobsen. After supper, Dorothy Smoller appeared in Spanish and Japanese dances.

Among the boxholders were Mrs. Richard T. Wilson, Mrs. John H. Flagler, Mrs. Charles A. Van Rensselaer, Mrs. Melvin A. Bronson, Mrs. Benjamin Thaw, Mrs. Paul Tuckerman, Mrs. Charles H. Pope, and the Aero Club.

OUST POLICE STATISTICIAN.

Conscientious Objector Refused to Resign, So Job Was Abolished.

Police Commissioner Enright abolished the position of Statistician in the Police Department yesterday after the incumbent, Edward T. Frankel, who said he was a conscientious objector to military service, had refused to resign. Frankel recently addressed a letter to his draft board in which he said that if called to the colors he would refuse "to undergo military training," and would also refuse to obey military orders.

In his letter to the board Frankel said he considered war "inhuman, irrational, entirely unsatisfactory, utterly unidealistic, and hopelessly impractical." He said he could not kill a human being, and that under no circumstances could he fight "under compulsion."

The letter was sent to Commissioner Enright by the draft board. Frankel admitted writing the letter, and the Commissioner asked him to resign from the department, which he refused to do. The Commissioner thereupon abolished the job. Frankel, the Commissioner said yesterday, had also declined to subscribe to the Liberty Loan. Frankel was a civil service man, and the only way to dispense with his services, in the circumstances, was to abolish the position of Statistician.

AUSTRALIAN TROOPS COMING.

Will Arrive Here Today on Way to Battle Line in France.

The contingent of Australian infantry and engineers who are on their way to the battle line in France will reach the city at 10 o'clock this morning, after a trip lasting forty-five days. They will be received by representatives of the Liberty Loan Committee, and under escort of military detachments will march up Broadway to City Hall, where they will be reviewed by Mayor Hylan.

Among the visitors are men who saw service at Gallipoli, while some of them have fought along the British front in Flanders. The group has its share of decorations conferred for conspicuous bravery. They are returning from home, whither they were invalided after being wounded on European battlefields. With the party are some of Australia's freshly trained recruits.

KAISER'S HEAD ON NICKELS.

Police Search for Distributers of Altered Coins in Hoboken.

"Buffalo nickels" with the Indian's head altered by an expert engraver to a representation of the Kaiser are being circulated in Hoboken and Chief of Police Hayes has detailed detectives and the Department of Justice has been asked to act to apprehend the distributers.

A spiked helmet was put on the Indian's head, an ear, and an upturned mustache supplied, as well as a close-fitting unifor. The distributers gave them to newsboys for papers. One newsboy noticed the alteration on a coin handed him yesterday by a well-dressed man of medium height and about 35 years old, but when he called a policeman the man escaped in a passing automobile.

MAJOR BEDBROOK DIES IN HOSPITAL

Deputy Director of British Ministry of Munitions a Victim of Appendicitis.

ENGINEER IN ADMIRALTY

His Military Funeral to be Attended by Representatives of the British War Missions.

Major Ernest A. St. George Bedbrook, British Army, and deputy Director of the British Ministry of Munitions in the United States, died from an attack of appendicitis at a private hospital in this city yesterday. A military funeral, which will be attended by representatives of the British War Missions in this city, will be held on Friday at the Campbell Funeral Church, and a burial service in Evergreen Cemetery.

Major Bedbrook was born at Catham, England, on April 23, 1879, and was educated at St. George's College, Wimbledon, as a civil engineer. After graduating, he joined the Engineering Department of the British Admiralty. Later he became a member of the London County Council, and one of the Consulting Engineers for India.

At the beginning of the war Major Bedbrook was the Continental representative of the Midvale Steel Company of London. In May, 1915, he obtained a commission as Second Lieutenant in the South Wales Borderers, and four months later was transferred to the Woolwich Arsenal, near London. A few weeks afterward, he was sent to this country as Assistant Inspector for the British Ministry of Munitions in Philadelphia. Major Bedbrook was transferred to New York and was made Deputy Director in November, 1917. He had been living at 22 East Thirty-first Street.

THINK WHITMAN WANTS TO RUN FOR PRESIDENT

Those at Hotel Astor Meeting So Interpret His Thanks for Mrs. McConnell's Suggestion.

Governor Whitman, it became known yesterday, approved on Tuesday night of the suggestion that he become a candidate for Governor this Fall and for the Presidency in 1920. At least those who heard the Governor speak at a meeting of the Mozart Society at the Hotel Astor that night placed that construction on what he said.

It was a Liberty bond meeting and "Whitman Night." Mrs. Noble McConnell, President of the society, introduced the Governor, who made a plea for Liberty bond subscriptions. She proposed three cheers for "the Governor of the State of New York," and they were given heartily.

"Not content with having him for our present Governor," added Mrs. McConnell, "we want him for our next Governor and for our next President."

In his speech the Governor thanked Mrs. McConnell and assured her and her family that "the Whitman family agreed with her." The Governor would not discuss his remark later.

NATHAN STRAUS HIT BY AUTO

Struck While Crossing Street, but Is Not Seriously Injured.

Nathan Straus was knocked down by an automobile yesterday morning while crossing Fifty-fourth Street at Fifth Avenue. The automobile was being operated by the owner, Manuel Rosenzweig, 554 Sixteenth Street, Brooklyn.

When assisted to arise by Patrick K. McGowan, traffic patrolman, stationed at the corner, Mr. Straus said he was not hurt seriously. He declined to make a complaint against the owner of the automobile. He was taken to his home at 27 West Seventy-second Street in a friend's automobile and expects to be at his office in a few days.

American Colors

versus

German Colors

At the Textile Exhibition

If you are interested in knowing what progress has been made during the past year in the manufacture of American dyestuffs, we invite you to visit the Sixth National Textile Exhibition, which is being held at the Grand Central Palace, New York, from April 29 to May 11.

This Company has engaged a large corner space on the Fourth Floor, and the feature of our exhibit is a display of dyeings of some fifty "NATIONAL COLORS," alongside of which are shown dyeings of the same class of colors of German manufacture.

These dyeings have been subjected to the same tests of scouring and fulling and exposure to light and weather for the purpose of illustrating more fully than has heretofore been attempted the exact status of American dyes as compared with similar dyes of foreign manufacture. The exhibit should be of unusual interest to members of the textile trade, to manufacturers of Men's and Women's Wear, and to the general public.

We believe it will demonstrate that the promises of this Company to place on the American market, within a reasonable time, an adequate and comprehensive line of satisfactory colors are being fulfilled. The exhibit will also be recognized as part of our new war industry, and will display the very interesting "bases" or "intermediates" used both in the production of munitions and colors.

PAT RAGAN FORCES SUPERBAS TO BOW

Toys with Brooklyn Batsmen for Eight Innings and Braves Win, 4 to 2.

ERRORS COSTLY TO ROBINS

Both Hickman and Johnston Drop Easy Flies, Which Pave the Way for Boston Runs.

It has ever been the history of baseball in Brooklyn that those players who in due course of time have been graduated to another major league club have taken a keen delight in pummeling the team mates of their earlier days on the diamond. The rule was in no wise violated yesterday when there came forth to dominate the Dodger batsmen none other than Pat Ragan of the Braves. This twirler, who some three or four years ago used to wear a Brooklyn uniform, toyed with the Robins yesterday, and the Braves therefore pushed the Brooklyn men back into solitary confinement in the cellar position of the National League with the score 4 to 2.

How complete was Ragan's mastery of the situation is shown by the fact that for eight innings Brooklyn had to be content with a miserly allotment of two hits, and only one of those was a real wallop. Johnston beat out a bunt along the third base line in the fourth inning, and later Krueger tapped a single in the same direction.

Usually when Brooklyn loses the fault is glaring and not to be overlooked. In the contest against the Braves Johnston and Hickman helped pave the way for the defeat with errors that even the most ardent disciple of Brooklyn baseball will find excusable.

The difficulties for the Robins started in the fifth inning when Hickman made a muff of Konetchy's fly. Subsequent proceedings resulted in Konetchy crossing the plate with the first run for the Braves. Not to be outdone by Hickman, Johnston emulated the example of his team mate in the next inning with such success that he, too, let a fly slip through his hands and Kelly scored. Herzog had previously crossed the platter in this inning, so that Brooklyn was well on the way to defeat. When the Braves added another run in their half of the ninth on a pair of hits the damage was complete.

With one of those belated rallies Brooklyn tried hard to overhaul the Braves in the last of the ninth and did succeed to the extent of getting two runs on three sizzling singles, but the rally was nipped off by the men from the Hub before it became dangerous.

Brooklyn nominated Rube Marquard to hold the Stallings men in check and he did very well indeed. Had it not been for the blunders made Rube might have been credited with a victory instead of a defeat. For some strange reason it seems that Brooklyn saves up its errors to make use of them when Marquard is pitching.

The first Boston run came in the fifth just when a shower was threatening to engulf Ebbet Field. Hickman dropped Konetchy's fly and Smith sacrificed and was safe when Marquard made a bad throw to first. Rehg sacrificed, and nn Rawlings's sacrifice fly to left Konetchy scored.

In the next inning Herzog beat out a bunt and Kelly was passed. Konetchy fanned, but Smith singled to left, scoring Herzog, and Kelly went to third and Smith to second on the throw in. Johnston at this moment dropped Rehg's fly and Kelly scored. The last run for the Braves was scored off Griner, who went in after Krueger had batted for Marquard in the eighth. Henry singled to left and Ragan sacrificed. Thereupon Massey singled to centre, scoring Henry.

Brooklyn's rally was started by Daubert after O'Mara had filed out. The Dodger Captain singled to left. Johnston forced him at second and then Kelly dropped Hickman's drive to centre, Johnston going to third. Schmandt singled to left, scoring Johnston. Hickman taking second. O'Rourke singled to centre, scoring Hickman.

HORNSBY'S HITS ARE TIMELY

Cardinal Shortstop's Bat Big Factor in Defeating Reds.

CINCINNATI, May 1.—The hitting of Hornsby was the deciding factor in St. Louis' ten-inning victory over Cincinnati today. Hornsby scored Baird with a double in the fourth inning, and in the tenth he led off with a three-bagger and scored on Cruise's sacrifice fly.

It was Liberty Loan Day and the players of the Cincinnati team subscribed $12,850, Manager Mathewson leading the list with the purchase of $10,000 worth of bonds. Several thousand dollars' worth were sold to spectators by a committee of ladies.

YANKS WILL PLAY RED SOX SUNDAY

First Game Between Major Leagues Arranged to Take Place at Harrison Park.

The major leagues have decided to play Sunday ball at Harrison in spite of the protest of the new International League, and the American League announced yesterday that the Yankees and the Boston Red Sox would play there on Sunday at 3 o'clock. As this practically means a death blow to International League ball in Newark and Jersey City on Sundays during the coming season, the new International circuit will undoubtedly take some measures to fight the intrusion into their territory.

As the new circuit has paid up its obligations and has been granted territorial rights by the minor league organization, it is now believed that the National Commission will not block its future. It was explained, however, by a baseball official yesterday that the major leagues in bringing about baseball peace, which was slowly pushing the International League into oblivion, assumed an obligation of $100,000 in taking over the Federal League Park in Harrison, and to get something back on this large item they will play major league games there.

This plan of the National and American Leagues was formulated some time before the organization of the new International League, at a time when the old Barrow circuit had practically gone out of business. At the time that the majors decided to play at Harrison there had been no effort to form the new circuit.

A schedule will be worked out for the Sunday games, so that the dates will be evenly distributed between the Yankees, Giants, and Brooklyn club. The game on Sunday between the Yanks and Red Sox will be dropped from the schedule later in the season. Monday's game at the Polo Grounds between these clubs will be played as usual.

Dr. George J. Fisher of the National War Work Council of the Y. M. C. A. has presented a plan to President John K. Tener of the National League to pick two teams from the National and American Leagues to go to France and play games behind the lines for the entertainment of the soldiers. Dr. Fisher will also present the scheme to President Johnson of the American League.

The plan is to have each major League club give two players to the tourists. President Tener is not in favor of the plan and it is not likely that it will be looked upon with favor by the National League Club owners.

A few hundred fans were up at the Polo Grounds yesterday, reconciled to sit through the damp, chilly afternoon and catch cold by watching the Yankees and Athletics play ball. At game time, however, it started to rain hard and the management fooled the doctors by postponing the game.

WEST POINT NINE DEFEATS CORNELL

Ithacans Yield to Army in Hard-Fought Game by Score of 4 to 3.

Special to The New York Times.

WEST POINT, N. Y., May 1.—The Army broke its losing streak today and trounced Al Sharpe's Cornell nine, 4 to 3, in a well-played, hard-fought game. Jones, the soldier's cold weather pitcher, twirled in fine style, and was ably supported in the pinches.

Three hits, one of them a double by Tate, the Army short stop, and two bases on balls, gave the Army its four tallies in the third. Needle, the Cornell pitcher, was taken out at this stage. Tate's timely hitting and all-round play in the field were features of the game.

Singles by Bonagara and Howard and a winged batsman contributed to Cornell's brace of runs in the third, and consecutive hitting by Howard and Whitmore in the sixth was responsible for the visitors' other run.

FORDHAM TASTES DEFEAT.

Seton Hall Hits Opportunely, Beating Maroon Nine 2 to 1.

SOUTH ORANGE, N. J., May 1.—Seton Hall triumphed over the Fordham nine here this afternoon by a score of 2 to 1. The game was fast and hard fought despite the fact that the players were forced to work in a drizzling rain for five innings. Bill Finn made his season's début on the mound for Fordham, and although he was hit freely he was effective in all but two innings and fanned thirteen men.

In the fifth inning Seton Hall scored on singles by Igoe and Fleiger, tallying the former. In the sixth, Keough singled for Fordham, stole second and came home on Colloth's single. The Brennan brothers put the finish on the game in the seventh, when R. Brennan singled and scored on J. Brennan's single.

Galligan, at first base for Fordham, had only two putouts. Inability to hit in the pinches cost Fordham several fine opportunities to score.

CRIMSON NINE IS SHUT OUT.

Bill Durning Pitches Portland Naval Reserves to Victory, 3 to 0.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 1.—Bill Durning, former star pitcher of the Portland, Me., team of the Eastern League, now a member of the United States Naval Reserve, pitched the Portland Naval Reserve team to a 3 to 0 victory over the Harvard 'Varsity team today. Durning was credited with eighteen strikeouts. Five other former Eastern League players who are now in the naval service were in the Portland's team lineup.

Baseball Team Is Beaten 5 to 2 by North Carolina.

Special to The New York Times.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., May 1.—The Midshipmen were defeated by the North Carolina nine this afternoon by 5 to 2. Murray pitched a splendid game for the visitors. Bolton, who started for the Navy, was wild in the fifth and sixth innings, and this gave the visitors their chance.

MUD HORSES RULE AS PIMLICO OPENS

Sweeney's Hauberk Finishes Far in Front of Field in Rennert Handicap.

PIMLICO, Md., May 1.—In spite of discouraging weather the race meet of the Maryland Jockey Club opened here today with every prospect of turning out, as heralded, the best race meet ever held in the State of Maryland. Though the real topnotchers, such as Omar Khayyam and Hourless, are held in reserve for the more important events scheduled for later in the meeting, there was sufficient class on the card for the Rennert Handicap at a mile, which carried the largest purse of the day.

Cross-country men are in their element at this track, and today was no exception, for the inaugural steeplechase brought out a firstclass field of jumpers, and in actual interest the race was more worthy of the headline position than was the Rennert Handicap. Four of the eight jumpers were fighting it out at the finish with only two lengths separating them. It was a ding-dong finish for first place, with Willie Allen keeping Ral Parr's Warlock up to the mark, so that in the closing strides he was able to maintain a head advantage over Mrs. Grant Hugh Browne's Fair Mac. Canada accounted for the third position, J. K. L. Ross's Sixty-Four finishing a length and a half behind Fair Mac and a neck in front of E. B. McLean's Pandean, which might have taken a more forward place but for going very wide at the last jump.

The summaries:

FIRST RACE.—For 3-year-olds, selling, purse $700, six furlongs. Col. Valentine, 108 pounds, (Mergler,) $7.30, $3.60, and $3, won; Grey Eagle, 108, (Willie,) $3.90 and $3, second; June Bug, 103, (Robinson,) $3.30, third. Time—1:18. Jake Scbas, High Low, Oenone, Etta H., Candidate II., Brocatelle, Clarissa, Herder, and Sam Pickett also ran.

SECOND RACE.—For 2-year-old maidens, purse $700, four furlongs. Uncle Lassie, 107 pounds, (Kummer,) $64.70, $27.80, and $9.20, won; Ophelia, 107, (Walls,) $3.70 and $2.70, second; Bagheera, 110, (Troxler,) $3.60, third. Time—0:51. Poultney, Knot, Directress, His Sister, Balarosa, Sir Beau, Gargoyle, and Comfort also ran.

THIRD RACE.—The Inaugural Steeplechase, for 4-year-olds and upward, purse $1,000, about two miles. Warlock, 140 pounds, (Allen,) $20.30, $8.80, and $4.50, won; Fair Mae, 152, (Bryant,) $5.80 and 3.50, second; Sixty-Four, 149, (Barrett,) $3.30, third. Time—4:22. Pandean, The Carmet, First Out, and Bet also ran. Pussy Willow bolted.

FOURTH RACE.—For 2-year-olds, the Druid Hill Purse, $700, four furlongs. Cresson, 114 pounds, (Robinson,) $4.90, $2.50, and $2.20, won; Esquimau, 112, (Mergler,) $4.40 and $2.50, second; The Wenderer, 112, (Troxler,) $2.40, third. Time—0:50 3-5. Star Realm, The Six Hundred, Banzai, and Wewoka also ran.

DATES FOR GOLF ARE SET.

W. M. G. A. Announces Program of Local Tournaments.

Nine one-day tournaments have been listed by the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association, according to an announcement last night by Mrs. C. F. Uebelacker of Hackensack, Secretary of the association. This program includes the Red Cross tournament, which will be held at Apawamis June 10 to 13, inclusive, in place of the annual championship fixture, which, with the team tournaments, has been discarded this year. It is expected by the association that a considerable sum for the Red Cross will be realized from these tournaments.

The dates follow: May 9, Arcola C. C.; 15, Montclair G. C.; 23, Ridgewood C. C.; 30, Fairview C. C.; June 7, Hackensack G. C.; 10-13, Apawamis Club; 17, Glen Ridge C. C.; 20, Siwanoy C. C.; 27, Ardsley Club.

MATTY WARMS TO PROJECT.

Ready to Go to France if Convinced His Services Are Needed.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, May 1.—Christy Mathewson of the Cincinnati Nationals will go to France if officials of the Y. M. C. A. can convince him that his services there in improving the morale of the American troops would be indispensable.

Mathewson made this declaration today after a prolonged conference with Dr. George G. Fisher of New York, formerly of Cincinnati, who is the international director of physical instructors of the Y. M. C. A.

The leader of the Reds will give the matter serious consideration and will announce his decision later. The discussion lasted for more than an hour. Dr. Fisher assured Mathewson that he could convince him that his services "over there" would be invaluable.

MINOR LAUNCHES SEASON.

Festivities Attend Opening of American Association.

With much of the pomp and display that has been part of the openings of former years, play in the American Association got under way yesterday, when teams played at Milwaukee, Columbus, Toledo, and Kansas City. Automobile parades were inaugural fixtures at the various parks, excepting Toledo, where President Roger Bresnahan announced that all ceremonies had been dispensed with as part of a retrenchment policy.

The scores:

Indianapolis, 9; Columbus, 0.
Toledo, 3; Louisville, 2.
St. Paul, 10; Milwaukee, 1.
Minneapolis, 8; Kansas City, 2.

Other College Baseball Results.

At Manchester, N. H.—St. Anselm's College, 4; Dartmouth, 3.
At Newton, Mass. — Boston College, 7; Bates, 0.
At Troy, N. Y.—Rensselaer, 7; Syracuse, 5.
At Bethlehem, Penn.—Swarthmore, 3; Lehigh, 0.

STEEL-MILLS IN LINE FOR NATION'S WORK

Accede to Judge Gary's Request to Concentrate on War Activities.

BIG PIG IRON OUTPUT NOW

Large Tonnage for Government is Result of Washington's Appreciation of Situation.

While the result of the request sent out by E. H. Gary, President of the American Iron and Steel Institute, for pledges from manufacturing to concentrate on war work is not yet known, reports from steel centres yesterday indicated that the mills were rapidly being lined up behind the new program. The opinion is heard among producers that sixty days of steady capacity operations on Government orders of all classes may clear the way for a resumption of commercial business to a certain extent, but the War Industries Board apparently does not hold this view, intimating, according to The Iron Age, that Summer activity must provide against the chances of a fuel and car famine next Winter.

"The estimate of the War Industries Board that recent mill deliveries on Government orders have been at the rate of 33,000,000 tons a year, or close to 90 per cent. of production," The Iron Age says, "includes as war work all railroad requirements and those for agricultural implement plants, mines, oil wells, and every other essential operation. This broad construction makes the new policy less drastic than some sensational statements have indicated.

"No closing down of metal-working plants has resulted as yet, but it is inevitable that stoppages in non-essential lines will come soon. Jobbers had fair shipments from some finishing mills in April and their stocks will help to postpone shutdowns.

"Not only will plate output, which is the special object of Government concern, be kept to the high rate of April, but pig iron and steel from plants in other lines will be shipped to plate mill operations to swell their output. Thus steelmakers whose product may not at a given time be 100 per cent. for the Government will not be allowed to turn to commercial business.

"The plan is to hold the steel men strictly to their pledge, and a close check will be kept on all deliveries for individual account. It is not overlooked at the same time that allowance must be made for the wants of consumers who make stock products which are constantly drawn upon by manufacturers directly or indirectly working for the Government."

The Iron Trade Review says:

"Washington's keener appreciation of the serious situation in pig iron has been brought to a head in the form of a large tonnage represented by Government requirements. It is felt that maximum production in iron is necessary to keep pace with the great war needs in steel; producers are seeking adoption of more effective methods of distribution. Under this plan complete control of output would be vested in a committee on pig iron ore and lake transportation, and the Government's needs would be filled promptly to the exclusion of all present obligations and contracts."

COMMODITIES MARKETS.

WHEAT.

According to private crop reports, the condition of Winter wheat crop during April showed marked improvement, the Snow report making the condition 83.4%, with prospects of a yield of 577,000,000 bushels, while the Clement-Curtis report made the condition 86.3%, with a probable crop of 600,000,000. The acreage of Spring wheat was placed at about 22,000,000 acres, with the possibility of a yield of 300,000,000 bushels. Bradstreet's visible showed a decrease in stocks in the United States and Canada of 5,981,000 bushels for the week, bringing the total to 17,887,000, compared with 105,705,000 last year.

RYE.

The local rye market was dull and nominal while in Minneapolis prices were 2c lower at $2.69, and Duluth was off 3c at $2.67.

CORN.

A sharp break occurred in the corn market on Wednesday, the July position declining 3⅜c from the high point of the day and closing with a net loss of 2⅜c. The decline was due largely to the break in oats, although the trade was disposed to take a bearish view of the cash position. In the local cash market kiln-dried No. 3 yellow was quoted at $1.60; No. 4 yellow, $1.55; No. 3 white, $1.50, cost and freight New York.

OATS.

The oats market was weak and lower, closing with net losses of 1⅝ to 2⅜c. Longs sold heavily on a show of weakness in the cash position where premiums were at the lowest so far experienced on the crop. In the local cash market prices were weak; natural quoted at 90 to 91c, clipped white, 91 to 93c, all elevator.

PROVISIONS.

Comparatively small deliveries on May contracts in the West caused a firmer tone in the provision market with quite active covering on the part of recent sellers. Receipts of hogs at Chicago were 23,000, estimated for Thursday, 20,000; Kansas City received 16,000 and Omaha 17,000 hogs.

COFFEE.

No fresh feature developed in the coffee market yesterday and trading continued quiet. It is believed, however, that the technical position strengthened somewhat on the recent decline, and the market was generally steady on a scattering demand in the absence of selling pressure. First prices were unchanged to 1 point higher, and the market closed net unchanged to 6 points higher, with July relatively firm. The local spot market remained quiet and unchanged at 8½c for Rio 7s and 11c for Santos 4s.

SUGAR.

Some sugar cargoes have arrived at ports here and others are expected later in the week, and it is reported that receipts of raw supplies at the refineries are now sufficiently regular to allow the plants to operate on a more normal basis. While the International Sugar Committee reported no purchases yesterday, sales so far for May shipment amount to about 142,000 tons, and the committee is ready to arrange for further purchases as fast as tonnage becomes available.

BUTTER AND EGG MARKET.

BUTTER.—Receipts yesterday, 4,871 packages. Demand still exceeding the supply a little, and this is causing a firm and somewhat higher market for the more desirable grades of fresh table butter. MIDVALE EARNINGS HIGHER.

Profits in March Quarter $9,775,044, a Gain of $104,333.

The Midvale Steel and Ordnance Company reports net earnings of $9,775,044 in the March quarter, an increase of $104,333 over the same period last year. The earnings were over and above the Federal war taxes, the total of which was not announced in the statement issued yesterday. After paying interest and setting aside $1,181,320 for depreciation, compared with $1,800,864 a year before, a profit of $7,800,341 remained, a gain of $744,950.

The report was received with considerable satisfaction in financial circles, as it had been expected that the difficult operating conditions in January and February would be reflected in relatively poor earnings. The profit was equal to $3.90 a share of stock, against $3.52 in the initial quarter of 1917. As compared with the last quarter of 1917 the income showed a considerable decline, net earnings being $3,397,873 less and the profit available for dividends $3,081,696 lower.

Cotton Exchanges Reassured.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Assurance that Congress has no intention of interfering with the Cotton Exchanges if they conduct their business legitimately is given by Senator Smith of South Carolina, Chairman of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, in a letter to President George Shutt of the New York Cotton Exchange, made public tonight. It was written in reply to a query from Mr. Shutt asking if Congress planned to take any step to regulate exchanges.

THE COTTON MARKET

The advances in cotton prices on the local market continued steadily yesterday, in a rather quiet and much steadier session than has recently been the case. A renewal of trade buying, which has been gradually becoming more noticeable this week, supplied the chief strengthening and steadying element, combined with a continuance of bullish news from almost every quarter. It is possible that the better news from the battlefront also had some effect. The close of the day, after a practically unbroken advance, was firm, at net advances ranging from 94 to 121 points, with the near months stronger.

The premium of May over July, which had been practically destroyed on Tuesday, was fairly well restored, and there were reports around the ring of spot sales of white cotton at even greater premiums over the futures prices. Market observers seemed to have come to the conclusion that for the present, at least, the South was in a strong enough position to carry its remaining cotton holdings in the face of any shortage of offers, and the weekly weather report was fully as bullish as expected, while forecasts continued discouraging for new crop prospects.

Another factor which came in for much discussion was the more favorable shipping situation, not only on account of the closing of Zeebrugge and the much improved April showing of American shipyards, but also because of Washington dispatches reflecting optimistic official sentiment there. The measure of this factor as against the crop news was apparently given to some extent by the greater gains scored by May and July as compared with new crop months.

No exports were reported yesterday. Southern spot markets were 50 points lower to 50 higher, but generally unchanged.

BANK and TRADE ACCEPTANCES

The Federal Reserve System has brought to the foreground the Trade Acceptance as a preferential financial instrument. It is the best assurance against panic, and it remains for the business interests of this country, both large and small, to make possible to the fullest degree the establishment of a thoroughly scientific banking system.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE

Prices closed strong in an active market yesterday on the Consolidated Stock Exchange. Gains from a fraction to more than a point were registered throughout the list. In a rally, which developed in the final hour of trading, the market, which had been dormant and barely steady since midday, started upward and went to new high levels for the session. Many issues made new records for the present movement.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks Less Active but Gain in Strength—Rails Respond to Government Aid.

There was no sign in yesterday's market of further activity on the part of the big speculative interest which was credited with the heavy selling that lowered prices quite sharply in the previous session. Minus such selling the list contracted again to very modest proportions, but prices held a better tone throughout the day. There were few stocks that did not end the session with gains and in numerous issues, particularly the steel and railroad shares, advances reached two points. Net gains of this size were made by United States Steel, Superior Steel, Republic, Sloss-Sheffield and Gulf States. The favorable deductions drawn from the publication of the United States Steel Corporation's quarterly statement showing a rapid recovery in March were strengthened yesterday by the quarterly report of Midvale, which was able to show a larger balance for the stock after allowing for taxes than it had on hand a year ago. The steel mills are expected to have no capacity for private consumers for at least two months to come, according to trade organs. This means less drastic curtailment of commercial business than is generally expected, however, inasmuch as many uses are permitted under the war work restrictions that are not strictly war orders. Using this broad definition it is estimated that fully 90 per cent. of the steel produced is now going into Government work.

The improvement in the rails was marked at the close, with Reading, Union Pacific, New York Central and Atchison reflecting a more favorable attitude among investors. Payment by the Director General of funds required by the New York Central of $10,000,000 of notes yesterday and the release of moneys under the terms of the Government guarantee put all railroad securities into a better light.

The war news continues to be more cheerful reading than it has been at any time in the previous five weeks, but the possibility of new successes when the Germans resume their attack on a large scale has apparently operated against wider public participation in this market as yet. It will be interesting to see what effect the closing of the Liberty Loan campaign this week has on speculative activity in the stock market.

FEWER FAILURES IN APRIL.

Total of 905 Reported, with Liabilities of $14,271,849.

The number of business failures throughout the United States in April, as reported to R. G. Dun & Co., represented a decrease from those in March, both as respects number and amount of liabilities concerned. The total reported in April was 905, with liabilities of $14,271,849. This compares with 1,142 failures reported in March, with liabilities of $17,672,331. The number of failures was smaller, but the average of liabilities larger than in April, 1917, the first month of the war for the United States, when 1,069 businesses went on the rocks, but represented liabilities of only $12,587,213.

Failures in April, 1917, however, were the smallest in respect of liabilities reported in any April since 1907, and April, 1918, stands second on the list in this respect, while the total number of concerns failing is smaller than in any single month since September, 1911. In April, 1915, by way of comparison, 2,063 failures were reported, for a total of $43,517,870. April failures this year were principally among merchants, trading businesses reporting 605 failures, as against only 242 manufacturing concerns.

HAILS INDUSTRIAL REFORM.

National City Bank Sees Country Reorganized to Win War.

Reviewing the changes of recent weeks at home and abroad, the National City Bank finds reason for abundant satisfaction over the unification of purpose among the Allies and the improvement in war preparations at home. In its monthly letter for May it says:

"The entire industrial situation is coming into more satisfactory shape, as war work assumes its proper proportions, and production for ordinary consumption shrinks correspondingly. The country is being rapidly organized to the one great purpose which is now supreme. Less than a year ago people were arguing that the war requirements could be met by speeding up and enlarging the capacity of the industries, allowing other consumption to go on as usual. But today it is realized that not one day's work can the country afford to spare to unnecessary things while the line wavers in France. Non-essential industries, and relatively unimportant ones, are being converted to important work. This is as it should be and must be, for the result of the war will depend upon superiority in industrial concentration. The best of all signs are those which tell of growing unity and resolution of purpose among the people. The gravity of the conflict, the cost in young life each day, the importance of putting our full powers into it, are coming home to the people."

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Government Buying Silver.

In the local silver market it was reported yesterday that the Government was buying, the accumulation being the first since the price was fixed at $1 an ounce. The amount could not be learned, but was said to be substantial. At the Assay Office the conversion of silver dollars into bullion is being pushed as rapidly as possible.

The Railroads' New Banker.

The $10,000,000 of New York Central notes which fell due yesterday was paid off as punctually as the New Haven's notes two weeks ago, but the machinery was a little different. This time Mr. McAdoo, who is making it clear to Wall Street that from now on he is the railroads' sole banker, advanced the necessary funds as "on account of rental" due the New York Central under Government control since Dec. 28 last, and the notes were paid directly at the railroad's executive offices, in the Grand Central Terminal, while the banking firm which had managed the sale of the notes a year earlier was almost conspicuously left out of the transaction.

Steel Company Dividends.

All the evidence thus far supplied by quarterly reports of steel companies points toward large earnings in the current year. The Government will take a big slice of the income, but nothing has yet developed among the leading companies which indicates a danger to dividends at present rates. In fact, earnings over and above Federal taxes are running at so substantial a percentage on the stock issues that ground appears to be supplied for mental speculation about extra disbursements by certain concerns whose payments have been moderate. A factor to be matched against this thought is the expense to which the corporations will be put in financing production for the Government and the allied nations. The Steel Corporation is spending for this class of work at the rate of more than $100,000,000 a year. Government advances provide for part of the extra outlay for some of the companies, but it is reasonable to believe that the Federal authorities would not be inclined to see unusual dividends paid while these advances are being made.

More Oil Companies Chartered.

Eighty new oil companies were chartered in April, with capital of $100,000 or more, according to reports to The Oil Trade Journal, the aggregate of the authorized capital being $35,000,000. In March seventy new concerns had total capital stock amounting to $80,000,000, and in February, fifty-five corporations were chartered with $60,000,000 capital.

Changes in Wall Street Firms.

Changes in Stock Exchange firms announced yesterday included the admission of Walter W. Hess, a member of the Stock and Cotton Exchanges, to partnership in W. J. Wollman & Co., and the entrance of Charles G. West, Jr., and Waldo Kendell as partners in the firm of William Morris Imbrie & Co. Julius Bliss has been admitted to an interest in the firm of H. P. Goldschmidt & Co. and Joseph J. McCann to Arthur Lipper & Co. Percy R. Goepel, formerly of Gay & Goepel, has become associated with H. T. Carey & Co. Webb & Prall announced that the interest of the estate of the late John H. Prall in the firm had expired. The suspension of the firm of Klemm & Keen of Philadelphia was announced at the Stock Exchange. Walter F. Klemm is the Exchange member.

Railway Meetings Postponed.

The annual meeting of the Northern Pacific, which was adjourned until further information should be obtainable regarding the nature of the contract for Government operation, has again had to be put over pending something more definite from Washington. The annual meeting of the Erie, which was similarly adjourned for ten days, will also probably be further postponed, as present indications and expectations are that it will take a month, perhaps more, for the contract question to be reduced to a definite basis as far as the individual roads are concerned. There is no particular concern over the delay, as the Director General has shown his willingness to make advances where urgently required, and most of the roads can afford, even at the cost of some inconvenience, to wait for the matter to be worked out, provided things are in definite shape by the first of July. Incidentally, the fact that Mr. McAdoo's advances on account to the roads so far have amounted to only some $13,000,000, out of amounts due estimated as ranging up to $200,000,000, was pointed to yesterday as showing at once what the railroads were being called on to endure, and what they could endure without impairment of their efficiency.

Manufacturers Buy Cotton Again.

The "mass of manoeuvre" in the cotton market, represented by the buyers for the trade, got fairly well back into action in the market yesterday, with the result that all the bulls came out of their retreats and sunned themselves in a $5 a bale advance. As a matter of fact, spinners are now reported as quite willing to buy at present prices, and in cases where their Government contracts and specifications are particularly rigid, to pay the enormous premiums at present being demanded by spot dealers over future quotations, in order to get the grades of cotton they must have. The only thing cotton men are angry about, in their present tribulations, is the persistent habit of mind outside the trade, which attributes the violent fluctuations in the market to speculators. "There always have been and always will be people who like to fish in troubled waters," said a cotton man yesterday. "Uncertainty is inherent in human affairs, and it is human to try to turn that uncertainty to advantage like everything else. But that doesn't mean that these fellows created the uncertainty. The man who could have kept the cotton market on an absolutely even keel through the last few months could have stopped the war."

Car Orders Being Placed.

Contracts additional to that placed with the American Car & Foundry Company a few days ago for 30,000 cars are being rapidly distributed, according to information obtained in railroad equipment circles yesterday. It is understood that, all told, the Government has now ordered $1,000, with further large allocations of contracts to be made in a few days. The Pressed Steel Car Company and the Standard Steel Car Company will build 18,500 each on the initial orders received by them, with the Pullman Company, the Haskell & Barker Car Company, the Ralston Steel Car Company, the Mount Vernon Car Company, and the Cambria Steel Company holding smaller totals.

HARVESTER REPORTS OUT.

Company Made $14,000,000 in 1917—Corporation Shows Deficit.

CHICAGO, May 1.—According to official announcement made tonight, the annual report of the International Harvester Company of New Jersey shows net profits for 1917, after deducting taxes, interest, depreciation, extinguishments, and reserves, of $14,000,000, or 11 per cent. on the actual working capital employed, which was $125,000,000, including surplus retained and used in the business.

Nearly half of these profits resulted from the operations of the company's steel properties, which shared in the abnormal prosperity of the steel industry. About 60 per cent. of its steel output was sold in the general market. Excluding steel, the percentage of profit on the volume of sales and capital invested in the business was substantially the same as in former years.

Quite another picture, according to the official announcement, is presented by the report of the International Harvester Corporation, which purchases large quantities of farming implements from the New Jersey company and sells them in foreign countries. While the volume of 1917 sales shows an increase over the preceding year of about 23 per cent., America's entrance into the war and the Russian collapse have compelled the company to charge off $13,941,168, of which $10,120,000 "represents unquestionable losses in Russian funds and $316,825 in the value of equipment commandeered by Germany at the Croix Works, near Lille, France. These losses absorbed the whole of the corporation's 1917 earnings and caused a deficit of $1,350,721 for the year."

Both companies report three wage increases of approximately 10 per cent. each, making a total increase in average hourly earnings at the domestic works since Jan. 1, 1915, of 75 per cent.

Employees of the two companies in the United States and Canada are in army or navy service to the number of 2230.

"Positions will be open to them on their return," the reports say, "and the companies are keeping in close touch with them during their period of service."

Give Your Little Ones An Interest in the Future

They are your hold on the future, and America is fighting to make their future safe. They are too little to realize this now, but some day they must learn to reverence the traditions of America, and understand the great cause for which the men of their fathers' day gave their lives.

Be ready to put into their hands bonds of their government. They will be for them inspiring evidence that their fathers planned, sacrificed and invested for their future. Liberty Bonds will mean more to them than money. They will make them proud of fathers who in America's day of great need proved themselves true American Patriots.

EXPEND 849 MILLION ON CANADIAN PACIFIC

Lord Shaughnessy, at Annual Meeting, Discusses Status of Railway.

HAS $623,000,000 CAPITAL

Common Stock at Present Time Stands Its Owners an Average of $143.

MONTREAL, May 1.—At the annual meeting of stockholders of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, held here today, retiring Directors were re-elected. The meeting was called to order by Lord Shaughnessy, the President, at 12:45 P. M., and adjourned just eighteen minutes later, being the shortest meeting in the history of the company. Its feature was the address of Lord Shaughnessy to the shareholders, which was distributed at the meeting. Lord Shaughnessy, for the first time, presented a review of the history of the company and a statement of its policies, in addition to information as to its present position.

The total investment of the Canadian Pacific is capitalized at $623,000,000, whereas the cost of the company was $687,000,000, besides $31,000,000 worth of railways constructed before its formation by the Canadian Government and turned over to it, and $131,000,000 of money obtained from surplus earnings, land sales, &c., expended on the property and written off without being capitalized, so that the system represents an outlay of $849,000,000, or upward of $63,000 a mile.

The conservative nature of this capitalization is reflected in Lord Shaughnessy's statement that despite the fact that the original stock issue of $65,000,000 sold at 46, and later sold down to 33 per cent., the present outstanding $260,000,000 of common stock has yielded the company an average of $112 a share in cash for its treasury, and taking into account the sums provided out of surplus earnings, which might, if the company's policy had been so directed, have been paid out in dividends, it is calculated that Canadian Pacific common stock today stands the shareholders an average of $143 a share.

Lord Shaughnessy recalls that in 1889 the Canadian Pacific had 7,000 miles of railway, with gross earnings of $29,200,000, net earnings of $12,200,000, funded debt of $47,200,000, and debenture stock capital of $54,237,000, with fixed charges of $6,800,000 a year. In 1916 the company had 13,000 miles of railway, with net earnings of $50,000,000, but the fixed charges were only $3,500,000 more than those it was carrying in 1889. Between 1902 and 1914 $336,300,000 was spent on additions, betterments, and new equipment.

This sum was provided—$77,650,000 from the surplus revenue or undivided profits of the company, $56,500,000 by the sale of preferred stock and equipment notes, and the balance by the sale to the shareholders of $195,000,000 par value of common stock at a price which yielded $262,100,000, and provided sufficient money not only to meet the balance of expenditures directly on the property, but also to retire $33,750,000 worth of bonds and pay the cost of additional lines acquired or constructed and additional steamships for the company's fleet. The company's steamship department, Lord Shaughnessy states, is at present valued at upward of $65,000,000.

ESSENTIAL INDUSTRIES TAKE MORE WORKERS

Pierre Jay in Review Says Many Plants Are Being Utilized for Government Work.

A remarkable increase in the number of employes in this district engaged in essential industries, and a corresponding decrease in those whose operations have been curtailed by the war, is commented upon by Pierre Jay, Chairman of the Board of the Federal Reserve Bank, in his review of current conditions at this centre.

"A constantly increasing proportion of the capacity of manufacturing plants in this district is being utilized, directly or indirectly, for Government work and production of war supplies," Mr. Jay says.

"This shifting between industries does not, however, fully measure the extent of the adjustment which has taken place, for within many of the industries themselves a similar and even more extensive transition has occurred. In steel and the machinery lines the pressure of Government requirements is becoming greater, and while there is very substantial demand from usual lines, the tendency to subordinate all operations to Government work is growing. So also in the chemical industry, where the necessity of turning raw materials into the lines needed by the Government has resulted in curtailment of other lines, the enormous demands for heavy chemicals are likely to keep the industry running at full capacity for the duration of the war.

"A large carpet manufacturing company has turned about 90 per cent. of its capacity to producing duck for the Government. Under a recent order the woolen mills are to hold their looms at the service of the Government until July 1, in order to insure adequate supplies of cloth for uniforms, and even before this order was issued the demand for civilian goods exceeded the available supply. Similar conditions obtain at the cotton mills. In short, the conditions outlined are general, and the business situation may be characterized as one of intense activity, with war needs receiving first consideration. Railroad embargoes still constitute a retarding factor in production and distribution. Collections are reported as being very good.

"An agricultural census recently taken covering a large portion of the farms of New York State, forecasts increased planting of wheat, corn, barley, and alfalfa, about the same acreage of cabbages and potatoes as last year, and less planting of beans, hay, root crops for stock, canning factory crops, hops, nursery stock and flowers. Reports from farming sections are optimistic, though bearing frequent reference to the probability of labor shortage on the farms this season. In the dairy industry, one of the most important agricultural activities in this section, distinctly unsatisfactory conditions are reported. Friction with distributers, shortage of satisfactory labor, high cost of feed and other factors, have narrowed the margin of profit to such an extent that many dairymen have sold part or even all of their herds. Reports from agricultural sections in Northern New Jersey indicate increased use of farm tractors as an offset to decreased labor supply; grain conditions as not very good, but prospects of a large acreage of potatoes."

RAILROADS GOT $90,614,000.

Total of Government Loans and Advances in Four Months.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Railroads under the four months of Government operation, just closed, received from the Government $90,614,000 as loans or advance payments on Government compensation, Director General McAdoo today announced.

Of this amount $14,300,000 was for Government compensation for the quarter ended March 31, on the basis of the three-year average net income, and $76,314,000 was in loans. The largest sum, $43,964,000, went to the New Haven for a year to help that company meet maturing notes. All but $77,514,000 came from the Government revolving fund for railroad purposes and $13,100,000 came from funds turned over to the Railroad Administration by railroad companies from their surplus funds. All outright loans were made on demand, at 6 per cent., and secured by adequate collateral.

American Light & Traction's Year.

Gross earnings of the American Light and Traction Company were $5,162,771, a decline of $694,620, in the year ended March 31. Expenses were larger and the net income of $4,813,402 showed a recession of $675,495. As the result of paying a stock dividend of $2,035,883, as well as cash dividends of the same total, the income account issued yesterday displayed a deficit of $112,535, compared with a surplus after dividends amounting to $941,840 the year before. The aggregate surplus on March 31 was $11,900,007.

WESTERN UNION SAYS NO TO LABOR BOARD

Refuses to Cease Discharging Union Men Pending Settlement of Dispute.

OPERATORS' LEADER YIELDS

Agrees Not to Sanction Strike at Present—Postal Company's Reply Is Awaited.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—S. J. Konenkamp, International President of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union, announced tonight that he would not sanction a strike of union telegraphers pending a settlement by the National War Labor Board of the controversy between the men and the Western Union and Postal Telegraph Companies.

The announcement by the union leader came after the War Labor Board had received a telegram from Newcomb Carlton, President of the Western Union, refusing to comply with the board's request that the company refrain from discharging employes who join the union until after the board could hear both sides to the controversy. Mr. Carlton agreed to appear May 8 to state the reasons why the company has determined not to retain in its employ men who affiliated with the union. No reply was received from the Postal Company.

Mr. Konenkamp had told the board that the question of a strike rested with the men, and that he would go to New York and Chicago to confer with them. Later, in announcing his compliance with the request of the board not to sanction a strike, he said the men appreciated that "this is not the time to accept challenges to fight" if peace could be had by other means. His statement follows:

"The labor members of the National War Labor Board have urged me not to sanction a strike despite the attitude of the telegraph companies in refusing to establish a truce between now and next Wednesday and I have consented to await the decision of the labor board.

To Show Labor's Loyalty.

"The labor members laid stress upon the necessity of complying with the President's proclamation, even though such a course involves even greater and more extensive lockouts than have already taken place so that it might be shown to the nation that labor is loyal to the Government at all times.

"In taking this step, I realize that it will meet with some criticism from our members who resent the arrogant attitude of the officials of the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies. The assurance that the board has power to sustain its decisions, however, will give our people confidence that their rights will be recognized in the end. * * * We feel that this is not the time to accept challenges to fight, and we want peace if possible to get it honorably."

The War Labor Board adjourned tonight until next Wednesday, with an announcement by Frank P. Walsh, Joint Chairman with ex-President Taft, that it would take no action in the controversy until then. He added, however, that the issue would have precedence over other pending controversies.

The board today named a special subcommittee, composed of C. E. Michael and V. A. Olander, to consider strike situations in chemical and munition plants at St. Louis, with authority to recommend a decision to the board or to report facts. The board also began action in the Birmingham, Ala., steel controversies. Notices to appear before the board Thursday were served on twenty employers, including the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company, and on James O'Connor, of the metal trades section of the American Federation of Labor.

Mr. Walsh also announced that L. F. Loree of the Delaware & Hudson Railroad had been unable to continue his membership with the board, and that F. C. Hood of the Hood Rubber Company of Boston had been named to succeed him.

Bars All Union Men.

A Western Union official in New York said yesterday that Newcomb Carlton, President of the company, understood that the statement issued by the War Labor Board regarding the rights of labor and capital during the war meant that in industries where union men were already employed there should be no interference with those who belonged to the union or joined it. But as no union employes had ever been allowed to remain with the Western Union Company, Mr. Carlton saw no reason why the Western Union Company should change its policy.

Edward Reynolds, Vice President of the Postal Telegraph Company, said that his attitude toward employing union men was precisely the same as that of Mr. Carlton.

Mr. Carlton issued a statement to the War Labor Board, which said, in part:

"It was testified before the Walsh Commission that there were approximately 73,000 Morse operators in the United States alone, to which number should be added about 5,000 more in Canada. We are informed that the membership of this organization in the United States and Canada is about 2,500, and principally in Canada.

"This organization now seeks to extend its membership to our employes, using the present emergency as a means to that end. After two months of active propaganda, especially directed to our employes, meetings were held on April 28 under the direction of the organization in various cities throughout the country, and about 40,000 of our employes were invited to attend. Notwithstanding promises of higher wages, better working conditions and guarantees against loss of position made by organizers of these meetings, a total of only 140 Western Union employes responded.

"This small number understood perfectly well that the company was opposed to membership in this particular organization and that they were making a choice between employment with the Western Union and membership in this organization with employment in some other of the fifty odd thousand telegraph positions open to operators."

It was said at the offices of the Western Union Company that 146 employes had been discharged on Monday, that they would not be reinstated, and that the Western Union had no intention of stopping its practice of discharging employes as soon as they joined the union.

A. B FORBES DECLINES.

Tells McAdoo He Cannot Be Director of Federal Finance Corporation.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Allen B. Forbes of New York has declined the President's nomination to be one of the four Directors of the War Finance Corporation. Secretary McAdoo today asked the Senate Finance Committee to defer action on the other appointments until a successor could be named.

Allen B. Forbes, President of Harris, Forbes & Co., said last night that it was because of his business affiliations that he deemed it inadvisable to serve. Mr. Forbes consented to serve on the Advisory Committee of the Capital Issues Committee and helped to organize that body, which has been a voluntary one without compensation or official standing. He advised Secretary McAdoo that he was prepared to make all kinds of personal sacrifices and would be willing to remain in Washington and work without compensation and without an official title, but that he felt he could not under any circumstances assume a Government position such as a Director of the Finance Corporation.

TENNESSEE COPPER PROFITS

The Tennessee Copper and Chemical Corporation earned a net income of $1,346,082 in 1917, an increase of $511,511 over the preceding year, and announced in the annual statement yesterday that the output of sulphuric acid, which produces much of the earnings, had been the largest in its history. The profit available for dividends amounted to $911,150, compared with $387,658 in 1916, which was equal to $4.56 per share of stock. The company recently declared its initial dividend of $1 a share.

The production of acid totaled 262,858 tons, compared with 181,637 tons the year before, and 10,547,706 pounds of copper were produced, an increase of 1,143,500 pounds over the result in 1916. The average cost of producing the metal was 16.6 cents a pound, a figure somewhat higher than in the preceding twelve months.

Liberty Loan
The Scottish Call

Now's the day, and now's the hour,
See the front of battle lower;
See approach the Kaiser's power;
The Kaiser! chains and slavery.
Wha' will be a traitor knave?
Wha' can fill a coward's grave?
Wha' sae base as be a slave?
Traitor! Coward! Turn and flee.
Wha' for Union's flag and law
Freedom's sword will strongly draw.
Free-man stand or free-man fa';
Subscribers! On wi' me!
By oppression's wrongs and pains,
By our sons in servile chains,
We will drain our dearest veins,
But they shall—they shall be free!
Lay the murd'rous Germans low!
Tyrants fall in every foe,
Liberty's in every blow.
Forward! Take the Loan!

COMMERCIAL PAPER.

Yesterday ....6 p. c. for the best names
Tuesday ....6 " " " " "

The quotations are for six months' paper.

What Makes Drug Trade Quiet.

Drug and Chemical Markets will say today, that trading in pharmaceutical and other drugs has been quiet in the last week, owing to meagre supplies and high prices. One of the principal developments of the week was a decline of 75 cents a pound in opium. Quinine has strengthened considerably since Holland put an export embargo on sulphate of quinine, quinine salts, and cinchona bark from the Dutch East Indies. Acetphenetidin fell off 50 cents. Balsams, tolu and Peru closed firmer. Vanilla beans fluctuated under Government rulings. Chloral hydrate crystals scored a sharp gain. Oils of cassia advanced 10 to 20 cents a pound.

More Rug Prices Show Advances.

Fall prices on the products of the Bigelow-Hartford Carpet Company were formally announced to the trade yesterday. Though they were not given out for publication, it is understood that they show advances over Spring levels that are about on a par with the average increases shown in other quarters. These range from 20 to 35 per cent., according to the quality of the merchandise. Orders will be accepted by this concern subject to its ability to deliver prior to June 30. It was said yesterday that the probable production of the concern during the next several months could not be stated, but it is known that it is already quite a little below normal. Prices announced yesterday by the Roxbury Carpet Company show increases over Spring figures that average 25 per cent. all through the line. This company will deliver to Oct. 30. Advances shown in other quarters of the trade yesterday paralleled those indicated here and in previous reports.

Not Long Out of a Job.

Illustrative of the "hunger" of manufacturers for labor at the present time was an incident related in the floor coverings trade yesterday. It concerned a certain factory in Camden, N. J., which had been making linoleums, and which shut down. Quite a large number of workers were thus thrown out of employment, but they, according to the story, were immediately hired by a prominent talking machine company, whose plant is located in the same city. It was said that only the linoleum concern's salesmen were not taken on by the other company.

Retail Demand for Broad Silks.

Broad silks are selling over the counter in very substantial quantities, according to reports from a number of the large department stores in this city. Washable satins in light shades are in demand, taffetas in all colors are sought, and the sheerer fabrics, particularly georgette and crêpe de chine, are moving very well. Foulards seem to have dropped back a trifle from their former activity, but this is looked upon purely as a temporary lull. Sales of all weaves have been maintained, it seems, much better than any of the merchants had expected that they would be with the Liberty Loan campaign under way.

Gray Goods Sellers Mark Time.

First-hand sellers of gray goods continued to mark time here yesterday, with the result that the little trading done during the day was confined almost entirely to second hands. Further sales of 38½-inch 64-60s were made from these sources at 17 cents for July-September deliveries, but similar bids for shipment in May and June were not given much attention. Southern lots of 39-inch 68-72s were sold from second hands at 18¼ cents for May-July shipment, while goods of the same construction, already in the North, sold from the same quarters at three-quarters of a cent more. The advance was in the nature of a premium for the goods being on the ground. Not much was done in sheetings and drills, but in sateens and twills there were further sales for May-July deliveries. Prices on printcloths, first hand, closed this way:

39-inch, 72-76s....23c	38½-inch, 64-56s..18½c
39-inch, 68-72s....20c	38½-inch, 60-52s..17c
39-inch, 56-44s....15½c	38½-inch, 60-48s..16½c

Fall Linoleum Prices Away Up.

Linoleums will be "sky high" in the near future, if prices made yesterday on leading lines for the coming Fall season are to be taken as examples. The new quotations show advances of 20 to 25 per cent. over those shown in price lists issued about March 1, which in turn showed advances of 20 per cent. over lists that became effective on Jan. 1. Compared with prices made last November on Spring goods, the new Fall prices show increases averaging 45 to 55 per cent. There is no question about a coming shortage of this merchandise, as a positive embargo on the exportation from Dundee of wide burlaps used in backing them is in effect, the British Government requiring all the jute goods it can get for war purposes. Labor is also very scarce here and production irregular as a result. In many cases, orders that are still unfilled on July 31 will be cancelled or carried on an "at value" basis.

Chain Stores Prosperous.

There is no reason to complain of the present state of retail business in the smaller cities and towns in the Middle, Far, and Southwestern parts of the country, according to statements made yesterday at the local office of the J. C. Penney Company, Inc., 354 Fourth Avenue. This company now has a chain of 197 stores, and so far has bought close to $5,000,000 worth of merchandise to supply their needs. Not the least active has been the company's buying of shoes, a single recent check drawn in payment for this merchandise totaling $195,000. So prosperous was the company's business in 1917 that it paid approximately $848,000 to the Government in excess profits and Federal income taxes.

Bathing Suit Trade Active.

Bathing suits for women are selling very readily this Spring, according to authorities in the local trade. Though earlier in the season bright color combinations and novel styles were more or less neglected for the plainer and more simplified bathing costumes, during the last few weeks the demand for these novelty garments is said to have become very general. Thus it now seems that these lines as well as the more conventional suits will have a very good season. Bathing accessories of all sorts are also selling well, among them beach coats, swimming slippers, and bathing caps. In the latter many brilliant colors and large designs are wanted.

Sheer Undergarments in Favor.

The popularity of organdie dresses for the coming Summer season has resulted, according to local underwear manufacturers, in a very widespread demand for fancy undergarments of sheer fabrics for wear under these filmy dresses. As a rule white or flesh color is preferred in underwear for this purpose, though there are some light blues and lavenders selling. Glove silk is having quite a run of favor in these lines, and fine crêpe de chine is also well taken. Some bloomers are selling, but it seems that for the most part petticoats are favored.

Men's Caps Are Popular.

There are a number of new styles in caps for men this Spring, and according to reports from several local manufacturers many of them are proving very popular. Various military effects, some of them more modified than others, and adaptations of the trench cap are having a particularly heavy sale. It is said, however, that there is less call this season for the very loud colors. Large black and white checks, for instance, are not as popular as they have been in former years, though they are still sold here and there. Pepper and salt effects in the dark colors are preferred, and checks in various tans and dark greens are also liked.

BUSINESS NOTES.

John S. Mahedy yesterday took charge of the floor covering and drapery departments of the American Dry Goods Company of this city, succeeding J. B. Sheehan, who will go into business on his own account. Mr. Mahedy has had experience in both the wholesale and retail trade in those lines.

Yesterday marked the seventy-fifth anniversary of the entrance into business of Aitken, Son & Co., 417 Fifth Avenue. For many years a retail business was done, but some time ago this was discontinued. The firm now does a wholesale business in millinery and dressmakers' supplies at the address given.

A booklet entitled "The Story of the Standard Color Card of America" has been issued by the Textile Color Card Association of the United States, Inc., and is being distributed to the various business interests through twenty-two of the country's leading commercial associations. The booklet is the work of Frederick Bode, President of the Color Card Association.

FUR SALE ENDS TODAY.

Ten Days' Auction at St. Louis Expected to Yield Over $7,000,000.

Special to The New York Times.

ST. LOUIS, May 1.—The international fur sale, which closes tomorrow, is expected to yield $7,250,000 for the ten days' selling. The sale today of 4,600 marten, 30,000 kolinsky, 50,000 wolf, and 410 wolverine for about $665,000 brings the total to $6,055,000.

The sale of 50,000 wolf skins occupied from noon until 8 P. M. and about $500,000 was realized. The first sale of the lot was a single large black timber wolf which sold for $82, the highest price ever paid for a wolf skin at any market in the world. It was purchased by a New York firm. Prices ranged from $28 to $38 for the middle grades, and from $5 to $25 for inferior grades. About 250 buyers placed bids on wolf.

Marten, which at the last sale sold for $57, brought $68 for the choicest skin. Another pelt sold at $62, but the average price was about $35. The 4,000 skins brought about $100,000.

The 30,000 kolinsky skins were sold in large lots, being one of the few lots of inferior grade. The total for this sale was about $50,000, with prices ranging from 20 cents to $2.80 a pelt.

Four hundred and ten wolverine pelts brought about $5,000.

Three supplementary lists have been added to the 3,000,000 skins of the total sale. Part of the extra lot was sold today and the balance will be sold tomorrow. Among today's lot were twenty-one silver foxes, which brought about $100 a skin. Red, white, and cross fox will be sold tomorrow, with beaver, muskrat, and nutria. These skins, numbering 25,000, have been delayed in shipment.

It was announced tonight that there would be no banquet or other jollification, as at previous sales, due to the spirit of war conservation. A special train has been asked to take the buyers to New York. The request was granted at first, but later withdrawn for consideration. About 100 buyers have applied for reservations.

Tomorrow's sale will include about 13,000 Patagonian fox, 13,400 Argentine fox, 12,500 beaver, 4,500 seal dyed muskrat, 2,700 seal dyed muskrat plates, and 805 muskrats. The muskrat plates are blankets of the small skins sewed together to be used in making coats.

The next sale at the St. Louis Exchange will be held Oct. 7, 1918.

Will Grant Its Coffee License.

The North American Commercial Corporation of this city, which was named in a list of coffee merchants whose license it was announced the Government would withhold until May 8, because they had not made application within the specified time, has received a letter from the United States Food Administration under date of April 29, stating that the corporation, not having been organized until Feb. 26, 1918, "it is, of course, not proper and it was not our intention, not being advised of that fact, to penalize the company for not having applied for a license to deal in coffee before Feb. 4. We have the company's application for license in proper form, dated April 2. License will be issued upon this on May 1."

Big Chicago Store Is Sold.

CHICAGO, May 1.—The department store of Siegel, Cooper & Co., one of the largest in the city, occupying a block in State Street, has been sold to the Boston Store for $1,750,000. The purchase covers stock and good will. The store, it is said, will be closed.

Seize $280,000,000 Enemy Property

WASHINGTON, May 1.—The value of alien property taken over by the Government today reached a total of $280,000,000. That represents only a part of what officials expect the Government finally to hold. Upward of 7,100 trusts are being administered under the alien property laws, and the Government is in actual control of operations of 100 plants.

COTTON MILLS FACE SHORTAGE OF LABOR

Orders Tax the Capacity of the Mills, but Workers Are Needed.

MANY LEAVE FOR THE FARMS

Joint Convention of Manufacturers Now Meeting Here to Discuss Industrial Problems.

Short business sessions, followed by a smoker, were held last night at the Biltmore, by the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers and the American Cotton Manufacturers' Association, as a preliminary to the first joint convention which opens this morning at the hotel. It was estimated last night that the manufacturers to attend today's convention controlled 32,000,000 cotton spindles, representing an investment of not less than $480,000,000 in the cotton manufacturing industry. President Albert Farwell Bemis of the National Association will call the joint session to order this morning.

Undoubtedly the most important problem to come before the convention for discussion relates to labor supply. Despite the fact that the mills, both North and South, are booked to capacity with Government and civilian orders, war conditions have operated to bring about a great scarcity of labor in all parts of the country. This scarcity, it was said, had developed notwithstanding the fact that within the last two years there had been an approximate advance in wages of 72 per cent. Manufacturers in the North have lost numerous workers owing to the high rate of compensation offered in munition factories, while the draft was another contributing factor. Manufacturers having plants in the South said yesterday that, in addition to the draft drain, they had been heavily handicapped by workers in the mills deserting to resume work in the cotton belts.

C. S. Webb of Greenville, S. C., in discussing the situation confronting manufacturers in the South at this time, said:

"Financially, the South is better off than at any time in its history. There is work for everybody at good wages. The planters and manufacturers are receiving good prices for their products, and we are building a trade we will hold after the war. The one dark spot on the horizon is the labor situation. It is not as bad now as I expect it will be in six months from now. At the present time many of the mills have idle spindles and looms, not because of a dearth of orders or materials, but because it is impossible to get the workers necessary to keep them running.

"Many of the workers are leaving the mills and going to the farms because of the high prices paid for cotton and farm produce. The farmers are making big returns, and the South as a whole is experiencing the greatest prosperity in its history. Cotton is now selling for 30 cents a pound, or more. Formerly 10 cents a pound was considered a good price. Three years ago cotton sold at 6 cents a pound; two weeks ago I sold some at 37 cents a pound."

Among the features of today's sessions will be a group discussion of "America's Place in World Trade," and consideration of labor problems. Other subjects possibly to come before the convention relate to Government price-fixing and scarcity of machinery and other primary supplies.

Many of the visiting manufacturers yesterday inspected the exhibits at the National Textile Exposition, being held at Grand Central Palace. It was announced at the show that Lieutenant U. S. Grant, 3d, grandson of the former President and leader of the Union armies, had been assigned to take charge of the Quartermaster's Division of the War Department's exhibit.

15 ON NICKEL PLATE BOARD.

Road Elects Two New Directors—$325,749 Surplus.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 1.—The Board of Directors of the Nickel Plate Railroad was increased from thirteen to fifteen members at the annual meeting today by the election of F. H. Ginn and W. G. Turner, both of Cleveland, as the new members. Mr. Turner is Secretary of the company.

The annual reports show gross operating revenues of $16,001,205, an increase of $1,513,277; operating income, $3,011,734, a decrease of $579,218; gross income, $3,367,634, a decrease of $219,046; final surplus, $325,749, a decrease of $706,781.

The balance sheet as of Dec. 31, 1917, shows current assets of $5,502,000 and current liabilities of $3,562,560.

City to Operate Garbage Plants.

The city made arrangements yesterday to operate until June 15 and possibly until July 1 the three garbage disposal plants of the Dailey & Ivins Company. The firm went into the hands of receivers on March 2, and it was found impossible to carry on the contract with the city. Mayor Hylan, Corporation Counsel Burr, Street Cleaning Commissioner MacStay, and Controller Craig discussed the matter, and Judge Hand of the Federal District Court sanctioned the agreement. Tomorrow a form of agreement will be submitted to the Judge for his signature. The company has three plants, and the city is to pay $400 a day for their use. Mr. Burr said that efforts would be made to have the city build its own plants and operate them. He said that he believed that the municipal authorities were in favor of doing this. Meanwhile bids for the disposal of the city's garbage will be advertised for.

A Practical Appeal—

The vital point of my proposition is that it offers a client immediate cash on more equitable terms and on a fairer contract than you will find elsewhere—and I'll prove it the moment you say so.

WOOL TRADERS HOLD BACK.

Waiting for Government to Regulate the Market.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, May 1.—The American Wool and Cotton Reporter will say tomorrow:

"There have been no sales in the local wool market during the last week because of the fact that the situation is still under the control of the Government. It is understood that when the situation is regulated, dealers will continue to sell wool, but on the basis of the prices fixed by the Government, and only to concerns engaged in Government work, although probably a little later the Government will allot to the dealers certain amounts of wool, which may be sold for the civilian trade.

"During the greater part of last week the cotton market was featured by a strong selling movement, with the result that by Saturday there had been an average decline for the week of from 3 to 3½ cents a pound. There was a sharp temporary rally on Friday, but the next day one of the most rapid and severe breaks of the season occurred.

"All deliveries made new low ground, the market as a whole showing declines of from $6.50 to $7.50 a bale. May lost 131 points, declining to 25.32. July went down to 25. October lost 157 points, selling down as low as 24.25. December fell 142 points. At the beginning of the current week spots, which had closed on Saturday at 26.90, went down to 26.75. July contracts, after an advance from 24.85 to 26.11, advanced to 26.40 and closed at 24.85.

"The cotton goods market is less active. One thing is very certain, and this is that buyers are not going to pay the extreme margin of profits now noted with asking prices where they are and with the cost of raw material at such relatively low levels. There is much uncertainty as to just what the Government will do in regard to the price regulation, and neither buyers nor sellers are willing to enter into any new contracts until the future is clearer."

CALL 'THE GENIUS' INDECENT

Court Asked to Decide if Dreiser's Book Is Fit for Circulation.

The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court heard argument yesterday on an application by Theodore Dreiser, author of the novel "The Genius," and the John Lane Company, publishers of the book, for a determination by the court as to whether "The Genius" is indecent and unfit to be circulated. The proceeding is the first to be made for a determination by the higher court in the first instance as to whether a publication violates any law, and if the Appellate Division decides that it was properly brought one of the functions of the court may be a censorship over novels.

In the course of the argument the Justices asked Joseph S. Auerbach, attorney for the author, and John J. Kirby, for the defendant, to cite authority for bringing the case before the court, and finally directed counsel to file a brief on the question of the court's jurisdiction. Many literary associates of the author were in court.

The case went directly to the Appellate Division on an agreed statement of facts between the author and his publishers to the effect that the publishers made a contract three years ago to publish the book and pay the author 20 per cent. on the retail price of $1.50 a copy. It was alleged that after 8,000 copies had been sold in ten months prior to July 28, 1916, the New York Society for the Suppression of Vice notified the publishers that the book was indecent and threatened to take criminal proceedings unless the sale of the book was discontinued. The publishers then withdrew the book from sale, and the author brought the present action for $50,000 damages for alleged breach of contract.

The John Lane Company bases its action solely on the threatened criminal proceedings, while the plaintiff contends that the book has been praised widely by literary reviewers, and that its moral tone and artistic effect are higher than those of many other novels sold freely.

Counsel for the plaintiff argued that the book is less subject to criticism than other literary works which the courts have determined do not offend the statute, among which are D'Annunzio's "The Triumph of Death," "Tom Jones," "Decameron," Ovid's "Art of Love," and "The Confessions of Jean Jacques Rousseau." The papers submitted to the court contained a signed letter from a number of writers deploring "the efforts now being made to destroy the work of Theodore Dreiser." Among the signers were George Ade, Samuel Hopkins Adams, Leonard D. Abbott, James Lane Allen, John Kendrick Bangs, Gertrude Atherton, Walter Camp, George Creel, Montague Glass, Arnold Bennett, William J. Locke, and H. G. Wells.

If the Appellate Division decides that the book is not indecent the publishers will continue the sale of the novel and the New York Society for the Suppression of Vice will be compelled to acquiesce. The court suggested, however, that if the book is improper action should be taken in the criminal courts first before the matter is taken to the higher court for review.

BELGIAN QUEEN GRATEFUL.

Sends Thanks for the Support Given Her Baby Fund Here.

Major Leon Osterrieth, Chief of the Belgian Mission to the United States, called upon Mayor Hylan at the City Hall yesterday and requested his permission and support to have Monday, May 6, officially recognized as the Belgian Queen's Flower Day for this city. Mayor Hylan assured Major Osterrieth that he was in thorough sympathy with the cause, and would do everything possible to further the Belgian Queen's Flower Day for the benefit of the Queen's Belgian Baby Fund.

Major Osterrieth then called at Police Headquarters, and Assistant Commissioner Leach, in the absence of Commissioner Enright, gave the Major permission to have the Queen's flower—the forget-me-not—sold on the streets of the city. So May 6, the Belgian Queen's Flower Day, has the official indorsement of the City of New York.

Major Osterrieth cabled the Queen of the hearty support the women of New York are giving her Flower Day Baby Fund, and received in reply the following cable message from the Queen:

General Headquarters Belgian Army.
Major Osterrieth, New York:
I express to the people of America my sincere thanks for the sympathetic aid they are giving to Belgian babies in buying my souvenir flower. ELISABETH.

In addition to the Executive Committee—Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Mrs. Payne Whitney, and Mrs. Arthur Iselin—the members of the Liberty Bell Committee for the sale of Liberty bonds will assist, as well as the committee now being organized of the high school girls of the City of New York.

HIDE PRICES FIXED; MAY CHEAPEN SHOES

War Industries Board Will Try to Pass Benefit On to Consumer.

FIXES WOOL COMMISSIONS

Action Taken Last Week in Establishing Price of Raw Wool to Producer Officially Announced.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—The Price-fixing Committee of the War Industries Board today fixed the maximum price of the present stocks of packed and country hides at that prevailing April 24, last year. By thus stabilizing the raw material market, officials think a reduction in the cost of shoes will be effected.

The complete hide and skin schedule fixed by the committee contains 1,500 different prices. They are for the kill of May, June, and July. While somewhat higher than present market prices, the prices are declared by the committee to be reasonable. Full control by the Government over all imported hides and skins, through its import license system, caused the committee to fix the prices for imported hides the same as for the domestic hides.

Tanners will be called by the Price-fixing Committee at once, with a view of establishing fair prices on leather, and the committee will endeavor to see that leather products reach the consumer at fair prices.

The Government will allow dealers in raw wool a commission of 3 per cent. for ungraded and 3½ per cent. for graded wool. This was made known by the War Industries Board today when it officially announced its action of last week in fixing the price of raw wool to the producer at that prevailing July 30, 1917.

The commission will cover all storage, cartage, and insurance, including marine insurance, on imported wool, and will be added to the price of the wool as it leaves the dealers' hands. Wool dealers, said the announcement, are arranging to make a blanket price to the growers when wool is sold and delivered by the dealers.

In making official announcement of its action the board paid tribute to the patriotic attitude taken by both growers and dealers, and added:

"The wool growers, the wool dealers, and the wool manufacturers will each be represented on the Government committee which will take charge of the detailed operations. This committee will be appointed without delay."

MAKE NEW RIVETING RECORD

Crew of Four Men at Kearny, N. J., Drive 2,919 in Eight Hours.

A crew of riveters at the Federal Shipyard at Kearny, N. J., yesterday established a new high record for speed in placing rivets in a Government vessel now under construction at the yard.

Edward Gibson, chief riveter at the Kearny plant, had been reading of the achievements in high-speed riveting made at the yards of the Baltimore Dry Dock Company and the Fore River Yard at Quincy, Mass., and made up his mind to beat the two best records so far.

"Boys," Gibson said to his four assistants just before the day's work started yesterday, "I've been reading of the records made by riveting crews at Baltimore and Quincy. Let's make a try ourselves."

The men assented, and set to their task of making a new world record. At the end of an eight-hour day yesterday Gibson and his helpers had driven 2,919 rivets into one of the Government's future cargo carriers. According to officials of the Kearny Shipyard Gibson's feat was without precedent in the annals of shipbuilding, and the crew will probably receive special recognition from the Emergency Fleet Corporation for the achievement.

The best recorded performance in driving rivets up to yesterday in an American yard was by a crew of five men at the Fore River yards, where in nine hours, 2,805 rivets were set in place. The earlier Baltimore record accounted for 2,720 rivets, the work being done in a nine-hour day, and likewise by a crew of five.

GRAIN DEALERS SEEK GOVERNMENT'S AID

Traders' Conference Asks Food Board to Take Unsold Part of 1918 Wheat Crop.

Representatives of all departments of the country's grain trade joined at the conference in the Chamber of Commerce yesterday in recommendations that the Government, through the United States Food Administration, purchase that part of the 1918 wheat crop which dealers are unable to sell, in order to achieve a free and unrestricted movement of grain and protect the country grain dealer by minimizing his losses.

It was also recommended the large reserve supplies of essential grains be provided for to avoid rising prices in times when some one cereal is required by the consumers. Other suggestions adopted by the conference were that mill dealers at country points be prohibited from buying grain from farmers at prices higher than Federal inspections showed to be fair; that a minimum price be fixed, based on Chicago, of $2.20 on wheat, and that a plan be approved whereby the fixed minimum could be enforced. Many technical matters of the grain trade came up for consideration.

A resolution was adopted indorsing the principle adopted by the Food Administration that dealing in futures in grain should be regulated by a combination of dealers, exchanges, and the Food Administration. There was substantial unanimity on the question of terminal problems. The members of the conference declared themselves to be satisfied with the system whereby elevators are owned and operated by terminal lines rather than by private firms or corporations.

The Federal Food Board yesterday ordered the suspension from May 1 to June 15 of the macaroni firms of Marcello Raffetto & Bros. of 174 Sullivan Street and the Bologna Macaroni Company of 773 Vernon Avenue, Long Island City for failing to use the proper quantity of substitutes in the making of their product.

WHEAT OUTLOOK BETTER.

Winter Planting Makes Good Progress in Mississippi Valley.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Winter wheat made good progress in growth during the last week in all parts of the country, although the crop was heading short in parts of California, and rain was needed in Washington and Oregon, the National Weather and Crop Bulletin today announced. Conditions continued favorable in Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri, and the Ohio Valley.

Under the good conditions that have prevailed the Department of Agriculture's production forecast, to be issued on May 8 and based on condition existing today, is expected to show a larger quantity than 560,000,000 bushels, forecast from April 1 conditions.

Bosch Company Is Reorganized.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., May 1.—Announcement was made here today of the reorganization of the Bosch Magneto Company, whose plants in this city and Plainfield, N. J., have been taken over by the Alien Property Custodian. The new officers are: President, Joseph A. Bower, New York; Vice President, Christian Girl, Cleveland; Treasurer, George A. McDonald of this city; Secretary, William G. Fitzpatrick, Detroit; General Manager, A. T. Murray, Allentown, Penn., Assistant Treasurer, A. D. Altree, New York. Domestic business will be carried on as formerly, it is announced.

Sold Liquor to Men in Service.

One hundred saloon-keepers, bartenders, and others, pleaded guilty in the Federal District Court yesterday of having sold liquor to soldiers and sailors in violation of the military prohibition law, and were sentenced by Judge A. N. Hand to terms of imprisonment ranging from one day to six months. Among the guilty ones was a cabman who used his cab for the secret dispensing of liquor to men in uniform. Two others were caught while they were selling liquor in a freight car.

BUSINESS RECORDS

In Town.

RALPH WALDT, a salesman at 1,834 Broadway, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $2,573 and assets of $1,250, consisting of 250 shares of Amalgamated Nevada Mines and Power.

HERMAN ELKAN, formerly of 280 Broadway, has filed schedules showing liabilities of $10,583 and no assets. Among the creditors are the receiver of the First National Bank of Bayonne, $10,000 judgment, and Emma Isenberg, $560.

MORRIS KRIEGEL, dealer in bedding at 1,487 1st Av.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against him by these creditors: Nathan Sumergrade, $49; Goldberg Bros., Inc., $51; Louis Silverstein, $825, and Ghedule Schwartz, $88. He made an assignment on April 25.

GUERNSEY DRUG CO. of White Plains.—Referee Thayer has appointed Wm. A. Jackson of White Plains receiver. The stock and fixtures are estimated at $1,500.

SAMUEL SHANGOLD of 78 Thatford Av., Brooklyn, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $1,482 and assets of $880.

WILLIAM H. GAINES, a salesman of 1,023 Carroll St., Brooklyn, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $14,868 and assets of $5,829.

Out of Town.

Special to The New York Times.

UTICA, N. Y., May 1.—Paul H. and Mary F. Kimball, conducting a boarding house, known as "The Antwerp," at Albany, filed petition in bankruptcy here today with liabilities of $48,878 and assets of $2,567.

PHILADELPHIA, May 1.—Klemm and Keen, stockholders, failed today with liabilities of $300,000 and it is charged that Walter H. Klemm, head of the firm, is missing. John A. McCarthy was appointed receiver. According to allegations in a bill in equity filed by Ralph N. Kellam of Merchantville, N. J., a creditor, word has just been received by Klemm's family that he has left the city and will not return. The firm, it is said, has not done much business of late.

FOUNDATION HELPS WAR.

Gives Big Part of its Available Resources, Says Dr. Vincent.

Dr. George E. Vincent, President of the Rockefeller Foundation, in his annual report, issued yesterday, said that "unless gifts for war activities are sharply reduced the year 1919 will see a demand for further inroads upon the principal fund." In reporting that $1,271,338 of the cash balance carried forward into 1918 would be needed to meet appropriations and pledges for the next fiscal year, he said: "If the Foundation were to continue during 1918 to support war work at the present level of appropriation almost the total income from investments accruing in that year would be released for this purpose alone."

In reviewing the war work done by the Foundation in the last two years, the work of the Tuberculosis Commission in France, the commission appointed to care for more than 500 Belgian children in Switzerland, and the work of the Training Camps Commission, Dr. Vincent says: "The well being of mankind throughout the world so obviously depends upon the winning of the war by the forces of freedom that the Foundation is devoting by far the largest part of its available resources to the support of war work."

All the commissions were withdrawn from the war zones when the United States entered the war except the Tuberculosis Commission in France because the trustees thought the work ought to be centralized in the American Red Cross.

In comparing the budgets of the relief organizations and the amounts given by the Foundation, these gifts for the eleven months ending June 1, 1918, are enumerated: Y. M. C. A., $3,500,000; Y. W. C. A., $650,000; Jewish Camp Welfare, $100,000; Camp Community Fund and Recreation Association, $220,000; Training Camps Commission, $75,000, and special work with Commission of the American Hygiene Association, $125,000.

The report tells of the sending of Dr. Thomas W. Salmon to England to investigate cases of shell shock and other nervous diseases caused by the war, and says that his work was of great value in the selection of the draft army. The Foundation is aiding in recruiting physicians for this work.

REAL ESTATE FIELD

Beaver Street Office Building in Investment Deal—Sale on Greenwich Street.

Negotiations were completed yesterday for the cash sale, to an investor, of the twelve-story office building at 23 and 25 Beaver Street, with an L to 58 and 62 New Street. The property which has been held at $750,000 covers a frontage of 65.2 feet on New Street and 49.5 feet on Beaver Street, the total plottage consisting of about 9,400 square feet. The seller, the Metropolitan Trust Company, acquired it at foreclosure last Summer. The broker in the present transaction was the F. R. Wood-W. H. Dolson Co.

To Take Over Greenwich Street Building.

The 820 Greenwich Street Company, incorporated, with Sidney B. Klee, Harold R. Korey, and Louis E. Felix as Directors, will take over from Harry J. Sophean the six-story building at 820 Greenwich Street, on a plot 42.4 by 91.4. The parcel adjoins the northwest corner of Jane Street, and is located in the Gansevoort Market district.

Tenement Sales.

A. H. Levy sold to a client of A. H. Mittleman, for Mrs. A. I. Shapiro and Mrs. Frank Rosen, the six-story tenement with stores at 3 to 5 East 119th Street, on a plot 50 by 100.11, adjoining the northeast corner of Fifth Avenue. The property was held at $80,000.

Mrs. Louise S. Austen of Philadelphia, represented by Lambert Suydam, has resold 619 East Ninth Street, a four-story, front and rear tenement, on a lot 25 by 92.3, which she acquired at foreclosure last month. The brokers in the deal were Henry Schumacher & Sons.

James H. Cruikshank has resold 31 West 118th Street, a five-story flat, on a lot 25 by 100, near Lenox Avenue. Harry Sugarman and Morris Kahn were the brokers.

Buying in the Bronx.

Charles A. Weber sold for Joseph McBride 249 East 150th Street, a frame dwelling with stable on a lot 259 by 118 feet to Gaetano De Figlio; also for William J. Smyth to Henry F. Hauf 849 East 232d Street, a two-family dwelling on a plot 50 by 114 feet. In exchange the buyer gave in part payment a plot of lots located on the east side of Bronxwood Avenue, 350 feet south of 236th Street, 50 by 102 feet.

Mary O'Connell sold to Frank Oliva the private dwelling, 670 East 221st Street, for cash. F. William Eggert negotiated the sale.

George E. and Charles Buckbee sold for Carita A. MacDougall the private dwelling, 2,258 University Avenue, to Albert G. McCarthy for occupancy.

Eugene J. Busher and William H. Mehlich sold for cash for the J. T. Construction Company 380 East 155th Street, a five-story building on a plot 50 by 100.

Plan Brooklyn Warehouses.

A group of concrete warehouses, to cost about $500,000, will be erected on the old Washington Park and Brooklyn Federal League baseball grounds, taking in the entire block bounded by Third and Fourth Avenues, First and Third Streets, Brooklyn. The property was bought recently by the League Storage and Warehouse, Inc., of which James P. Kelly is President and Louis Gold Vice President.

Brooklyn.

Harry C. Furman sold, through James Watters, the two-family brick dwelling at 306 Sixty-eighth Street, near Fourth Avenue. The buyer will occupy.

Queen Borough Sales.

The Rengaw Realty Company sold to G. Bievener a plot, 100 by 112 feet, on the northeast side of Beta Place, 210 feet southeast of Myrtle Avenue, Glendale.

M. E. Roberts sold to S. G. Rein ten lots at Woodhaven Centre, Woodhaven.

H. J. Rennie sold to J. Adler the dwelling and plot, 50 by 100 feet, on the northeast corner of Forlieth Street and Fillmore Avenue, Corona.

Westchester County.

The estate of E. H. Cranwell, situated on North Broadway, Yonkers, opposite the estate of Samuel Untermyer, and adjoining the Hudson River Country Club, has been sold to Jules Weber of New York City. The property consists of an Italian Renaissance house, garage, green houses, and two acres of land. It was held at $100,000. George Howe negotiated the sale.

The Robert E. Farley Organization sold for the George W. Hohl Company a house on Brite Avenue, Scarsdale, N. Y., to Frank W. Lovejoy for occupancy.

Commercial Leases.

The Twenty-third Ward Bank has leased for a fifteen-year term from the Haffen Realty Company the building at 2,808 Third Avenue at a rental of $6,000 a year. The property was formerly occupied by the Dollar Savings Bank, which is now temporarily housed at 2,737 Third Avenue, awaiting the construction of its new building on the north side of 147th Street, between Third and Willis Avenues.

The Charles F. Noyes Company leased two large lofts at 135-139 West Seventeenth Street for the Wilbeth Realty Company to the Atlantic Division of the American Red Cross. The Red Cross recently secured a seven-story building for a term of years in the same neighborhood.

White-Goodman has leased the store and basement at 4 West Fifteenth Street to J. & S. Baumann.

Appeal for $3,000,000 Total.

The total amount of subscriptions obtained by the Real Estate Division of the Liberty Loan Committee reached $2,646,150 yesterday. Alfred E. Marling, Chairman of the committee of real estate men, which has been active in behalf of the loan, issued an appeal for continued co-operation and effort on the part of the teams in order to push the total over the $3,000,000 mark before the books close next Saturday night.

Recent Buyers.

Ely Bernays is the buyer of the three-story building at 3 University Place, reported sold by the United States Trust Company. Pepe & Brother negotiated the sale.

BANKRUPTCY NOTICES.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT, Southern District of New York.—In the Matter of EDWARD H. JEWETT, CHARLES H. JEWETT, GEORGE W. JEWETT, ALPHEUS REHBEIN, and JAMES G. MARSHALL, individually and as members of the firm of JEWETT BROS., and the firm of JEWETT BROS., Alleged Bankrupts.

Upon reading and filing the annexed petition of Edward H. Jewett, Charles H. Jewett, George W. Jewett, Alpheus Rehbein and James G. Marshall, and on motion of Seabury, Massey & Lowe, attorneys for the alleged bankrupts, it is Ordered, that a meeting of the creditors shall be held before the undersigned Judge of this court, in Room 235 of the Post Office Building, Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of May 21st, 1918, for the allowance of claims, examinations of the bankrupts, and preservation or conduct of the estates, and to consider the offer of composition set forth in the annexed petition, and any and all other matters relating to the disposition of any claims that may be asserted, the administration of the estate, the confirmation of said composition, the dismissal of the proceedings, and any other matters that may properly come before said meeting. Application for the confirmation of said composition may then and there be made. The Court will at said meeting consider said composition and make such orders for its confirmation or otherwise as may be deemed just and proper.

Further ordered, that all action upon the petition for adjudication shall be stayed pending the hearing on this order and the further order of the Court.

Due and sufficient notice of said meeting and hearing shall be given by mailing on or before May 2d, 1918, a copy of this order and the annexed petition and offer to all creditors named in the schedules filed with this Court at such addresses as are therein set forth.

Dated April 26, 1918.
JULIUS M. MAYER, U. S. District Judge.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT, Southern District of New York.—In the Matter of EDWARD H. JEWETT, CHARLES H. JEWETT, GEORGE W. JEWETT, ALPHEUS REHBEIN, and JAMES G. MARSHALL, individually and as members of the firm of JEWETT BROS., and the firm of JEWETT BROS., Alleged Bankrupts.

To the Honorable Judges of the District Court of the United States for the Southern District of New York:

The petition of Edward H. Jewett, Charles H. Jewett, George W. Jewett, Alpheus Rehbein, and James G. Marshall respectfully shows and alleges:

I.—An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed against petitioners on December 14th, 1917. No adjudication has been entered, the same having been stayed.

II.—A committee of petitioners' creditors, after careful consideration of petitioners' affairs, has recommended that petitioners offer terms of composition to their creditors. Annexed hereto and made a part hereof is petitioners' offer of composition, which has been approved and recommended by said committee.

III.—Petitioners have been examined in open court herein and have filed in court schedules of their property and lists of their creditors pursuant to the provisions of the Bankruptcy Act.

Wherefore petitioners pray for the granting of the annexed order and for such other and further relief as may be just and proper.

EDWARD H. JEWETT,
CHARLES H. JEWETT,
GEO. W. JEWETT,
ALPHEUS REHBEIN,
JAMES G. MARSHALL,
Petitioners.

State of New York, County of New York, ss.: Edward H. Jewett, Charles H. Jewett, George W. Jewett, Alpheus Rehbein, and James G. Marshall, being duly sworn, depose and say that they are the petitioners above named; that they have read the foregoing petition and know the contents thereof, and that the same is true to the knowledge of deponents, except as to the matters therein stated to be alleged upon information and belief, and as to those matters they believe it to be true.

EDWARD H. JEWETT,
CHARLES H. JEWETT,
GEO. W. JEWETT,
ALPHEUS REHBEIN,
JAMES G. MARSHALL.

Sworn to before me this 12th day of April 1918.
[Seal.] MARY CAHILL,
Notary Public, Kings Co., No. 46. Kings County Register No. 129. Certificate filed in N. Y. County, No. 442. New York Co. Register, No. 10,142.

To the Honorable Judges of the District Court of the United States for the Southern District of New York, and to our Creditors:

We hereby offer terms of composition of the claims of our creditors, allowed, or to be allowed, except those entitled to priority, in this proceeding, as follows:

A.—Fifty per centum (50%) thereof to be paid in cash out of a fund consisting of the proceeds of the assets in the hands of the Receiver in Bankruptcy herein, and the sum of Fifty-eight Thousand nine hundred and eighty-four and 59-100 Dollars ($58,984.59) not property of the said bankrupts; and

B.—The balance of said fund remaining in the hands of the said Receiver after payment of all debts and claims entitled to priority, and all expenses of administration, to be distributed pro rata.

EDWARD H. JEWETT,
CHARLES H. JEWETT,
GEO. W. JEWETT,
ALPHEUS REHBEIN,
JAMES G. MARSHALL,
As members of the firm of Jewett Bros.

NO. 25,536.—U. S. DIST. COURT, SO. DIST. N. Y. — In Bankruptcy. — CATHARINE H. VERTY, Bankrupt.

Creditors of said bankrupt are hereby given notice that on April 27th, 1918, she was duly adjudicated bankrupt. The first meeting of creditors will be held at my office, 233 Broadway, New York, N. Y., on May 16th, 1918, at 12 o'clock noon. Creditors may prove claims, appoint a Trustee, examine the bankrupt and transact such other business as may come before said meeting.

LEGAL NOTICES.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT, Southern District of New York.—In the matter of WALTER L. HART, individually and as a member of the partnership known as HART & LLOYD and a partnership known as the AMBROSIA COMPANY, to be adjudicated a bankrupt.—No. 25699.

It appearing to my satisfaction from the petition of William Ferguson, verified the 25th day of April, 1918, that a petition was filed in this Court on the 19th day of March, 1918, by Walter L. Hart, in which said Walter L. Hart prayed that he might be adjudicated a bankrupt, and it further appearing that a subpoena directed to one John Lloyd, a former partner of said Walter L. Hart, was duly issued out of this Court to the Marshal of this district and that the said Marshal has been unable to serve the same upon the said John Lloyd, and that the said John Lloyd is not now within this District so that personal service may be made upon him, and that diligent efforts have since been made to ascertain the whereabouts of the said John Lloyd but that he is not now within the jurisdiction of this Court.

Now, on motion of William Ferguson, attorney for the said Walter L. Hart, bankrupt, it is Ordered that the above named John Lloyd plead or answer on or before the 21st day of May, 1918, to the petition herein filed in the office of the Clerk of this Court on the 19th day of March, 1918, and in case of the failure of the said John Lloyd to plead or answer thereto, then adjudication shall be made against the said Walter L. Hart and against said John Lloyd according to the prayer of said petition; and it is further Ordered that this order be published in The New York Times once a week for two (2) successive weeks, said publication to commence not later than the 4th day of May, 1918, and that a copy of this order be mailed to the said John Lloyd at his last known address, to wit, Keansburg, New Jersey, on or before the date of the first publication.

Dated New York, April 29, 1918.
JNO. C. KNOX, United States District Judge.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT, FOR the Southern District of New York.—THE CLEVELAND AUTOMATIC MACHINE COMPANY, Complainant, against BIJOU MOTOR LIGHTING COMPANY, Defendant.—In Equity No. 15-36.

On reading and filing the petition of Joseph Bijur, E. Bright Wilson, and Louis V. Hubbard, Receivers, verified the 29th day of April, 1918, and sufficient cause appearing therefor,

Let the defendant, the creditors and stockholders of the defendant, and all other persons interested, show cause at a term of this Court, to be held at Room No. 3 in the Woolworth Building, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 14th day of May, 1918, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, or as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard, why an order should not be entered accepting the offer made by the General Electric Company to the Receivers, dated April 29th, 1918, and being a confirmation of the informal offer made by that company, addressed to the creditors and stockholders of the Bijou Motor Lighting Company, dated March 28, 1918, for all of the assets of every kind and character of the defendant, including cash, accounts receivable, patents, trademarks, trade-names and all tangible assets, and directing the Receivers to accept the same forthwith, a copy of which said offer is annexed to the abovementioned petition of the Receivers, to which reference is hereby made for the full terms thereof; and

Let publication of a copy of this order to show cause, in two issues of The New York Times and the Hudson Observer, and mailing by the Receivers of a copy of this order to show cause on or before May 4th, 1918, to all creditors who have filed their claims with the Receivers, and to all creditors who appear upon the books of the defendant who have not filed claims, and to all stockholders of the defendant, at the addresses shown upon the proofs of claims, or upon the books of the defendant, be due, sufficient and timely notice of said offer and of the hearing thereon.

And the Court will, at the time and place above named, pass upon said offer and upon any other offers which may be received upon or prior to said hearing, and will make such order with respect thereto as to the Court may seem proper.

Dated, New York, April 29, 1918.
MAYER,
United States Circuit Judge.

All of the above cars look like brand new, have been thoroughly overhauled, and are guaranteed for 90 days. You are cordially invited to inspect my Service Station. My overhead is by far the smallest of any high-class dealer on Broadway, enabling me to pay more for your car if you wish to sell, or save you money if you wish to buy. An inspection of my salesroom will convince you.

ALEXANDER G. HARRIS, 1,700 Broadway. "Be Sure It's Harris."

PUBLIC NOTICES.

The First Institute of Pediatry, a coeducational organization for the scientific care and treatment of the foot, appeals for help to develop its activities. The clinics of the institute are crowded with those whose means will not permit them to consult specialists. No aid is received from the State or the city, reliance being entirely on the charitable. Bandages, medicines, and apparatus cost more by reason of the war and must be provided. Checks will be received at the institute, 217 West 125th Street. Dr. Maurice J. Lewi, M. D., President Advisory Board; Temple Scott, Secretary.

ANY INFORMATION RELATING TO WILLIAM DENMEAD, who left Cork, Ireland, about 22 years ago, for Canada, would be gladly received by his niece, M. Bradish, 112 Spotland Road, Rochdale, Lancashire, England. Canadian papers please copy.

5-7 PASS. TOURING CAR IN PERFECT CONDITION, CHEAP.

Here is a bargain for some one who knows motors and realizes that a high-grade 1913 car costing new $4,000 is better value than a new, cheap car, especially when, owing to owner's continued absence abroad, car has had such little use that mechanical condition is perfect and body, paint, and upholstery show scarcely any wear. Will sell for $850; starter can be added for about $125 more, and you will have a nearly new, high-grade, reliable car, powerful, yet cheap to run, for about the cost of a flivver. Address N 65 Times.

BEAUTIFUL $5,400 LIMOUSINE. EXTRA TOURING BODY, ALMOST NEW, AT A SACRIFICE.

Late model, high-grade limousine, cost $5,400; extra touring body; fully equipped; fast and powerful, but economical to run; owing to absence abroad of owner (Englishman) on war work, has been in storage almost continuously and run less than 6,000 miles; guaranteed in perfect condition and a better buy than any new car up to $8,000; will sacrifice for less than $1,000. Address N 66 Times.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, May 1. — High pressure prevails generally east of the Rocky Mountains, except in the North Atlantic States, and the weather has generally cleared after rains since Tuesday night in the lake region, the Upper Ohio Valley, and the Atlantic States except Florida and Southern Georgia.

It was considerably cooler Wednesday morning in the central valleys and the South, and there were heavy to killing frosts in the upper lake region and the Upper Mississippi Valley, and light frosts in Missouri, Kansas, and Oklahoma.

Temperatures also fell considerably during Wednesday in New England and the Middle Atlantic States, while in the lake region and the central valleys they rose rapidly. In the Far West the weather was fair, with quite high temperatures.

Fair weather will prevail during the next three days east of the Mississippi River, with somewhat higher temperatures Thursday in the lower lake region, the Ohio Valley, and the East Gulf States, and on Friday in the South Atlantic States.

It will be cooler Thursday along Lake Superior, and on Friday along the lower lakes.

Winds for Thursday and Friday along the North Atlantic Coast will be moderate to fresh northwest; Middle Atlantic Coast, moderate northwest, becoming variable; South Atlantic Coast, moderate north and northeast.

The Civil Service.

City.

A promotion examination has been ordered to fill the vacancy in the office of Assistant Secretary to the Municipal Civil Service Commission caused by the death of John F. Skelly. Three persons are eligible, viz.: Chief of the Certification Bureau Tighe, Mr. McDonald, Chief of the Application Bureau, and Mrs. Sigerson, Chief of the Bureau of Information and Complaints.

There are 246 applicants for bookkeeper, grade 3, male and female, and five applicants for chemist.

United States.

The commission announces for May 14 an examination for agriculturist for reclamation projects, for men. Four vacancies in the Bureau of Plant Industry, Department of Agriculture, for duty on the Huntley, Boise, Yuma, and Belle Fourche reclamation projects at salaries ranging from $1,800 to $2,400 a year will be filled from this examination. The duties will consist of working with individual farmers and farmers' organizations on the projects to promote the development of livestock industries, and will include advice and assistance with reference to feeding, breeding, housing, and management of livestock, the control of animal diseases, and the development of community co-operation in the production and disposal of livestock and livestock products. Competitors will not be required to report for examination at any place, but will be rated on general education and scientific training, 50; experience, 50; plan of work, to be submitted with application, 20. The prerequisites for consideration are: Graduation from an agricultural college of recognized standing, and at least one year's subsequent responsible experience in connection with some phase of dairying or animal husbandry; or, for those lacking the college degree, at least one year of additional responsible experience in dairying or animal husbandry for each year lacking in college training. Applicants must have reached their twenty-fifth birthday on the date of the examination. Further information may be obtained from the commission, Washington, D. C.

TAKE TEUTON SAILOR AS CHIEF SPY HERE

Carl Rodiger Thought to be the Leader for Whom Mme. de Victorica Worked.

EXAMINE MISS RICHRATH

Mme. Erdmann, Ph.D., Professor at Yale, and Goldschmidt, Ph.D., Are Also Arrested.

The Federal authorities arrested three important enemy aliens in this part of the country yesterday when, acting under the direction of Chief Charles W. De Woody, the Department of Justice Bureau of Investigation took into custody Lieut. Commander Carl Rodiger, alias Harold Schroeder, of the German Navy, who is reported to be the head of the German spy system in this country; Mme. Anna Maria Rhoda Erdmann, Ph. D., who has been lecturing on biology at Yale University, and Dr. Richard Goldschmidt of the Kaiser Wilhelm Institute of Berlin.

Charges of the most serious nature are believed to be pending against Rodiger, who is not held as an ordinary enemy alien, subject to internment, but is locked up in the Tombs on a technical charge involving criminal activities in this country against Great Britain. Mme. Erdmann and Dr. Goldschmidt are held pending an investigation to determine whether or not they shall be interned for the duration of the war. Mme. Erdmann is said to be one of the world's leading authorities in biology, while one of Dr. Goldschmidt's titles is that of "Professor Extraordinary in the University of Munich." Both he and Mme. Erdmann are University of Munich graduates, and are said to be close friends. They both arrived in this country shortly before the outbreak of the war in Europe.

Carl Rodiger came to the United States in December, 1917, to take over, according to a statement made by another German spy, all German war activities in the United States, and Mme. Marie K. Victorica, the young German woman taken into custody last Saturday, is said to have been one of his most trusted assistants.

The man brought to the Federal Building yesterday was shabbily dressed and very uncommunicative. His picture, however, which adorns a Swiss passport, also believed to be fraudulent, shows him garbed in fashionably cut clothes. He is a "black German" and not a blonde, and the fact that the Swiss passport states that C. Rodiger is a blonde is evidence, it was pointed out yesterday, that the passport had been originally issued to some person other than the present holder.

That Rodiger is one of the most important enemy aliens taken into custody since the United States declared war on Germany is admitted by agents of the Department of Justice. When Mme. Victorica was arrested on Saturday it was stated in the Enemy Alien Bureau that the spy, who has confessed and on whose information the Government acted when she was arrested, had described Rodiger as the directing head of the whole Germany spy system in the United States. Many of the most important statements made by the confessed spy, who is now in a Federal Penitentiary, have already been verified by the Government agents. One of the many German plots which Rodiger is alleged to have had charge of was the stirring up of Irish sentiment in this country against England and in favor of Germany. In order to accomplish this he is said to have worked with certain Sinn Fein agitators.

Rodiger Committed to Tombs.

Contrary to the procedure which has been followed in the cases of German agents arrested in this part of the country, Rodiger was not turned over to William Wallace, Jr., who is the head of the Enemy Alien Bureau, and the fact that he was taken before United States Commissioner Shields and committed to the Tombs was taken as an indication that the officials in charge of internments will not have the opportunity to send him to the Fort Oglethorpe internment camp.

Assistant United States District Attorney Ben A. Matthews is in charge of the case of Rodiger, and drew up the complaint, which alleges that Rodiger entered into a conspiracy in this country to organize a military expedition against Great Britain. No particulars were stated in the complaint, which Mr. Matthews subsequently explained was only a technical complaint, and drawn for the sole purpose of holding the alien enemy, while certain investigations, now under way, are being completed.

Acording to the story given out Saturday in Mr. Wallace's office Mme. Victorica's duties, under Rodiger's direction, included the spreading of pro-German propaganda among Sinn Fein adherents in this country. She admits having spent $40,000 since her arrival in January of last year and this money is believed to have been furnished her by Rodiger, although Mme. Victorica denies that this is true.

The case against Rodiger and the subsequent efforts to find and arrest him were directed by Charles W. DeWoody. For five weeks Chief DeWoody has had his best men on the case. The German naval officer, however, found out that Mme. Victorica was under surveillance and went into seclusion with the result that his arrest was delayed two weeks.

After Rodiger was arraigned before Commissioner Shields, and committed to the Tombs in default of $15,000 bail Assistant District Attorney Matthews was asked if he could give any of the details of Rodiger's activities in this country in the last sixteen months.

"I may have something to say in a day or two," said Mr. Matthews, "but for the present I must keep quiet. The investigation of this case is just beginning, but I will say that the charge on which Rodiger is held is a technical one, made for the purpose of having him committed to the Tombs pending the completion of our investigation into his past activities."

Claims Age on Passport.

Rodiger says he is 51 years of age, but he does not look to be more than 30. The age given on the Swiss passport is 51 years. He is said to have spent a large amount of money since he arrived in this country, and the Government is said to have a record of some of his more important payments. One of the plots he is reported to have directed through Mme. Victorica was to induce young Sinn Fein adherents to enlist in the British Navy for the purpose of placing bombs on British war vessels.

Mme. Erdman, whose arrest followed so quickly that of Fraulein Agathe Wilhelmina Richrath, instructor in German at Vassar, came to the United States, it was said last night, in the latter part of 1913. For some time she has been employed as a lecturer on biology in the Graduate School at Yale University, and more recently she has been spending much of her time, it was said, at Princeton, where is located one of the most important Government aviation training schools in this country. She was arrested in this city and taken to Waverley House. She will be questioned at the Federal Building this morning.

Dr. Goldschmidt was arrested at Hartford. He has not been connected with an educational institution in this country, and the reason for his being in this country has been for many months somewhat of a mystery. He came to the United States from Japan in 1914. Whether or not he was engaged in pro-German activities in Japan was not disclosed last night. The Kaiser Wilhelm Institute, on the payroll of which institution he is said to be, is one of the wealthiest institutions of learning in Germany. He has often visited Yale University, although he has never been connected in any way with that institution. He, too, will be arraigned in the Federal Building for examination today.

Fraulein Richrath Examined.

Fraulein Agathe Wilhemina Richrath, who until a few days ago was an instructor of German at Vassar College, was brought to New York from Poughkeepsie yesterday. She was taken to the Enemy Alien Bureau, where she was examined by Mr. Wallace.

"I wish to correct a grevious error that appeared this morning in a story of my detention," the young woman said to a reporter who talked with her in Mr. Wallace's office.

Asked what part of the story she wished corrected she replied: "It says I am thirty years old, when as a matter of fact I am only twenty-five."

Fraulein Richrath said she came to the United States seven years ago. In the three and one-half years of her stay, which preceded the war, she made three trips to Germany. She says she has not heard directly from Germany since the war began.

"The statement published yesterday," said the young woman, "that I have been spreading German propaganda is untrue. The story that I justified the sinking of the Lusitania has been misconstrued. The facts are as follows: It was at a dinner party, and I was asked by Judge Harper of Poughkeepsie, if I thought the Germans were justified in sinking the liner. I replied that if munitions were on board the sinking might have been justifiable, although I added that I was ignorant of the rules of maritime warfare. Judge Harper then asked me if I approved the drowning of hundreds of people, and I replied that if the ship was loaded with munitions it might be better that a few hundreds should die by drowning than that thousands should be killed by bullets."

Fraulein Richrath said that since she has been at Vassar not one person connected with the college has asked her a question about the war. She said she had been careful not to engage in propaganda.

She was asked if she would like to see Germany win the war.

"I do not see how anyohdy can talk about the war being won. It looks to me as if it's going to be a draw," she replied.

"Did you have a picture of the Kaiser in your room?"

"Yes, but I tactfully hid it when the United States entered the war."

Fraulein Richrath is being detained in Waverley House, taken over a few days ago by the Government for use as a detention prison for women enemy aliens.

Margaret Sullivan, the Irish maid employed by Mme. Victorica, was examined yesterday at the Enemy Alien Bureau. She is now detained as a prisoner by the Government. Dudley Field Malone, at the request of the Government, was present during the examination.

WIFE EXPOSES PRO-GERMAN.

Alleges He Threatened Her Life for Doing Red Cross Work.

Mrs. Ethel Dietz of 934 East 179th Street, the Bronx, caused the arrest of her husband, George Dietz, last night upon the allegation that he had threatened to kill her if she continued making bandages and sweaters as a member of the Red Cross Branch of Beck Memorial Presbyterian Church at 980 East 180th Street. She said her husband had slapped her when she told him she was going to continue her work for the cause of the Allies, and that her mother, Mrs. Ethel Mayfield of 1,047 East 232d Street, intervened when she heard of this.

When detectives from the Fifth Branch Bureau arrested Dietz last night he vilified the American Government, and said he hoped the Kaiser would "capture" the United States. He said he was born in this country, but that his father was born in Germany. A charge of seditious utterance was made against him, and he was also held for violation of the Sullivan law after a revolver with fifty cartridges had been found in the flat. He will be examined in the Morrisania Court today.

1,200 I. W. W.'s Caught in Raid.

DETROIT, Mich., May 1.—Twelve hundred men and women, the majority of whom are said to be members of the I. W. W., were taken in a raid conducted by the Federal authorities here this afternoon. The raid took place during a meeting held in a hall, and the men and women are to be examined tonight.

SAYS CITY HAS LOST BIG SUMS BY GRAFT

Robbed of "Hundreds of Thousands," Hirshfield Charges, in Street Cleaning Department.

Commissioner of Accounts David Hirshfield sent to Mayor Hylan and Controller Craig yesterday a report in which he said that an investigation of the Street Cleaning Department made by his office had shown that the city in the past four years had lost "hundreds of thousands of dollars" through the employment by the department of emergency laborers. Because of the lack of a proper system, Mr. Hirshfield said, the city has been at the mercy of grafters.

The investigation which had been under way for three months and was still continuing, Commissioner Hirshfield said, had disclosed that section foremen, as well as assistant foremen, had the hiring of emergency laborers, oftentimes as snow fighters. Under the system that prevailed in the past administration, and still prevails, the report says, the name of the laborer employed, without address, was put on a time sheet, which also served as the payroll. The foreman was supposed to make out a card with the name and address of the emergency laborer for future use, but the investigation showed that the names and addresses of such laborers were not kept and that an apparently new force was employed on each occasion or at each snowfall.

Continuing, the report said that a test had disclosed the fact that foremen in cases of snowfalls or other emergency could "employ" as many men as they liked or issue tickets to any one and to as many as they had mind to. "There was no check whatever," the report says, "except the check of the foreman himself, and it is obvious that no foreman engaged in defrauding the city by giving employment cards to friends or 'ringers' will truthfully check his own wrongdoing. As a result of this failure on the part of the Street Cleaning Department in the last few years to provide an adequate check upon foremen employing emergency laborers the city has lost hundreds of thousands of dollars, judging from the results we have thus far discovered."

The Commissioner said he was making a thorough investigation of the shortcomings of the present snow and ash removal systems as well as of the methods of hiring and paying emergency laborers and soon would submit another report.

Immense Numbers of $50 Bonds Bought All Over America—New York Doing Better.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—A new high mark for a day's subscription to the Third Liberty Loan was set yesterday, when subscriptions aggregating $172,281,300 were officially recorded, bringing the total thus far pledged up to $2,751,360,700.

The New York district's subscriptions brought its total to $708,976,650, or 78 per cent. of its quota of $900,000,000.

The response made by the country to the "match the President" challenge was such that only $248,639,300 remained to be raised today, tomorrow, and Saturday to reach the $3,000,000,000 minimum. Each of these days is expected to be the banner day.

The daily average to be raised is now down to $82,579,760. Treasury officials believe today's total will prove to have been large, like that of yesterday, under the influence of the "match the President" plan, and that practically the amount left to be sold is not far from $100,000,000. It is a matter of regret with them that they did not resort to the "matching" plan earlier. There is talk of creating a special Presidential "matching" bond button for award in any subsequent loan campaign.

Secretary McAdoo and others engaged in furthering the present campaign believe that the people in the last two days of the campaign, as in the case of previous loans, will turn in very large subscriptions. The number of individual subscriptions is a source of great satisfaction. It is much larger than in the Second Loan campaign, and that number was virtually double that of the First. Now the Second Loan record may be doubled.

Appeals to the Cities.

Secretary McAdoo today issued this statement:

"With two days of the Third Liberty Loan campaign remaining, the people of America must put forth their utmost efforts to win this vitally important financial part of the battle for liberty. The minimum set for the loan has not yet been reached. We have two days to exceed the minimum and subscribe the maximum. Those who have not yet bought Liberty bonds should come forward immediately, and those who have already done so should subscribe again, if possible.

"The success of the Third Liberty Loan depends chiefly on the people of the large towns and cities of the country. In most instances the people of the rural districts and of the small towns have already oversubscribed their allotments. I take it for granted that the people of the cities in large numbers have been waiting for the final days of the campaign to subscribe. This time has now come, and it ought not to be necessary to tell any real patriot that this is the last chance to perform his duty in this campaign.

"While we who stay at home are sheltered, well fed and well clothed, our heroic sons are giving their lives upon the bloody battlefield of France that our rights, our liberties, and our property may be made secure against the aggressions of the German military autocracy. On us, as well as on them, depends the outcome of the greatest battle of all time, now being waged in France. Without our material and spiritual support our brave sons cannot win this victory. On each American citizen today rests an individual responsibility to make the Third Liberty Loan a success. Let every one meet this responsibility like a true American, so that our soldiers may have the necessary arms and supplies to fight triumphantly to victory."

From all over the country today came reports of a flood of $50 subscriptions to match the President's purchase of an additional $50 bond on the installment plan—a purchase made by Mr. Wilson with the expressed hope that 1,000,000 or more Americans would match his action. Most of the matching, according to the reports, was done by persons who already had bought bonds of the present issue.

Three hundred and fifty persons in the town of Brush, Col., which has a population of 1,800, today matched the

Berlin Aims Blow at Neutrals Making Ship Deals with Foe

STOCKHOLM, May 2.—The Swedish Legation at Berlin reports an amendment to the German prize regulations, effective immediately.

It provides that neutral vessels shall be considered to have been put into operation in the interests of the enemy's warfare, when the State whose flag the vessels are entitled to carry, has made a tonnage contract with an enemy country, or when the principal part of the merchant marine of a neutral State is making voyages for the enemy.

WANT AIRCRAFT CHARGES SIFTED

Senators Demand Inquiry Into Allegations of Criminality Made by Gutzon Borglum.

GREGORY IS READY TO ACT

Sculptor Before Committee, but Withholds for Present Names of Those Accused.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—An insistent demand was voiced in the Senate today by Republican and Democratic Senators alike for an exhaustive investigation into the charges made by Gutzon Borglum, special investigator for President Wilson, that criminal waste, mismanagement, and inefficiency have existed in the working out of America's program for supplying airplanes to the army in France.

Senator Brandegee of Connecticut, in bringing the matter before the Senate, produced a telegram from Mr. Borglum in which the sculptor asserted his willingness to lay before the Senate information forming the basis of his allegations. Mr. Borglum, in an interview with him at the Capitol this morning, Mr. Brandegee said, offered to produce his evidence whenever the Senate wanted it.

Later in the day, after the Senate had debated the Borglum charges for nearly an hour, Mr. Borglum went before the Military Affairs Committee. For three hours members of the committee, behind closed doors, listened to a recital of the allegations of which, in his statement to THE NEW YORK TIMES, published last Sunday, the sculptor gave a broad outline. At the close of the conference, Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, acting Chairman of the committee, said no decision had been reached as to whether the committee would reopen the aircraft investigation.

"Mr. Borglum went into some detail in telling the committee the outcome of his investigation," said Senator Hitchcock. "He spoke of individuals who, he says, participated in profiteering, or worse. He could not reveal names, he said, until he had talked with these men and ascertained if they were willing to come before the committee as witnesses.

"Until we hear again from Mr. Borglum, the committee will not decide whether to go further into the inquiry. We expect to get word from him within a day or so. If what Mr. Borglum says is true—and I am not questioning it—there has been shameful inefficiency, graft, and criminality in the conduct of the aircraft program."

Character of the Inquiry.

While some Senators, during the debate on the floor, wanted the aircraft charges investigated by the Military Affairs Committee, others argued that, if criminality existed, the matter was one for the Department of Justice. Senator Hitchcock took the latter view, although expressing a willingness to vote for an inquiry by the Senate committee if the Senate favored it.

Senator Brandegee insisted that the charges made by Mr. Borglum afforded legitimate scope for a Senate inquiry. He quoted editorials from THE NEW YORK TIMES of yesterday and today in which investigations by the Senate and the Department of Justice were urged, and said that the Senate could not afford to be inactive. Department of Justice prosecution might well come, the province of the Department of Justice. He said he was convinced that Secretary Baker had been deceived by the Aircraft Production Board and by officers of the Signal Corps, and had not known the actual facts.

"The members of the Aircraft Board, as it formerly existed, played a gigantic confidence game upon the whole country in the creation of the Liberty motor, he argued, after the Senate had unearthed the facts.

Senator Hitchcock revealed that the Military Affairs Committee, in its recent report criticising the conduct of the aircraft program, refrained from going into any feature of criminality in aircraft production, because it felt that this was so-called," said Senator Hitchcock. He asserted that the Liberty motor was not, as the Aircraft Board had allowed the country to think, the "magical creation of a few great geniuses" in Washington, put up within a month, but, in reality, a Packard motor, which it took the Packard Motor Company three years to perfect. And the Government, the Senator added, was going to pay the Packard Motor Company from $500,000 to $1,000,000 for the three years of experiment. That claim, he explained, is now in process of adjustment.

Senator Hitchcock intimated that the

GERMANS TAKE SEBASTOPOL

Great Russian Fortress in the Crimea Occupied Without Resistance.

RULE SUPREME IN UKRAINE

Arrest of Rada at Kiev Shows Republic Is in Revolt Against Its "Guests."

MILITARY RULE IN CAPITAL

Government, Berlin Explains, "Had Proved Too Weak to Maintain Law and Order."

BERLIN, May 2, (via London.)—Germen forces have occupied Sebastopol, the great Russian fortress in the Crimea, according to an official communication from headquarters, which reads:

In Ukraine we have broken the enemy resistance before Sebastopol and occupied the town Wednesday without fighting.

The capture of the great Russian fortress of Sebastopol, reported from Berlin is in keeping with Germany's scheme to occupy the north littoral of the Black Sea from Bessarabia on the west to Caucasia on the east, where the territory claimed by the Turks begins.

Within a fortnight after the signing of the treaty of peace with the Ukraine People's Republic on Feb. 8 the Germans occupied the great Russian grain port of Odessa, 200 miles northwest of Sebastopol. The Soviet Naval Commissioner there gave up almost without firing a shot, but the Russian fleet, consisting of five battleships, six cruisers, and smaller craft, escaped. This fleet, which outmatched the Turkish in those waters, was reported in dispatches from Russia published yesterday to have been captured by the Germans.

Although such writers on the Ukraine as Dr. Stephen Rudnitsky of the University of Lemberg claims the Crimea for the Ukrainians, the Germans did not admit this in the treaty of Feb. 8, but shut out Ukrainia from the sea.

Sebastopol, founded by Catharine II. in 1784 and fortified by Nicholas I., was supposed to be impregnable until captured by the French and British in 1855 in the Crimean war.

Foe Officially Rules in Ukraine.

LONDON, May 2.—The Germans have established military rule in Kiev, the Ukrainian capital, and have arrested a number of the members of the Government, including the Minister of War, on the ground that "the Government had proved too weak to maintain law and order," according to a Berlin official statement.

The official statement, as transmitted by the Exchange Telegraph correspondent at Amsterdam, refers to the strong agitation which has been observed at Kiev, directed against German influence, and says:

Our efforts to restore order met with insufficient support from the Government, which, moreover, took no measures regarding the Spring sowing, to meet its treaty obligations. Therefore, with the approval of Ambassador von Mumm, General von Eichhorn was obliged to issue a decree in this regard, which was published by the Ukrainian press in a distorted form, producing excitement in the country and evoking a protest from the Rada.

There were even signs that members of the Government themselves joined in the agitation against us. In view of these conditions, the arrest of M. Dobry, manager of the Russian Bank for foreign trade, possessed a special meaning.

The official dispatch asserts that the arrest of M. Dobry was an arbitrary act of the League for the Liberation of the Ukraine, and complains that the militia refused to release the prisoner, whose whereabouts are unknown. It continues:

Moreover, the news came that further arrests were imminent. At the same time the suspicion that M. Dobry's arrest had been ordered by members of the Government was intensified. This arbitrary act raised the presumption of anarchy. The Government had proved too weak to preserve law and order in Kiev.

With the approval of Ambassador von Mumm, General von Eichhorn therefore took special precautions for the security of Kiev, which aimed at the establishment of military tribunals, severe punishment for criminals, and severe penalties for disturbers of the public order.

Meanwhile, the inquiry into the Do-

Germans Hear Rumor of Iceland Secession

LONDON, May 2.—According to a Copenhagen dispatch, the Vossische Zeitung of Berlin publishes the following statement:

"Denmark fears that Iceland may secede and declare itself a republic. British influence in Iceland is extraordinarily strong, and it is believed that the new republic will later attach itself to Great Britain. Everything Danish in Iceland is systematically suppressed by the English, who, by the expenditure of great sums of money, have created a feeling in favor of England."

Reuter's News Agency is officially informed that there is not a word of truth in the statement contained in the article in question with regard to "great sums of money" which England is supposed to be spending, and that the only possible foundation for such an illusion is the fact that Great Britain has purchased the fish catch of Iceland.

KAISER LAMENTS WOE ALLIES CAUSE

Wishes He Could Bring Trainload of Germans to See What Army Saved Them From.

AND HE WEEPS MEANWHILE

His "Heart Bleeds" Over Desolate St. Quentin—Gibes at 'Tommy' for Running Away.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 2.—The Daily Express gives the following extract from Karl Rosner's latest installment in the Berlin Lokal-Anzeiger of the story of the Kaiser's visit to the front:

"It is noontide. The Kaiser, gazing in the direction of the heights of Gouzeaucourt, calls me. He takes my arm.

"'See, here are no fewer than nine shelled English tanks. Sorry business for the English—these tanks.'

"Looking around, his eloquent eyes brimming with tears at the devastation all around, the Kaiser:

"'No one who has not beheld all this with his own eyes can imagine the reality. No word in our language can adequately describe it. No picture can show it. No film can portray it. The homeland cannot possibly form an idea of it. If it could, all would understand, which, alas! many do not, what they owe to the men who have kept all these horrors from them.

"'I have already considered whether it would not be desirable, now that there are not quite so many cars needed for military transport, to conduct a whole train filled with nothing but homedwellers to those parts so that they might see for themselves what has been done here by a ruthless foe who stops at nothing. I think that they would return home converted to other ideas.'

"When approaching St. Quentin the Kaiser says:

"'Nothing remains but a frightful skeleton of a dead city, of a city that has been murdered in blind fury by a brother's hand. Compassion, as for a human being, overmasters one on thinking what this city was and what it is.

"'What bitterness was here! We, her enemies, have cared for her tenderly, have spared her; yet she was destroyed by her own people and their allies. Oh, how my heart bleeds at this desolation of a city which one of my own ancestors, Admiral Coligny, defended so heroically against the Spaniards in 1557. It is as if I saw before me the bleeding corpse of a near and honored relative.'"

The Daily News also quotes Rosner, and says that he faithfully records how the Kaiser, as the clock strikes 1, sits down to his soup which he brings with him in a thermos saucepan, and how he afterward idyllically busies himself with picking fresh violets in order to send them as a present to the Kaiserin.

Rosner accompanies the Kaiser on his round, and witnesses his meeting with a squad returning from the battlefield.

"What is Tommy doing?" asks the Kaiser.

"Tommy is running away, your Majesty," is the reply.

"Let him run, then," observes the all highest. "We must not interfere with people who are in a hurry."

WANTS NO LIMIT ON ARMY

Congress Asked for Authority to Call All That May Be Needed.

BAKER PRESENTS REQUEST

Lays It Before House Committee with an Appropriation Bill for $16,000,000,000.

DROPS VOLUNTEER CREDITS

Mr. Wilson Would Base Draft Quotas on Class 1, Regardless of Men Now in Service.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—President Wilson has asked Congress to remove all limit on the number of men that may be drafted for army service and to give him authority to summon as many millions as are necessary to defeat Germany. The request was made through Secretary Baker today when he appeared before the House Committee on Military Affairs with the $16,000,000,000 army appropriation bill.

In a conference with the committee, Secretary Baker, accompanied by Major Gen. March, Acting Chief of Staff, and Provost Marshal General Crowder, presented the broad outlines of the proposed increase in the army. Detailed estimates will be submitted to the committee tomorrow in a further hearing with the Acting Chief of Staff and officials from the Quartermaster's office, in which the committee will be informed of the actual amount which will be required for pay, subsistence, supplies, and munitions.

Secretary Baker outlined to the committee today the needs of the Allies for man power, and said he considered it unwise that the Commander in Chief of the Army should be hampered by law as to the number of men to be called to the colors. He said that a draft of a bill amending the Selective Service Act, so as to permit the President to draft men into the service "from time to time" instead of in increments now specified and limited by law, would be presented to the committee.

Opposes Volunteer Credits.

At the conclusion of today's hearing Secretary Baker authorized the following statement:

"The War Department program was presented to the committee in a general way. It involved expediting the training of men and increasing the army as rapidly as ability to equip and transport them can be foreseen and provided for. I declined to discuss the numbers of the proposed army for the double reason that any number implies a limit, and the only possible limit is our ability to equip and transport men, which is constantly on the increase.

"Details of the estimates proposed for the regular appropriation of 1918-1919 will be gone into with the committee beginning tomorrow morning. These estimates when approved by the committee and acted on by Congress will, of course, be supplemented by subsequent appropriations as additional facilities for equipment and transportation become apparent. We discussed the size of the army in a general way.

"I asked the committee to recede from the provision in the quota bill giving credit for volunteers. The department takes the position that we desired to have the subsequent draft quotas based on the number of men in Class I without reference to credits for volunteers."

The committee today adopted Secretary Baker's recommendation for receding from the House provision giving credit for volunteers. Among those opposing it were Representatives Gordon, Democrat, of Ohio; Shallenberger, Democrat, of Nebraska, and Henry C. Hull, Republican, of Iowa.

President Reverses His Stand.

Secretary Baker read a letter he had received from President Wilson on the subject of giving credit for volunteers in which the President withdrew his support from the plan. At the time the quota bill was before the House many members voted for the provision because at that time Representative Dent, Chairman of the Military Committee, had a letter from the President favoring it.

Representative Dent, it is said, will oppose the request that blanket authority be given to the President for determining the size of the army. Representative Julius Kahn, Republican, of California, ranking minority member of the committee, will support the proposal. Mr. Dent introduced a bill yesterday to

German Airman Shot Down in Thrilling Fight By Lieut. James A. Meissner, Brooklyn Flier

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, May 2, (Associated Press.)—An American aviator has brought down the fourth German airplane along the American front northwest of Toul. Lieutenant James A. Meissner, whose home is in Brooklyn, after a thrilling aerial battle at about 15,000 feet, shot down an Albatross scout, which fell in flames.

Lieutenant Meissner is 21 years of age and a graduate of Cornell. He came to France a few months ago and qualified as a pilot here.

While he was protecting a photographing plane, a German machine came in view. The day was brilliant with sunshine. A French plane started for the German, but Meissner, who was flying high near by in a speedy Nieuport chaser, made a dive for the German's tail. When within range he opened fire with his machine gun, and the German started a spiral nose dive, but after a few seconds straightened out and started back for Germany.

Meissner followed so closely when the German straightened out that the latter's wing tore both of the under wings of Meissner's machine, but at the same time the young American poured a deadly stream of bullets into the enemy plane, which started smoking. Meissner kept up the fire until the German machine burst into flames, and then crashed to the earth.

The American pilot landed safely on his own side of the lines, but the German fell about a mile inside the German lines to the south of Thiaucourt. The American infantrymen in the front lines watched the engagement from start to finish, and cheered loudly another American air victory.

"Good for the boy," said Charles A. Meissner, father of Lieutenant James A. Meissner, when he learned that his son had shot down a German airplane. The father was at his home, 45 Lenox Road, Flatbush, last night.

"The last we heard from the boy," he said, "was on April 9. He wrote at that time that he expected soon to get into action. He told of having been up with Lieutenant Lufbery and hoped that soon he would go after the Germans alone."

The father is in business at 71 Broadway, and has two other sons in the service.

REFUSAL OF VOTE ANGERS GERMANS; STARVING AUSTRIA VERGES ON REVOLT

Kaiser's "One Man One Vote" Promise Defeated in Prussian Diet, 235 to 181.

SHARP CLASHES IN DEBATE

Hertling Aims at Compromise to Save Cabinet, but Crisis Impends.

By GEORGE RENWICK.

Copyright, 1918, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

AMSTERDAM, May 2.—Yet another attempt by the Prussian democracy to weaken the strangle grip of militarism in that Junker-ridden country has failed today in the Prussian lower house. The Social Democrats' motion to restore Paragraph 3 to the Franchise Reform bill—the paragraph, which provided for one man one vote in Prussia, was deleted from the measure in committee—was defeated by 235 votes to 181.

It had been generally anticipated that this would happen, but even the most pessimistic supporters of the equal franchise scarcely anticipated such a large majority against carrying out the Kaiser's promise to Prussia made in July last.

With that emphatic vote von Hertling comes face to face with the most serious crisis which has developed in German politics for many a long day—I say German politics, because, though the measure is one regarding the Prussian franchise, it is bound to have a very serious repercussion in the wider realm of the empire. He once promised drastic action, but now he has evidently made up his mind to face it with wait and see tactics.

Hertling Hopes for Compromise.

For the Government it was announced today that there would not be a dissolution of the house as the immediate result of the vote, but that the Government would postpone action until after the third reading, hoping in the meantime for a compromise on lines suggested by the Minister President. That, however, is likely to be as satisfying to the democratic parties as a red rag is to a bull. His compromise, as he vaguely outlined it, consists in "necessary precautionary measures to be taken in the bill to prevent the much feared ill consequences of advanced radicalism." Nor are the reactionaries likely to accept any precautions save their own supremacy.

Von Hertling, indeed, takes a weak-kneed attitude on the measure. Though recognizing that the equal franchise has to come, he regards it as a "regrettable necessity." How one can compromise on one man one vote, how one can whittle away the unqualified, solemn promise of it by the Kaiser, remains to be seen, but it is certain that delaying tactics and any attempt to tie one arm of democracy behind its back while junkerism has both fists free will cause a storm in the country, with far-reaching results which cannot be foretold.

That passion is while hot and the ANNEMASSE, ON THE FRANCO-SWISS FRONTIER, May 2, (Dispatch to the London Daily Mail.)—Austria is at present a land of dark surmises.

Today I had an interview with a man who had just got out of Austria and I obtained from him reliable facts about what was going on behind the curtain of silence.

"Austria, I can vouch from my personal contact with revolutionary societies," he said, "is at this moment seething with the spirit of revolt."

"But why does the thing not come to a head?"

"For two reasons," he replied. "First, because there are no really resolute and dauntless leaders and no means by which the hungry and angry masses can organize themselves into effective groups, and, second, because the whole people are cowed by the prospect of the punishment that might be inflicted on them by the Germans if the much-vaunted victory of Ludendorff in the west really comes off. The Ukraine peace scattered revolutionary plans to the winds for the time being, but the Ukraine peace did not, as was hoped, fill the Austrian stomachs, most of the Ukrainian supplies being filched by Germany.

"The people of Austria are still starving people, are on bread cards entitled to so many grams per day, but often in reality they get bread only once a fortnight, and a composite maize bread at that. They manage to keep body and soul together on potatoes, mangel-wurzels, and odds and ends. Now and again, too, in the villages a fowl or a pig is sacrificed and divided as among men on a raft. But there is bad feeding, underfeeding, and consequent illness everywhere in Austria. Vienna itself is on the brink of starvation, and although the food speculators are believed to have not inconsiderable hoards, the town lives from hand to mouth. A railway strike of two or three days would suffice to leave it foodless.

"There is no catastrophe that the Government fears more than a railway strike. To counteract strike propaganda agents have been bribed to spread reports among the workmen that machine guns have been posted on the housetops along the principal streets for use in case of a rising.

"The Germans are introducing other Berlin methods of persuasion to docility. Three months ago, for instance, they bought over the directors

GERMANS BOMBARD MERRIS

But von Arnim's Infantry Fails to Renew Drive Near Kemmel.

HEAVY FIRING BELOW SOMME

Villers-Bretonneux Region Is Searched by Foe's Shells—Hebuterne Raid Foiled.

FRENCH GAIN SOME GROUND

Lines Are Pushed Forward in Hangard Wood, Also Near Mailly-Raineval.

LONDON, May 2.—The western battlefront has passed a day singularly devoid of infantry activity. Outside of a frustrated attempt of the Germans to raid the British lines near Hebuterne, (eight miles north of Albert,) there has been no action of any consequence, according to the official reports.

Artillery fire has been persistent during the night and today at various points, notably near Merris, (south of Meteren, on the Lys salient,) around Arras and Lens, and in the Villers-Bretonneux sector, south of the Somme.

Field Marshal Haig's report from headquarters tonight says:

A raid which the enemy attempted this morning in the neighborhood of Hebuterne was repulsed.

Except for the usual artillery activity on both sides, there is nothing to report.

The day bulletin of the War Office is as follows:

The enemy's artillery developed considerable activity early this morning in the Villers-Bretonneux sector and in the neighborhood of Merris.

Some activity was shown also during the night in the Arras, Lens, and St. Venant sectors.

No infantry action is reported.

The report on aerial operations tonight says:

One ton of bombs was dropped today at Thionville, (north of Metz.) Several bursts were observed on the barracks, railway station and sidings. A fire broke out in the Carkshutte works.

Allies Prepare to Meet New Assault.

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, May 2, (via Ottawa.)—Early this morning the Germans heavily bombarded with gas shells and high explosives the allied positions west of Merris and the area around Villers-Bretonneux. There was no infantry action.

The Allies have been profiting by the lull to prepare to meet any fresh enemy effort.

During Wednesday the British carried out a successful enterprise south of the Ancre, advancing the front over a width of nearly half a mile to a depth of 400 yards.

The weather has improved, and the airmen are doing deadly work over the enemy positions.

FRENCH LINES PUSH FORWARD.

Progress Is Made in Hangard Wood and Near Mailly-Raineval.

PARIS, May 2.—Only the Hangard region has been the scene of much activity in the last twenty-four hours, according to the War Office.

Tonight's bulletin tells of an "appreciable advance" made last night by French troops in Hangard Wood, while today Baune Wood, southwest of Mailly-Raineval and about seven miles northwest of Montdidier, was occupied. A German attack on French positions near Thennes was broken up.

The War Office announcement tonight says:

Both artilleries were quite active north and south of the Avre.

Last night our troops made an appreciable advance in Hangard Wood.

This morning we carried out local operations which enabled us to occupy Baune Wood, southwest of Mailly-Raineval. We took about thirty prisoners, including one officer, and captured five machine guns.

There was artillery action between Parroy Forest and the Vosges.

The day bulletin reads:

North of the Avre a German attack on French positions in the region of Themes was broken up by the French fire.

Other German efforts north of Chavignon and northwest of Rheims gained no greater success.

The French carried out a number of raids, especially near Le Monchel, west of Coucy le Chateau and north of Pont-a-Mousson, and brought back twenty prisoners.

On the remainder of the front the night passed in quiet.

NO CHANGE, SAYS BERLIN.

Gunfire Increasing in the Kemmel Sector, It Is Stated.

BERLIN, May 2. (via London.)—Today's report from General Headquarters says of the western front:

On the battlefronts the situation is unchanged.

The artillery duel increased in the Mont Kemmel sector, and it repeatedly revived between the Somme and the Luce Brook, near Montdidier, Lassigny, and Noyon.

The French artillery was lively during the afternoon hours on the Lorraine front. Minor enemy thrusts were repulsed.

BRITISH IN PALESTINE CAPTURE ES-SALT

Take Also 350 Prisoners, But Mounted Brigade Elsewhere Has to Abandon 9 Guns.

LONDON, May 2.—The official statement dealing with military operations in Palestine, issued today by the War Office, reads:

On Wednesday morning, while our infantry moved to attack the enemy in the foothills south and southeast of Es-Salt, Australian mounted troops entered Es-Salt, capturing thirty-three Germans and 317 Turkish prisoners.

In the course of these operations a mounted brigade debouched to watch the Jordan crossings and was attacked by a superior force of the enemy, which had crossed the river during the night, and was compelled to fall back. Horse artillery batteries supporting this brigade in the most difficult and broken country, were obliged to abandon nine guns which could not be saved, although the detachments and horses were safely withdrawn. Necessary support for this detached brigade was immediately forthcoming and the operations are continuing.

West of the Jordan a local enemy attacks at several points were repulsed during Tuesday night.

REJOICING IN JERUSALEM.

Public Holiday Marks Arrival of Zionist Commission.

LONDON, May 2. (via Ottawa.)—A dispatch from Jerusalem says that the Zionist commission arrived there on March 19 and was received by the military Governor. A reception followed which was attended by all the notables. The following day was made a Jewish public holiday, when a remarkable demonstration occurred on the proposed university site of Mount Scopus. Over 4,000 were in attendance.

Dr. Weizmann, on behalf of the commission, said that from thence a new moral force would go forth and ultimately uplift the whole Jewish people, who were most grateful to the British Government for its declaration in regard to the future of the Jews and Palestine.

Major Ormsby-Gore, replying on behalf of the Government, said that a prosperous condition in Palestine could only be built up by the Jews working in harmony with the other groups.

The demonstration occasioned intense enthusiasm.

SEAMEN TO BOYCOTT FOE.

Head of British Union Declares 1,500 Murders Will Be Avenged.

LONDON, May 2. (via Ottawa.)—Havelock Wilson, President of the British Seamen's and Firemen's Union, in a statement as regards the sacrifices of the mercantile marine, says that 13,000 British seamen have been murdered by German pirates during the war.

"Sea murders are growing because the enemy is more determined than ever that sailors in sunken ships should not live to tell the tale," he declared.

APPEALS TO BRITONS TO UPHOLD PREMIER

"Fury of Storm" Raised by Political Foes Deplorable, Says Sir W. R. Nicoll.

ERRORS ARE MAGNIFIED

Richard Webb, M. P., Demands Lloyd George Quit—Trenchard Affair Aids Opposition.

Copyright, 1918, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 2.—Much interest has been aroused by an article in the British weekly organ of the Noncomformists, edited by Sir William Roberts Nicoll, who has long been regarded as one of Premier Lloyd George's closest friends. Sir William pleads for a "more charitable treatment of the Government, and particularly the Prime Minister, by newspapers and politicians." He paints a lurid picture of the "strength and fury of the storm which has gathered around the head of the Prime Minister."

"There are many," says the article, "who cannot speak or write about him without foaming at the mouth. This hatred is intelligible to some extent. The circumstances of his appointment enraged many. He had before the war the hatred of the Conservative Party. They gave him temporary absolution because they thought he was a good fighting man and might hasten the end of the war, but the war has not gone as was hoped. Unforeseen factors have emerged.

Attacks Harshness of Critics.

"The Premier himself has aided his enemies, in our opinion, by certain errors, but the result is that many men who really want to be fair can do him no sort of justice. He is made responsible for every disaster and can do nothing right.

"There is tolerance and even charity for his colleagues, but for him there is neither tolerance nor charity. He seems to be credited with a diabolical desire to ruin his country by dismissing every distinguished and successful General from his post. So there are men who think that they hear groanings and creakings which portend the fall of the Government. Well, if it be so, so be it."

Nicoll goes on to call Lord Hugh Cecil's statement in the House of Commons that Lloyd George really seemed to care about nothing but his own retention in office a base accusation, and declares the Prime Minister "cares nothing for office," adding: "We are as confident as it is right to be that if Mr. Lloyd George appealed to the nation he would be confirmed in his place by an overwhelming majority. If he is to be the leader of the people while this war lasts, let him have charity. There may be those who cannot regard him with enthusiasm, but charity he has a right to claim. He is entitled to protection from insinuations, from imputations of evil motive, from reckless slander.

"If he is so intolerable as many say he is, then let his enemies choose a leader who will direct the opposition and bring about his overthrow."

"Bad Advice" About America.

The Morning Post, whose criticisms of Lloyd George are among those which have attracted the British weekly's attention, today prints a letter from Richard Webb, M. P., in which the writer says:

"Who advised Lloyd George that unless Ireland were immediately given home rule on the lines of the convention's report, whatever that may mean, the United States and the Dominions would be disheartened and their cooperation impaired? Absurdities of this kind have appeared from time to time in certain American dispatches to The Times which by now the Government should have learned to discount, but surely in no other public quarter that matters.

"Unfortunately this incident is only the latest of a series which seems to show that the Government is continually suffering from bad advice in regard to American and Dominion opinion. At the beginning of the war the blockade was emasculated on the ground that the United States would not tolerate measures on our part which conformed to its own practice in the civil war, and less drastic than these which it is now itself enforcing against neutrals. Surely the Government, even without expert advice, might have believed that the American view of what war necessitates, and incidentally of home rule, too, is the view which was burned into them by their own civil war and Lincoln's successful handling of it.

"Bad advice, however, is not the whole source of their present plight. Again and again, you, sir, have exposed Lloyd George as playing the old game of politics and recently offered him a last chance. Let us rather give him credit and thanks for having done his best and ask him now to make way, as his predecessor did, for the different man whom the crisis imperatively demands.

"It is not reasonable to expect Lloyd George or any other man of middle age or more not merely to become suddenly what he has never been, but to become the opposite of what he has always been. In time of stress, when decision after decision must be taken quickly, men cannot escape the dictation of their long-formed instincts. Try as he may, the party politician will be the party politician still. A new Prime Minister must be sought outside those ranks."

Among many incidents which latterly have contributed to weakening public confidence in the Government, none has been more potent than the Trenchard affair, which not even the Government's best friends consider was well handled. With a few exceptions, the newspapers were very reserved in their comments, and barring the incident between the Prime Minister and Lord Hugh Cecil, the debate in the Commons was conducted with decorum and restraint and was conspicuously free from politics until politics was introduced by the Treasury Bench.

INDIA HOPES TO RAISE 500,000 VOLUNTEERS

Delhi Conference of Princes and Leaders Adopts New Measures to Aid in War.

LONDON, May 2.—An official statement with reference to the recent war conferences held at Delhi, India, states that it was attended by sixteen Princes, non-official members of the Legislative Council, and about a hundred representatives selected by the provinces from all shades of political opinion.

The conference adopted important recommendations on questions of man power and the development of the country's resources. Approval was voted on a continuance of energetic recruiting upon a voluntary basis, and also the constitution of provincial committees to co-operate with the Munitions Board and other authorities in various ways, including the immediate development of a shipbuilding program.

The conference showed the existence of a large appreciation of the situation and of a cordial desire to be of further assistance to the cause of the empire, and it is hoped that as a result the measures proposed for stimulating recruiting half a million men will be carried out.

ROBERTSON SEES NO PEACE.

British Ex-Chief Thinks War May Last a Great While Longer.

LONDON, May 2.—"The war is likely to last a long time yet," said General Sir William R. Robertson, ex-Chief of General Staff, speaking here today. "How long it will last no sane man would dare to estimate. One of the reasons why the war was not finished long ago is that we were unprepared for it when it began, while the enemy had been preparing for years. We are now paying the penalty for that unpreparedness, which in the past has caused countries to become bankrupt or ruined, but we have no intention of becoming bankrupt or ruined.

"I know that every right-minded person in the empire has made up his mind to see things through."

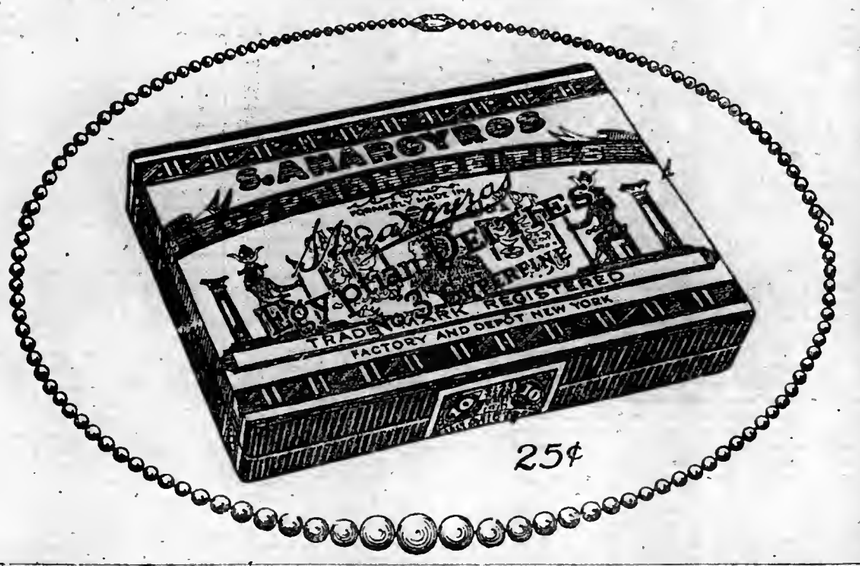
LANSING DENIES RUMOR.

Not Going to Versailles War Council, Secretary of State Says.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Secretary of State Lansing tonight denied that there was any basis for the story printed in an afternoon newspaper in New York that he was going to Europe to serve as representative of the United States Government in the Interallied War Council at Versailles. He said he had never heard of the matter.

According to the story as printed, Secretary of War Baker was to succeed Mr. Lansing as Secretary of State and Assistant Secretary of War Stettinius was to become Secretary of War.



The War Situation

BY THE MILITARY EXPERT OF THE NEW YORK TIMES

The importance of the battles in Picardy and Flanders has for some time clouded the operations in other fields. But the British activities in Mesopotamia have reached the point where their campaign is again coming into the foreground. After a long period of relative quiet enforced by the Russian collapse in the Caucasus and the treaty of peace with Germany whereby the Turks were to get Batoum the British are again moving forward. The British official report states that this period of inactivity has been devoted to the task of preparation.

In this country, owing to the great scarcity of transport of all kinds, the total absence of railroads and the almost equal paucity of dirt roads, the preparation for an offensive operation involves unusual difficulties. The collection of supplies is an enormous task in itself. The source from which the British ammunition comes is presumably India. The raw material is supplied probably by the Bombay Iron Works, and it is known that several munition factories have been built in India, so that the conversion of the raw material is all done in the East.

From Bombay the materials go across the ocean and up the Persian Gulf to Basra, where they move up the river to Bagdad. Here the famous Bagdad railroad takes them as far as Samara, which place was occupied by the British about a year ago—April 10, 1917. The Tigris is navigable, of course, but the small river boats have but small capacity, so that many trips have to be made between the mouth of the Tigris and the advanced bases.

This period of rest, therefore, has been utilized to collect at Bagdad, and probably at Samara, the supplies needed for a further advance toward the west. This is what is meant by the British statement which refers to the long and careful preparation.

The problem which faced the British commander when the advance was planned was how to guard his right flank as he moved up the Tigris. When the Russians were still active the flanks were both guarded. But with the Russian peace this flank was in the air, and some measure of defense had to be taken before an advance could begin. The activity of the Armenians furnished a certain amount of protection, it is true. They have never accepted the German peace, by which the Turks were to receive the Russian oil fields at the eastern end of the Black Sea. Instead, they have taken up arms, assisted ably by units from the old Russian Army of the Caucasus, and have been solidly contending with the Turks the possession of the land.

The British activity is apparently timed with this action. Although the reports have had little reference of late to the Armenian action, it is known that affairs are in a very unsettled state, and that such Turkish rule as exists exists only because of strong military forces which the Turks are forced to maintain there. This, as has been stated, furnished a certain protection to the British right. But more was necessary. Therefore the British planned to extend their operations at least as far as the foothills of the mountains, so as to prevent their flank from being turned and to keep the Turks from getting at their rear and threatening their line of communications, which still is the Tigris River.

Accordingly, one column of troops was sent northwest from Tekrit, a town on the Tigris ninety-seven miles north of Bagdad, against the Turkish positions in the neighborhood of Kirkuk. It must be borne in mind in connection with the fighting in this territory that there is no basis of comparison between this country and France from a military standpoint. There is no long line of trenches, no intrenched positions at all as we have come to understand the term. Every position is intrenched to a certain extent, but the defenses are temporary, with none of the marks of permanence which characterize the positions in the west. The country is, moreover, but sparsely settled, being, in fact, almost without inhabitants, except along the water courses.

The advance from Tekrit northward threatened to cut off the Turks, who up to that time had, as far as we have been informed, held to the eastern bank of the Diala River, and force them to fall back to the west, along the main road from Mosul to Kifri. The British moved up to Kifri, took the place with a few prisoners, and forced the Turkish troops to retreat further. At the same time a British cavalry column skirted around to the rear and threw themselves across the Mosul road just east of Tauk and forced the Turks to continue their retreat to the latter place. In their retreat the Turks suffered a loss of about 2,000 prisoners and a part of their transport service. The British then moved up in force so that their positions here were, at latest report, along the Tauk River, almost half way between Bagdad and Mosul.

A second column has been thrown forward along the Tigris and a third toward the Euphrates. The second column, which is in the centre, has apparently not yet been engaged and is relatively inactive, as the centre was already in advance of both the right and the left. On the south toward the Euphrates, the third column some time ago took the important village of Hit, almost due south of Tekrit and west of Bagdad. The heads of these three columns, then, are now at about the same stage of advance.

Mesopotamia is now a minor field of action. But there is the possibility that at some future date the Palestine and the Mesopotamian forces may be able to form a junction and so force the Turks behind the wall of the Taurus Mountains.

ALLIED WAR COUNCIL MEETS BEHIND FRONT

Foch, with Generals and Political Leaders, Holds Satisfactory Conference at Abbeville.

PARIS, May 2.—The Supreme Inter-Allied War Council met today at Abbeville, (twenty-five miles northwest of Amiens,) with Premier Clemenceau presiding.

Those present included Premier David Lloyd George of England, Premier Vittorio Orlando of Italy, Viscount Milner, British Secretary of State for War; General Foch, Commander in Chief of the allied armies in France; General Sackville-West, General Tasker H. Bliss, American representative at the council; General Belin of the Versailles Committee, Major Gen. Henry H. Wilson, British Chief of Staff; Field Marshal Haig, General Pershing, General Pétain, Vice Admiral Wemyss, British First Sea Lord, and Vice Admiral De Bon, Chief of the French Naval Staff.

During the two days in which the conference has been in session all military questions of moment were examined and settled in full agreement. The results obtained are unanimously regarded as most satisfactory.

bry arrest, carried on by a German military tribunal, led to the arrest of M. Shukowski, the Minister of War; M. Dajeski, Chief of the Ministry of the Interior; Mme. Tkatchenko, wife of the Minister of the Interior; M. Bogazki, commander of the town militia, and M. Ljubinski, Chief of the Foreign Ministry.

The inquiry is proceeding.

There is grave uneasiness in Germany over the news from the East. Apparently the Germans shortly will be confronted with overwhelming difficulties that will shatter the whole fabric of the Brest-Litovsk peace, says an Amsterdam dispatch to The Daily Express. From Finland to the Ukraine there is ever-increasing opposition to German oppression. Vienna reports, it is added, say that most of the Ukrainian crops were ruined by the peasants, who would rather starve than feed the Germans.

ENVOY ROBBED IN RUSSIA.

Streets of Petrograd Still Unsafe, Even in Broad Daylight.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

STOCKHOLM, May 2. (Dispatch to The London Morning Post.)—The Greek Minister to Petrograd, who has just arrived here, reports that so far there has been no change in the political situation in Russia. There is still very little security for life and property in the capital. The Italian Minister was robbed the other day in a frequented thoroughfare.

The legations are experiencing great difficulty in getting money from banks. The food situation is extremely serious. In some cases people had to exist for many days on one egg daily.

The Bolsheviki will probably continue to rule for a while, but their downfall is only a matter of time.

Bolsheviki Made Bitter by Seized Document Said to Reveal Plot There.

MOSCOW, April 25.—Yesterday the Pravda, the official organ of the Bolshevist Party, greeted Count Mirbach "not as the representative of the working classes of a friendly nation, but as the plenipotentiary of an armed band which with limitless audacity oppresses and robs wherever it is able to thrust in with a bloody imperialistic bayonet."

Today the Pravda has to admit that the "imperialists of the allied coalition are hurrying to show the Russian peasants and workmen that they are in no way to be distinguished from their German competitors."

Yesterday in the Pravda Mirbach held the stage as Russia's enemy. Today he is pushed aside by Noulens, the French Ambassador. M. Noulens had expressed his approval of armed intervention in the East—intervention which should be of a friendly character.

It is difficult to understand how the use of arms against a people can be said to have a friendly character, but that puzzle is explained by documents seized in Vladivostok and published here today, from which it is clear that the allied representatives at Vladivostok are keeping up relations with a small group of persons who wish to become the Siberian Government and are actually in a position exactly like that of the Ukrainian Rada when fleeing from Kiev.

This Rada took refuge in two rooms in the German headquarters at Brest-Litovsk and while being in itself a government "without force, without authority, and without people," signed a treaty which allowed Germany's "friendly intervention" in Ukraine.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—The State Department received a cablegram today giving the text of the credentials presented at Moscow by the German and Turkish Ambassadors on April 27, when the envoys called on M. Sverdloff, Chairman of the Central Executive Committee of the Workmen's, Soldiers', and Peasants' Deputies.

Count von Mirbach's letter of credence, dated Berlin, April 2, was substantially as follows:

"After ratification of the peace treaty between the Russian Federal Soviet Republic and the Royal German Government, it has been decided to send to the Russian Federal Soviet Republic a temporary diplomatic representative, the Royal Ambassador, Count von Mirbach.

"Count von Mirbach will execute the task imposed on him of upholding peace and friendly relations between the two States, and will bend all his efforts to obtain the confidence of the Government of the Russian Federal Republic.

"Being convinced that he will be able to meet fully the tasks imposed on him, these credentials are given, and I allow myself to beg that they be graciously accepted, and that he be shown entire confidence in everything he presents to you in the name of my Royal Government. (Signed) HERTLING."

Sverdloff replied to Count Mirbach as follows:

"In the name of the Russian Socialistic Federal Soviet Republic, I have the honor of welcoming in your person, Mr. Ambassador, the representative of a power with which a peace treaty has been concluded at Brest-Litovsk, as a result of which peace, so needed by the people, was established between the two States. Everything which hinders this peace must be overcome. To this end our Commissariat of Foreign Affairs has sent a note to the German Government, the sole purpose of which is to remove all dangers threatening peace.

"I permit myself to express the hope that you, Mr. Ambassador, will take measures on your part to solve the question satisfactorily and to insure peace between the German Government and the Government of the Soviet Republic."

It is probable that this was a note of protest against the continued military advances of Germany, in violation of the Brest-Litovsk treaty, and the seizure of ships and forts.

The Turkish representative presented a letter dated at the Sublim Port, April 4, as follows:

"In compliance with the pence treaty the Imperial Ottoman Government has the right to send a permanent mission to Russia immediately on the ratification of the treaty. In expectation of the appointment of a permanent diplomatic representative, the Imperial Ottoman Government has authorized Halil Kem All Bey, the Ambassador Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary at Athens of his Highness the Sultan, to carry out diplomatic functions."

JUNKERS DEFEAT 'ONE MAN, ONE VOTE'

tension tremendous in the country is shown by full reports of the debate now to hand. How high this long, pent up feeling ran may be judged by a remark of Count Spee—a land owner, artistocrat, and Major in the army, who belongs to the same party as von Hertling —about the "damned peace resolution of July," and Socialist Hoffman's stinging rejoinder that Spee appeared as if he had spent a rowdy night at an officers' club and that if reform were postponed until after the war, as Spee proposed, he, (Hoffman,) would appeal to the soldiers at the front to fling away their arms.

Other such passages at arms show that intense passion is ruling on the question, and the rejection of the Socialist motion will add fuel to the flames of anger.

The junker press, of course, has been demanding the rejection of the reform, setting it forth as a promise wrung from the Kaiser by von Bethmann-Hollweg. The July promise was a "hideous error," says the militarist organ, Die Post, for example. The Vossische Zeitung points to the "shameful and unworthy scenes" in the house.

Suggests Grave for Democracy.

The Berliner Tageblatt will have nothing to do with a compromise. Vorwarts, writing in anticipation of the rejection of the equal franchise proposal on the second reading, said it would in that case be time to dig a deep grave for democratic hopes in Prussia and write these words on the headstone:

"Here lies a King's promise, killed by the breach of faith of his minister, Anno Domini, 1918."

Undoubtedly there exists in wide democratic circles a firm conviction that von Hertling is acting in concert with the reactionary forces, and the weakness displayed in his speech will greatly increase the bitterness with which the remaining part of the struggle will be fought. It is difficult to see how he can avoid a crisis which will put completely in the shade all those which have ruffled the surface of the German political waters since the war began.

Proposes Scheme to Stifle Reform.

Of what extraordinary mentality the Prussian reactionaries are possessed is demonstrated in a compromise suggested by the National Liberal proposal for franchise reform. The reactionaries of that party, in their efforts to prevent one man, one vote from becoming the law in Prussia, put forward a basis of agreement which no fool, even, in any other country would have dreamed of suggesting.

The whole idea, of course, is to prevent the spread of the franchise in the democratic ranks and to arm with a double vote all those who are almost certain to be reactionaries. By the proposal, it is suggested that every man should have one vote, but that an additional vote should be given to four classes of people. These classes are so arranged that all likely reactionaries, higher officials, people having their own business and so on could obtain this additional vote at the end of one year, while the lower officials and the working classes would have to remain ten years in the same employ before they enjoyed the same right.

As Vorwärts points out, the scheme would mobilize the whole bureaucracy against democracy. If, for example, a skilled worker took a better position with another firm and could thus be more economically valuable to the State he would lose for a number of years his chance of obtaining this additional vote. If a man opened a tobacco shop, no matter how small, he would get this franchise advantage at the end of one year, but a minor official must wait ten years and take care not to change his profession. A milkman would have nine years' start of a newspaper compositor in the race for the full rights of Prussian citizenship. The manager of a branch establishment of any business might obtain his two votes in a year, but if he were called to a high position, though not a leading one, at the head office, he would at once be robbed of one of his votes.

Surely no more idiotic scheme has ever been put forward even in Prussian political history, with its numerous and variegated stupidities.

LONDON, May 2.—A dispatch from Berlin forwarded by the correspondent at The Hague of the Exchange Telegraph Company expresses the anticipation that the Prussian suffrage reform bill will be rejected, in which case, the message adds, Emperor William is expected to dissolve the Diet and Chancellor von Hertling and the Prussian Ministry will resign.

STARVING AUSTRIA WATCHES BATTLE of the Socialist Arbeiter Zeitung and got that paper discreetly to discourage the activists. The Socialist group and the Czechs, the most resolute and best organized anti-German groups in Austria, were dismayed quite recently to find German-bribed traitors in their midst.

"As for the Southern Slavs, the new policy of the United States, Italy, and the Entente, although perilously long postponed, is bearing fruit. News that the Entente recognizes a separate Southern Slav nation has in whispers already thrilled the Southern Slav soldiers on the Austrian front. All these people, so long browbeaten into obedience, are, nevertheless, like the Austrian workmen in the towns, looking with frightened and haggard eyes to the great battle in the west. Unless the Germans win a decision there, and win it quickly, strange things are going to happen in Austria.

"Another Verdun, whatever it means for Germany, means in Austria despair and a revolution of despair and men mad with hunger. The Austrian ice-floe is cracking, and may break up at any moment."

Troubles Multiply in Vienna.

LONDON, May 2, (via Ottawa.)—The troubles of the Austrian Empire are apparently coming to a head. The Cabinet crises in Austria and Hungary are still unsettled.

The Arbeiter Zeitung of Vienna denounces Hungary for starving Austria and asserts that the imports from the Ukraine are still remote and empty stomachs cannot afford to wait.

The arrival of Czecho-Slovak troops on the Italian front, under the Italian flag, has disquieted the Austro-Hungarian leaders, who fear the effect on their Slav troops. Recently some of these men persuaded some Austrian Czechs to desert, which the Italian barrage between the Austrian support and front lines enabled them to do.

PARIS, May 2.—Eighteen thousand soldiers of Rumanian origin, who were captured by the Italians while fighting under the Austrian flag, have asked permission to go to the front against Austria. The request has been granted and organization of these troops is under way.

With the entrance of this force into the field three armies composed of former subjects of the Central Empires will be fighting on the side of the Allies. Czech troops are already under arms on the Italian front, and there is a Polish army on the French front.

Italian Guns Busy on the Front—Two Airplanes Bagged.

ROME, May 2.—Following is the official report issued by the War Office today:

Brisk patrol encounters took place yesterday in the village of St. Occaredo and on the slopes of Monfenera. An enemy party was dispersed on Sassorosso.

There were more intense hostile artillery duels in the Tonale zone, at various points on the Asiago Plateau, and on the Lower Piave River.

The Italian batteries dispersed enemy troops at Dossdelmorti, and made direct hits on trains in Primolano, Sugana, and Conegliano.

Italian aviators brought down three enemy airplanes. British airmen brought down two others.

Cotton Goods Exports

in 1917 exceeded imports by $105,000,000. Cotton manufacturers from all sections of the country are now in convention to consider two big problems: First, to fully supply the war needs of our country. Second, to prepare for trade following the war. Even in performing the first great task, the foregoing figures show that the second cannot be overlooked.

The Citizens National Bank, a commercial bank of 67 years' standing, in close touch with the textile trade, with a completely equipped foreign department, is in a particularly advantageous position to be of service to merchants and manufacturers in these lines.

BERLIN REPEATS YARN ABOUT OUR AIRMEN

Insists Documents on Captured American Show They Go to Europe on Hospital Ships.

LONDON, May 2.—The German wireless, which sent out a dispatch a few day ago, alleging that American aviators were crossing to Europe on hospital ships, reiterates these charges in a longer dispatch today.

The probable reason for the emphasis placed on this false charge by the Germans, it is thought here, is that they are laying the foundation for justification of the torpedoing later of American hospital ships in case any such are put in the transatlantic service to carry home invalided soldiers. Similar charges were spread broadcast about British hospital ships as a prelude to torpedoing them.

The German wireless message today says:

"American aviators are crossing to Europe as members of the Red Cross on hospital ships. The misuse of the Red Cross appears from documentary evidence found on American aviators who have been shot down. An American, brought down in the region of the army of General von Hutier, carried a pass which referred to him as a member of the American Ambulance Service for France.

"Prisoners openly admit that it is the general practice for aviators to enter the American Ambulance Service for their passage to Europe and to cross on hospital ships. After they are landed in France they immediately transfer to the Automobile Corps and thence into the air service.

"The captured aviator referred to had, however, transferred directly from the ambulance service into the air service. Another carried a certificate in which the dates of several transfers were officially indicated."

The British Admiralty has already denied the charge that American aviators were crossing on hospital ships, saying:

"No hospital ship, British or American, has ever carried anybody but invalids and the necessary medical staff. The American naval authorities state that they have some few aviators who were in the allied ambulance service in France before the United States came into the war, but even in such cases these men crossed the Atlantic in ordinary ships, taking their full chance of being torpedoed."

ENEMY SHELL KILLS LIEUT. COL. GRIFFITHS

Missile Explodes in Front of Picardy Dugout as Tennessee Officer Emerges.

PROMOTED FOR BRAVERY

Had Served with British Forces and Once Was Severely Wounded—Held in Affection by His Men.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, May 2, (Associated Press.)—Lieut. Col. Richard H. Griffiths, commanding a battalion of infantry, has been killed by shell fire in Picardy. He emerged from a dugout just as a German shell exploded directly in front of him.

Lieut. Col. Griffiths was with the Fourth Tennessee Volunteers in the Spanish-American war, and later with the 37th Volunteers. He served also as Major in the Philippine Constabulary.

He was appointed a Major in the national army after resigning from the British Army. His widow is a Red Cross nurse.

At the outbreak of the war Lieut. Col. Griffiths joined the Fifth Royal Scots, serving at the Dardanelles, Saloniki, and in France until severely wounded in 1917, when he lost a part of a shoulder-blade. Last Fall he obtained his release from the British forces to join the American Army as a Major. Because of his cool, calm efficiency during the trying days of January and February, while his men occupied positions north-west of Toul, he was promoted to a Lieutenant Colonelcy. His men loved him, and the correspondent heard a group say the day he was killed:

"There's the old man, and, believe me, if you are looking for a soldier and a gentleman there he is. Every man in this outfit would go straight through hell if Griffiths gave the order to march."

And many of his men did just that during the few days before he was killed.

When his command was going into the line, Lieutenant Colonel Griffiths sat astride his horse at a crossroads over which the German shrapnel was bursting heavily, and was as unconcerned as if a thousand miles away from the war. He spoke to his men sharply, but in a low voice, telling them not to forget who the enemy was, what he had done, and to punish him. He had been a constant visitor in the trenches and shell-holes held by his troops, taking long chances to get to all of them, making sure that they were getting everything wanted and were well cared for.

The shell that killed Lieut. Col. Griffiths also killed a Corporal and wounded other men. The Corporal fell across the officer's body. They were buried in soldiers' graves, where the shells scream constantly and the nights are lighted by the flash of guns.

DUBLIN, May 2.—Diarmid Lynch, who was dubbed the "Sinn Fein food dictator," is on his way to America. Lynch was deported to England last week. He was then serving a term of imprisonment in Dundalk in connection with the seizure of pigs while they were being taken through Dublin for shipment to England.

The authorities permitted Lynch to marry a Dundalk woman while in jail. Mrs. Lynch did not accompany her husband to America, but saw him off at the port of embarkation.

PRESIDENT WANTS NO LIMIT ON ARMY

increase the size of the army, but to limit the increase to 5,000,000 men. He said today that he would try and have this measure adopted as part of the Army Appropriation bill.

"I am in favor of an army of any size that we need," said Mr. Dent in discussing the matter, "and have introduced a bill for an army of five million. It seems to me that this is as large an army as we can possibly use at this time. I intend to bring this bill up before the Military Affairs Committee and to move that it be reported to the House as a part of the Army Appropriation bill."

There was considerable discussion of the proposed increase among members of the House today, and they were frankly staggered at the size of the appropriation which will be required if the program outlined by Secretary Baker is adopted. The bill as submitted to the Military Affairs Committee in December carried a total appropriation of $8,000,000,000, and last year's appropriation was about $3,000,000,000. Whatever opposition was expressed concerning the $16,000,000,000 program centred around the proposal further to increase the powers of the President by giving him absolute discretion as to the size of the nation's military forces, a function which hitherto has rested entirely with Congress.

Representative Dent said he would hasten action in the committee as much as possible, and would call the bill up in the House at the first possible opportunity after it was reported. He does not believe that it will be necessary to hold more than one or two further hearings on the bill. General March will present the detailed estimates to the committee tomorrow, and Mr. Dent hopes that his testimony may be concluded in one day. The Chairman expects to be able to report the bill to the House some time next week.

SEES IRELAND'S HOPE IN WIDE HOME RULE

It Should Be the First Fruits of Democracy's War, Says Robert Donald.

TURMOIL AMID PROSPERITY

People Said to be Nearer Revolt Than at Any Time Since Parnell's Work Began.

By ROBERT DONALD,
Editor of The London Daily Chronicle.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 2.—Never was Ireland so prosperous as it is today and never more dissatisfied. The farmers are rolling in money. Wages were never higher, food was never so plentiful, deposits in banks never reached such figures. The ordinary amenities of life pursue their course uninterrupted. Dances, banquets, race meetings, concerts and all kinds of pleasures are in full swing, and yet the country is seething with discontent, varying in intensity from mild hostility to the Government to frank rebellion.

Ireland is nearer revolt than at any time since Butt and Parnell began political action as the alternative to the policy of force and crime. Ireland is also more united on the policy of resistance than ever in its history, for while all classes do not want the same thing the Government has succeeded in making them all combine against what it wants them to have.

In the long catalogue of mistakes and misdeeds which blacken the course of British policy in regard to Ireland, nothing has been so startlingly short-sighted and mischievous as the mess which the Lloyd George Government has created, one would almost think deliberately, if we did not know that the Cabinet think their policy is a wise and subtle combination to solve the political problem and meet the military emergency.

Says New Policy Is Too Late.

Lloyd George in his speech introducing the new Military Service bill April 9 said that the Government would impose conscription on Ireland and then bring forward a Home Rule bill. Ten days later he staked the life of his Government on the passing of the second bill. He should have spoken in this tone first. His revised policy was too late. The mischief had been done.

He failed to conciliate the Nationalists, whom he had first offended, and he offended the Ulstermen, whom he had first tried to conciliate. He said he would impose on Ireland the obligation of military service, and then offered it as a gift, which was its right by virtue of self-government. While he said that the two were parts of the same policy, Bonar Law, leader in the House of Commons, said that one had nothing to do with the other.

Ireland had won its political freedom through several generations of strife and agitation, had seen a Home Rule act passed in 1914, and was not prepared to accept the unknown alternative which the Prime Minister offered. It is true that the Home Rule act was hung up and that pledges were made both by Asquith and Lloyd George that there would be no coercion of any part of Ireland. When the postponement took place no one dreamed that the war would last four years, and the political pledges are opportunist postulates made to be adapted and revised to changing conditions.

What is the position today in England and Ireland? A majority of Englishmen, if asked, would say, "Let Ireland have Home Rule and be done with it." The more thoughtful would add: "We could not hold up our heads at the peace conference with Ireland on our backs. How can we preach the gospel of self-determination for all countries and fail to apply it to Ireland?"

There are others who see in the settlement of the Irish question the beginning of a system of federal government for Great Britain which the congestion at Westminster is making imperative.

Home Rule is being supported for one or another of these reasons by many of its most influential former opponents. Englishmen are exceedingly bitter, because they are being conscripted for the army up to the age of 50, while young men live in ease and prosperity in Ireland, but there would be no opposition to Home Rule if it were to be followed by compulsory military service in Ireland.

Bolshevism in Ireland.

However, the blundering tactics of the Government have led to a subversive Bolshevist movement. The Nationalists, who would have accepted conscription as a corollary of Home Rule, and until the Irish Parliament had been elected would have carried on a recruiting campaign, will now have nothing to do with conscription, and are asserting a demand unheard of under federalism—that an Irish Parliament, elected solely for the conduct of Irish affairs, shall exercise control over its military policy and forces.

The Nationalist advance has played into the hands of the Sinn Feiners, who are out for complete political independence, and are now dragging John Dillon, the new leader, with them. The Nationalists, who united with the Sinn Feiners in the hope of restraining them, are now swept along with the new current of the Sinn Fein. Bolshevist dreamers are setting the tune while the Parliamentarians dance.

The rebels are rounding up the Nationalists, who have forsaken Westminster, a policy in accordance with a plank in the Sinn Fein program. The policy of conciliation voiced by the inspiring eloquence of John Redmond and welcomed by the leaders of the British democracy is dead.

There is one hope, but it will depend on the kind of Home Rule bill which is now being prepared by English politicians without the help of a single Irishman. If the bill gives Ireland a Parliament endowed with large executive powers, going beyond the Home Rule act now on the statute books and conferring on Ireland practical fiscal autonomy, the Nationalists, with Dillon at their head, may be enticed back to the House of Commons to assist in shaping the measure.

If this new act is accepted as the crowning triumph of fifty years of political agitation, with all its trials and tragedies for the Irish people, there is a chance that we may yet see daylight in Ireland and that new regiments of Irish soldiers will be fighting side by side with British, American, and French soldiers in France.

It would be fitting that a measure more advanced than the measure which the war snatched from the Irish people when it was within their grasp four years ago should now emerge as the first triumph in war for democracy, which up to now has nothing to show for the sacrifice of millions of lives and desolated nations, with liberty crushed under the iron heel of the Hun. If one small nation realizes its hope of self-government during the war democracy will have won its first victory.

The Irish are a generous and warm-hearted people, and if the bill gives a large measure of self-government there may arise a new movement, including all sections of the Nationalist Party, which would silence the Sinn Fein malcontents. But there are dangers ahead.

"Crusade" Against the Draft.

A side issue is emerging which may blast the hopes of the best friends of Ireland. The Sinn Feiners are against any solution, and speak openly of England as their enemy, and, by a strange freak of imagination, of Germany as their friend because she is England's enemy. Many of the priests are pro-German, and the Catholic clergy are preaching a crusade against conscription. They dare not attack home rule, although many do not welcome it, but they are preparing an atmosphere of hostility to conscription which would make any home rule impossible. Their agitation is likely to add sectarian strife to the fierce political struggle.

There is another and not less danger. Ulstermen do not want conscription without home rule. Still less would they accept home rule with conscription. Their hostility will not take the form of armed revolt, as planned by Carson before the war. They have a more powerful weapon. They will put down their tools. The workmen of Belfast will proclaim a general strike, led not by the leaders of labor and the trade unions, who are in favor of home rule, but by Orangemen and the political firebrands of Ulster.

At present the Sinn Fein party are hustling the Nationalists, and the Nationalists are shirking the issue. A vacancy has arisen in East Cavan, and in spite of the party truce the Sinn Feiners are running a candidate, the latest development being that the Nationalists, instead of nominating their own man, suggest the Lord Mayor of Dublin as a neutral, although he has Sinn Fein sympathies.

Unless something at present unforeseen occurs to consolidated the Nationalist Party, the outcome of all this bungling will be nothing except that Ireland will be in a worse state of turmoil and sedition than it was before the Government started to put things right. Conscription will not be enforced and Home Rule as offered will not be accepted.

CABINET TO PUSH HOME RULE BILL

It Will Be Presented to the House of Commons Week After Next.

IRELAND REPORTED CALMER

Premier Cites Obstacle in "Challenge" of the United Kingdom's Rights.

Copyright, 1918, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Friday, May 3.—The Daily Chronicle's Parliamentary correspondent writes:

"The Government are determined to proceed with the Home Rule bill, which they regard as a measure of urgent war necessity. It will be on federalist lines, and will provide for one Parliament for the whole of Ireland.

"The bill will be introduced during the week after next, but it is obvious that very little progress can be made with it this side of Whitsuntide.

"An appreciable improvement in the situation in Ireland is reported."

Lloyd George Deplores Challenge.

LONDON, May 2.—Premier Lloyd George in a letter expressing sympathy with the memorial of 60,000 Irish workers on the banks of the River Tyne favoring immediate self-government for Ireland wrote:

"The difficulties have not been rendered easier of settlement by the challenge to supremacy of the United Kingdom Parliament in that sphere, which always has been regarded as properly belonging to it by all advocates of home rule, which recently was issued by the Nationalist Party and the Roman Catholic hierarchy in concert with the leaders of the Sinn Fein."

Andrew Bonar Law, Chancellor of the Exchequer and Government spokesman, declared in the House of Commons Wednesday that he could not say when a Home Rule bill would be introduced.

The Daily News says that the committee appointed to draft the bill has settled virtually nothing except the preamble.

Want Full Control of Harbors.

A side light is thrown on the difficult issues involved by the meeting Wednesday of between fifty and sixty peers and members of the House of Commons, both Unionist and Liberal, who accepted an invitation of the Navy League to discuss what to do regarding Irish coastal defense in the event of the passing of a Home Rule bill. The meeting appointed delegates to urge upon the committee drafting the bill that the imperial authorities ought to retain full control of Irish harbors and ports, probably also railroads.

It is reported in political circles that the more extreme elements of the Unionist Party have stiffened lately against any form of home rule, and a letter just written by Sir Edward Carson to the Secretary of the Southern Unionist Committee in Ireland suggests that the rumors are well founded. Sir Edward says, in part:

"In the present condition of Ireland it seems to me little short of insanity for any Government to reopen the question of home rule. * * * This, indeed, is statesmanship manufactured out of panic and founded on broken pledges in breach of trust. If we have to go down, let us do so with the flag flying and not in alliance with those whose object is to gain a vantage ground for enforcing further separation policies."

A Dublin dispatch says that the Southern Unionist Committee has organized a large body of Unionists outside of Ulster in opposition to the compromise accepted by the Unionists at their convention. Their adherents include landowners, professional men, and several ex-Judges, but few business men. They number about 11,000, and may present a serious obstacle to the settlement of the home rule question.

Shortt's Appointment Welcomed.

The Daily Chronicle's Dublin correspondent says that there is a decided improvement in the feeling in Ireland in consequence of the appointment of Edward Shortt as Chief Secretary. He is not merely a Home Ruler, but voted with the Nationalists against conscription for Ireland.

There is no reason to suppose that the Lord Mayor of Dublin will be unable to get a passport to America from the Secretary for Ireland, to whom he has decided to apply, says a dispatch from Dublin to The Daily News today. The correspondent, in alluding to the purpose of the proposed deputation to lay the case of the Irish organizations opposing conscription before President Wilson, adds:

"People here are inclined to doubt whether President Wilson will receive the deputation, and if he declines there might be some risk of a conflict of American and Irish opinion. The deputation hopes, anyway, to be allowed to lay its case before the American people in a great speaking tour."

IN FLANDERS FIELDS

By Lieut.-Colonel JOHN McRAE

(Died while on duty in Flanders)

IN FLANDERS fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place; and in the sky
The larks, still bravely singing, fly,
Scarce heard amidst the guns below,
We are the dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe!
To you from falling hands, we throw
The torch. Be yours to hold it high!
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders fields.

From London "Punch."

Can you fail to heed these words from the dead in Flanders, who gave their lives to save you and the Purity and Happiness of the World?

Let no man satisfy his conscience by arguing with himself that others will perform his duty! Be true men! Invest in the Third Liberty Loan! Take up the Torch: "Be yours to hold it high!"

$707,000,000 TOTAL IN LOAN DRIVE HERE

Improvement in Sales Goes On, Giving Assurance Quota Will Be Taken.

DAY'S GAIN IS $73,000,000

New York Life Subscribes to $5,000,000 Additional and Kuhn, Loeb & Co. to $4,000,000.

The campaign for subscriptions to the Third Liberty Loan showed marked improvement yesterday, and indications are today's and tomorrow's applications for bonds will exceed the totals of any previous day of the four weeks' drive. The Federal Reserve Bank of New York announced late yesterday afternoon that the day's returns amounted to more than $73,000,000, an increase of $31,000,000 compared with Wednesday's figures. This brought the total for the New York district up to about $707,000,000, with subscriptions for the final three days still unaccounted for. That the district's quota of $900,000,000 will be filled by tomorrow night is assured, but vigorous efforts are being made for a large oversubscription.

Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo passed through this city yesterday on his way to Washington. He conferred with members of the Liberty Loan Committee but declined to discuss the situation here.

Bankers were busy all day yesterday communicating by telephone with their customers, suggesting to them that they come forward with additional subscriptions and everywhere solicitations were made with great earnestness. Many of the banks kept open in the evening for the accommodation of those persons who cannot call at the regular office hours, and the various "team" Captains, canvassers, and booth saleswomen exerted their utmost skill in rounding up the eleventh hour subscribers. Following the example of President Wilson, a great many persons joined the so-called "Buy Another Bond Club" by filing a supplementary subscription or by purchasing one of the coupon partial-payment books.

A number of the larger banks sent in subscriptions of $10,000,000, the same representing applications filed by their customers; while the New York Life Insurance Company came forward with an additional subscription of $5,000,000, and Kuhn, Loeb & Co. entered an application for $4,000,000 for their own account.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company announced a subscription of $1,000,000, of which $800,000 is to be placed in the New York District.

Books Close Saturday Night.

Although subscription books close Saturday night, the banks and trust companies have until the following Thursday, May 9, to file their final reports with the Bond Issue Division of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. The delivery of the 4¼ per cent. bonds will be expedited if these reports are sent in promptly. Allotments of the Third Liberty Loan will be based upon these reports. The Reserve Bank will make its final return to the Treasury Department on or before May 13.

Rally at Liberty Bell.

At Liberty Bell in City Hall Park yesterday there was a big rally at which Private Harry Zody, one of General Pershing's "veterans," W. Bourke Cockran and several actresses made speeches. About $900,000 in subscriptions was obtained, the report naming the following:

Col. William Boyce Thompson	$500,000
William Randolph Hearst	100,000
Henry C. Frick	100,000
E. H. Gary	100,000
A. F. Long	100,000
Ex-Ambassador Gerard	60,000
Otto H. Kahn	50,000
New York American	30,000
Mayor's Committee	1,900

Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo visited the Liberty Theatre on the terrace of the Public Library and subscribed to a $1,000 bond. He made a brief speech, in which he declared: "We want a nation of range-finders—not fault-finders. Fault-finders never do any fighting." Pointing to a near-by "thermometer" showing the district's bond records, Mr. McAdoo called upon New York, the "richest city in the world," not to let the rest of the country get ahead of it.

Later in the afternoon, when Mr. McAdoo, in company with Colonel E. M. House and Mrs. McAdoo, walked down Fifth Avenue he was stopped in front of the bond booth at the corner of Thirty-ninth Street, the home of the Union League Club. He complied with the urgent request of a woman that he buy bonds, and signed up for another $1,000.

At a monster Liberty Loan rally held in front of Borough Hall at noon yesterday, Brooklyn had its first view of the 100 French "Blue Devils" and the veterans of Major Gen. Pershing's Expeditionary Force, who are working hard to help make the city "go over the top" in its purchase of bonds. The warriors of both countries received a tremendous welcome from the populace. The party was escorted to Brooklyn in automobiles by County Clerk William E. Kelly and was greeted on its arrival by Borough President Edward Riegelmann and Edwin P. Maynard, Chairman of the Brooklyn Liberty Loan Committee.

The east side, which has made a whole-hearted response to appeals for subscriptions to the Third Liberty Loan, exhibited much enthusiasm in the war and in the loan at two meetings held last night. Following a parade, exercises were held in front of 77 Delancey Street and outside of the Emanu-El Brotherhood Society's building at 309 Sixth Street.

The Delancey Street meeting was held under the auspices of the Division Street Merchants' Protective Association, and it was announced that not only had the crowd handed in subscriptions to the amount of about $300,000 but that sufficient money was raised for two ambulances to be donated to the Red Cross and provide for the salaries of two chauffeurs for the duration of the war.

The Rev. Dr. David Hughes, chaplain of the British forces in France, was the principal speaker. Marcus M. Marks made an appeal for subscriptions. B. K. Marcus put in a subscription for $250,000 on behalf of the Bank of the United States, of which he is Vice President.

Rabbi Silverman addressed the Sixth Street meeting. The Roosevelt Club presented an American flag to the Emanu-El Brotherhood. A service flag with fifteen stars was also run up amid cheers.

Beginning at noon today, the Outdoor Activities Committee of the Liberty Loan will hold a continuous demonstration in Times Square until midnight tomorrow, when the loan campaign closes. Jerome A. Myers, Chairman of the committee has made arrangements for speakers and for ten bands which will furnish music in one-hour relays. Pershing's "veterans" and some of the French "Blue Devils" will also appear from time to time. A flock of pigeons has been obtained, and one of the birds will be released every hour and will carry to the Treasury Department in Washington a memorandum of the subscriptions received. The slogan of Myers's committee is "$100,000,000 off the streets of New York."

Liberty Ball Arrives Today.

The Liberty Ball will roll into the city from Yonkers this morning. It is expected to reach City Hall at about 1 o'clock, the parade starting at 110th Street and Broadway at 10 o'clock. When the ball arrives at City Hall Mayor Hylan will walk out on the steps and deliver an address. Later the ball will be rolled to the Hippodrome, and after the evening performance it will be moved to Times Square, where it is to take part in the thirty-six hour continuous performance. The ball started from Buffalo nearly four weeks ago, when the loan campaign opened, and it has covered about 473 miles. The Liberty Coach which has traveled from Buffalo with the ball will arrive at City Hall at noon tomorrow.

Italian Day will be observed at Liberty Land today. Enrico Caruso has promised to be on hand to sell bonds, and Lieutenant John Philip Sousa will speak and lead the 69th Regiment Band. Mme. Alda of the Metropolitan Opera Company will sing. Yesterday "Latin-American Day" was celebrated at Liberty Land, and the principal speaker was Gerardo Echeverria, Belgian Consul at Costa Rico, who was a classmate of King Albert.

E. H. Sothern and Julia Marlowe will be the principal speakers at a Liberty Loan rally to be held at the Biltmore this afternoon.

Many Counties Oversubscribed.

Thirty-six of the counties in the New York Reserve District have oversubscribed their quotas, seven have attained a record of more than 90 per cent., while twenty-eight have percentages ranging from 37 to 86. The list follows:

Boy Scouts Ahead of Last Drive.

Incomplete returns for the first three days (excluding Sunday) of the campaign of the Boy Scouts of America show that they have obtained 105,531 independent subscriptions, amounting to $14,012,200. This is ahead of the returns for the corresponding time in the last campaign, when the Scouts brought in $102,084,100 in all.

It was announced yesterday that the members of the Schleswig-Holsteinischer Verein had filed subscriptions totaling $7,750. The Fortuna Lodge, U. H. S., another German society, has bought $200 of bonds.

The fifty marines stationed aboard the battleship Montana have signed over virtually a full year's pay to the Liberty Loan. The payments due on previous loan issues and the group subscription of $10,000 to the current issue will, it is said, absorb their entire pay for the next twelve months.

The Xavier Alumni Sodality has issued an appeal for Liberty Loan subscriptions.

Students of the nine schools of New York University, who began a campaign to raise $150,000 among the undergraduates, reported at a meeting last night that $26,465 had been subscribed in the first thirty-six hours of the drive.

One of the largest individual subscriptions yet recorded in a theatre was obtained last night at the Astor, when Clarence Weller, Vice President of the Gotham National Bank, gave his subscription for $100,000. The total obtained was $150,000.

By permission of the Federal District Court Receivers Odell and Holt of the Aetna Explosives Company will invest an additional $250,000 of the company's money in Liberty bonds. This will make a total of $2,247,500 used in buying bonds in the three Liberty Loans.

RAINBOW DIVISION WILL GLEAN TRADES HERE

To Devote Today and Tomorrow to Concerns Which Have Not Yet Subscribed.

Reports received yesterday from the eighty-six business organizations comprising the Rainbow Division of the Liberty Loan were encouraging, a number of substantial subscriptions being announced. The members of the various committees carefully examined their respective lists yesterday and decided to devote today and tomorrow to the task of getting bond applications from those concerns that have not yet subscribed. They will strongly urge employers to canvass their employes for subscriptions in cases where that has not yet been done.

SHAH OF PERSIA BUYS BONDS.

Invests $100,000 in Liberty Loan—Lincoln Gold Dollar for Auction.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—The Shah of Persia has applied for $100,000 of Liberty bonds. The request reached the State Department today from Minister Caldwell, at Teheran.

No legal obstacle, international or domestic, having been found, officials have decided to accept with thanks the proposal of Ahmed Mirza. The offer is taken as an indication of the friendly disposition of the Persian ruler, as well as his conviction of the soundness of investment in American Government securities. Although it is conceived that the Central Powers might regard the investment of Persian Government funds in the bonds of a nation at war with them as an unneutral act, it is believed that the same criticism cannot be applied to investment of the personal funds of the Shah.

A man too poor to buy a Liberty bond today offered the Treasury his most prized possession, a gold dollar given him by Abraham Lincoln in 1860 at Mattoon, Ill., to be auctioned off and the receipts turned into bonds. Writing to Secretary McAdoo, he said:

"Uncle Abe jokingly put his hand on my shoulder and said: 'George, you will vote for me, won't you?'

"I said: 'I can't, Uncle Abe, because you are a Republican and I am a Democrat.'

"He burst into a big laugh and said: 'George, I am going to give you a present for your honesty.'

"He put his hand into his pocket and pulled out a gold dollar and gave it to me. I have been offered $2,500 for that dollar, and I prize it very highly, but I will send it to you and will let it go at any price to get a Liberty bond to help the boys in France."

The Treasury is trying to find a way of disposing of the Lincoln dollar.

The Dallas Liberty Loan Committee announced today that every prisoner in a Texas Penitentiary had subscribed for a bond.

700 Aviators Buy $500,000 Bonds.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 2.—Navy aviators in training at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology have subscribed $500,000 to the Liberty Loan and are still carrying on. There are 700 cadets.

LIBERTY LOAN UP TO $2,751,360,700

The Showing by Districts.

Subscriptions by districts and the minimum quotas are shown in the following table:

District.	Subscription.	Quota.
Minneapolis	$133,523,400	$105,000,000
St. Louis	163,630,450	130,000,000
Kansas City	151,582,850	130,000,000
Chicago	418,314,150	425,000,000
Boston	244,172,000	250,000,000
San Francisco	201,324,650	210,000,000
Dallas	75,800,200	80,000,000
Philadelphia	222,313,150	250,000,000
Cleveland	257,330,850	300,000,000
Richmond	111,711,800	130,000,000
New York	706,976,650	900,000,000
Atlanta	63,100,550	90,000,000
Total........	$2,751,360,700	$3,000,000,000

Percentages of quotas obtained by districts: Minneapolis, 129; St. Louis, 125; Kansas City, 116; Chicago, 98; Boston, 97; San Francisco, 95; Dallas, 94; Philadelphia, 88; Cleveland, 85; Richmond, 85; New York, 78; Atlanta, 70.

The City of St. Louis has subscribed its quota, being the first city of more than 500,000 population under the 1910 census to attain this honor. Detroit went over the top several days ago, but the honor contest for cities is based on the 1910 census, and at that time Detroit had only 465,766 residents.

New York Doing Better.

An encouraging feature is New York's increased subscription, the total for the day being approximately $79,000,000. Of this amount only about $25,000,000 was in large subscriptions. Members of the New York committee wired tonight that it was believed the district would top its quota by a good margin.

In the New York district the twelve northern counties of New Jersey have attained the percentage of 105, and Fairfield County, Conn., 99. The laggards are New York State, with a percentage of 76, and New York City, with a percentage of 73. Newark, N. J., leads the larger cities of the district with a percentage of 117; Albany has a percentage of 91; Buffalo, 85; Rochester, 59; Syracuse, 50, and Jersey City, 47. Buffalo unofficially contends that it has oversubscribed its quota of $30,500,000, and is going forward to $35,000,000.

The Cleveland total shows a twenty-four hour gain of $10,001,700. The total is divided by States as follows: Kentucky, $10,833,250; Ohio, $161,142,250; Pennsylvania, $80,602,650; West Virginia, $5,252,700.

The Philadelphia District shows the following results: Pennsylvania, outside of Philadelphia, $87,297,450; Philadelphia proper, $111,678,200; Delaware, $7,668,450. This represents a gain of $14,508,150.

A telegram from the Federal Reserve Bank at Dallas tonight said the district had attained its quota of $80,000,000, and had an oversubscription of $163,400.

"We are still going," the telegram added.

The San Francisco District announced tonight that the subscribers in Northern California alone totaled 14,000 more than the number of subscribers in the entire State during the second loan. The total number for the district now is 858,443, divided as follows: Arizona, 15,282; Washington, 150,307; Oregon, 90,063; Utah, 54,069; Idaho, 50,782; Nevada, 11,052; Northern California, 338,022; Southern California, 142,664.

The Chicago District continues to lead in the number of honor flags awarded, its total being 3,828. Among the cities which won honor flags today were Kalamazoo and Battle Creek, Mich., and Oak Park, Ill.

A telegram from Atlanta tonight said that more than $900,000 had been raised in one public rally there, and that the city surely would subscribe its quota. Chattanooga has oversubscribed by $1,000,000, and Mobile has reached its quota.

The Navy's Fine Record.

The navy swept on toward the $12,000,00 mark. A radio message from Vice Admiral Sims, Commander in Chief of the United States naval forces in European waters, ordering the reservation of $330,900 in Third Liberty Loan bonds put the total well above $11,000,000. The reservation represents subscriptions by bluejackets and officers in the fighting zone.

Ninety-nine and nine-tenths of the civilian employes at the Boston Navy Yard have subscribed to the Third Liberty Loan.

Navy yard subscriptions: New York, $494,800; Philadelphia, $951,700; Washington, $851,000.

The American Consul-General at Mexico City reports that subscriptions in Mexico City and vicinity are $384,050.

LIBERTY LOAN WINS RUSSIAN AID HERE

Complete Change of Feeling Toward the War Noted in New York Colony.

SEE NO HOPE IN GERMANY

Russians in This City, Mostly Small Wage Earners, Have Subscribed Generously to the Bonds.

Whatever may be the grounds upon which the Russian people still endure the rule of Bolshevism in their own country, the Russian American colony in New York and other large American cities is now practically united in its determination to have no more of it. A survey of the sentiment toward Bolshevism and the war in general as made by a reporter yesterday in those districts of the city where Bolshevist sympathy was particularly strong only a few months ago, revealed a complete change of feeling. Divided not long ago into two hostile and uncompromising camps, one group having firm faith in the achievement of a millennium by Trotzky "over the heads" of the Kaiser's Generals, and the other more conservative element having nothing except distrust in the fatalistic theories and the catch-as-catch-can tactics of Soviet rule, the various factions that constitute the Russian American colony in New York have come to a common realization that the salvation of the Russian revolution now depends entirely upon the vigorous prosecution of the war against Germany until the victory of the Allies is assured.

Consequently even many of the elements which were formerly most ardent in their sympathies for the peace policies of the Bolsheviki are now to be found firm in their support of the war and eager in their efforts to aid the United States Government in whatever way they can. For them even as a "beautiful dream," and to the average middle-class Russian it was never anything more than that, Bolshevism is as dead as the proverbial door nail, having been quite thoroughly cremated by the German peace terms at Brest-Litovsk. Developments in Russia since Brest-Litovsk as they represented themselves in the reported disorganization and demoralization of social, political, and economic life, have yielded convincing proof that between the Bolsheviki on the one hand and the Germans on the other, the ideals of the Russian revolution had suffered a disastrous fate.

Conservative Leaders Skeptical.

Some of the prominent leaders of the conservative groups of the Russian-American colony in New York at present, among them Count Ilya Tolstoy, are rather skeptical of the apparent change of heart among the former sympathizers of Trotzky and Lenine. They interpret the change not as a conversion but as a reluctance on the part of these groups to express themselves as openly as they did several months ago, first because of the difficulty of finding any arguments to justify the Trotzky fiasco at Brest-Litovsk, and, secondly, because continued expressions on their part might invite unwelcome attention. At any rate, if the facts have not converted them, they are at least silent, and their propaganda, which was once so strong, especially on the east side, has now come to a standstill.

The proofs that most of them have been converted, however, are also apparent, first in the complete cessation of propaganda, but more so in the comparatively united support which the Russian organizations in New York, even the most radical of them, are offering to the Liberty Loan. Made up to a large extent of workingmen and Socialists, these organizations within the Russian-American colony of the city within the last ten days have held no less than four big Liberty Loan rallies, and have contributed a total of about $50,000 to the Third Liberty Loan. In view of the fact that most of the contributors are small wage earners, these figures are regarded as a singular demonstration of the changing sentiment in the Russian colony toward the war, especially inasmuch as the same colony did little or nothing for the First and Second Liberty Loans, which antedated the Brest-Litovsk conference.

Unfriendly to Bolsheviki.

Also, since the negotiation of the disastrous peace by Trotzky, there has grown up in New York the organization known as the Society of the Russian National Defense, with fully organized branches in Philadelphia, Waterbury, Pittsburgh, Springfield, and Montreal. This organization was launched by Colonel Nicolai Koch, a Russian officer, to develop a movement among the Russians in this country that would in time achieve such strength and direction as to make its organizing effect felt on the people at home. Frankly inimical to the Bolshevist régime, the Society of the Russian National Defense conducts its propaganda on the theory that Russia cannot be wrested from beneath the German heel until the Bolsheviki are completely overthrown. At any rate, ever since the Bolsheviki proved their inability to obtain for Russia anything except a shameful peace, the membership of this society has grown enormously, and its entire strength is being devoted at present to the organization of a strong nationalistic feeling, with the hope of eventually carrying it over to Russia, where the absence of a concentrated nationalistic and patriotic impulse uniting all the peoples of the country in a common ideal, made the masses an easy prey to the demoralizing rule of Bolshevism.

According to the leaders of the Russian-American colony, the Liberty Bond is serving a most valuable purpose in that direction. With the Bolsheviki thoroughly discredited, the Liberty Bond represents for every class of Russians in this country, whether he be a peasant, a merchant, or professor, the only means whereby Russia can now be saved from the abyss into which she has fallen. Its presence destroys the class consciousness, which is the only form of patriotism that Russian peoples have ever known before, and unites them all in a common cause which stands now for the salvation of Russia. Consequently the Russian Committee for the Third Liberty Loan, of which Alexander Bublikoff is President, Count Ilya Tolstoy is Vice President, and Leo Pasvolsky, editor of the Ruskoe Slovo, is Secretary, has encountered a surprising demonstration of the united purpose and action of which Russians of all classes are capable, once they are aroused to a common ideal of loyalty.

Sees Wonderful Transformation.

"It has been a wonderful transformation," said Mr. Pasvolsky yesterday, "and shows what could happen in Russia under the proper influences and under the proper leadership. So long as this leadership is lacking, however, we cannot expect glowing results. The Russian peoples cannot rise spontaneously. Russian life has now degraded to its lowest depth and the peoples, weak, exhausted and devastated, are too feeble, without the presence of a strong leader and a strong idea, to emerge to a new level of national and political existence."

Asked to what extent he thought the changing sentiment toward the war among the Russians in this country mirrored a possibly similar transformation among the masses in Russia itself Mr. Pasvolsky replied that he would not place too much emphasis on the possibility of a direct correspondence, although there was no doubt that revulsions experienced by Russians here against the results of peace negotiations were undoubtedly felt for the very same reasons by all classes of people in Russia itself.

"The psychology of the Russian people here and in Russia is the same," he said, "and they probably would react in the same way to the same situations whether they be in Russia or America. Of course the Russians over here have had the benefit of a larger experience, have had an opportunity to see what democratic institutions can accomplish under an orderly form of government, and therefore may be expected to react more quickly than their fellow countrymen over there, who are still very much in the dark. Under the rule of the Bolsheviki they haven't had a glimpse of real democracy, and they don't as yet know what it should be. Consequently the masses, being more or less exhausted by the war and the internal demoralization that the Bolsheviki have caused, are reduced to a state of apathy, coma or indifference, from which they can be awakened only by the appearance of some strong unifying force that will lead them to shake off both the Bolshevist and the German rule."

Just how a Russian peasant over here feels toward the fate that has befallen his own people at home may be seen from the following statement made to THE TIMES reporter by Stephen Buberska, a peasant who at the beginning thought some good might come out of the promises made by the Bolsheviki to restore the land to the peasantry.

"They have ruined Russia," he said. "The people have been fooled and led astray and now they are so weak they cannot pull themselves to their feet. It is very important now that the Russian workers in his country and especially the Russian Socialists see that Russia's salvation now lies in the winning of the war by the Allies. We must show America that the soul of Russia is now in her hands and that we shall do everything in our power to aid in bringing about that victory over Germany, which will mean victory for Russia."

With the exception of the Novie Mir, the Russian Socialist newspaper of which Trotsky was at one time an editor, all the newspapers functioning in the Russian American colony are stimulating this propaganda of patriotism and loyalty. The Novie Mir does not oppose and does not take an active part. The Ukrainian organizations in New York are also manifesting a spirit of revulsion against the situation which the German peace terms have brought about in Russia. Peter Zadoretzki, President of the Ukrainian National Alliance, declared yesterday that the alliance was giving all the support in its power to the Liberty Loan and was eager to see the destruction of the bonds which Germany imposed upon the Ukraine.

PRELATE ILLUSTRATES DUTY.

Cardinal O'Connell Buys Bond as He Makes Patriotic Appeal.

BOSTON, May 2.—Cardinal O'Connell today addressed a Liberty Loan rally at the Liberty Theatre on the Common and started an avalanche of bond buying by setting the example himself.

"I came here today to offer a public service to my country," he said. "I have already bought, and shall continue to buy as many Liberty Bonds as I can afford, but I wish to buy this bond publicly, and at the same time to state publicly that I am simply doing my duty to my country.

"I am constantly receiving letters from the men in the trenches so touching, so full of enthusiasm and love of country that, could a stone read them, it would become patriotic. So I came here today to be an example, so far as I am able, to arouse new enthusiasm for our glorious country and to pray to God that with his help we shall win this war."

Concrete Ships are an outgrowth of the concrete barge—the barge which is quicker to build than wood or steel; never needs painting or repairs, costs least because it can't rot, leak or burn, and lasts forever.

For fifteen years we've specialized on concrete dams and hydro-electric work. We can handle any concrete-in-contact-with-water construction successfully.
